Ad Valorem Tax On Deep Creek System Will End

The Garrett County Sanitary Commission met for their regular meeting on May 5, and had some good news for customers of the Deep Creek Sewer System. There will be no more ad valorem tax assessments on their property to pay for the unused capacity of the system.

According to Sanitary District Administrator Wendel Beitzel, the ad valorem tax assessments on those properties came down as the extra capacity was used up. Now that there is no longer any unused capacity, there will no longer be an ad valorem tax.

Bloomington Sewer System
The Sanitary District gave the Bloomington Sewer System a final inspection and accepted it as complete. At this time, residents sewer lines are being connected to the system. Beitzel states that a 90-day notice will be sent this week to residents giving them that much time to connect to the system. He also said that billing for operation and maintenance (O&M) will begin on June 1.

Kitzmiller Sewer System
The Kitzmiller Sewer System is nearing completion, according to the Sanitary District Administrator. Paving is expected to begin in approximately three weeks, with the system going into operation shortly after the paving is completed.

Shallmar Water
The state has reluctantly approved the water tank design for the Shallmar system. The Sanitary District is currently negotiating with the contractor to build the tank.

New Sanitary Commission Chairman
Dorothy Leuba has been named as the new chairman of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, with Phil Davidson named as the new vice chairman.

Two commission members, Bill Thoman and Harry Filemyr, recently resigned. Ben Rosenthal has been appointed to the commission to replace Thoman, and the Garrett County Commissioners are expected to appoint a replacement for Filemyr in the next few weeks.

Correction Noted

It was incorrectly stated in last week's issue of The Republican that tonight's performance of Whisper Down The Lane would be performed at 8 p.m. The correct time is 7 p.m. The play will be performed by the Children's Repertory Company at Garrett Community College auditorium, McHenry campus.

A GROUND-BREAKING for a $23 million luxury hotel was held Friday at the Wisp Ski Resort in McHenry. The project is part of an overall $50 million Wisp Resort development that is a joint effort between Helmut Heise and William A. Thoman. Heise is president of Recreational Industries, Inc., and owner/operator of the Wisp Ski Area. Thoman is president of Thoman Motel Corp. and owner/operator of the Village Green Golf Course and Village Inn Hotel. On hand for the ceremony were, left to right, front row, Jerry Geisler, of Wisp; Lloyd Wimer, Richard Wheeler, of First Federal Savings Bank; Sandra and Bill Thoman, John W. Dever, project marketing and sales consultant; Evelyn and Helmut Heise; County Commissioner Elwood Groves; and Delegate George C. Edwards. In the second row, same order, are John Morton, of Liberty Bank of Maryland; David M. Nordeck and J. Robert Frazee, both vice presidents of Garrett National Bank; Gerry Likens, Beverly Eye, director of sales for Wisp; and County Commissioners Ernie Gregg and John Braskey.

State Calls For Strategy In Land Preservation And Recreation Plan

In order to develop a comprehensive strategy for the protection and appropriate use of land-based and water-oriented resources, The General Assembly has requested that a "Land Preservation and Recreation Plan" be prepared for each Maryland county.

The objective of the plan will be to determine local needs for agricultural land preservation, forest land preservation, provisions for recreation areas and protection of unique natural areas.

According to county officials, the plan will assure Garrett County's continued eligibility for participation in Program Open Space.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners have contracted with Potomac Engineering and Surveying, Oakland, to prepare the plan. A survey form for public input is printed in today's edition of The Republican. Potomac Engineering urges anyone with an interest in outdoor recreation in Garrett County to complete the survey form and return it to their office. Any additional comments or questions would also be welcomed either by mail or by telephone, according to a spokesman from Potomac.

Telephone comments should be made to Sull McCartney or John Sanders at 334-3866 during normal business hours.

In a related matter, the commissioners at a press conference Tuesday released proposed Open Space programs for Fiscal Year 1988. They noted that last year, the state provided the county with over $62,000 for Program Open Space projects. They are expecting to receive $80,000 this year.

In the past, Open Space monies had to be divided equally for land acquisition and development. Through approved legislation during the recent General Assembly, it was determined that up to 75 percent of funds may not be used for development with a 90 percent to 10 percent ratio, the state picking up the 90 percent and local government paying the remaining 10 percent.

On the proposed '88 list under the heading of acquisition are: Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Regional Softball Complex.

Commissioners Sign Renewal Contract For Cooperative Reimbursement

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday signed a one-year renewal contract for the Cooperative Reimbursement Program. The program is handled by the State's Attorney's Office and is responsible for enforcing child support payments.

The state must now approve the contract and by the past success of the program, approval is expected.

By collecting delinquent child support payments from estranged husbands and wives, the program allows for reimbursement of welfare money back to the state and eventually to the taxpayers who support the welfare system.

Rebecca Thayer now serves as the county's non-support enforcement officer. She noted that the program enforces child support payments not only to welfare families but to all families having difficulty collecting.

Thayer indicated that in fiscal year 1985-86, over $16,000 was returned to the taxpayers in Garrett County alone through the efforts of the reimbursement program.

Heads of households who are having difficulty receiving child support payments ordered by the court must first report it to the Department of Social Services. That department then contacts the non-support enforcement officer for further action.

Junkyard Hearing

Also Tuesday the commissioners conducted another junkyard hearing.

Clarence Collins from the Bethlehem area requested approval for a junkyard on his property.

Over a dozen residents of that area attended the hearing and the commissioners indicated that seven of those residents voiced concern or disapproval of a junkyard.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. stated, "In regard to junkyard approvals, it is difficult for this board to reject those requests unless they will pose a serious threat to the health or safety of neighbors. We do, however, upon approving such permits, impose stringent regula-

County-Wide Clean-Up Slated For May 23

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners announced this week that they are sponsoring a spring county-wide clean-up on Saturday, May 23.

They indicated that the purpose of the clean-up is to provide pick-up and disposal of bulk items, not normal household refuse.

The county will have manpower and trucks available at all normal collection sites from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Round Glade Landfill on the Oakland-Sang Run Road will also be open and will accept approved bulk items.

According to Paul Shockey, Garrett County Roads Administrator, the following items will not be accepted:

- Controlled hazardous substances.
- Liquid waste.
- Sludges.
- Industrial waste.
- Commercial waste.
- Domestic refuse.
- Construction waste (unless approved).
- Septage or sewer scavenger waste.
- Automobiles.
- Tires.
- Flammable asbestos.
- Pathological waste.
- Drums or tanks which do not have the ends cut out and are flattened. Must be free of hazardous substances.
- Petroleum waste.
- Dead animals.

The county-wide clean-up is an expansion of the semi-annual Deep Creek Lake area clean-up which is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake Businessmen's Association, the Property Owners Association, the Department of Natural Resources and the Garrett County Roads Department.

Bids Awarded For Construction Of Sewerage System

At a special meeting of the Oakland Town Council April 24, notices were issued by the council to award contracts for the collector system and treatment plant for Oakland's sewerage system.

According to Sull McCartney, grant administrator of the town, award for construction of the collector system was issued to Jack Bell Construction, Inc., Clearfield, Pa., while the treatment plant bid was awarded to Carl Belt, Inc., Cumberland.

McCartney stated that the company now have ten days to supply the town with performance bonds and insurance regulations. The town will then issue notices to proceed with the construction.

The anticipated date for construction to begin is May 25.

In other town council news, the regular monthly meeting was held Monday evening, when the Garrett County Commissioners visited with the council to discuss mutual concerns and interests.

The council also discussed concerns over a zoning issue involving land located at the intersection of Rts. 219 and 135.

According to Robert Watson, attorney for the council, the town zoning ordinance map reveals the land to be zoned residential while Mr. J. Pyle, owner of the property, states that the zoning was amended to commercial back in 1974.

Mr. Pyle reportedly received a letter from W. Marshall Rickert, county planning director at the time, stating that, even though the property was changed to commercial by the Board of Zoning Appeals, the map did not show the change.

Watson stated that the town council has the sole authority to make such changes and that, until investigation of the matter reveals otherwise, the map is the final authority.

In other council news, it was announced at the council meeting that Winona Alexander had turned in her resignation as Broadford Park director. Her resignation was official as of April 15.

Council members reviewed applications for the position at the meeting and will be conducting interviews this week.

A letter was sent by the council to Fire Marshal, Guy Carola, requesting safety and fire hazard inspection of five residential buildings in Oakland.

According to a spokesperson for the council, a budget meeting is scheduled for May 12.

Wisp Breaks Ground Friday For $23 Million Condominium Hotel

Ground was broken Friday for the second phase of a $23-million, 536-room condominium hotel at the base of the popular Wisp Ski Area.

Construction plans include an expanded lobby, new multi-purpose conference facilities, and 235 additional executive suites, which will be completed in two stages.

The hotel project is part of an overall $50-million Wisp Resort development which will result in a major expansion of the year-round complex into one of the largest recreational and convention facilities on the Eastern Seaboard.

The development is a joint effort headed by Helmut "Ace" Heise, and William A. Thoman, two local residents. Heise is president of Recreational Industries, Inc., owner-operator of the Wisp Ski Area.

Thoman is president of Thoman Motel Corporation, owner-operator of the Village Green Championship Golf Course and the former Village Inn Hotel.

The first phase of construction already completed included the renovation of the Village Inn Hotel into 66 luxury suites. These units have all been sold to individual owners and nearly 75 suites in the second phase also have been pre-sold.

Funds for the second phase construction are being provided by seven area banks. The lead bank is Garrett National Bank of Oakland. Two other Maryland banks participating are First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland and Liberty Bank of Maryland, both from the Cumberland area.

Three West Virginia Banks taking part in the project are Albright National Bank of Kingwood, Community Bank & Trust, NA, of Clarksburg, and Farmers & Merchants Bank of Keyser.

Gallatin National Bank of Uniontown is the only Pennsylvania bank participating.

The construction manager for the project is Whiting Turner of Baltimore. The architect is Jacob J. Cresh & Associates of Pittsburgh.

Thoman, who is the project's marketing director, described the condominium hotel concept as an "intriguing form of real estate opportunity."

"Owners don't just buy a hotel room," Thoman said. "They have title and control over a specific suite, plus a fixed-percentage stake in all the facilities, from elevators to saunas and swimming pools."

Heise said the convention facilities will ultimately accommodate more than 1,800 persons seated banquet style in the hotel's two large ballrooms.

The ballroom on the main floor also is designed to be accessible by ramps to facilitate exhibits of autos, boats and recreational vehicles.

"In addition," Heise said, "the facility will offer meeting rooms, four full-service restaurants, two snack bars, lounges, and a multi-use theater with a 200-seat capacity, and numerous other convention and meeting facilities."

Thoman pointed out that one of the most outstanding architectural features of the complex will be its Atrium, a five-story high, glass-enclosed garden, featuring an indoor ice skating rink, indoor computer golf, plus pools, fountains, waterfalls, and a sidewalk cafe, in a "luxurious, relaxing park-like setting."

Gene Schenk Wins State FFA Dairy Judging Contest

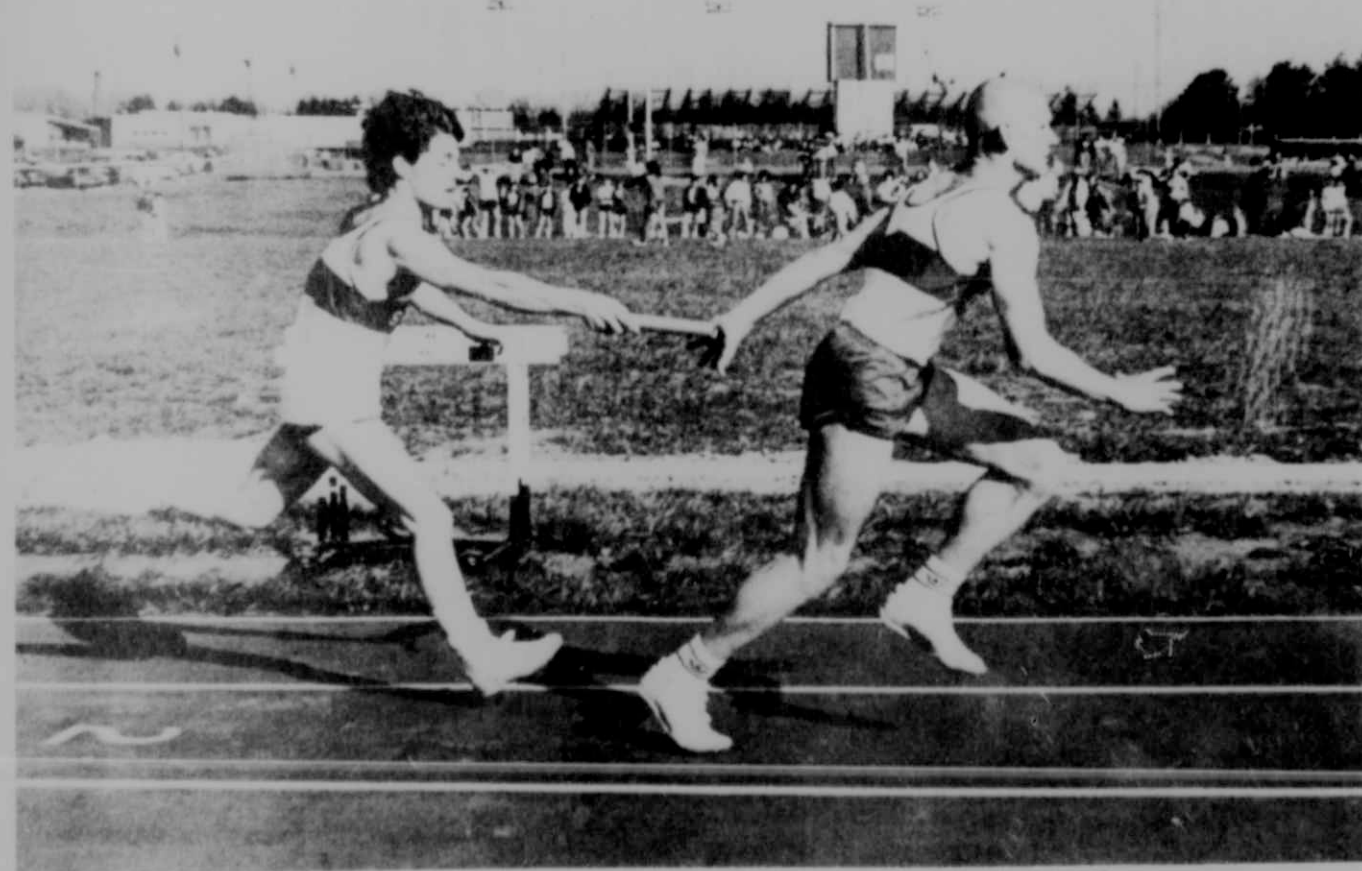

Gene Schenk, a member of the Oakland FFA Chapter, was named top individual in the State Dairy Judging Contest last Friday at the State FFA Spring Judging event at College Park.

The Dairy Judging Team from the Oakland Chapter finished fifth place in the state out of 17 competing teams from Maryland FFA chapters. Team members were Schenk, Eric Martin, Wade DeBerry and Mike Kepple.

The team judged six classes: three Holstein classes, two Jersey classes, and one Ayrshire class, and gave one set of reasons. When the scores were totaled, the team was in

THE FIRST TRACK AND FIELD MEET ever at Southern High School was held Tuesday and was a smashing success for the Rams, who defeated Central Preston and Union high schools. A large crowd was on hand to witness not only the track meet, but also the boys' varsity baseball game against Keyser and the girls' softball game against Calvary Christian Academy. Above, Tommy Smith completes his lap in one of the relay events and hands the baton to teammate Randy Perando. The boys' team is coached by Bill Freyman and the girls' coach is Bob Quick.

MOST KIDS DON'T GET TO SIT ON SANTA'S LAP ON THEIR BIRTHDAY —Especially in the springtime! But two-year-old Britney Ashby had that honor during the recent 50/50 drawing. The drawing is part of a project sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association to raise money for the purchase of new holiday street decorations for Oakland. Britney is the daughter of Jim and JoAnn Ashby, Mtn. Lake Park. Tickets can be purchased from most local places of business for $1.00 each. Monthly drawings will be held until sufficient funds are raised. Pictured above, left to right, is Nancy Helbig, chairperson for the project, Britney, Santa Claus and Jack Jones, president of the Greater Oakland Business Assoc.

Spring Student Resident Program Begins At Garrett's Camp Hickory

Camp Hickory, the Garrett County Schools' Environmental Education Center, began its spring three-day resident program for seventh graders on May 6. During May there will be four sessions involving students from Northern and Southern Middle Schools. Most of the seventh graders from Southern Middle also participated in the fall program at Camp Hickory.

According to Joseph L. Winters, coordinator, this spring's program will center around forestry, involving some of the tools used by foresters, forest fires and their prevention, and a comparison study of two forest communities.

Other activities will include studies of a fresh-water stream, soil and weather along with special programs on Indian lore, black bears and bats.

In addition to Winters, others instructing and assisting in the program will be Jolene Fike and Kathy Newman from Southern Middle, Patsy Gales and Jeff Jackson from Northern Middle, and Sharon Hoover, instructional aide at Camp Hickory. Resource assistance will come from the Maryland Forests, Parks and Wildlife Administration with Ernie Metz, Al Bourgeois and Liz Griffith.

Adult night supervision will be provided by Linda Martin and Ross Grottelty, teachers from Loch Lynn and Friendsville Elementary Schools, respectively. They will be assisted by selected 11 and 12 grade students from Northern and Southern High Schools.

With the conclusion of this session, over 350 seventh graders will have participated in the fall and spring resident programs at Camp Hickory.

LaVale Man Guilty Of Drug-Related Charge

A LaVale man was sentenced to 90 days in the Garrett County Jail after being found guilty in Garrett County District Court last week of unlawful possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

Richard W. Kleine Jr., 26, was also placed on one year supervised probation and fined $50 as a result. The 90-day sentence was then suspended.

A second charge was not prosecuted because of insufficient evidence.

The charges were filed by Tfc. R.J. Resh of the Maryland State Police following a January 13 incident in Grantsville when Kleine, according to reports, drove a 1984 Chevrolet truck northbound on Hare Hollow Road, ran off the road into a ditch and, when apprehended, acted disorderly and was "combative in nature."

Marijuana was discovered in the truck at the time of Kleine's apprehension.

G. Gary Hanna was the defending attorney.

In other cases, two local residents were found guilty of theft and each received 90-day suspended sentences.

Carl E. Niner, 49, Mtn. Lake Park, was also placed on six months unsupervised probation and fined $25 after a pre-sentence investigation had been ordered in a previous hearing.

The charge was filed following a February 8 incident at Browning's Foodland, Oakland, when Niner reportedly stole a wall plug there valued at $2.29.

Niner was represented by John R. Toston, public defender.

Anna Swartek, 62, Oakland, was also placed on six months unsupervised probation and fined $25 after being found guilty of theft at Browning's Foodland.

The February 19 incident involved the theft of a toothbrush, valued at $1.63.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered after Arnold W. Lipscomb, 22, Oakland, was found guilty of two counts of theft.

Tfc. C.R. Smith, Maryland State Police, filed the charges following a February 4 incident in which Lipscomb reportedly stole two jackets, each valued at $200, from Lazy Susan Bar and Restaurant, Accident.

Lipscomb was represented by Toston.

A pre-sentence investigation was also ordered for Duane H. Durst, 35, Boynton, Pa., who was found guilty of theft.

The charge was filed by Susan K. McClintock, Grantsville, after she reported that Durst stole about $10 worth of firewood from Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop on March 25.

McClintock was the waitress on duty at the time of the incident.

A charge of battery against Thomas F. Koton, 36, Oakland, was placed on the Stet Docket after the complainant in the case, Judy C. Koton, also of Oakland, refused to testify.

The charge was filed as a result of a March 22 incident that occurred in Oakland.

Hazardous Material Incident Response Capabilities To Be Reviewed By State

As a result of his continuing discussions with the governor's office, Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) has announced that a review of the state's capability to respond to hazardous materials incidents is being conducted by the Department of Budget and Fiscal Planning. Mark Wasserman, Governor Schaefer's chief of staff, requested the study on behalf of the administration.

"This issue has been a source of ongoing concern for me during the past several years," Bambacus noted. "Until now, we've been unsuccessful in our attempts to locate a hazardous materials response vehicle in this region, and I deeply regret that our needs have not prevailed. But it pleases me that the governor and his staff have acknowledged the problem and have directed members of the cabinet to pursue the study."

It is anticipated that the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services, the Department of Natural Resources, and the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene will all be involved in the review process. A draft report is expected early in June of this year.

Bambacus acknowledged the gratifying support he has received from local firefighters, rescue squad and ambulance service personnel, municipal officials, and the state Fire Marshal's office in his efforts to locate a specialized van in the area. "Their encouragement has been very helpful in getting us this far," the senator commented.

"I feel more confident than ever now that the Schaefer administration has recognized the problem and is willing to identify and analyze possible solutions."

Oakland Youth Arrested After High-Speed Chase

A 17-year-old Oakland youth was arrested last night following a chase that began on Second Street and ended at Woodlawn Drive near Country Club acres.

Sgt. Roger Lewis of the Oakland City Police Department attempted to apprehend the juvenile who was operating a four-wheel vehicle on Second Street at approximately 11:55 p.m. The youth fled and a chase ensued.

During the chase, both the four-wheeler and the police vehicle were slowed by a vehicle in front of them on Woodlawn Drive. The first vehicle was attempting to stop when the driver noticed the police siren and lights. The operator of the four-wheeler then attempted to pass the first vehicle and ran up a steep embankment.

When it came back down the other side of the bank, it struck the side of the police unit, damaging it.

The youth was then taken to the Garrett County Jail and later released to the custody of his father.

Brian R. Smith, 20, Oakland, was arrested Saturday during the early morning hours and charged with failure to appear in District Court and failure to pay court fines.

The arrest was made by Cpl. Randy L. Sines, OCPD, after Smith was observed by him parked along Third Street with blue marker lamps under the carriage of his vehicle.

According to police, only red and yellow markers are legal.

A computer check revealed the warrants that had been issued for Smith by Garrett County District Court.

Smith was then transported to the Garrett County Jail where he was later released on his own recognizance.

A theft was reported by Patricia L. Dixon, Oakland, that occurred Saturday at approximately 4 p.m.

According to Dixon, $96 cash and a college ring, valued at $385, were stolen from Oak Lee Dairyland where Dixon is employed.

Tfc. E.L. Alexander is investigating the incident.

Ribbon Cut For First United's Frostburg Office

Courtney R. Tusing, Chairman of the Board of First United National Bank & Trust, cut the ribbon Friday to officially open the bank's newest office in Frostburg, on Route 36, adjacent to Comfort Inn. A Grand Opening celebration will continue through Saturday, May 9.

Prior to the ribbon cutting, those in attendance heard brief remarks from Tusing and Earl D. Wilson, vice president and manager of the Frostburg Office.

Scott Construction Company, a union company owned by Atlee Snyder and his family, is general contractor for the project. LeFebvre, Inc. supplied the equipment. The new bank facility was designed by Robert Pennell, Architect, Clarksburg, W. Va., and Frank Puricelli, Design Service Associates, Inc., Johnstown, Pa. The facility was landscaped by Maple Lane Farm and Nursery, Rick Cropp, Kitzmiller.

The Frostburg Office includes a spacious lobby and customer service area, office areas for confidential transactions, a drive-up CashStream automatic teller machine, two additional drive-up lanes, complete safe deposit facilities, a night depository vault, and a large meeting room on the basement level. In addition to Wilson, there's a full staff of tellers, customer service and lending personnel.

Hours of operations for the Frostburg office are as follows: Lobby — Monday-Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to noon; and Drive-Up — Monday-Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Saturday, 8:30 a.m. to noon.

NEARLY 200 PERSONS, including a host of dignitaries, were on hand Sunday afternoon for the dedication of the new Accident Community Park East. Among those who made remarks during the ceremony were: Dr. Torrey Brown, secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources; Senator John Bacus; Delegate George Edwards; County Commissioners Ernie Gregg, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey, and Accident Mayor Wayne Fratz, pictured at the podium above. The four and one-half acre tract of land was used for many years as the playground for the Accident School. The new recreational equipment and facilities at the park were constructed with Program Open Space monies. Mayor Fratz noted that the project has been a joint effort on the part of town, county, and state government, coupled with assistance from the Central Garrett Baseball League, the American Legion Post 208, the Accident Volunteer Fire Department, and the Community Action Committee, Inc.

These issues will be addressed in detail in The Republican over the next few weeks.

The 1980 census showed that the population of Garrett County was 26,496.

Fire Damages Friendsville House

A fire apparently started by several juveniles playing with a lighter caused moderate damage to the bedroom of a Friendsville home on Friday afternoon.

According to Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, the youths accidentally set fire to a house owned by Egbert Sanford Gregory III, of Baltimore. Firefighters from Friendsville, Deep Creek, and Accident fire departments responded to the residence, located at 907 Second Avenue.

The fire was quickly brought under control. Also responding was the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Carola estimated the damage to be $1,000.

Stockholders Of WM Bancorp Hold First Meeting

The first meeting of stockholders of WM Bancorp was held April 20, at the Holiday Inn in Grantsville.

WM Bancorp is a registered multi-bank holding company with Garrett National Bank, Oakland, and Liberty Bank of Maryland as the subsidiary banks and Community Finance, Inc. as a subsidiary consumer finance company. Assets as of December 31, 1986, were approximately $276 million.

There are 835,288 shares or 79% were represented at the meeting in person or by proxy.

At the meeting the following directors were elected to serve for a term of three years: James C. Bauer, vice president of Bauer Enterprises, Inc.; Milford E. Beckman, president of Garrett National Bank; Wendell R. Beitzel, administrator, Garrett County Sanitary District; Carl O. Belt Jr., president of Carl Belt, Inc.; R. Donald Cussins, president of Buffalo Coal Company, Inc.; Richard S. Devlin, president of Devlin, Inc.; Thomas B. Finan Jr., business manager of the Times & Allegany Company; and Mark Folk, president of Keystone Lime Company.

The annual reorganization meeting was held immediately following the stockholders meeting at which time the following officers were elected to serve until the next annual meeting of stockholders: John A. Hercher, chairman of the Board; Milford E. Beckman, president; Anne L. Gormer, senior vice president and secretary; David W. Cathell, vice president and chief financial officer; William M. Chesno, vice president and treasurer; George W. Evans, vice president; James R. Moore, auditor; and Brent A. Carithers, assistant auditor.

Delegate George Edwards Offers His View Of Legislative Session

"I personally think this has been the best session we've had since I became a delegate," said District One-A Delegate George C. Edwards this week. "We got some issues through that I've been working on for the last couple of years."

He added that the total session was productive and positive. "We addressed some major issues and made some positive movement on those issues."

Del. Edwards said that perhaps the most difficult problem faced this year was that of all new leadership—new governor, new House speaker, new Senate president. He feels that the governor began the session by testing this new leadership.

"When the governor compromised, the tone was set. I think he's going to be a very good governor. He's aggressive. He gets out and visits all parts of the state, and he directs his department heads to work with the citizens."

Some of the issues Edwards listed as this year's accomplishments include the Open Space Bill, dealing with the use of local funds; the tri-axle truck

Our Responsibility . . .

Senator Gary Hart's presidential campaign was dealt a severe blow this week after a Miami newspaper alleged that he spent a recent weekend with a 29-year-old model/actress from Florida while his wife was in Denver. Other information reports that this was not Hart's first "close encounter" with Miss Donna Rice.

A major question that has surfaced again as a result of this matter is: does the media have the right to delve so deeply into the personal lives of political figures and reveal information to the general public that, for the average citizen, is totally private?

While we could be accused of giving a biased viewpoint, we believe that this type of investigative work by the media is, in general, part of its responsibility to the general public.

When a person tosses his hat into the political ring, especially at the national level, he knows he is placing himself in a glass house. His every move, his every word is noted and presented to millions of citizens. A responsible voter finds out all he can about each candidate before casting his ballot, and a responsible media should do all it can to assist the voters in this effort.

In our opinion, actions of candidates speak louder than words when it comes to deciding which candidate should be placed into office. We also believe that the private and personal activities of a candidate say much about how he perceives and performs in general. If indeed Gary Hart is guilty of immorality and infidelity in his personal life, it seems that the public has a right to know this; for such values cannot help but to carry over into the far more important and awesome job of serving as president of the United States. If Senator Hart is willing to compromise his own marriage and family for selfish desires, would he also, as president, be willing to compromise our very nation for similar reasons?

It is true that the media has been guilty of fabricating damaging information about public figures, or gathering just enough circumstantial information and then slanting it just enough to destroy people. Such behavior we, of course, abhor, for it gives all of us in the business a bad name. For our sake, we hope the information printed about Gary Hart is accurate. For Senator Hart's sake, we hope it is false.

We believe that even political figures are entitled to a private life, and there should not be reporters and television cameras situated outside their bedroom windows, for example. But we also maintain that the voting public has a right to know about a candidate's integrity, honesty, and moral values, or lack thereof. Gary Hart seems to agree with us, because it was he who challenged the press to follow him around and report his private activities.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In spite of the rain Saturday morning, the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped held its annual Hike and Bike on the Southern Route. However, GOH has made a special request for a sunny Saturday on May 16 to accommodate those who like to stay dry while walking or riding. For the Southern route only the deadline for turning money in has been extended to June 1.

We would like to thank all our participants in the Southern and Northern ends of the county and the VFW for completing bike inspections and repairs. From all indications we will again have a very successful fundraiser thanks to the people of Garrett County. Your help keeps us GOing!

Sincerely,
Dot Leuba and

To the Editor:

It may be a passing thing, but the Iran-Contra arms scandal did have a negative impact on President Reagan's popularity. However, I've had him low on the totem pole from way back and now he has made it to the bottom. His campaign promise was a balanced budget, lower taxes, national prosperity, etc., etc. This kind of political rhetoric is reminiscent of the long ago rhetoric of Herbert Hoover: a chicken in every pot and a car in every garage. And then came the Wall Street crash and the Great Depression.

Regardless of chickens in pots or cars in garages, the end result of today's political hot air could well be the great national collapse. The U.S. has a horrendous trade imbalance and the projected federal budget is a trillion plus dollars. How much is a trillion dollars? A stack of $1,000.00 bills four inches high is a million dollars and a stack of $1,000 bills sixty five miles high is a trillion dollars. And that's not balancing the budget by any stretch of the imagination.

To compound the entrenched corruption in the federal bureaucracy is the inability to control crime, drugs, AIDS, etc. Then there is the 80% pay raise that is in the works for a large percentage of federal workers. That is an astronomical amount compared to the raise I got on my social security check: less than a half percent cash-wise. And anything over went for increased Medicare cost, but not coverage. That has been reduced, if I am correct. It would take a terrific amount of reduced Medicare benefits to make a dent in that trillion dollar budget.

To the Editor:

It's a time for heroes! Next Friday, May 15, athletes from across the county will be competing in the annual Garrett County Special Olympics Spring Games at Garrett Community College in McHenry. Opening Ceremonies begin at 10:00 a.m., followed by competition in nine events. Medals will be awarded beginning at 12:30 p.m.

I invite all local residents to become involved in this exciting event as spectators or volunteers. Catch the spirit of Special Olympics!

To find out how Special Olympics can bring out the hero in you, call Loretta DeWitt at 826-8814, or me at 334-8449 or 334-1045.

To the Editor:

Last weekend (April 24-25) I, Mary Beth Obitz, a photographer Louise Fish, and a friend, Bruce Jacob, were traveling to Washington, D.C., to cover a rally for the Athens NEWS (Athens, Ohio) when the car we were driving broke down along a road in your county. The first car I flagged got help from the local gas station, Walt's Amoco, in Friendsville.

When Walt, the station's owner, came to help, he put two quarts of oil in the car and waited to see if we then could get back on the road. When our car didn't start and we asked the cost of towing, Walt pushed the car so we didn't have to pay a tow fee.

At the station, we found that the car had a broken hose, a major problem since parts stores are not open at 9:30 p.m. Walt found a similar hose on another "junk" car at the station and solved the problem. Walt not only fixed our car (when most gas stations would refuse) he also did not charge us for the parts or labor . . . and he had no idea who we were or why we were going to our nation's capital city.

Because Walt, and the men who helped at the station while Walt was helping us, our newspaper did cover the rally by making it to Washington on time, and without a major mishap.

People Walt, and the people who stopped immediately when our car broke down, make Friendsville, MD, worthy of its name.

To the Editor:

I am contacting your newspaper because since childhood I have suffered from a rare, debilitating and potentially fatal disease called scleroderma. Not only did I feel frustrated and alone growing up, but to complicate matters, my mother recently came down with this devastating disease.

In our search for answers and support we eventually located the United Scleroderma Foundation. Not only did we receive information, we received a renewed "hope" that we were no longer alone. We learned that this disease affects some 700,000 people and that President Ronald Reagan declared the second week of June as National Scleroderma Awareness Week.

I'm so thrilled to no longer feel isolated that I want to shout from the rooftops so others won't have to suffer alone as I did these last 40 years.

Please make your readers aware of the USF, Inc., P.O. Box 350, Watsonville, Cal. 95077. Their toll free number says it all, 1-800-722-HOPE. They have information and answers I never believed existed. In California call (408) 728-2202.

Thank you for your assistance.

The Atrium, as well as the rest of the complex, will be temperature-controlled by a computer-operated energy system that is designed to conserve energy.

Another feature is the hotel's landscaped exterior courtyard with an outdoor swimming pool, and two hot tubs which will be kept in operation year round, much like those at European resorts.

Other areas of expansion at the Wisp include the skiing facilities.

"This summer we are adding two new triple chair lifts, plus two new major slopes on the face of the mountain and a number of new trails," Heise said.

"In addition, the snowmaking system and lighting for night skiing will be expanded to cover the new slopes and trails," he said.

All of the ski area construction, as well as the second phase of the hotel, will be completed in time for the 1987-88 ski season.

While construction is taking place, the present hotel and all amenities will be open and in full operation, Heise stated.

"All new construction has been planned so as not to inconvenience the hotel guests," he concluded.

Construction also continues on the Villages of Wisp, located adjacent to the Wisp Resort. Completion of the first 40 slope-side townhouses with lake access is scheduled for June and July, according to a spokesman for Garrettsland Realty, managers of the project.

Forty additional townhouses are now for sale, effective May 1, the spokesman said, and a finished model may be toured Monday through Sunday.

The Villages of Wisp will be connected to the Wisp Resort via seven new ski slopes and the two new triple chairlifts.

The combined efforts of Heise and Company, and Rachuba Enterprises, developer of the Villages of Wisp, have boosted local employment, the spokesman said, as Devlin Inc. and 11 subcontractors are involved with the construction efforts.

Trauma, Disaster Course Offered At Holiday Inn

The fifth annual Trauma & Disaster Short course is being offered through the cooperative efforts of the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College, the Maryland Fire & Rescue Institute and the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services System. The course will be conducted this Saturday, May 9, and Sunday, May 10, at the Grantsville Holiday Inn.

This course is designed for individuals wishing to gain knowledge and skills related to trauma and disaster emergencies, specifically pertaining to vehicle extrication. Topics to be covered include: "Patient Assessment", "Medical Considerations in Patient Extrication", "Trauma Care", "Legal Considerations in Trauma Care", "Motorcycle Trauma", "Anatomy of an Accident", "General Philosophies of Vehicle Extrication", "Specific Techniques of Vehicle Extrication", and hands-on training in "Techniques and Scenarios of Vehicle Extrication".

Approximately 200 participants have enrolled in the course which is designed for field and hospital emergency services personnel. It is especially appropriate for health professionals (EMTs, CRTs, physicians, nurses and others associated with health care), both paid and volunteer.

Although registration is closed, persons wanting more information about the course should contact the Office of Continuing Education at GCC, 334-8266.

Three Area Men Injured In Recent Traffic Mishaps

The Maryland State Police investigated several accidents this week which resulted in three area men being injured.

A one-car accident which occurred Friday at 12:27 a.m. resulted in Jerry A. Myers, 29, Aurora, W.Va., being taken by the Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital where he was treated for injuries and released.

The accident occurred while Myers was operating a 1983 Chevrolet K-10 southbound on Rt. 219 south of Jasper Riley Road, failed to negotiate a left-hand turn and traveled off the right side of the road.

The vehicle then traveled up an embankment and overturned, striking a mailbox.

Tfc. R.C. Resh charged Myers with driving while intoxicated and negligent driving.

Two accidents involving injuries occurred Saturday, one resulting in an Oakland man being taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital where he was treated for injuries and released. The Southern Rescue Squad transported him to the hospital.

Franklin P. Polce, 19, was traveling northbound on Rt. 219 south of Monte Vista Road when an unidentified vehicle made a

Our Turn

Coining Words
by Pam Ashby

Oh, the words that must have been created in anger, excitement and fear! I have invented many such words myself, especially when it comes to reprimanding my children or speaking to persons of authority.

I coined a new word just the other day when my 15-year-old was wrestling with my five-year-old. To say the match was unfair is a bit of an understatement. When I heard screams emitting from the rec room, I yelled, "Jamie, stop terrorizing your little sister!" At that point, the only thing emitting was laughter. I explained that the word meant scaring the life out of his little sister as well as paralyzing her for life. I don't know if he bought it or not, but I'm rather proud of my new word.

Another word I hear frequently is "frustrated." Now, that's an interesting word. I'm sure the person who invented it was simultaneously agitated to confusion while feeling totally baffled and thwarted.

"Reaganomics," of course, speaks for itself, but could certainly take on numerous meanings depending on one's party affiliation and one's penchant for conservatism or liberalism.

Those of us who travel and pester the natives of any given locality are often referred to as "tourons." That is a cross between a tourist and a moron. If you need further explanation of that term, see Liz Elliott. I believe she coined it.

A "parapeer" is an acquaintance who gets under your skin and stays there until you have him surgically removed. "Hexercise" is a curse you put on yourself to whip your body into shape. See? Isn't it fun to coin new words? Maybe your new word will soon be included in the "fictionary."

Police then swerved the 1979 Ford 150 he was operating to the right to avoid a collision and skidded, striking a guardrail.

The vehicle then traveled on top of the guardrail for approximately 200 feet and struck a ditch before overturning.

Tpr. Paul R. Brown charged Polce with failure to drive in a single lane.

An accident that occurred at 12:05 a.m. resulted in Roger Martin, 20, Oakland, being taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital where he was treated for injuries and released.

Martin was a passenger in a 1985 Chevrolet S-10 Blazer being driven by Alfred L. Harvey Jr., 19, Kitzmiller, and, while traveling southbound on Smouse Road north of Pleasant Valley Road, ran off the roadway after failing to negotiate a left-hand curve.

The vehicle was then steered back onto the road where it traveled across the road and into a ditch. It then overturned.

Tfc. David W. Broadwater investigated the accident.

Economic Census Plans Revealed By Census Bureau

The latest information released by the U.S. Bureau of the Census about the forthcoming 1987 economic censuses reveals a number of changes affecting specific census products that will be available from the Maryland Department of State Planning.

The census of manufacturing activities will reflect growing globalization of the U.S. economy, including dollar value of all shipments exported; improved comparability with trade statistics to better relate domestic production, imports and exports. Also included will be questions on portion of materials, parts and supplies purchased overseas and questions on goods fabricated or assembled in a foreign plant and shipped from domestic plants.

The census will collect information about the value of construction work done in 1987 rather than receipts which include portions of prior year activity. Questions will be added to manufacturing and business forms to collect information on internal construction activities including number of construction employees and estimated value of construction. Census officials expect specialization of forms used to collect data on type of work performed and kind of construction involved will produce an improved report.

Expanding service data on transportation-trucking and warehousing, transportation services (freight forwarders), and possibly water transportation will be collected this year. Data on hospitals will also be covered in 1987. Data on exported services will be expanded to include advertisers, accounting firms, consultants, as well as architectural, engineering and computer services.

Content changes for 1987 include dropping the reporting of data by major retail center (MRC) or central business district (CBD), except on a

Constitution Chronicles

DANIEL OF ST. THOMAS JENIFER

(The following is one in a series of articles on the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution sponsored by the Maryland State Bar Association.)

by Ned deRussy

The delegate to the Constitutional Convention two hundred years ago with the most unusual name was a Marylander. Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer was born at Port Tobacco in Charles County, Maryland in the year 1723, the son of Dr. Daniel Jenifer. Legend has it that he was named for a relative who lived on the island of St. Thomas in the West Indies. He had a brother who was named simply "Daniel." His mother was a sister of John Hanson, who was elected by the Continental Congress "President of the United States in Congress Assembled" and is often referred to by many people as the First President of the United States. The Jenifers were early residents of Charles County and were people of considerable wealth at that time.

As a young man he was the Justice of the Peace of his county and later of the Western Circuit of the Province of Maryland. In 1760 he served on the commission appointed to settle the boundary dispute with Pennsylvania and Delaware.

In 1766 he became a member of the Provincial Council and served on it until 1773. Also, from 1773 until its last meeting on June 12, 1776, he sat on the Governor's Council.

Jenifer had mixed feelings early on about the quarrel between England and the colonies, but when he finally took a stand for independence, he was very active in promoting the revolutionary cause. He was chosen President of the Maryland Council of Safety and when the state government came into being in 1777, he became President of the Senate. From 1777 to 1782 he served in the Continental Congress. His record in the Congress showed that he was highly nationalistic and favored a permanent union of the states. Commencing in 1782 he was "Intendant of the Maryland Revenues" and financial agent of the state. That office corresponds to the State Treasurer in Maryland today.

Jenifer led the life of a jolly, wealthy bachelor. He was fond of horse racing and attended the races at Annapolis, in company with his good friend, George Washington. He was frequently Washington's guest at Mount Vernon and Washington visited him at "Stepney," his estate in Charles County.

In 1785, Jenifer was appointed by the Maryland General Assembly to a commission to confer with commissioners from Virginia over fishing and navigation rights on the Potomac River. George Washington invited them to move their conference from Alexandria to his estate. The resulting "Mount Vernon Compact" led to the calling of the Annapolis Convention in September, 1786, which in turn paved the way for the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia in 1787.

Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer went to Philadelphia with four other delegates representing Maryland. He was naturally conservative in fiscal matters and was strongly opposed to the issuance of paper money by the states. He also wanted Congress to have the power to tax.

He was not very active at the convention, though he did advocate three-year terms for Congressmen based on the belief that too-frequent elections would cause popular indifference and would discourage men of prominence from seeking public office. He was one of the three Maryland delegates who signed the Constitution. Two others did not.

One incident involving Jenifer that occurred near the end of the Convention is well-remembered. He and Luther Martin, fellow Maryland delegates, were discussing what had been agreed upon. Martin was opposed to much of the Constitution and later walked out of the Convention without signing it. "I'll be hanged if ever the people of Maryland agree to it," he exclaimed, to which Jenifer is said to have rejoined, "I advise you to stay in Philadelphia lest you should be hanged."

Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer died in Annapolis little more than three years later, on November 16, 1790. Of all the signers of the Constitution, he is the only one whose place of burial has never been officially ascertained. One researcher whose life work was spent locating the graves of Continental Congressmen believed he had located Jenifer's grave in a plowed field in Anne Arundel County.

First United Branch Managers Named

Beverly A. Sines

Richard G. Stanton, president, First United National Bank & Trust, recently announced the promotions of two employees.

Beverly A. Sines has been named manager of the Mid-Towns and Thayer Center Offices in Oakland and James R. Shafer has been appointed manager of the Tri-Towns Office in Westernport.

James R. Shafer

A graduate of Southern High School, Mrs. Sines began her First United career as a teller in 1976. She was promoted to loan adjuster in 1983 and assumed her most recent position, installment loan officer, in January of this year.

Mrs. Sines has completed several bank related schools and seminars, including the National Consumer Lending

She and her husband, Mark, have two sons, Taylor and Travis.

Shafer, also a graduate of Southern High School, started as a teller with the Bank in 1982. Later that year he became an audit clerk, in 1984, moved into the Marketing Department, and, in 1985, he was named sales coordinator. In January of this year, he was named a loan adjuster, his most recent position.

Shafer attended West Virginia Institute of Technology, Allegany Community College, and Garrett Community College, majoring in computer science. He has also completed several bank related courses.

Shafer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Shafer, Mountain Lake Park.

CRIME SOLVERS

This week Crime Solvers is seeking information leading to the arrest of the person or persons responsible for the breaking and entering and theft which occurred between November and April in Altamont at the residence of Sherman Friend.

Friend's garage was entered and a rebuilt C-6 Ford four-wheel-drive transmission and a Sears rotary tiller were stolen.

All leads in this case have been exhausted and Crime Solvers is seeking your help. If you have information about this crime or any other unsolved crime, you are eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000. All information will be kept confidential and the caller may remain anonymous.

Information may be given by calling 301-334-1975.

HONORED BY COUNTY HOMEMAKERS' CLUBS — During the Homemakers' Annual Spring Meeting held May 4 at Garrett Community College, Jane Williams, former Extension agent, home economics, was honored by the county's 19 clubs for her nine and one-half years as their advisor. Jane recently resigned her position with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service to accept a teaching position with the Garrett County Board of Education. Shown honoring Jane (right), from left to right, are: Ann Stanley, vice president; Halley Snyder, president; and Fran Stieringer, president of Casselman Valley Club and chairman of the committee. The Homemakers Spring Meeting served as a kickoff for National Homemakers Week observed nationwide May 4 through 9. Mrs. Stanley chaired the program which included an instrumental ensemble composed of GCC students under the direction of George McDowell and a slide/tape program, "Voices of American Homemakers." Assisting with the program were: Faye Bittinger, devotions; Fannie Bender, flag salute; and Zeola Robeson, group singing. Committees include Winter Project Display, Casselman Valley Club; Refreshments, Rt. 40 Club; and Arrangements for Entertainment, Cove Club.

Garrett County Forestry Board To Host Conservation Workshop

The Garrett County Forestry Board held a dinner meeting at Cornish Manor Restaurant, on Tuesday, May 5, with Charles Strauss, chairperson of the local board presiding.

The Garrett Forestry Board will be hosting the 1987 Forest Conservation Workshop the week of August 9-15. The workshop, which is sponsored by the Maryland Association of Forestry Boards, is designed to give students (grades 9-12), interested in a career in conservation, some insight into the type of work being done, and the training needed to qualify for these positions.

The forestry boards solicit funds from local businesses and organizations to operate the workshop. It costs the students nothing to attend the week-long program.

This year's workshop will be held at Camp Hickory, Garrett County's Environmental Education Center, near Accident. The Garrett Board hopes to have at least two students from each county in Maryland attend the workshop. Students interested in attending the workshop should contact their science teacher or guidance counselor for applications.

Hank DeBruin, of the Maryland Forestry Association attended the meeting and congratulated the board on their efforts with the workshop.

and will be 18 by November 8, 1988, and is qualified, may register to vote at the board office in the Courthouse Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., or by calling the office at 334-1962 and requesting a registration by mail form.

Gormanian Man Sentenced To Two Years In D.O.C.

A Gormanian, W.Va. man was sentenced last Thursday in Garrett County District Court to two years in the Maryland Department of Corrections after he had been found guilty of malicious destruction of property.

Thomas A. Lower, 33, had been found guilty of the charge March 12 when a pre-sentence investigation had been ordered by Judge Fred A. Thayer.

The two-year sentence was then suspended to six months and Lower was placed on 18 months supervised probation and ordered to make restitution of $4,127.05 to the Garrett County Commissioners' Office and $40 to the town of Oakland for damages incurred.

The charge stemmed from a November 21 incident on Alder Street, Oakland, when Lower drove his Dodge Van into a 1984 Ford, property of the Commissioners' Office, several times, damaging the vehicle.

According to police reports, Lower stated that he was trying to seek help from the police at the time.

John R. Toston, public defender, represented Lower. During another Circuit Court hearing, a jury found an Oakland man guilty of making a false statement to police.

Jerry A. Cline, 36, who was found guilty of the charge, was later released on a $1000 bond pending sentencing.

The charge was filed by Sgt. R.E. Friend, Maryland State Police, following an October 8 incident at the Amoco Service Station on Rt. 135 when Cline reportedly made a false report about a disturbance there.

According to police reports, Cline made the statement with the intent that the incident would be investigated.

Reportedly, no disturbance was found there when police arrived and Cline stated that he just wanted to get his car fixed.

Cline had been granted a motion by Judge Thayer April 27 for the release of his attorney, John R. Toston, public defender, choosing to defend himself at the jury trial.

Toston, however, was ordered by Thayer to be available at the hearing to advise and counsel Cline as necessary.

Three Charged With Driving While Intoxicated

The Maryland State Police this week charged three men with driving while intoxicated.

Michael W. Wilburn, 25, Grantsville, was arrested Wednesday at 12:55 a.m. while operating a three-wheel vehicle in the Jennings area. He was contacted at Meyersdale Community Hospital, Pa., where he was being treated for injuries received after a mishap on the three-wheeler.

Wilburn was then transferred to Garrett County where charges were filed against him by Tfc. R.J. Resh.

Neal Switzer, 57, Deer Park, was arrested Sunday at 12:35 a.m. while stopped on the Glendale Road bridge.

The arresting officer was Tpr. Paul R. Brown.

Raymond H. Thrush II, 20, Dunbar, Pa., was arrested Thursday at 7:42 p.m. after he was involved in a motor vehicle accident along Rt. 48.

He was arrested by Tfc. G.R. Chaney.

Grantsville Woman Charged With Two Counts Of Battery

Several arrests were made this past week by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, including a Grantsville woman charged with two counts of battery.

The charges were filed by David W. Bittinger, also of Grantsville, and Deputy C.P. Nolan, respectively, following an incident Friday on New Germany Road. According to police reports, Bittinger was taken to the Garrett County Jail after being charged with the first count where she reportedly kicked the officer.

Deputy P.K. Buckel made the arrest.

Roscoe Leslie, Oakland, was charged with two counts of assault following an incident April 28 on Hutton Road where he allegedly assaulted Albert DeWitt, Deer Park.

Deputy P.K. Buckel investigated.

Brian J. Wachter, 21, Oakland, was arrested last Thursday on a bench warrant charging him with failure to appear in Garrett County District Court. His bond was set at $250.

Deputy W.C. Thomas served the warrant.

Adam W. Arnold, 23, Oakland was arrested and charged with violation of probation after he failed to pay full restitution and report to his probation agent.

Deputy Buckel served the warrant.

ROCK AND ROLL JAMBOREE — The Annual Rock and Roll Jamboree was held on April 25 at Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland, with a total of $1,500 raised for the Alzheimer's Association. Ambitious residents rocked in their rocking chairs and rolled in their wheelchairs to entertainment by volunteers Hazel and Bill Meyers, Marilu and Gordon Rowe, Ruth Poland, Sonny Weimer, Peggy and Darren Lambert, Francis Otto, Missy and Carey Head, Teresa Funk, David McManus, Carol Steward, Angela Myers, Kim Marley, Randy Livengood, Sonny Livengood, Monica Miller, Michelle Meale, and Beckie Ring. Many groups and individuals sponsored the residents, including the Saddle Tramps 4-H Club (Northern Division). Pictured above, left to right, are: Cissy Van Sickle, Saddle Tramps leader, Saddle Tramps member Jason Van Sickle presenting Beckie Amower, director of the Activity Department at Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home, with over $240 raised by the 4-H Club that day. Hazel Meyers, chairperson of the Rock and Roll Jamboree and Bill Meyers, commander, DAV MI. Top 29. Other members of the Saddle Tramps taking part were: Heather Miller, Bobbi Jo Harvey, Darren Lambert, Beckie DeWitt, Jamie Schmidt, Heather Perando, and leaders Peggy Lambert and Joanna Harvey. The seven 4-H members sponsored 10 residents. Chairman Hazel Meyers said part of the $1,500 will be given to the State Alzheimer's Association and part will be kept in Garrett County to help start an Alzheimer's support group here. Donations from the Dietary Department staff at Cuppett and Weeks, Stroehmann Bakeries, Coca-Cola, Beachy Lumber Company, and Green Acres helped make the day a success. Rocking and rolling was done by 36 residents to benefit the Alzheimer's Association.

One Solitary Life

Here is a young man who was born in an obscure village, the child of a peasant woman. He grew up in another village. He worked in a carpenter shop until he was thirty, and then for three years he was an itinerant preacher. He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never owned a home. He never had a family. He never went to college. He never put his foot inside a big city. He never traveled 200 miles from the place where he was born. He never did any one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He has no credentials but himself.

While he was still a young man, the tide of public opinion turned against him. His friends ran away. He was turned over to his enemies. He went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. While he was dying, his executioners gambled for the only piece of property he had on earth and that was his coat.

When he was dead, he was laid on a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend. Nineteen centuries wide have come and gone, and today he is the central figure of the human race and the leader of the column of progress.

I am far within the mark when I say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever sailed, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together, have not affected the life of man upon this earth as has that ONE SOLITARY LIFE.

National Nurses' Day Observed

"Nursing Care: the Most for Your Health Care Dollar," is the theme for National Nurses' Day, which was Wednesday, May 6. The Maryland Nurses' Association (MNA) joined the American Nurses' Association (ANA) in recognizing the vital services of the nation's nearly 1.9 million registered nurses.

Health care expenditures in the United States totalled $425 billion last year, the MNA noted, 12 times what they were in 1965. American health care is being transformed by a variety of factors, including new technologies, health care delivery systems, and cost-cutting measures, a health-conscious baby boom generation and an aging population. Registered nurses are providing a wide range of quality health services at affordable prices to meet the demands of this changing system, the MNA reported.

"Registered nurses are knowledgeable health care providers with key roles in managing and providing patient care services," said ANA President Margaret M. Styles, Ed.D., R.N., F.A.A.N. "Nursing has both the knowledge and the flexibility to meet the varied health care needs of our society. From the neonatal intensive care unit to employee health centers, registered nurses are there to give cost-effective, competent care."

While the majority of the nation's 1.5 million working registered nurses practice in hospitals, employment trends in nursing reflect the changing health care system. Registered nurses provide needed services in health maintenance organizations, nursing homes, free standing surgical facilities,

"NURSING CARE: the Most for Your Health Care Dollar," was the theme for the 1987 observance of National Nurses' Day, which was Wednesday, May 6. Pictured with Garrett County Commissioners Ernest Gregg, Elwood Groves and John Braskey are Garrett County Health Department's Home Health Supervisor, Nancy Trimble, RNC, MSN, right, and Garrett County Memorial Hospital's assistant director of nursing, Laurie Grant, RN, BSN, MNE, pictured left.

schools, community clinics, industry, centers for the aging, and in patients' homes. A growing number of nurses — over 20,000 nationally — provide nursing care to their clients in nurse-managed clinics and other settings, the MNA said.

The demand for nursing care services is increasing steadily as the nation looks for ways to reduce the cost and maintain the quality of health care. Consumers in many states can see a registered nurse for a physical examination, immunizations, help in coping with chronic disease like diabetes, prenatal care in a normal pregnancy and treatment of routine illness. Employers are enlisting the services of registered nurses to help employees lose weight, stop smoking, exercise safely, prevent serious illness, and overcome alcohol or drug dependency. Moreover, the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment reports that using the services of nurse practitioners and certified nurse-midwives could reduce the cost and improve the quality and availability of health care.

"Consumers, employers, insurers and the government want safe, affordable health care," Styles said. "In many situations, registered nurses could provide that care if reimbursement policies and regulations would permit."

Consumer access to nursing services is limited by federal and state regulations and insurance industry policies that exclude registered nurses from third party payment. Through the efforts of state nurses' associations, many states allow direct reimbursement for nursing services. (SNA's localize here).

"The American Nurses' Association and its constituent associations will continue our efforts to gain third-party payment for registered nurses," Styles said. "Nursing care gives consumers the most for their health care dollar. We are determined that consumers will have access to quality nursing care services at prices they can afford."

Accident Youth Arrested On Runaway Charge

A 16-year-old Accident youth was arrested last Thursday by Maryland State Police and charged with being a runaway, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and driving without a license.

The youth was later apprehended on South Street in Accident where he was a passenger in the stolen vehicle.

Driver of the vehicle, a 17-year-old male from Grantsville, was charged with driving on a learner's permit without required supervision.

Tic. Dale K. Williams was the arresting officer.

An Oakland man was arrested on a fugitive from justice warrant filed in W.Va.

Steven D. Reall, 35, was arrested Tuesday on the Steyer-Gorman Road by Tfc. R.M. Hershberger.

The warrant was filed for bad check charges against Reall.

BPW Officer Installation To Be This Evening

The new officers for the 1987-88 club year will be installed at this month's meeting of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women. The installation will take place this evening prior to the regular dinner meeting of the organization. Betty J. McCune, State Treasurer for the Maryland Federation of BPW, will be the installing officer. McCune is also the president of the Hagerstown BPW.

The slate of new officers for the local BPW include: Lisa Thayer, president; Phyllis Buckel, vice president; Diana Geare, secretary; Peggy Jamison, treasurer; and Linda Maroney, nominating committee chairperson.

Following the installation, the group will have dinner and conduct a brief business meeting.

May Is Foster Parent Month In Maryland

May will be celebrated as Foster Parent Month in Maryland at two regional conferences for foster parents and foster care staff from local departments of social services, according to the Maryland Department of Human Resources. The conferences, one on the Eastern Shore and one in Western Maryland, will be held at Salisbury State College on Saturday, May 2, and at Allegany Community College near Cumberland on Saturday, May 9.

All of Maryland's 2,100 foster parents have been invited to attend the conferences to participate in workshops concerning the problems and challenges encountered in caring for foster children. Workshop topics will include: foster parenting sexually abused children; discipline and the foster parenting of adolescents; the emerging rights of foster parents; and the recruitment of foster parents.

Foster care is a social services program designed to provide a substitute family life experience for a child who needs care for a temporary period of time. Children may be placed in foster care because of child abuse or neglect, the absence or illness of a parent, or the lack of family financial and other support.

In addition to the regional conferences, foster families in all parts of the state will be honored at local ceremonies sponsored by local departments of social services and foster parent organizations.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News

Holy Communion will be celebrated in each church in the Bittering Parish this Sunday, May 10.

St. John's Council will meet Thursday, May 7, at the church at 7:30 p.m.

Flowers on St. John's altar on Sunday were given in memory of Wilhelmina Eddy by her family.

Lectors for Sunday were Barbara Herbert, St. John's; Carol Bass, Emmanuel; and Floyd Baker, Zion.

On Friday evening, the boy's club of Cherry Glade Mennonite Church will hold a pizza supper in the fellowship hall of the church. Anyone wanting pizzas are invited to come, and they will be prepared according to each individual's taste. The time is from 5 to 8 p.m.

Homemakers Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Bittering Homemakers Club was held at the home of Mrs. Nellie Hare on April 28, with seven members and one guest present. Loretta Opel, president, presided. It was announced that Beulah Moon and Ferne Beachy would attend the State Council meeting on April 29 at Comfort Inn in Frostburg.

Beulah Moon, Safety and Emergency Preparedness chairman, was in charge of the demonstration, "Home Nursing Care." She had as her guest speaker, Sharon Buckel, who works through the Garrett County Home Health Agency in the skilled nursing part of the system.

Attends Piano Recital

Mrs. Jo Ellen Graham, St. Albans, W.Va., spent several days last week visiting her sister, Beulah Moon. On Sunday afternoon, the two of them attended a piano recital at the Wesleyan Church in Cresaptown. Mrs. Moon's grandsons, James and John Moon, participated in the recital.

Attend WOW Convention

Attending all sessions of the Woodmen of the World Convention over the weekend at the Will O' the Wisp were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buckel, Rose Buckel, Joe and Linda Buckel and William Emory. Thelma Emory and Kenneth Buckel attended the banquet on Saturday evening.

Birthday Celebration

On Sunday afternoon, the family of Viola Miller gathered at the Glade Mennonite Church basement for a birthday party in observance of her 80th birthday. The group served a carry-in dinner to all 60 members of her family present. Mrs. Miller is the mother of Mrs. Allen Brennen.

Spring Meeting

Beulah Moon and Ferne Beachy attended the State Homemakers Spring Meeting at Comfort Inn in Frostburg, on April 29.

Announce Birth

David and Karin Maust became the parents of a daughter at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, on May 1. She weighed 8 lbs., 11½ ozs. and was named Erica Janine.

To Give Slide Show

Donna Glotfelty will show slides of her trip to the Holy Land on Sunday, May 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the Glade Mennonite Church. The public is invited to attend.

Whoo's News

by Loretta Wotring
Public Relations chairman

Another month has passed and the clubs in the area are ready for spring! To start them off, May 3-9 is National Homemakers Week. Many of the clubs have planned special outings, such as attending church together, bake sales and having lunch out. You may see posters and signs around the town advertising these clubs and events. All homemakers invite you to attend their meetings and the Extension Office is happy to help anyone who is interested in joining. Spring is a great time to start!

Garrett Community College, McHenry, is the meeting place for "An Evening of Learning". It is scheduled for May 12 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. These three hours are packed full of classes and there is no charge. Call the Extension Office for more information.

Finally, don't forget "College Days" are June 16-18. You must register for this and time is running out. The Extension Office number is 334-1990.

Other clubs in the county would like to hear from you also. You may call them to learn about their meeting places. New Germany Club meets the first Thursday of the month. Call Zella Bittinger at 245-4224. This month's meeting is May 7 at the home of Mary Broadwater.

FRIENDSVILLE TEACHERS HONORED — Tuesday was National Teachers Day and the parent volunteers of Friendsville Elementary School wanted to make sure that the teachers of their school know they are appreciated. Monday began a week-long schedule of activities with the planting of a lilac bush on the school grounds. The lilac symbolizes growth which is achieved by careful nurturing and caretaking. Students then gave parent volunteers questions to ask the teachers and each day during opening exercises different teachers were interviewed. A balloon launch was held today to symbolize the outreach teachers have toward students. A mailbox was placed in the media center and students and parents were encouraged to write notes of appreciation to their teachers. Other activities included daily desserts being placed in the teachers' lounge and placement of a window display in the Friend Museum building. The finale, slated for Tuesday, May 12, will be a sit-down dinner in the cafeteria prior to the May PTA meeting. Pictured above left to right are: Jane Fox, school principal; teachers Dan Taylor, Janet Reid, Ross Giotfelty, Alan Skidmore, Susan Halliday, Connie Higgins, Anita DeWalt, Douglas Gailther, Joyce Miller; and parent volunteers Judy Livengood and Nancy Frazee. Not present for the photo was teacher Shirley Fike.

last meeting was held at the Deer Park Fire Hall with 15 members present. Six of their members exchanged Easter bonnets and had their pictures taken. They are planning a Memorial Day service at the Deer Park Cemetery. They extend an invitation to anyone wishing to join them.

Remember, the Extension Homemakers clubs are open to all persons without regard to race, color, sex, handicap, religion, age or national origin.

Corrections Noted

In an article on page 35 of last week's Republican, titled "Initiated Into Phi Kappa Phi At Hood College," it was incorrectly stated that Tracy Lynn Sweeney's mother, Cindy Sweeney, was from Chevy Chase. She is, in fact, a resident of McHenry.

Northern Science Fair Scheduled

The annual Northern High School Science Fair will be held in the school cafeteria May 9-10. Over 120 students will display their research projects in the categories of Biology, Health, Earth Science and General Science. Judging of the projects will take place on Saturday, May 9, from 12-2 p.m.

The community is invited to attend the fair on Saturday and Sunday from 2-4 p.m.

VICA Plans Raffle To Aid State Winners

A compact disc player will be awarded to the winner of a raffle being held by the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) at Southern High School. The raffle proceeds will help send the club's two first-place state winners, Loren Bowser and Warren Livengood, to the National VICA Contest in Wichita, Kansas, in June.

Tickets are available from any VICA member at the cost of $1 each or six for $5.

Youth Activities Noted At U.M.

Swanton Church

Several youth activities have been held recently by the youth of Swanton United Methodist Church and future activities are now being planned, according to a church spokesman.

The musical, "Down By the Creek Bank," was presented by the district children at the 1987 Romney District Conference in Parsons, W.Va. on May 2.

Children participating from the Swanton church were: Kendra Sweetzer, Joni Wilson, A.J. Fleming, David Schofield and Josh Teets. Holly Wilson sang "Senses," and Ellida Schofield sang "Being Me." Local directors were Mrs. Linda Fleming, Ms. Barbara Rexrode and Mrs. Rose Ogden.

The musical will be presented in the Swanton church on Sunday, May 24, at 11 a.m. and at the Grantsville church on Sunday, May 17. The children from the Grantsville Mt. Zion Church and Keyser church will be assisting.

Rev. and Mrs. Richard Ogden had a hot dog roast for the Boy and Girl Fellowship and youth on Tuesday evening. The Whirly Birds received their beanie and the Soaring Eagles received sashes. The awards are given for church work and Bible learning. The next six-week program will consist of crafts and outdoor activities.

Vacation Bible School will be held from July 20-24, 9 a.m. until noon, with a program being held on July 24 at 6 p.m. The theme will be "Jesus Christ: Giver of New Life," and there will be classes for all ages. A teacher training session for the school will be held on Sunday, May 17.

Camp Agape, sponsored by the Bloomington and Swanton/Kitzmiller charges, will once again be held this summer. Dates will be announced later.

The Swanton charge will honor its high school graduates on Sunday, May 31. The Kitzmiller Mt. Bethel Church sponsored a covered dish dinner on Sunday, May 3, at 1 p.m.

Local Nursing Homes To Observe National Week

Cuppert and Weeks Nursing Home and Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, both located in Oakland, will join with thousands of nursing homes across the country in celebrating National Nursing Home Week, May 10-16.

"Discover Life's Treasures" is the 1987 theme and is intended to remind all members of the community that nursing home residents want to share their experiences with family and neighbors. Both nursing homes will honor their residents and staff.

The public is invited to attend an open house on Sunday, May 10, from 2-5 p.m. at Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home. Free hot dogs and Coke will be provided and Roy Bittinger and the Mid-Night Ramblers will provide music. A bake sale by the D.A.V. will be held and a petting zoo will be available. Jan's Florists is donating a corsage to each resident who is a mother to celebrate Mother's Day.

Crocheted corsages, handmade by volunteers, will be distributed to mothers at Dennett Road Manor on Mother's Day. A balloon launch will be held on Wednesday, May 13, at Dennett Road Manor at 2 p.m. Other special activities honoring the residents and staff are also planned throughout the week.

Becky Amtower and Joanne Harsh, activities directors at the homes, urge all members of the community to visit the nursing homes next week and "discover life's treasures."

Southern GOP Women Convene, Install Officers

The Southern Garrett County Republican Women met at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren on April 28. Sue Shockey, president, presided.

Tica Lowe, Western Maryland Region chairperson, was present to install the following officers for this year: Sue Shockey, president; Ruth Umbel, vice-president; Nancy Gregg, recording secretary; Ann Groves, corresponding secretary; and Arzella Parsons, treasurer. She also congratulated the club for winning the Maryland Seal Award, which is the highest award to be achieved in the Maryland Federation of Republican Women.

After the business meeting, President Shockey introduced the speaker for the evening, Wayne Johnson, executive director of Hospice of Garrett County. Johnson presented a filmstrip to familiarize the club with the Hospice organization. He followed with the explanation of what Hospice is doing for Garrett Countians.

Members are reminded that there will not be a regular meet-

READING IS FUN is the name of a program recently completed by the students of Dennett Road Elementary School. The program involved not only reading as many books as possible, but also tutoring of young students by older students. Sixty-eight children were awarded prizes for reading at least five books and 53 of them received parties for each ten books read. Pictured above in the front row are the youngsters who read the most books. They are, left to right, Tonya Abernathy, who led the school by reading 30 books; Joe Snell, 29 books; Melissa Moreland, 27; Franni Coviello, 26; Danny Riley, 25; Adam Breen, 25; and Dewey Sanders, 25. In the back row are the tutors, left to right, Jeannie Metz, Melissa Rodheaver, Kristy Meadows, Molli Hopkins, Elias Black, LaRena Naylor, and Paul Dove. The class reading the largest number of books was Mrs. Terri Kratoch's first grade class with 286 books, followed by Pat Foley's first grade class with 189 books, and Helen Fitzwater's third grade class with 169 books.

ing in May. In place of the regular meeting will be a cook-out for the residents at the Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home on Saturday, May 23, from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. All members are encouraged to participate and may contact Sue Shockey (334-4287) for more information on this event.

Revival Slated At Loch Lynn Church

The Loch Lynn Church of God will hold revival services May 10-13, with a 7 p.m. service on Sunday, May 10, and 7:30 p.m. services Monday through Wednesday.

Rev. Kenneth Harvell, state overseer of the Church of God in the Delmarva/D.C. area, will be the guest speaker. There will also be special music each evening.

The public is invited to attend.

Brookside Church To Hold Revivals

Revival meetings will be held at the Brookside Church of the Brethren along Route 50 near Aurora May 11-13. Rev. Stanley Waybright will be the evangelist at the services, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. each evening. Special music is also scheduled. The public is invited.

Youth For Christ Funding Effort Now Underway

The Board of Directors of Mt. Top Youth for Christ have announced that the 15th annual spring fund-raising effort of the organization is underway this week. The project, which is again in the form of a telethon, will continue through Saturday, May 9, during which time all participants are conducting a personal and telephone canvass.

All three Campus Life clubs, from Southern, Northern, and Salisbury high schools are participating. As an incentive and reward for student and staff participation, four categories of involvement are offered: a Prize Plan, a Group Plan, a College Scholarship Plan, and a Campus Life Activity Plan. More information on each of these is available from the YFC Office or from any Campus Life staff persons or members.

Participants in the telethon are requesting pledges of support. Checks should be made out to Mt. Top Youth for Christ, Inc. Telethon volunteers will collect their pledges or make arrangements for them to be mailed to the YFC Office, Box 286, Oakland.

Mt. Top Youth for Christ is a non-denominational youth ministry organization for high school students. The program includes Campus Life clubs, a Christian counseling service, and a full schedule of summer options for high school students, such as camps and other outings. The ministry operates under the authority of a local board of directors and is conducted by adult members of the professional and associate staff. The local chapter is chartered by the Youth for Christ USA organization, based in Wheaton, Ill.

Mt. Top YFC receives no fun-gram as part of their mission efforts. The entire budget of Youth for Christ is raised through contributions and various fund-raising activities.

In Loving Memory of our Dear Mothers, Homa Sweitzer & Pauline Paugh, Sister Helen Michaels, Aunt Lucille Stewart on Mother's Day 1987

There is no night without a dawning,
No winter without a Spring,
And beyond death's dark horizon,
Our hearts once more will sing.
For those who leave us for a while,
Have only gone away.
Out of a restless, careworn world
Into a brighter day.
Where there will be no partings,
And time is not counted by years,
Where there are no trials or troubles,
No worries, no cares and no tears.

Huskies Topped By Rams, Knights; Then Rebound Against Mt. Savage

The Northern Huskies were topped by arch rival Southern last Thursday (see separate story), and were manhandled by Valley for the second time this season on Tuesday at Accident, 14-5, but then came back yesterday afternoon to upset visiting Mount Savage, 6-4.

Coach John Helmick's Huskies are 5-5 on the season and they will host Bruceton Mills this afternoon.

Although the Black Knights recorded 11 hits against Northern pitchers on Tuesday, it was a poor defensive performance by the Huskies that really cost them. Including passed balls, the Huskies committed 10 errors on the afternoon.

"Our pitching really wasn't that bad," Helmick said. "If we had played better defense, it would have been a much closer game."

Lance Weaver opened the scoring in the first inning for Valley with a home run, which scored Mark Cutter who had doubled, giving the Knights a 2-0 lead.

The Huskies came back for a pair of runs in the second with a two-RBI single by Todd Wagner to tie the score at 2-2.

The Knights added a single run in the third to take the lead for good, recorded three runs in the fourth, and put the game away in the fifth when Cutter rapped a two-run homer.

The Huskies added two runs in their half of the fifth on an RBI single by Tony Bittinger and Aaron Zumpano rapped a run-producing single in the sixth.

Weaver added a double and a single to his home run, finishing with three RBIs and scoring twice. Tom Freeman and Kevin Rounds each had two hits for Valley.

Chris Robertson went the distance for Valley, striking out seven batters and walking four, while Ed Tabor took the loss for Northern.

It was the seventh win in 10 outings for Valley.

A two-run homer by Aaron Zumpano in the third inning highlighted the Huskies' win over Mt. Savage yesterday.

The Northern squad also capitalized on four Indian errors, while holding their own miscues to two.

After Mt. Savage scored an unearned run in the first inning, Northern's Sean Jones led off the second inning with an error and Zumpano followed with his two-run blast. Todd Wagner then connected for a single and later scored on a squeeze bunt by David Yoder, to give the Huskies a 3-1 lead.

Northern added three more runs in the third, as Rodney Lipscomb singled, Tony Bittinger reached on a fielder's choice, and Tom Savage loaded the bases when his bunt was muffed by the Indian catcher. Lipscomb then scored on a fielder's choice and Zumpano was walked intentionally. An error on a ball hit to second by Wagner allowed the final two runs.

The Indians' best offensive effort was in the fifth when Bryan Morris hit a two-run single and a bases-loaded walk was given to Terry Lybarger.

Ed Tabor, who relieved an injured Kevin Selby in the fourth, earned credit for the win over Denny Skidmore.

After the game with Bruceton Mills today, the Huskies are slated to travel to Beall on Saturday.

Garrett County Girls Named To Bi-County Team

Two girls' varsity basketball players from Southern High School and one from Northern High received word recently that they were selected to the Bi-County (Garrett and Allegany) All-Star Team for their efforts on the court this past season.

Named to the first team was Southern senior Kendra Stemple, while senior Vickie Dilgard was selected to the second team. Northern High junior Melissa Beeman was awarded honorable mention.

Stemple has been a key player for four years for Coach Don Stemple's squad, which finished 18-4 this past season including a berth in the Region I Class B playoffs. During those four years that Stemple has played on the team, the Rams won 63 games and lost only 23. This past season she scored 254 points, or an average of 11.5 per game, recorded 95 assists, or 4.4 per contest, and shot 68 percent from the free throw line, where she converted 64 of 94 attempts. She was also voted the Most Outstanding Player in the 1986 Southern Snowflake Classic.

Others named to the first team were Stacie Smith, of Mt. Savage; Kathleen Collett, Bishop Walsh, Lisa Miller, Fort Hill; and Janeen Spence, Beall. All are seniors.

Others named to the second team were Gina Sween, Beall; Amy Nicol, Valley; Marsha Williams, Allegany; and Kari O'Baker, Mt. Savage.

IT'S BEEN 10 YEARS since Charles Craver of Green Glade hooked these monsters in Deep Creek Lake, the larger of which was a Maryland state record Northern Pike at 44 and one-half inches and 19 and one-half pounds. There is little doubt in the minds of local anglers that similar creatures are swimming about in the lake right now, just waiting to be caught and registered in the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council Fishing Contest, which began Friday and will continue through September. All fish must be registered at Johnny's Bait House, one of the co-sponsors of the contest. Johnny's is located along U.S. Rt. 219 about two miles north of Glendale Road.

Northern Tennis Teams Defeated

Both the boys' and girls' tennis teams at Northern High School continued to struggle this week, as the Huskies lost to visiting Allegany on Thursday, the boys 6-3 and the girls 5-4.

The losses leave the Husky boys at 0-10 on the season and the girls at 1-9.

Megan Ramsey and Kristin Crone each won their singles matches, while the teams of Gene Cutter and Tanya Burdock, and Patrina Jones and Kendra Frazee captured doubles matches.

In boys' action, Greg Iden was the only Husky to win a singles match.

The Huskies are slated to face Southern this Friday.

Rams Defeat Huskies And Knights Before Falling To Golden Tornado

The Southern High varsity baseball team recorded an 8-4 win over arch rival Northern last Thursday at the Cove, nipped visiting Valley Friday afternoon, 6-5, but then dropped a 6-1 decision to powerful Keyser on Tuesday, also in Oakland.

The 10-2 Rams are slated to host Petersburg on Monday and travel to Allegany Wednesday.

It took a four-run seventh inning to put the game away against the pesky and persistent Northern Huskies last week. Coach John Helmick's team, which has no seniors, gave Jim Bosley's favored Rams all they could handle for the first six innings.

The Huskies took a 2-0 lead in the second inning with RBI singles by Sean Jones and Dave Yoder, but the Rams came back with three runs in the top of the third. A solo home run by Jones in the bottom of the fourth knotted the score at 3-3, but Southern took the lead for good with a single run in the fifth.

In the top of the seventh, the first two Southern batters were walked and Bo Butler stepped up to rap a two-run double. Two singles, plus an infield error by the Huskies, set up an RBI single by Rich Goad which completed the Rams' scoring.

Tom Savage added a final run for Northern in the bottom of the seventh with another solo homer.

Butler finished with two doubles and two RBIs for the Rams, while Goad hit three singles and Tim Chapman and Brian Glass each recorded two singles.

Besides his home run, Jones had two singles, two RBIs, and scored twice for Northern, while Savage homered and singled.

"Southern is definitely the best team we've seen this year," stated Coach Helmick. "We played pretty well against them until they broke it open in the seventh inning."

Butler was the ace for the Rams against Valley on Friday, as the junior left-hander allowed nine hits, but fanned 15 batters and did not give up a single walk. He struck out at least two batters in every inning except the eighth.

Butler also crossed the plate for the winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning as he was squeezed home by catcher Brian Glass.

The Black Knights took a 1-0 lead in the first inning of the contest when Tom Freeman was hit by the first pitch of the game, stole second, and scored on the first of four hits by losing pitcher John Smith.

The Rams came back in the Southern 003 010 4 8 13 2

Northern 020 100 1 4 6 3
Dale Bittinger, Scott Lohr (5) and Brian Glass, Kevin Sells, Ed Tabor (3), Phil Beatty (7) and Danny Sines (5)
HR: Sean Jones, Tom Savage, Northern
Keyser 105 000 0 4 7 0
Southern 000 000 1 1 8 2
Phil Mele and Harmon Parrill, Bo Butler and Bobby Bernard, Brian Glass (5)
HR: Harmon Parrill, grand slam (Keyser)

NICE RAINBOW — Tim Kitzmiller, Oakland, reeled in this prize while fishing just below Muddy Creek Falls on Friday. The rainbow trout was 18 inches long and weighed two and one-half pounds. Kitzmiller has decided to forego consumption of the delicacy and turn it over to a local taxidermist.

second as Chapman walked, moved to second on a wild pitch, and scored on a double by Butler. Then Butler came home on a single by Bruce Bosley.

Southern increased its advantage to 4-1 in the third frame on a run-producing double by Chapman and an RBI single by Bosley.

The Knights responded with two runs in the fourth when Smith singled, stole second, and scored on a double by Chris Wilson, who later scored on a single by Chris Robertson.

The Rams made it 5-3 in the bottom of the same inning as Donnie Horner doubled and moved to third on a single by Bosley. Bobby Bernard then lined a shot to the second baseman who completed the double play, but Horner came home in the meantime.

Valley knotted the score in the fifth when Freeman reached on an error and scored on a double by Smith. Lance Weaver followed with a single to send Smith home.

Butler led off the Ram eighth with a single and then moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Scott Lohr. Horner then lined a single that sent Butler to third and, after an intentional walk to Bosley, Glass bunted Smith's first pitch and knocked home the winning run.

Horner and Butler each doubled and singled twice to pace Southern's 10-hit attack, while Smith was four-for-four for Valley with a double and three singles. Chris Robertson added a pair of singles.

The loss dropped Valley to 6-3.

Although the Rams out-hit Keyser on Tuesday, 8-7, one of the Golden Tornado's hits was a grand slam by Harmon Parrill in the third inning, which sealed the victory for the visitors.

Coach Bosley's squad also loaded the bases in the fourth inning with no outs, but failed to score, and then recorded only one run when they had the bases loaded in the seventh.

Keyser earned a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Phil Mele singled after walks to Mark Liller and Mike Smith.

Troy Foster led off Valley's third inning with a double and scored on a double by Smith. Mele then reached on a walk and Ed Canfield followed with a grounder that should have led to a double play, but the throw to first was in the dirt.

Staggers then loaded the bases with a single and Parrill followed with his grand slam.

The Rams lone run was scored when Bosley singled. Glass doubled, and Goad singled to score Bosley. Goad and Chapman each had two singles for the Rams, while Staggers was the only Keyser player to hit safely twice.

Butler, who went the distance for Southern, fanned 10 batters and gave up four walks. Mele went all the way for Keyser to record the win.

Keyser is now 16-2 on the season.

The Southern jayvees defeated Keyser the same afternoon, 3-2, behind a one-hit pitching performance by Zack Gibson. The junior Rams are now 6-1.

The Ram varsity is slated to travel to Frankfort today.

Lakers End Long Spring Season With Two Losses

A long, disappointing spring season came to an end for the Garrett Community College Lakers this week, as they dropped a doubleheader yesterday in Pittsburgh to CCAC-South, 8-5 and 5-0.

The Lakers concluded their worst season ever with a 6-23-2 record.

South opened with three runs in the first inning of the first game and added another in the second. Garrett picked up a pair of runs in the fourth to break into the scoring column.

Pacing the Lakers' hitting were Mike Olean with two doubles, Brad Basinger with a single and RBI double, and Jeff Varitek, who hit a solo homer in the seventh.

Tom Scalaza paced South with a two-run double and a single, while Jim Costanzo added two singles.

Rick McPeck, Varitek, Eric Watts, and Dwayne Hedrick were the only Lakers to hit in the second game as all rapped singles which produced no runs.

Southern Tennis Teams On A Roll; Boys Win PVC Championship

The Southern High tennis teams are on a roll, as the boys team won the Potomac Valley Conference championship on Saturday at Petersburg, rolled over Beall Tuesday afternoon, 7-2, on the Frostburg State College courts, and then stomped Allegany yesterday at home, 7-2. The Rams are now 10-2 on the season.

Meanwhile, the Southern girls were runners-up in the PVC tournament and blanked Allegany yesterday, 8-0, to improve their record to 8-4.

The PVC win was the first ever in tennis for a Southern team and it went right down to the wire, when Rams Mike Hornyak and Rob Sharps edged Keyser's Tom Bean and Mark Smith in the final doubles match to win the title. Keyser was one point behind Southern in the final standings, followed by Petersburg and Hampshire.

In girls' action, Southern's Courtney Smith won her singles match and then teamed up with Cheryl Wilt to win a doubles match. Southern finished with nine points, compared to 12 for Petersburg, five for Hampshire, and one for Keyser. It was the third straight title for the Viking girls.

The event last 14 hours because of rain delays and a lighting failure.

Winning singles matches for the Southern boys were Eric Eiswert and Gordon Savage.

Eiswert, Savage, Gary Long, Doug Fike, and Sharps all won their singles matches against Beall on Tuesday.

Against Allegany yesterday, Smith, Wilt, Julie Kitzmiller, Pam Gnegy, and Tracy Humberston all won singles matches.

The Rams are slated to host Northern this Friday.

TRACK AND FIELD RETURNS TO GARRETT COUNTY — Before the days of school consolidation in the 1950s, there were a few local high school track teams, but it has been only the past few years that the sport has become part of athletics at Southern High School. The first meet ever at Southern was held just this week, as the local boys' and girls' teams easily defeated Central Preston and Union high schools. Although the Southern boys have been struggling against extremely stiff competition, the girls have been impressive this season, placing second in several area four- and five-team meets. Above, Southern's Julie Jackson attempts to go over the top in the high jump event. Below, Tracia Heatherman prepares to release the shot put, while teammate Patti Glottelty, far right, awaits her attempt. At right, Lady Ram Christine Bittinger leads the field and goes on to win the 1600-meter run.

Southern Wins First-Ever Home Track Event

The first track meet ever held at Southern High School proved to be a success for the Rams, as both the girls' team, coached by Bob Quick, and the boys' team, under Coach Bill Freyman, recorded their first victories of the year.

The Southern girls recorded 93 points, compared to 37 for Central Preston and 16 for Union, while the Southern boys finished with 80 points, followed by Central with 36 and Union with 35.

The Lady Rams won 11 of 15 events, while the Southern boys captured nine of 16 events.

In a five-school meet last Thursday at Keyser, the Southern girls finished second with 52 points. Keyser won the girls meet with 102 points, while Moorefield finished with 48, Tucker County, 33, and Union, 12.

At the same meet, the Southern boys managed to record only 30 points, placing them fourth. Keyser won with 113, followed by Moorefield with 52 and Tucker County with 49. Union was fifth with 19 points.

Taking first places for the Southern girls were Julie Blamie, who ran the 400-meter dash in 1:10, and Lisa Shreve, who won the 200-meter dash in 28.8 seconds. Shreve also finished second in the 100 dash, Susan Loomis was second in the 400, and Becky Helbig took second in the 3200 run.

The only first place finish by a member of the Southern boys' team was by Pavol in the 100-meter dash, recording a time of 11.9 seconds.

Trout Fingerlings "No Name Yet" Stocked In Yough Best In League

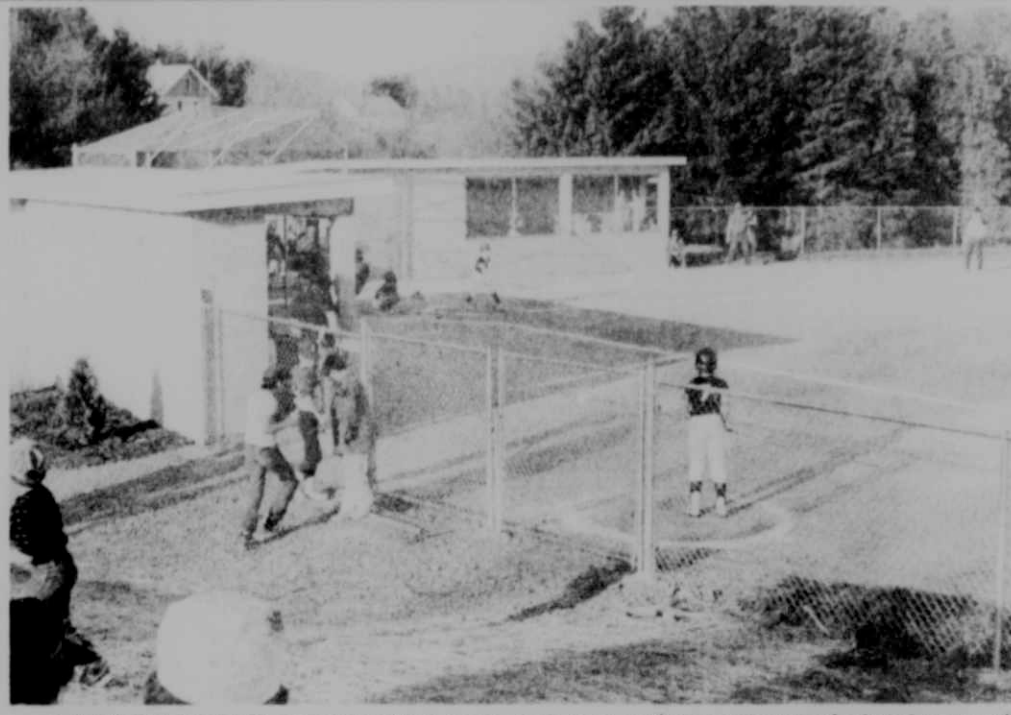

The Youghiogheny Chapter of Trout Unlimited and Maryland Department of Natural Resources personnel placed 60,000 brown trout fingerlings in the Youghiogheny River between Swallow Falls and Sang Run on Thursday, April 16. The fingerlings were obtained from the Ohio Trout program.

This ongoing effort by DNR and Trout Unlimited to stock the Youghiogheny River with brown trout has resulted in approximately 175,000 fingerlings in the river in the past four years, according to Sull McCartney, president of the Youghiogheny Chapter.

"No Name Yet" emerged as the championship team in the final standings of the Wednesday Civic Bowling League. Members of the winning team are Don Callis, Bink Sisler, Clarence Stem, Gary Friend, Jeff Friend, and Charlie Harsh.

Cal's Carpet finished in second place, followed by Dennie's Restaurant, Brownie's Foodland, Beer Drinkers, Garrett Community College, First National Bank of Terra Alta, and United Saddle Club.

The Bowler of the Year award went to Fred Sanders, who worked his way from sixth to first place in the standings.

A NEW BALLFIELD, complete with dugouts, restrooms, and concession stand, plus playground equipment and a basketball court are among the features of the new Accident Community Park East, which was dedicated Sunday afternoon. There are preliminary plans for additional development, according to Accident Mayor Wayne Fratz, who threw out the first ball to begin a series of Central Garrett Little League games Sunday afternoon following the dedication ceremony. Also included in the dedication was the presentation of a scoreboard to the League by the First United National Bank & Trust, plus dedication of the American Legion Post 208 Memorial Monument, pictured below, which was relocated from the front lawn of the former school building to the park.

Finishing in the runner-up position was Jim Stephens, followed by Bink Sisler, Larry Tichnell, Jeff Friend, and Don Callis.

FSC Music Prep Students State Sunday Recital

Students enrolled in the Frostburg State College preparatory division in Music will present a recital this Sunday, May 10, at 3:15 p.m. in Pullen Auditorium. The program is under the direction of Karen Fisher and the public is invited.

Arun Nava will play the clarinet and Robert Monti, bassoon. Pianists include: Erin White-man, Sarah Sallie, Samantha Schmidt, Laura Mason, Katie Patterson, Courtney Trumbull, Meghan Sidhu, Beau Noonan, Travis Skidmore, Christy Kershaw, Adrian Huddleston, Megan Monti, Julie Burke, Sonja Metz, Jennifer Grove, Nathan Sallie, Deanna Metz, Amy Huddleston, Lisa Barry, Heather Williams, Tessa Neilson, Lorena Murphy, Heidi Williams, Monica Whiteman and Kathy Bender.

Information about the preparatory division lessons may be obtained by calling the Music Department office at 689-4109. Registration is now in progress for September. Elementary and high school students and adults are eligible for lessons on all band and orchestra instruments, voice, guitar and piano.

Oakland Town Park, Mtn. Lake Park Chataqua Grove, Kitzmiller Community Park, Loch Lynn Heights Town Park, Deer Park Recreation Area and Bloomington Community Park. Proposals for '88 development include: a ballfield, picnic area and playground for the Friendsville Community Park, playground equipment and picnic tables for the Swanton Community Center, a track for the Northern High School regional recreational fields, four softball fields and a parking area for an Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park regional softball complex, a ballfield for the Loch Lynn Heights area athletic field and two tennis courts and one pavilion for a Deer Park recreation area.

Requests for Open Space funding is normally sponsored by municipalities or the commissioners.

tions for effective screening that will be compatible with the surrounding neighborhoods." The commissioners said they would make an on-site inspection of the property involved and that the record would be held open for 10 days for further testimony.

HSA Meeting

The commissioners also attended a Health Systems Agency quarterly board meeting this week. That body was to determine the future of the agency because of federal funding cuts.

The commissioners indicated that the agency has become so advisory that it now has little impact on health planning policies. The agency now employs only four full-time staff members, down from six members one year ago.

If the agency is dissolved, each county would likely have a representative who would be responsible for health planning.

In other meetings this week, the commissioners began their town tours and met with the Mayors and Town Councils of Oakland, Accident and Friendsville.

They indicated that Accident and Friendsville were adamant about not seeking a tax differential this year. Oakland was still undecided. In the past, pected to lead a panel discussion on boards of health. Other topics of discussion will be: consolidated water and sewer systems, service award programs, state funding of community colleges, state funding of the University of Maryland, review of legislative session and the Environmental Trust Program.

fifth place, with Schenk having the top score in the state.

"I just placed them the way I thought they should be," noted Schenk, who said he plans to spend more time practicing reasons classes before next year's contest.

The Southern High School sophomore is the son of Larry Schenk of Deer Park and Mary Schenk of New Germany. He grew up on the dairy farm operated by his father and grandfather, and is employed at his father's horse rental business, Western Trails on Mayhew Inn Road.

The Oakland FFA Chapter Livestock Judging Team also received fifth place in the state and the Dairy Products Team placed fourth in the Spring Judging Contest. The Republican will have more information on these contests and participants in next week's paper. Information was unavailable this week, as Oakland FFA Advisor Steve Kisher and members of the chapter's state-winning Land Judging Team are in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, competing in the National Land Judging Contest.

Rev. And Mrs. Poland To Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

An open house will be held to celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Poland on Saturday, May 16. In honor of their golden anniversary, the couple will renew their wedding vows at 1:15 p.m. The open house will begin at 1 p.m. and continue until 4 p.m. at the Crellin Assembly of God Church in Crellin.

The couple, who are originally from New Jersey, have been in the ministry for 45 years. Rev. Poland has pastored at Daniels, Hagerstown, Lonaconing, Frostburg, Kitzmiller, Corinth, W. Va., and Crellin. Mrs. Poland says he is "still as busy as ever, and fills in wherever he's needed."

They have two daughters, Mrs. Janet Park, Hutton, and Ruth, at home.

All family and friends are invited to attend the open house.

A money tree will be available at the reception.

TRY WALKING FOR YOUR HEALTH

Fifty years ago the average child walked to school. Twenty years ago the child was content to ride the bus to school, but he walked almost everywhere else. Ten years ago he tried to talk Dad into giving him the car once in a while. Today he is extremely unhappy about going to school or anywhere else unless he has his own car or is driven both ways.

If you have had the opportunity to visit a foreign country, one difference strikes you almost immediately upon arrival. People walk, people bicycle, people participate in sports activities, especially children and teenagers.

Our high standard of living and our automated age seem to have made the population of the United States a riding and viewing one.

Most health experts recognize the problem we face in a luxury society that gives incentive to sitting, riding and watching, rather than actively participating. For our health's sake we must go back to a way of life in which moderate exercise is a part, thereby allowing organs of our body to function properly.

Review your family's living habits. If your family eats too much, sits too much, rides too much, and exercises too little, this

Local Student Earns Honors At Fairmont State

An area student was among those honored at Fairmont State College's annual Awards Banquet, which was held Friday, May 1.

Karen Thrasher, Corinth, W. Va., a senior majoring in elementary education with a minor in mental impairments, received four awards at the banquet. They included: the SEA Elementary Education Award, which is given to the most outstanding student teacher of the year; the Special Education Award, awarded for outstanding contributions in the field of special education; Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities; and an award for being named the Outstanding Senior at Fairmont State College.

Mrs. Thrasher will be graduated on May 16 with a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education. She is currently completing her student teaching in mental impairments at East Dale Elementary School in Fairmont.

Mrs. Thrasher resides with her husband, William, and her three daughters, Mary, Sarah, and Patricia.

might be a good time to turn around and go back to some of the wholesome activities that were popular in years past.

Your doctor of chiropractic reminds you that there have been great advances made in the health services to help you live a longer and more satisfactory life, but real progress can only be made only if you have the desire to maintain your good health.

Pains of mysterious origin may be caused by spinal insults. Sometimes the symptoms of a back problem appear immediately, allowing the afflicted person to correlate cause and effect. However, sometimes days or even months pass before pain appears, causing the victim to see treatment for conditions other than the causative spinal disorder.

It is often an act of wisdom to seek qualified professional counsel as early as possible from a doctor of chiropractic. Under chiropractic care, a patient is either treated or referred to another physician better qualified to handle the patient's particular problem, after a comprehensive differential diagnosis is made.

MRS. EUGENIA M. EVANS
Mrs. Eugenia Mae Evans, 76, Hartmansville, W.Va., died Monday, May 4, in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born in Elk Garden, W.Va., she was the daughter of the late Daniel A. and Pearl (Miller) Schell. Her husband, Manard O. Evans, died in 1984.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Lucille Kenner, Barberton, Ohio; Mrs. Elizabeth Row, Winter Garden, Fla.; and Mrs. Eleanor Schuller, Slippery Rock, Pa.

Friends were received in the David A. Burdock Funeral Home, where a service was conducted yesterday with the Rev. Charles Shaver officiating. Interment was in the Pope Cemetery, Gorman.

ELLWOOD J. MILLER

Ellwood J. Miller, 73, Deer Park, died Sunday, May 3, while walking in the woods near his home.

Born in Accident on December 26, 1913, he was the son of the late John M. and Della M. (Friend) Miller.

Mr. Miller was a retired employee of the Maryland State Highway Administration with 28 years of service. He served in the U.S. Army as an infantryman in World War II and was a member of Zion Lutheran Church, Accident; the Disabled American Veterans, and Proctor-Kildow Post, American Legion, Oakland.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Jane (Maust) Miller; one daughter, Carolyn Bolton, Alexandria, Va.; three sons, Glenn E. Miller, Stafford, Va.; John W. Miller, Dale City, Va.; and Joseph Miller, Alexandria, Va.; one sister, Mrs. Marymae Wilson, Frostburg; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral home where a service was held Wednesday with the Rev. Wilfred Karsten officiating.

Interment was in Garrett County Memorial Gardens, Oakland.

MRS. HELEN M. WILBURN

Mrs. Helen M. Wilburn, 65, Wellersburg, Pa., formerly of Frostburg, died Friday, May 1, in Frostburg Community Hospital.

Born in Eckhart on December 17, 1921, she was the daughter of the late John A. and Mary (Reilly) Delaney. Her husband, Randall D. Wilburn, died in 1983.

Mrs. Wilburn was a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church and Farraday Unit 24, American Legion Auxiliary.

Surviving are one son, Mark C. Wilburn, Ellerslie; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret J. Radosta, Malden, Mass., and Mrs. Nancy J. Winebrenner, Wellersburg, and four grandchildren. She was the last surviving member of her immediate family.

Friends were received in the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg, where a Christian wake service was held Sunday afternoon. Mass of Christian burial was celebrated in St. Michael's Catholic Church Monday morning by Msgr. John L. Reinsfelder. Interment was in the Grantsville Cemetery.

LAURETTA KOLBFLEISCH
Lauretta (Colflesh) Kolbfleisch, 73, Farmington, Pa., died Monday, April 13, at her home.

Born April 13, 1914, in Ohio, she was the daughter of the late Lewis and Victoria Burgess Morrison. She was preceded in death by her husband, Robert J. Kolbfleisch, in 1980.

Mrs. Kolbfleisch was a member of the Farmington Free Methodist Church and the WMFI Friends.

Local Heroes Remembered

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of accounts of local war heroes, written by Ron Friend, Garrett County commander of the American Legion, which will appear this month leading up to Memorial Day, May 30.

Oakland's Hero Delmar C. Dilley

Delmar C. Dilley lives the quiet life on Route 1 with his lovely wife, Arlene. Life has not always been so easy for Dilley, for 41 years ago he was Private Dilley, then serving with the Third Division of the Seventh Army in France as a dog-face, ground-pounding infantryman.

Private Dilley will always remember February 7, 1945, in Biesheim, France, when his company, advancing against the German position, was caught in murderous heavy machine gun fire. Many of his comrades were killed or wounded, but Private Dilley continued the assault alone, although severely wounded himself.

For this extraordinary act of heroism, Delmar C. Dilley was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross on February 8, 1946, by Major General Manton S. Eddy, commanding general, Third Service Command, Baltimore.

The Distinguished Service Cross citation reads, "For extraordinary heroism on February 7, 1945, near Biesheim, France. When his company was halted and driven to cover by blistering enemy fire, Private Dilley charged more than 100 yards over exposed, icy ground in a one-man assault on a German heavy machine gun. Although enemy bullets tore through his cheeks and jaws, he fired a grenade into the hostile emplacement at 15 yards, killing all four of the crew. Bleeding profusely and dizzy with pain, this intrepid rifleman then advanced 75 yards, engaged 100 German riflemen and, in an hour's combat, killed 10 of the enemy."

Delmar C. Dilley is still serving his country in active participation in the American Legion Post 71 and VFW Post 10077. He can always be found at military funerals in the Honor Guard or Firing Squad.

As we approach the Memorial week, may each of us remember our living heroes as well as our fallen comrades who have given so much that we can enjoy freedom in America and around the world.

A Memorial Service will be held at the "tomb of the unknown soldier" at the Oakland Cemetery on May 29 at 11 a.m., following the parade. Details will be announced in a later publication.

Corporation.

He is survived by his wife, Mildred (Fike) Bell, formerly of Avilton and Frostburg; two sons, Dale Bell, Columbus, Ohio, and Wayne Bell, Fort Wayne, Ind.; one daughter, Mrs. Roberta Saveller, Hood River, Ore.; three sisters in Ohio and nine grandchildren.

A service will be conducted in Ocala, Fla.

ROSCOE E. KUHN

Roscoe E. Kuhn, 63, Mt. Storm, W.Va., died Friday, May 1, in Grant Memorial Hospital, Petersburg, W.Va.

Born in Mt. Storm on August 24, 1923, he was the son of the late John E. and Myrtle H. (Hartman) Kuhn.

A U.S. Army veteran of World War II, Mr. Kuhn was a retired coal miner and a member of Mt. Storm Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Maxine (Taylor) Kuhn; eight daughters, Mrs. Alberta McCrum, Hendricks, W.Va.; Mrs. Donna F. Shaffer, Crellin; Mrs. Marsha Hill, Marlinton, W.Va.; Mrs. Beverly McRobie, Mrs. Linda Dixon, Mrs. Emma Rahea and Mrs. Margaret Gatto, all of Mt. Storm; Miss Melissa Kuhn, at home; five sons, Sgt. Kermit Kuhn, Parsons, W.Va.; David Kuhn, Mt. Storm; Robert Kuhn and Jeffrey Kuhn, both at home; one sister, Mrs. Opal Lewis, Mt. Storm; two half-brothers, Effinger Cosner, Baltimore, and Roy Cosner, Mt. Storm; and 17 grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home on Sunday. A service was conducted Monday at the Calvary Temple, Mt. Storm, with the Rev. Jeff Carney officiating. Interment was in the Mt.

Storm Cemetery where military graveside services were accorded by members of the Mt. Storm VFW Post.

HERMAN M. MOATS

Herman M. "Kenny" Moats, 62, Oakland, died Monday, May 4, in his home.

Born in Aurora, W. Va., April 4, 1925, he was the son of Icie M. (Bohan) Moats, Aurora, and the late Hugh G. Moats.

Mr. Moats was formerly employed by the Garrett County Roads Department.

Besides his mother, he is survived by his wife, Beatrice K. (Baker) Moats, five daughters, Angela G. Bolyard, Bruceton Mills, W.Va.; Mrs. Shirley Pike and Mrs. Valerie L. Teagarden, both of Oakland, and Theresa L. and Regeana M. Moats, both at home; three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Stemple, Hanover, and Mrs. Mary Moats and Mrs. Beulah Burgess, both of Aurora; three brothers, Robert Moats, Sang Run; Dale Moats, Aurora, and Ralph Moats, Kingwood, W.Va.; and three grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service will be held today at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Ray Beahm officiating. Interment will be in the Aurora Cemetery.

MRS. OMA YODER

Mrs. Oma Yoder, 85, Grantsville, died Wednesday, April 29, in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Born in Meyersdale, Pa. on October 8, 1901, she was the daughter of the late Eli and Dora (Hostetter) Yoder.

Mrs. Yoder was a homemaker and a member of Mt. View Christian Fellowship, Salisbury, Pa.

Surviving are her husband, Milton E. Yoder; two sons, Ivan Yoder and Oren Yoder, both of Dover, Del.; two daughters, Anna Dora Yoder, Dover, and Mrs. Esther Tice, Grantsville; one brother, Claude E. Yoder, Meyersdale; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Friends were received in the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville. A service was conducted in the Mt. View Christian Fellowship Saturday by the Rev. Jerry Yoder and the Rev. Floyd Bender. Interment was in the Mt. View Cemetery.

The family requests memorials take the form of contributions to the World Missionary Press, in care of Mt. View Christian Fellowship, Salisbury, Pa. 15558.

Pet Pointers

THE EXERCISE CRAZE IS HERE!

Your pet is ready to jump on the bandwagon. Overweight pets are at as much health risk as their owners. It takes a lot less weight to encumber them. Ten pounds on your cat is approximately double his normal weight.

Once your pet has put on this extra weight, it is hard to motivate him to exercise. Certainly easier to laze on the couch, waddle to the food bowl, or lounge in the sun. It is your responsibility to get him up and going!

If you think your pet will do this on his own, think again. Just as he did not make himself this heavy without help, (I know few pets who pour their own food in their bowl, or sneak into the fridge for that midnight snack), he will not concern himself with his appearance or heart condition.

You must put him on the leash and go. Slowly at first, he's not ready for the 600. Begin with half a mile or less daily. Some pets will be stressed with very little exercise in the beginning. Consult your veterinarian about an exercise/diet program, especially if your pet is older or very overweight.

Other forms of exercise include playing ball, tug-of-war, swimming, or throwing frisbees. Cats will play ball, chase string, and play with toys. An especially lethargic cat can be motivated with a little catnip.

These forms of exercise are a good way for your pet to stay in shape. You may discover that this time spent with your pet is special and enjoyable for both of you.

and how to prepare it!

Chicken with a choice!

Chicken is a favorite, no matter how you prepare it. Take advantage of the low cost and versatility of chicken to please your family and make it easier on your wallet.

DILLY CHEESE 'N CHICKEN DINNER

$\frac{1}{4}$ c. margarine or butter
 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. flour
 1 tsp. paprika
 2 tsp. salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. pepper
 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 lbs. frying chicken, cut up
 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. (10 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. can) condensed cream of chicken soup
 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. milk
 1 tsp. dill seed or $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. dill weed if desired
 1 can Pillsbury refrigerated biscuits
 4 slices American cheese, cut into quarters, or $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ c. cheese, shredded.

Melt margarine in a 13x9 inch pan. In a paper or plastic bag, combine flour, salt, paprika and pepper. Shake to blend ingredients. Add chicken a few pieces at a time, shaking to coat with seasoned flour. Place chicken, skin side down, in pan. Bake 425° for 30 minutes. Turn chicken pieces, sprinkle with additional salt, and bake 15 minutes. Combine soup, milk and dill seed; blend until smooth and pour over chicken. Push chicken pieces toward center of pan. Arrange biscuits around chicken. Bake 10 minutes. Top each biscuit with a quarter of cheese, or sprinkle with shredded cheese. Arrange remaining cheese on chicken. Continue baking 5 minutes, or until biscuits are golden brown.

Terri Wood

BATTER FOR WING DINGS

8 or 10 wings
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup Ginger Ale
 1 egg well beaten
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour
 1 tsp. Soy Sauce
 1 tsp. salt
 1 cup vegetable oil

Clean and cut wings into two parts. Mix Ginger Ale, flour, egg, Soy Sauce and salt very quickly; few strokes as possible. Dip each part into batter. Fry little "wings" in hot oil 8 to 10 minutes. Turn often to brown evenly. Serve hot.

Beatrice Opel
 Frostburg

CHICKEN AND RICE

1 cup raw rice
 1 fryer chicken, cut up
 1 can cream of chicken soup
 1 can cream of mushroom soup
 1 package dry onion soup

Place rice in bottom of 13x9x2 baking dish. Arrange washed, unsalted chicken pieces on top. Dilute chicken and mushroom soups with 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cans of water. Pour over chicken and rice. Add onion soup. Bake uncovered at 350° for 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ hours or until chicken is done.

Juanita Hamilton

CHICKEN CORN CASSEROLE

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour (scant)
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon celery salt
 2 cup milk
 2 cup diced cooked chicken (or turkey)
 1 lb. can creamed corn bread crumbs and butter for topping

Melt butter in pan; add flour to butter and simmer a minute. Remove pan from heat and stir in milk. Return to medium heat and cook to a thick white sauce. Season to suit taste. Add cooked meat and corn to the sauce. Pour into buttered 2 quart casserole and spread bread crumbs with butter over top. Bake at 350° for 30 minutes or until bubbly brown.

CHICKEN LOAF WITH OLIVE SAUCE

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup scalded milk
 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup soft bread crumbs
 2 cups cooked chicken, diced
 1 small onion, chopped
 1 stalk celery, diced
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/8 tsp. of pepper
 2 eggs, beaten

Scald milk over low heat, pour over bread crumbs. Mix in other ingredients. Pour into shallow greased casserole. Bake at 375° for 45 minutes.

OLIVE SAUCE

1 cup chicken broth
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter
 1 tablespoon flour
 1 small onion, chopped
 2 sprigs parsley
 7 large stuffed olives, diced fine salt to taste

Make a white sauce with the chicken broth, butter and flour. Add other ingredients, serve hot on chicken loaf.

June Shreve

CLASSIC CHICKEN DIVAN

CHICKEN FILLED BISCUIT DUMPLINGS

1 can (10 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup
 1 can (10 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.) condensed golden mushroom soup
 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. chopped green pepper
 2 Tbsp. chopped onion or 1 tsp. instant minced onion
 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. water

Dumplings:
 3 cans (5 oz. each) undrained boned chicken, cut up or 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. cubed cooked chicken
 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. chopped celery
 2 Tbsp. chopped onions or 1 tsp. instant minced onion
 1 tsp. parsley flakes
 1/8 to $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. pepper
 1 can (8 oz.) refrigerated buttermilk or Country Style Biscuits.

10 Dumplings

1 large 3 quart saucepan, combine all ingredients except dumplings. Heat, stirring occasionally, until bubbly. Prepare dumplings. Place sealed edges down in bubbling soup mixture, spoon soup over dumplings; cover tightly and cook over medium heat for 15 to 20 minutes until dumplings are no longer doughy. Serve hot with soup mixture as sauce. Dumplings: In medium mixing bowl, combine all ingredients except biscuits. Mix well. Separate biscuit dough into 10 biscuits. Pat or roll out each to about 4" circle. Place about $\frac{1}{4}$ c. chicken mixture on each circle. Wrap dough around mixture, firmly pressing edges to seal. TIPS: Reheat, covered, over medium heat for 15 to 20 minutes until heated through. Dumplings can be made ahead; prepare, cover and refrigerate up to 2 hours before cooking. Place dumplings in soup mixture; cook as directed.

Lona Ellifritz

ROLLED CHICKEN BREASTS

$\frac{1}{2}$ c. finely chopped fresh mushrooms or 1 3 oz. can ($\frac{2}{3}$ c.) broiled, chopped mushrooms, drained
 2 Tbsp. butter/margarine
 2 Tbsp. all-purpose flour
 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. light cream
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt
 dash cayenne pepper
 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. shredded sharp cheddar cheese
 6 or 7 boned whole chicken breasts all-purpose flour
 2 slightly beaten eggs
 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. fine dry bread crumbs

For cheese filling: Cook mushrooms in butter, about 5 minutes. Blend in flour; stir in cream. Add salt and cayenne; cook and stir until mixture becomes very thick. Stir in cheese; cook over very low heat, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. Turn mixture into pie plate. Cover; chill thoroughly, about 1 hour. Cut the firm cheese mixture into 6 or 7 equal portions; shape it into short sticks. If not already done, remove skin from chicken breasts. To make cutlets, place each piece of chicken, boned side up, between two pieces of saran. (Overlap meat where chicken breast is split). Working out from the center, pound with wood mallet to form cutlets not quite $\frac{1}{4}$ " thick. (Or ask your meat man to flatten the chicken breasts for you). Peel off saran. Sprinkle meat with salt. Place a cheese stick on each chicken breast. Tucking in the sides, roll chicken as for jellyroll. Press to seal well. Dust the chicken rolls with flour; dip in slightly beaten egg, then roll in fine dry bread crumbs. Cover and chill chicken rolls thoroughly — at least 1 hour. (Or fix ahead and chill overnight). About an hour before serving time, fry rolls in deep, hot fat (375°) for 5 minutes or till crisp and golden brown; drain on absorbent paper towels. Place rolls in shallow baking dish and bake in slow oven (325°) about 30 to 45 minutes. Serve on warm platter. Makes 6 or 7 servings.

Legal Workshop Scheduled By New Horizons

The New Horizons program of Garrett Community College will hold a workshop titled "Surviving and Thriving," which will focus on divorce, child support enforcement and domestic violence issues, on Wednesday, May 13. The program will take place at GCC's Oakland Center, 104 East Center Street, from 10 a.m. to noon in Room 603.

The speaker for this workshop will be Lisa Thayer, a local attorney. Ms. Thayer is a cum laude graduate of Case Western University in Cleveland, where she received her Juris Doctorate. She opened a general practice law office in Oakland in June of 1986.

For further information or to pre-register for this free workshop, persons may telephone the New Horizons Office at 334-9184, weekdays, between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Tax Amnesty Bill Signed Into Law

Marylanders will have an opportunity to clear up state tax obligations under a tax amnesty program authorized by legislation (H.B. 266) signed in Annapolis by Governor William Donald Schaefer, April 29.

"The tax amnesty will forgive civil penalty charges and prevent criminal charges from being filed against taxpayers who file the necessary tax returns and pay the tax and interest due during the two month amnesty period later this year," said State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

Amnesty will apply to individual and corporation income taxes, withholding taxes, retail sales and use taxes, admissions and amusement taxes and boat titling taxes. Only taxes covered by returns due prior to December 31, 1986, are eligible for the amnesty.

Previously assessed fraud penalties will not be waived, nor will amnesty be granted to taxpayers already under criminal investigation.

"The real incentive for taxpayers to take advantage of the amnesty provisions are the changes in the law that will go into effect after the amnesty program ends," Goldstein said. Criminal penalties for tax evasion will increase to five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine, from the current one year and $1,000 penalty.

Additional penalty charges of up to 25% of the tax due will be authorized. In the case of admissions and amusement taxes, corporate officers who exercise financial control of the corporation are made personally liable for the tax.

In addition, enforcement will be beefed up with more permanent and temporary personnel to increase the auditing, delinquent tax collection and enforcement activities," Goldstein said. "Not only will tax evaders be more likely to be caught, they will face stiffer penalties after the amnesty."

Local Church To Host Missionaries To Philippines

Reverend Jimmie Wayne Blair, Assemblies of God missionary to the Philippines, will be going to the only Christian nation in Asia to minister, but which has less than nine percent evangelical Protestants.

During their first four-year term of service, Blair and his wife, Christie, plan to be involved in church planting and evangelism in a country that has recently undergone governmental change. With a population of over 53 million people, 50 percent are 15 years of age and under.

Blair is a graduate of Southeastern College of the Assemblies of God, Lakeland, Fla. Prior to missionary appointment, he pastored First Assembly of God in Lynchburg, Va., and has served as the Southern Section youth and Christian education representative. Mrs. Blair served as the Women's Ministries representative.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Blair participated in a ministry trip to Ireland, which included a street ministry and evening crusades. Rev. Blair went to Chile with a Mobilization and Placement Service (MAPS) team to minister in the evening during campaigns and lay bricks during the day.

At this special missions service, Blair will present the need for missions in the Philippines, and he says he will also challenge individuals to become more involved in missions. The public is invited.

GOOD PRACTICE

Over the years, hearing aid dealers have sometimes been criticized for their high priced products and services, and for taking advantage of consumers. The criticism seems to have been generalized to all dealers, and this is simply not fair. Many dealers in business for several years are competent, skillful professionals. As in any business, there are some companies that are more interested in gross volume of sales than individual service. This group with in the hearing aid industry unfortunately has led to suspicion of the entire industry and some loss of faith. The companies responsible for incurring the overwhelming bulk of abuses are those that promote door-to-door solicitation. They cannot provide the testing, custom fitting and after purchase service that makes purchase of a proper aid a bargain at any price.

At ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES you will find a facility staffed with experienced and caring people that provides the quality hearing assist devices you can rely on. From the first moment you meet us to years after your purchase, you will discover a rewarding relationship that benefits your hearing needs as well as meeting your personal satisfaction.

A potential hearing aid user should first avail himself of the services of an audiologist.

CINDY SAYS

Sorvino plays 'Rookie'; Carson is an old pro

By Cindy Adams

Terry Moore, 70s starlet, is producing her own syndicated talk show, "Terry's World." This fall, has a go for 120 segments and is set with first guests Robert Duvall and Jean Simmons. Terry explains what's different about her show. "It will be a conversation between two celebrities, as opposed to the standard talk show." Interesting news for J. Carson and J. Rivers.

Johnny Carson

Paul Sorvino's CBS Disney pilot is "Rookie," which is about a police chief. "I worked 17 hours a day getting into shape," Paul said. "I did the obstacle course 12 times in one day." Carole Shelley's ABC pilot, "The Clinic," about a psychology clinic, was created by that A-one talented lady, Jay Presson Allen.

Vanna White, who's cropping up in more places than crabgrass, will come at us in a video, "Vanna White's Get Slim." Stay Slim! tape will soon be released. She will give the world her regimen. She will compare foods. The thing will be Vanna to the left, Vanna to the right.

A Carson spokesman sounded out producer Don Hewitt on giving Johnny the whole show. Said Don: "We don't give anybody the whole program." On second thought, with grampa Johnny's recent family woes, he might not want it even if they gave him 70 minutes.

'GL' actress appeared at the Grand Ole Opry

By Kimberly Redmond

I really enjoy watching Kassie Wesley (Chelsea Readon on "Guiding Light"). I'd like to know how she got started as a singer. — V.P., Gary, Ind.

Kassie Wesley

Wesley began her career in the music business as a backup singer on recordings with soul singer Bobby Womack. She has performed at the Grand Ole Opry. Wesley appeared in local commercials in Kentucky, and had several minor television roles in Los Angeles. She recently made her feature film debut in "Evil Dead II."

Wesley is also a songwriter and has performed several of her original compositions on "GL." She is currently working on material for a record album.

Can you tell me the name of the song that M.J. McKinnon (Sally Spencer) sang at Cass and Kathleen's wedding on "Another World"? — J.M., Salem, Va.

The title of the song was "When You Say My Eyes Are Beautiful." It's available commercially, performed by Whitney Houston and Jermaine Jackson.

I've had several arguments with my friends about just who the real mother of Betsy Andropoulos (Lindsay Frost) was on "As the World Turns." Can you settle this? — M.G., Nome, N.D.

Lindsay Frost

Betsy's mother was Elizabeth Talbot Stewart (played most recently by Judith McGilligan). Kim Hughes (Kathryn Hays) became Betsy's stepmother when she married Betsy's father, Dan Stewart (John Colanback was the most recent actor to portray him).

A & E Network airs some enlightening biographies

By Connie Passalacqua

From 1961-64, a syndicated series hosted by Mike Wallace, simply titled "Biography," gave many young viewers their first look at personal, informal and often historic footage of newsmakers and celebrities of the day. The Arts & Entertainment Network has taken that earlier show's name and used it as an umbrella title for a year-long series of hour-long documentaries, (which air Wednesdays), previously produced and aired by various networks and other sources. They may be reruns, but for celebrity buffs, they're a lot more enlightening — and many times more in depth — than any article in People magazine.

Lee Iacocca

Take this week's segment, airing Wednesday, May 13th, "Iacocca: An American Profile," was originally produced by NBC News and is narrated by Tom Brokaw. It was made in 1984, just before Chrysler Corporation Chairman Lee Iacocca became a national icon with the megasuccessful publication of his inspirational autobiography, "Iacocca."

The book was Iacocca's celebration of triumph of the will, told without adequate description of the inherent sweat and how he brought Chrysler back from almost certain collapse with the help of massive government loans, shrewd management and positive thinking. In NBC's documentary, however, Iacocca sweats a lot.

Really poignant is Iacocca's own description of his misgivings and guilt over having to lay off 60,000 workers and shut down half of Chrysler's dealerships. In the subsequent hoopla surrounding the 1986 Statue of Liberty centennial celebration (Iacocca was chairman of the restoration committee), much was made of Iacocca's heroic side in bringing back Chrysler; this hour reveals the downside. There are also many conflicting opinions about him voiced by those who know him, both family and workers. "The toughest man who ever was," says one union leader. "A bowl of mush," says his daughter Kathy.

Tune in to "Biography" for in-depth looks at the people who are and were in the news — and the reasons why they're there.

Singer Bobby Darin had the car of his dreams

By Toni D'Amato

of "Camelot" opposite Vanessa Redgrave

My husband says that singer Bobby Darin had a car that was finished with diamond dust. Is this true? — W.C., San Bernardino, Calif.

It is true indeed. According to Darin's biography, "Borrowed Time," by Al DeRiso, the car you're talking about was a $93,000 handmade auto called "The Bobby Darin Dream Car." It was very futuristic, with tremendous fins, a long glass dome and a tail end that resembled a rocket. It was finished with 30 coats of pearlescent paint and showered with diamond dust.

Richard Burton

Wasn't there a movie called "Vegas" before the TV series? — T.P., Portland, Ore.

Yes. It was the pilot to the hit series. The film "Vegas" aired in 1978 and starred Robert Urich, Tony Curtis, Judy Landers and June Allyson. The series aired on ABC from 1978 to 1981. Urich, who starred as Det. Dan Tanna in "Vegas," now stars as another detective in the ABC series "Spenser: For Hire."

I thought Richard Burton played King Arthur in "Camelot." My friend says it was Richard Harris. Who's right? — G.M., Laurinburg, N.C.

Both of you. Burton starred as King Arthur in the Broadway production of "Camelot." He played opposite Julie Andrews. Richard Harris portrayed King Arthur in the 1967 film version.

WEDNESDAY

Yes, it's Bond. James Bond: Roger Moore hosts a retrospective of action-filled clips from the 25-year film career of the world's most dashing secret agent. "Happy Anniversary 007 — 25 Years of James Bond" airs Wednesday, May 13, on ABC.

BEHIND THE SCENES

ABC aims for quality with 'The Dumb Waiter'

By Frank Lovece

The refrain is heard over and over from playwrights and big-name directors: "I don't do TV." Gary Pudney, however, doesn't believe it. And since he's ABC's vice president in charge of specials and talent, he's able to turn his skepticism into something tangible. The first taste of that outlook is "The Dumb Waiter," airing Tuesday, May 12. It's a one-hour Harold Pinter play directed by Robert Altman.

Gary Pudney

ABC's sudden attack of quality is, to some extent, as Pudney acknowledges, "an attempt to get out of third place" among the commercial networks. It seems a bit ironic. When all else fails, try quality. Even so, the result is a refreshing change from "Hey, pal, we got a bust goin' down."

"The Dumb Waiter," starring Tom Conti and John Travolta, is indeed something that would seem more at home on PBS than on ABC. Audiences familiar with Pinter's relatively conventional side (he wrote the screenplay for "The French Lieutenant's Woman") now get a chance to see his quirky humor and deadpan originality as two hit men sit around a supposedly empty building fielding strange messages that arrive via a dumbwaiter.

The play was trimmed to fit the hour slot, but in theater, even Shakespeare gets judiciously whittled down. "We're showing a respect for the audience," Pudney asserts. "And if that helps us to regain first place, so much the better."

Pudney, an ABC veteran of more than 20 years, is one of the first studio executives to publicly state that, "with all the alternatives — cable and video and independent stations — the networks had better listen to that cry for quality. We're going to have to — but more than that, we simply should." "The Dumb Waiter" follows megahit "Moonlighting." "You can see we're not trying to hide it," Pudney says.

As further proof of ABC's commitment, Pudney lists the talent the network has culled. Oscar-winner Linda Hunt and rocker Annie Lennox will star in "The Room," and Pudney is wooing Alec Guinness and Katharine Hepburn for future productions. "We're trying to recapture the patina of 'The Golden Age of Television,'" he says.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Mia Sara stars as the exotic 'Queenie'

By Evan Levine

With TV miniseries representing a seemingly endless "Lifestyles of the Rich, Famous and Perfectly Coiffed" for an insatiable public, ABC would seem to have hit pay dirt with "Queenie," airing Sunday, May 10, and Monday, May 11. Not only does the movie have beautiful women triumphing over the odds and powerful men triumphing over the women, it has a glamorous real-life story behind it. Based on the book by Michael Korda, editor-in-chief of the publishing house Simon & Schuster, the story plays out a thinly veiled account of the life of movie star Merle Oberon, who married producer Alexander Korda, Michael Korda's uncle. Queenie, like Oberon, rises from the slums of Calcutta to become a dance hostess and finally, a world-famous actress.

Mia Sara

Although Mia Sara, the actress who plays Queenie from ages 18-20, had seen many of Oberon's movies, she didn't approach the role as if she were playing Oberon. "It was Queenie in the script, that's who I was playing," the 19-year-old actress asserts.

"There aren't many good roles for actors my age. And I got to do everything — it wasn't just reacting to other characters." Straight from her role as the girlfriend of Ferris Bueller (Matthew Mc-derick) in "Ferris Bueller's Day Off" (1986), Sara won the role over actresses who had the advantage of being British, as the role dictated. "There's a certain gumption in the character," says Sara. "You have to be a little crass to rise from the slums to be a movie star. I showed I could be that. I also showed a sense of humor."

Mia Sara stars in ABC's "Queenie," Michael Korda's thinly disguised account of Merle Oberon's life. It airs Sunday, May 10, and Monday, May 11.

"I'd been filming another movie," continues Sara. "When I auditioned for "Queenie," I felt comfortable, like I'd been born on a movie set."

The Brooklyn-born Sara had no difficulty with the British accent. "I just did it," she says. "There was a coach who told me when I did something that was too American, but I'd lived in England and had English friends, so it wasn't that difficult."

Some of Sara's favorite scenes were those with Claire Bloom, who plays Queenie's mother. "Acting with another actress was something new for me," she explains. (In addition to "Ferris Bueller," Sara starred opposite Tom Cruise in 1985's "Legend.")

Sara, who "always believed in the core of my stomach that I'd go to college," has shelved that plan. "After I started acting, I realized that this was it, this is what I was doing. I realized," she says, "that this was life."

Mother's Day Again...

and time for us to tell our Mother all the things we didn't tell her during the past year.

Things like "Thank you," "I love you," and "Here, mom, let me help you." For those of us who are blessed with a close Mother-Child relationship, this day will give us a chance to say, in a very special way, the things we should have said by our words and actions all year long.

Those who are not blessed with this close relationship, should try to accomplish, in this one brief day, all the things they didn't do in the other 364. Sometimes we try so hard that we may seem insincere. But on this Mother's Day, make a conscious effort to repair all the neglect and broken relationship that may exist.

Certainly, you may not be able to erase all bitterness and alienation in one day, but you can make a start. And once you start, continue to mend the fences on a daily basis. Then next year, when it's Mother's Day again, you can both celebrate the joy of having each other.

You can both honestly say, "I love you."

THE COST & POWER OF LOVE

May 10, 1987

Devotional Reading: Jeremiah 31:31, 34

We don't have all the details that we might like to know about the Book of Hosea. When God says to Hosea in 3:3, "Go again, love a woman who is beloved of a paramour and is an adulteress..." is this the same woman, the harlot Gomer, whom God commanded Hosea to marry in chapter 1? If it is Gomer, is this the same story told twice or does it indicate that, sometime after the birth of their three children, Gomer ran away from Hosea and became a harlot once again?

We'd love to know the answers to those questions, but all we really need to know is found in what the Book of Hosea does tell us. This woman—we might as well call her Gomer and assume she is Hosea's wife—has not only sought to find love in adultery and prostitution, but in the process she has lost her freedom and has become a slave.

Once again, Gomer symbolizes the people of Israel. Like her, they have been unfaithful to the Lord. As she has gone from one lover to another, looking for something she never found with them, so the people of Israel have worshipped the gods of the Canaanites, the Baals, who always promised a satisfaction they could not really give.

"I WILL RETURN"

The analogy of infidelity and adultery is appropriate for our own times. On the personal level, we all see the evidence of this phenomenon in our society. It has become so common as to be regarded as "commonplace." every Sunday, Sunday School 11 a.m.

the covenant of marriage has become considerably weakened in today's world. But this analogy is also a spiritual reality in our world as well. We may not think there are any Baals today, but there are; all of us are tempted to seek the fullness of life in things—money, success, power, technology, etc.—rather than in God. The story of Gomer and the people of Israel is our story, too: like Gomer and Israel we too "pursue... lovers, but (do not) overtake them" (2:7)—trying to find what can only be found in God.

"BOUGHT BACK"

We can be "bought back" by the power of God's redeeming love, but we must first realize that that kind of love, like the redemption of Gomer and Israel, has a price. What does that love cost? For one thing, it costs God a love that persists and endures even when the recipient of that love betrays and rejects it. This is not a "I'll-scratch-your-back-if-you-scratch-mine" kind of love that is the basis of so much human "loving." It is the kind of love with which God pursued the unfaithful people of Israel: "I will allure her... and speak tenderly to her" (2:14). In Jesus' life that kind of love cost a cross.

That kind of love also costs the beloved something, too, for although God "loves us while we are yet sinners," it is only when we realize how low we've fallen and turn to God again that this redeeming love of God can restore us. Hosea forswore the day when Israel would say, "I will go and return to my first husband, for it was better with me than now" (2:7).

There is another cost inherent in this kind of love: although God's love redeemed the people of Israel, there were consequences of their infidelity: "For the children of Israel will dwell many days without king or prince, without sacrifice or pillar, without ephod or teraphim" (3:4). When there is repentance and forgiveness in a broken marriage, the redeemed relationship must be strong enough to bear the consequences of the past.

God's love is strong enough to pay the cost. And ours can and must be too.

THE CORRECT WAY TO SWALLOW A PILL

For those people who have difficulty in swallowing a pill, tablet or capsule, the reason is usually the movement of their head backwards. This action tends to narrow the entrance passageway. Always try to keep the head lowered or at least level.

Maryland DHR Releases Results Of Recent Study

Community leaders in Maryland are neither anti-welfare nor anti-recipient and generally have a positive and well-informed view of Maryland's AFDC program and its recipients, according to a study released by the Department of Human Resources.

The study, which was conducted by the Maryland Institute for Policy Analysis and Research of the University of Maryland-Baltimore County under contract to the Department of Human Resources, surveyed — by mail and personal interview — 152 community leaders in Maryland to determine their attitudes toward and perception of the welfare system and welfare recipients, and to ascertain the leaders' assessment of the economic value of AFDC to their communities. Results of the study suggest that Maryland community leaders consistently have a much less negative view of the welfare system than do respondents to prior national surveys.

"The views of community leaders can and do affect legislative proposals and the passage or defeat of legislation, regulations, and state and county budget allocations for welfare," noted DHR secretary Ruth Massinga. "More often than not, no one really knows what such views are with the result being much speculation and few facts to inform the policy debate over these issues. Consequently, it is both useful and helpful to examine how Maryland's leadership community views these and related issues."

According to the two senior authors of the study, Allan Rosenbaum and Courtney

Petersen, one of the most striking findings of the research is the widespread belief among Maryland's community leaders that adult AFDC recipients, i.e. the caretakers of dependent children, are generally willing and able to work, but lack the education, experience and skills necessary to obtain and/or retain a job.

Although the overwhelming majority of the study's respondents would like to see AFDC recipients participate in work or training programs, they expressed a surprising awareness that "workfare" efforts are complicated and difficult to implement and had serious reservations about mandatory workfare programs. Equally surprising was community leaders' very limited awareness about or understanding of the AFDC program's present work registration requirements or current work-related programs.

The study also revealed that community leaders for the most part do not perceive client fraud as a significant problem. They do, however, believe that current program regulations create a financial disincentive to recipients who could work.

Leaders largely seemed supportive of grant increases and many acknowledged favoring a regular increase, perhaps based on a cost-of-living indicator. Most community leaders recognized that it would be very difficult for families to live adequately on the amount of funds received by welfare recipients.

Summary copies of the study may be obtained from the Maryland Department of Human Resources Office of Public Information, Room 601, 1100 N.

Durben Awarded Merit Scholarship

Christopher Durben, Oakland, has been awarded an Academic Merit Scholarship to attend Frostburg State College.

The scholarship, given to Maryland residents who have demonstrated outstanding scholastic ability in high school, is based solely on academic merit and not financial need.

Durben will receive free tuition for his freshman year and will be eligible to participate in the College's Honors Program.

Eligibility requirements for the award include a combined Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) score of 1100 or more, a Test of Standard Written English (TSWE) score of no less than 50, and a minimum high school cumulative average of 3.25 on a scale of 4.0.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Durben, Christopher will graduate this spring from Southern High School. While attending high school, he has been a tutor and a member of the National Honor Society for two years.

He intends to major in mathematics at Frostburg State. Additional information concerning the FSC Academic Merit Scholarships may be obtained from Dr. Thomas L. Bowling, associate vice-president of Student Affairs.

Northern GOP Women Meet, Hear Eisenberger

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club met April 28 at Hill Top Inn, for a regular meeting.

President Miss Evelyn Younkin presided. Stella Edwards was in charge of devotions.

Carol Frazee introduced the speaker, Leslie Eisenberger, of the Women's and Children Refuge. She stated wife and child abuse is a problem in most areas. There is not only physical but also mental and verbal abuse. She stated there are about 1.8 million assaults and abuses a year with only one out of every ten cases reported WHAT'S HOP-N-ING? — A "Hop-n-ing," that's what! The Rainbow Cottage Day Care Center recently sponsored the event to benefit Easter Seals. The "Hop-n-ing" is an educational program designed to teach pre-school children about disabilities, what they are and why they occur, and the children are asked to hop for people with disabilities. Prior to the event, children received pledges of two cents or more per hop. All donations are then forwarded to the Maryland Easter Seal Society to support services for children and adults with disabilities in Maryland.

because of not wanting other people to know. If a child is abused at home, he will most likely be an abuser. Garrett County does not have a shelter, but Allegany County does have a shelter. Help can be obtained locally by calling 911.

Cora Bowser spoke on some of the services available through Community Action, such as home health services, home improvement and transportation for qualified persons to the doctor or shopping. There are 11 Senior Citizen meal centers in the county and approximately 200 meals served monthly.

Tica Lowe, Western District Federation Chairman, stopped by on her way to Frederick from Oakland to greet the group. The business meeting followed.

Day on Capitol Hill will be May 27. Anyone wishing to go may contact Sue Shockey in Oakland, 334-4287, evenings, or Evelyn Younkin at 895-5944.

The budget was accepted and the By-laws will be completed by the next meeting.

Members present were: Clea Baker, Mary Broadwater, Clara Layman, Josephine Long, Louise Platter, Hazel Margraff, Louise McKenzie, Twila Mae Fike, Carol Frazee, Zeola Robeson, Cora Bowser, Jean Friend, Helen Keller, Jennie Stark, Carolyn Gano, Lois Rowe, Stella Edwards, and Evelyn Younkin.

Officers are: Evelyn Younkin, president; Twila Mae Fike, vice president; Lois Rowe, secretary; and Louise McKenzie, treasurer.

For further information and to reserve a space, persons may contact Sue Sirk, Antique/Craft Sales Coordinator at 304-789-2411.

Correction Noted

In Court Story

It was incorrectly stated in last week's issue of The Republican that Brian Fowler, Swanton, was charged with assault and battery following a January 23 incident at the Wisp Ski Resort in McHenry.

The charge was actually filed against Scott W. Thomas, 21, Ridgeley, W.Va. Fowler was the complainant in another charge filed against Thomas as a result of the same incident. The Republican regrets the error.

SERVICE IS OUR TRADITION

Life insurance needs change. Young families need more protection than those in which the children have grown and moved away from home. Middle-aged people need retirement plans if they do not set them up at an earlier age. Elderly people want help in obtaining benefits, changing beneficiaries, or in securing protection for grandchildren.

We are pointing these things out because some insurance organizations are only interested in making initial sales. Their representatives are not around when you need help most.

When you join the Woodmen, you become a member of a long established Society which will always assign a field representative to serve you.

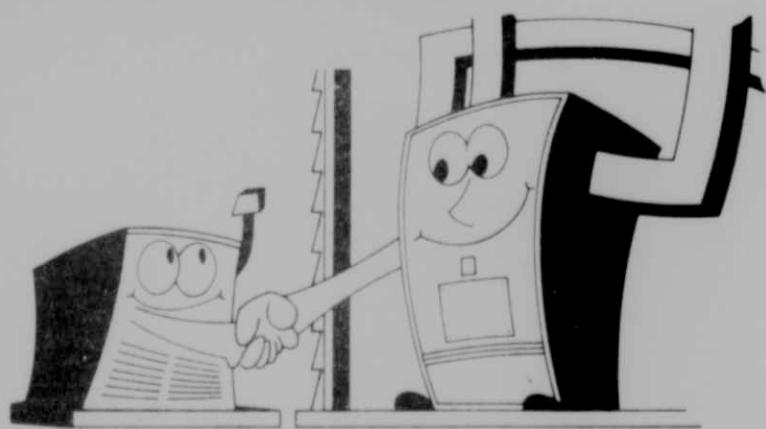

Throughout America are four- and five-generation Woodmen families who know we do our best to serve them best both during and after the initial sale. In fact, we're known as "The Family Fraternity."

Karen Wheaton Concert Set At Mt. Top Church

Karen Wheaton, considered one of the top contemporary Christian artists in America, will appear in concert with her band at Mt. Top Christian Assembly, Friday, May 15, at 7 p.m. The event is being sponsored by Mt. Top Area Crusades of the Assemblies of God.

Ms. Wheaton was born Karen Harris, 25 years ago in the small town of Hamilton, Alabama. Her first two albums, God Gave Me A Song and Holy Spirit Touch Through Me, have sold in the thousands and she has recently released a third album.

The newest release on Wheaton Records, Ms. Wheaton boasts material by such notable songwriters as Gloria Gaither, David Baroni, Aaron Wilburn, and husband, Dewayne Wheaton.

Ms. Wheaton has toured with the Spurlows and Festival of Praise.

In 1981, Karen married DeWayne Wheaton, who is recognized for his keyboard and production talents in the Nashville studio scene, as well as for road stints with several major country artists.

Shortly after their marriage, they were asked to join the Jimmy Swaggart Crusade Team with Karen as lead vocalist and DeWayne as keyboardist. After leaving Jimmy Swaggart in 1983, they formed their own group and have toured consistently throughout the United States, and as far away as Africa.

In addition to performing in many of the nation's largest churches, Ms. Wheaton has made numerous guest appearances at major crusades and conventions.

Mt. Top Assembly of God is located along State Rt. 135, just east of Mtn. Lake Park. A free-will offering will be received at the concert.

Southern Band Members Named To Who's Who

The 1986-87 edition of Who's Who In Music will carry the names of 10 students from Southern High School, who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding high school musicians.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join a small group of students selected from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the Who's Who annual directories since the first publication in 1934.

Students named this year from Southern High School are: Christine Chaney, Kim Rosenberry, Renee Helnick Todd Beahm, Julie Warnick, Shannon Sell, Tamra Kelley, Debbie Riggs, James Butcher and Jennifer Bilenki.

Mill Collecting Old Photographs

In preparation of Westvaco's centennial celebration in 1988, the Luke mill is collecting old photographs of the mill and of the surrounding area.

Assisting Westvaco with this project are Joe Diaz, Al Pence, and Joe Nelson, on behalf of the Tri-Towns Lions Club. Any tri-towns resident having old photos they wish to be considered for use in Westvaco's centennial publication may contact one of the following persons: Joe Diaz (359-9468); Al Pence (359-3904); or Joe Nelson (359-3765).

After copies have been made, the original photograph plus one extra copy will be returned to the owner.

PINEWOOD DERBY WINNERS — Cub Scout Pack Number 70 held their annual Pinewood Derby on April 2 with 29 boys racing. Winning the event were: left to right, Bobbie Sines, third place; Joel Uphold, second place; and David Shaffer, first place. The boys will go on to compete in the District Derby, which will be held this year, for the first time, in Garrett County on May 9 at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland, beginning at 1 p.m. All 29 boys received a ribbon and participation card for being in the Pinewood Derby. The Cub Scout Pack attended the district dinner on March 21, where Cub Master Dave Koon received an award, and the pack held the closing ceremony. The boys held a swim party at Alpine Lake on March 29, and at the April 23 pack meeting, Joe Swerbinsky spoke and showed a film on mining. Pack members are busy selling candy bars for upcoming activities, including Day Camp from June 22 to 26. The last formal pack meeting will be held on May 28 to welcome new cubs into the pack.

Bike Ride For Diabetes Research Set For May 31

Terry Knotts, president of the Garrett County Chapter of the American Diabetes Association, has announced that the Second Annual Bike Ride Plus will be held Sunday, May 31, near Oakland. Last Year's Bike Ride Plus raised over $1,000 for diabetes research and education.

Participants will meet at 12:45 p.m. at Bell Brothers automobile dealership on Route 219 south of Oakland. They will ride to Shorty's Bar and Grill in Gortner and return.

Pizzette is sponsoring the event and will provide lunch for all the bicyclists.

Prizes will be awarded based on the amount of pledges raised. Riders can earn painters' caps, T-shirts, sport bags, radios, windbreakers and boom boxes. The one person who turns in the most money over $500 will win a mountain bike. All participants will receive a souvenir Bike Ride Plus cup.

Pledge sheets are available from Terry's Bike Shop, Pizza Hut, Network Video, and other area stores. Persons may call 334-1424 or 334-4049 for details.

Air-Pollution Seminar Stated In Cumberland

"From Sick Buildings to Health," an indoor air-pollution seminar, will be held Tuesday, June 2, from 8:30 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. in the college theatre of Allegany Community College, Cumberland. This program is being co-sponsored by Cumberland Area Health Education Center, Allegany Community College, and the American Lung Association of Maryland. Health Department personnel, building maintenance engineers, commercial realtors, and health professionals are invited to attend.

The seminar is intended to help participants recognize the influence that building design, maintenance and operations have on indoor air quality and health, and to more effectively detect and then counteract sick building and residential environments for optimal air quality.

Program costs include materials and lunch. For registration information, or to receive a program brochure, persons may call Lisa Gotschall at Allegany Community College, 724-7700, Ext. 280 or Ext. 285.

Fogle Expresses Concern About Electrical Mishaps

A Maryland worker is dead and another seriously injured as the result of an electrical accident which occurred last Wednesday when a crane working near an excavation struck an overhead power line and the two employees who were in contact with the crane load became part of the electrical circuit.

William A. Fogle Jr., Secretary of the Department of Licensing and Regulation, expressed his concern. "This is the seventh Maryland employee who has been killed in an electrical accident involving overhead or underground power lines during the past year. I intend to focus our education, consultation and compliance energies on preventing this type of tragedy in Maryland," he said.

Nationally, there are two major hazards associated with the work of utility contractors: cave-ins from unsupported excavation walls and contact with overhead and underground utility lines.

All contractors should be aware of overhead lines and take appropriate precautions to isolate, insulate or de-energize the lines prior to working in the proximity of these lines, Fogle said. When doing excavation or digging, contractors should notify Miss Utility (1-800-257-7777, west of Chesapeake Bay) to identify the horizontal location of underground utilities and prevent accidental contact.

MOSH, an agency of the Department of Licensing and Regulation, has prepared educational materials to increase employee awareness about the electrical hazards. The materials may be obtained by contacting: Georgia Duffee, 1-800-492-6226, extension 4164 (toll-free).

Employers may also request free-of-charge assistance in evaluating a work site or process from on-site consultation by contacting: Etta Mason, 1-800-492-6226, extension 4210 (toll-free).

National Teacher Day

was proclaimed for Tuesday, May 5. Being a good teacher is not only one of the most difficult jobs in the world, but also the most important. We salute those local men and women who have accepted this awesome challenge and have gone the extra mile to be good teachers. This page, which includes photos of teachers from all 17 of the county's schools plus Camp Hickory, was made possible via a joint effort by the Garrett County Board of Education, the Garrett County Teachers Association, and this newspaper.

Over 150 Attend GOP Lincoln Day Awards Dinner

The annual Lincoln Day dinner, sponsored by the Garrett County Republican State Central Committee, was held Saturday, April 25, at the Grantsville Fire Hall, with over 150 people in attendance.

Guest speaker for the event was Daniel E. Fleming, chairman for the Maryland Republican Party. Fleming began his political career in 1982 when he was elected to the Anne Arundel County Republican State Central Committee. He became chairman in 1984 and served as co-vice chairman of the Reagan-Bush '84 campaign in Anne Arundel County.

Fleming is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and holds a master's degree in nuclear energy from the University of Virginia. He is currently employed as a senior engineer with ARING Research, Annapolis, where he works as a systems and management consultant for the U.S. Navy's P-3 Orion Patrol Plane Program. He resides in Annapolis with his wife and two sons.

Serving as master of ceremonies for the dinner was Elwood Groves II, Garrett County commissioner. Joseph DiSimone, Garrett County register of wills, led the Pledge of Allegiance and the song, "America." The invocation was given by the Rev. Stephen Yelovich.

Special guests at the banquet included: Richard Taylor and Helen Chamberlain, national committee members from Maryland; James House, second vice chairman for the Md. GOP party; Nelson

GOP GUEST SPEAKER — Daniel Fleming, at the podium, Maryland Republican Party chairman, was the guest speaker for the annual Lincoln Day dinner, held April 25, at the Grantsville Fire Hall. Pool Operators' Certification Course Offered

The Garrett County Health Department will conduct a certification course for swimming pool operators on May 13. The course will be held in Room LC-155 at Garrett Community College from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. A sufficient break will be provided for lunch.

Maryland Health Department regulations which govern public swimming pools require that these pools be under the direct supervision of a certified operator. This course is designed to provide this certification.

Subjects which will be covered include pool water chemistry, maintenance of equipment, Maryland regulations and safety concerns. This year more emphasis will be placed on new chemicals which are starting to be used by the industry as well as operation and maintenance of spas and hot tubs.

All operators of public swimming pools should make every effort to attend this course. Individuals interested in the proper operation of their private pool or hot tub are also welcome to attend.

There is no charge for the course. A textbook will be available for those wishing to purchase one for $12.

More Balloons Found

Some people go through life never having found one wayward balloon, but Russell Klotz of Hoya found three balloons in two days last week.

Mr. Klotz was mending fence at his farm last Thursday when he found the first two balloons. He found the third one on Friday. The first balloon was from Orlando Carter from the Pace School in Pittsburgh, Pa. while the second one was from Anthony Lyngbar from the Hatfield School in Uniontown, Pa. The third balloon was also from the Hatfield School and was launched by Dwayne Leichter.

The grandchildren of Mr. Klotz are planning to respond to the launchers of those balloons. Subscribe to The Republican

Custer Named Coordinator For Rotary Program

The world-wide organization of Rotary Clubs has moved into an important new phase of its Polio-Plus Campaign — an effort to immunize all the children in the world against polio. Rotarians in 160 countries are conducting a $120 million fund-raising effort to reach the immunization goal.

A large cadre of Rotarian volunteers is being recruited to lead the fund-raising effort. They include Dr. Frank Custer of Oakland, a member of the Oakland Rotary Club, who has been appointed one of the area coordinators of the Polio-Plus Campaign in District 735. He will coordinate fund-raising activities in 5 Rotary clubs in this district.

Custer is one of eight area coordinators leading the fund-raising campaign in the district. These Rotarians are among 3,100 who are working as volunteer fund-raisers in 47 Rotary Districts around the world. The area coordinators for District 735 received their training for the campaign in a seminar conducted March 19 in Harrisburg, Pa.

The United States' $120 million campaign goal is the estimated amount needed to purchase all of the polio vaccine for the 60 to 70 million children who go without polio protection in developing countries each year. In the fight against polio, Rotary International is working with the World Health Organization and supports the W.H.O. goal of conquering all six dreaded childhood diseases that can be prevented by vaccination: polio, measles, tuberculosis, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough) and tetanus.

While poliomyelitis has been virtually eliminated in industrialized countries, it remains a serious health threat in the developing nations. It is a special danger to children under three years of age. Each year some 275,000 children become its victims in the Third World. Ten percent of them die, and about 70 percent suffer permanent paralysis or residual weakness of affected muscles.

In eight years, Rotary International has made grants totaling $37,415,200 for polio immunization projects in 42 countries. When all 42 are completed (most projects last five years), a total of 240,733,000 children will have been protected from polio. The first Rotary grant to fight the disease was $760,000 made for the 1979 beginning of a project in The Philippines. It is hoped that the immunization of all children will be completed by no later than 2005, the year of Rotary's 100th anniversary.

Self-Enrichment Conference

Attending the Spring Self-Enrichment Conference held April 28-30, at Jackson's Mill for West Virginia Extension Homemakers were Ardis Teets, Brenda Hartsell and Allen of the Egleon Extension Homemakers Club. There were general sessions featuring special speakers including Rachel Tompkins, director of Cooperative Extension Service in West Virginia; Delores Westbrook of Kingwood who is a director of National Extension Homemakers Council; and Jerry Taylor, a motivational speaker from Parkersburg. Individual learning sessions covered 40 different topics and program topic leader training were also part of the program as were music and worship. Opal Myers, state president, and Bonnylin Lantz, Preston County Council, president, attended the meeting from the Aurora Extension Homemakers Club.

Charter Day For Brookside

In celebration of their new status as an individual congregation, members of Brookside Church of the Brethren observed Charter Sunday on May 3. Formerly a member of the Egleon Congregation Church of the Brethren, the church is pastored by J. Michael Fike. Former pastors and early members were invited to attend and to speak at the afternoon service. The morning message was by Jesse H. Harsh, moderator of the church. Among the former pastors and spouses who attended were Rev. and Mrs. Galen Wine, Roanoke, Va., who were brought here by Mrs. Flemmis Stultz, also of Roanoke, and wife of Owen Stultz, former Westmarva District Executive.

Garrett-Allegany Dairy Princess Search Begins

All single young women who are between the ages of 16 and 22, and from a dairy farm background, are eligible to compete for the title of 1987 Garrett-Allegany County Dairy Princess.

The contest covers Garrett and Allegany counties. The winner of the Dairy Princess Pageant, to be held during June, "Dairy Month," will be eligible to vie, at the state level, for the title of Maryland Dairy Princess.

Since 1961, 26 state princesses and hundreds of local princesses have served as spokespersons for the dairy industry in Maryland. They appear at shopping malls, fairs, supermarkets and on radio and television to educate consumers about the dairy farmers' product.

Any single young woman who has completed her junior year in high school, is not over 22 years of age, and whose parents have been engaged in dairy farming within the last four years, is eligible to compete for the title.

The winner of the Maryland State Dairy Princess Pageant will receive a $600 cash award. The first runner-up will receive a $75 award and other finalists receive $35. The outstanding presentation/skit and Miss Congeniality will receive $15. The state title is honorary and does not involve the interruption of school or employment plans.

Young women interested in entering the Garrett-Allegany County Dairy Princess Pageant should call 895-5952 or contact the Garrett County Extension Office at 334-1990. The deadline for entering is May 21.

Dairy-Licious Recipe Contest Open For Entries

Those wishing to express a culinary creativity using dairy products are invited to enter the Maryland Dairy-Licious Recipe Contest.

The contest is open to all Maryland residents who are nine years old or older. There are two age divisions for the contest. Young cooks can enter the youth division, for ages nine to 19, inclusive. Anyone over 19 may enter the adult division.

Prizes will be awarded in four contest categories—beverage, appetizer, entree, and dessert. Among the prizes awarded are a full-size microwave oven, a $250 savings bond, electric ice cream makers, and glass measuring cups. The first 40 entries received will be awarded a chef's apron.

Selection of the grand prize winners will be held at the Maryland State Fair. Judging will be based on effective use of dairy products, taste and eye appeal, ease of preparation, and appropriateness of category entry. The contest is being sponsored by the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Area and the Maryland Holstein Association Promotion Committee.

To obtain an official entry form, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Maryland Dairy-Licious Recipe Contest, Entry Form, 216 Carroll Building, 8600 LaSalle Road, Towson, MD 21204 or pick one up at the Garrett County Extension Office.

Small Grain

Acreage Report Deadline June 15

Now that the sign-up period has ended for the 1987 wheat, feed grain, cotton and rice programs, William F. DeWitt says farmers who enrolled should be preparing to report their crop acres.

Acreage reports for wheat, oats, barley, rye and other small grains must be filed by June 15. County ASCS Committee Chairperson DeWitt, says some farmers reported these crops when they enrolled in the 1987 programs. Those who fail to report by the deadline will be ineligible for farm program benefits.

ASCS uses acreage reports to determine compliance with farm programs and also for history purposes. The reports contain crops and acreages planted, the uses to be made of these crops and cropland acres to be devoted to acreage conservation reserve. ASCS randomly spot checks a minimum of 15 percent of farms to verify acreage reports.

DeWitt says farm program participants who report their crop acreage will be eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other program benefits.

Some Farmers Issued Wrong License Tags

Regular license tags were mistakenly sent to some Maryland farmers this year, instead of the special farm tags that exempt farm trucks from certain motor vehicle regulations.

Most farm trucks are used on the farm itself, or for short distances on local roads, according to the Maryland Farm Bureau. "That is why they are exempted from many of the regulations that apply to commercial trucks," said MFB President Robert Wilson. "License tags with the word 'farm' on them, let police know immediately that a particular truck is exempted from certain regulations," Wilson said.

Farm tags have five numbers, instead of six, and the letters "F" and "T" on the far right-hand side. The word "FARM" is printed across the bottom.

Any farmer who was issued regular license tags for a farm truck, should contact Rita McMahon at the MVA's Division of Vehicle Registration, (301) 787-2983. The current tags will be exchanged for farm tags as quickly as possible.

United Saddle Club Cancels May Horse Show

The all-game horse show, sponsored by The United Saddle Club, which was scheduled for May 9 at Island Creek Park, Bayard, W.Va., has been cancelled and will be rescheduled for a later date by the club.

The club's other open shows will be held as scheduled in June and July.

THE CONDOLENCE CALL

The condolence call is distinct from attendance at the viewing or funeral. It is a personal home visit made to a bereaved individual or family by relatives, friends, neighbors, associates, acquaintances soon after they have learned of the death. However, the individual who fails to go early to the bereaved home need not assume that he may not go later. Condolence calls may be made at any time, before the funeral or after, during the first weeks of grief.

The condolence call presses sympathy and offers help in a difficult time. The bereaved should know that they are not alone in their grief, that there are people who care about and understand their sorrow. It also helps maintain ties between that person and the society. This not only demonstrates community support, it can help the mourner from slipping too deeply into grief.

Cattle On Pasture Need Clean Water

"A reliable supply of clean water is a necessity for a good livestock grazing program," states Jim Schlossnagle, district conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

Many pastures in Garrett County are underused or idle because water is not available for livestock, he said. Some pastures contain wet areas which become mud holes and are a threat to human and animal health. Some herds get water from streams but Schlossnagle noted that cattle trample streambanks and increase soil erosion and water pollution. Free access by cattle results in a lowering of water quality affecting downstream water users. A few farmers haul water daily to grazing livestock.

These undesirable situations may be minimized through the development of livestock watering facilities, Schlossnagle said.

Water supplies can come from two sources—surface and underground. Surface sources are runoff storage ponds. With suitable water-tight soils, 10 acres of runoff in Garrett County can provide enough water for a one-acre pond averaging six feet deep, declared Schlossnagle. Water for cattle can be piped through the bottom of the dam by gravity to livestock water troughs in the pastures. The runoff area should be protected from soil erosion and be free from water pollution sources.

LIVESTOCK WATER TROUGHS provide a reliable supply of clean water to grazing animals. Farmers may obtain help with planning and engineering, along with cost-share assistance, from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Spring and seepage areas can provide underground sources of livestock water. This means that problems of wet areas in the farm pastures can be turned from a liability to an asset, Schlossnagle said. Water can be intercepted by digging a ditch above the seep or spring. Four-inch perforated plastic pipe or tile drainage is placed in the ditch below the winter frost line. The pipe is covered with a foot or more of gravel to increase the ability of the water to get into the pipe. From there the water is piped by gravity to livestock water troughs.

Schlossnagle cautioned that both surface and underground collection systems require proper planning and some engineering. Farmers may obtain this help from SCS through the Garrett County Conservation District. Financial cost-share assistance is available in Garrett County through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and through the Maryland Cost-share Program.

New Publications On Beef & Sheep Are Available

Area beef and sheep producers can turn to two new publications from West Virginia University for help in formulating budgets and making economic decisions about their operations.

"Forage and Livestock Budgets Based on Data from the Allegheny Highlands Project," (Circular 139) and "Hiring Seasonal Labor: An Analysis of Potential Returns on West Virginia Farms" (Circular 140) have been issued by the West Virginia Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station at WVU.

Both publications are based on the experiences of full-time and part-time farmers who co-operated with the Allegheny Highlands Project in the 1970s. The 10-year research and demonstration project in north central West Virginia was co-sponsored by WVU and the Rockefeller Foundation.

"Forage and Livestock" presents a series of budgets for pasture and hay maintenance, cow-calf operations and ewe flocks. The budgets are meant to serve as examples of a format which current producers could use by substituting this year's projected costs and returns for the dollar figures developed during the project.

"Hiring Seasonal Labor" is an assessment of the costs and benefits of using hourly labor on small farms during hay harvests and sheep lambing.

Circular 139 was written by Kimberly Reda-Wilson, Robert O. Burton, Jr., Barton S. Baker and Paul E. Lewis; Circular 140 was written by Reda-Wilson, Burton and Baker.

Both are available from the Mailing Room, Communications Building, WVU, Morgantown, W.Va. 26506.

USDA Requests Comments On '88 Farm Programs' Common Provisions

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is accepting comments on provisions common to the 1988 wheat, feed grains, upland cotton, extra-long-staple cotton and rice programs.

"Many program provisions are common to all of the above commodity programs, and decisions made in regard to one commodity will likely apply to other program crops," said Milton Hertz, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Hertz said USDA will consider the comments received before final decisions on these program provisions are made.

Under the 50/92 provision, if producers plant between 50 and 92 percent of their permitted acreage to a program crop and designate eight percent of the permitted acreage to conserving use (CU), any additional CU acreage above the eight percent may be eligible for deficiency payments. USDA asks for comments on whether the production of approved non-program crops should be allowed on such CU acreage, or if all acreage should be maintained in conserving uses; and on whether haying and grazing should be permitted on CU acreage designated under the 50/92 provision. USDA proposes not to allow such use for 1988. Haying and Grazing of this acreage was permitted for the 1987 crops.

USDA will also consider comments on the following:

Whether to permit the production of alternative crops on reduced acreage (known as ACR, for Acreage Conservation Reserve). It is proposed that the production of alternative crops on ACR land not be allowed for the 1988 crops; such production was not allowed for the 1987 crops.

Whether to require offsetting or cross compliance. USDA proposes that limited cross compliance requirements (except for ELS cotton) be in effect for the 1988 commodity programs but that offsetting compliance requirements not be in effect. Under limited cross compliance, to be eligible for benefits for a wheat, feed grain, upland cotton or rice crop, the acreage planted for harvest on a farm in other commodities, except for ELS cotton, may not exceed the crop acreage bases of such commodities. If offsetting compliance requirements are not in effect, eligibility for a program payment and loan for a commodity on a farm will not be affected by actions taken with respect to that commodity on another farm.

Whether advance payments should be offered.

Whether an advance recourse commodity loan program should be made available. USDA proposes not to implement such a program for the 1988 crops.

Whether a multi-year set-aside program should be implemented. USDA proposes not to implement this program for the 1988 crops.

Whether producers should be permitted to increase a crop acreage base by up to 10 percent of the farm acreage base if corresponding decreases in one or more crop acreage bases are made. It is proposed that this adjustment option not be authorized for the 1988 crops.

Whether the secretary of agriculture should implement a program to allow producers who repay loans with interest to be issued certificates in an amount equal to the interest paid on such loans.

Further details on the proposal appeared in the April 28 Federal Register. Comments must be submitted by May 13 to: Director, Commodity Analysis Division, USDA/ASCS, Room 3741-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

A regulatory impact statement on the 1988 common program provisions may be obtained by writing to the same address.

Check Soil Temperature for Corn

The race will soon be on to see who can get their corn in the ground first! In this case, being first may not be best. Research shows that corn does not germinate well when soil temperatures are below 50 degrees F. Experts say "Don't plant your corn until soil temperature reaches 55 degrees F. Also, no-till soils tend to warm up slower than tilled soils."

Spring is Grass Tetany Season

Cows with young calves grazing lush pasture during this season of the year are prime candidates for hypomagnesemia or grass tetany. Don't forget to keep a ready supply of magnesium supplement before cows at all times during the spring of the year. You are buying insurance by doing so. You don't have to lose but one cow out of 100 to have bought a lot of supplement and not have gotten the value of it. Many producers keep magnesium supplements before cows throughout the year. A commercially available high magnesium supplement will do the job or you may mix your own by using equal parts by weight of magnesium oxide, salt, dicalcium phosphate, and ground shelled corn or dried molasses or some other palatable feedstuff. Magnesium oxide is not palatable by itself. Cows should be kept on magnesium supplementation well into June or longer. If you know of any animals with symptoms of tetany, treat with magnesium gluconate intravenously immediately.

Small Grain Silage

Small grains including rye, wheat, oats and barley all make excellent silage if ensiled correctly. The key is to get small grain silages harvested and put into the silo at the right dry matter content which would be 35 to 40 percent. These small grain silages under normal growing conditions will yield somewhere from five to nine tons of silage per acre. Wheat, barley, and oats cut for silage should be harvested in the mid dough stage but rye should be harvested in the boot stage. Generally speaking, wheat, barley, and oats can be harvested direct but rye cut in the boot stage should be mowed, run through a conditioner, and dried down to 35 percent or so dry matter. Small grain silages contain two to five percent higher protein levels than corn silage. In growing rations, corn silage and barley silage are about equal. Wheat silage is about 80 percent the value of good corn silage. Silages from corn, wheat, and barley perform similarly in finished rations. One thing to remember in harvesting small grains for silage is that they need to be harvested very quickly when the stage of maturity is right. They tend to shift into advanced stages of maturity with elevated dry matters in a matter of just a few days.

ASCS State Director, County Committee Meet

James C. Richardson, acting state executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) met with G.P. Halterman Sr., county executive director; and William F. DeWitt, Leslie G. Guard, Kenneth R. Bachtel; the Garrett County ASCS Committee members and the Garrett County office staff to commend them for their contributions and hard work on behalf of ASCS.

Over the past two years, county offices in conjunction with their committees have had to administer the 1985 Food Security Act which enacted many new programs and policies. "Our staff and committee have had to do a lot of homework just to keep up with changing legislation," stated DeWitt, chairperson of the county committee.

In 1986, Maryland County ASCS offices paid out in excess of $15 million in loans on various commodities. "Given the present farm economy, we anticipate that agricultural producers will continue to include ASCS programs in their business plans," stated Richardson. "However, I believe that the present policies will enable farmers to adjust their operations so that the government can ultimately reduce its activity in the agricultural sector."

California Plants Get Built-In Frost Protection

Scientists conducted the first authorized use of a genetically altered bacterium this spring by spraying strawberries to give them a built-in protection against the frost.

The experiment was briefly delayed because vandals, possibly environmentalists, pulled up about 80 percent of the 2,400 strawberry plants overnight. Mike Jackman, spokesman for Advanced Genetic Sciences, Inc., of Oakland, California, said the strawberries were replanted before the spraying commenced.

He said it will not affect the results of the experiments. No one claimed responsibility for the vandalism, but several environmental groups have been fighting vigorously to prevent the development of the genetically altered substance.

Wool Incentive Payments Total About $12,500

Garrett County sheep producers will receive about $12,500 in federal incentive payments on wool and lambs sold during 1986, according to William F. DeWitt, chairperson, Garrett County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The 1986 support price for shorn wool is $1.78 per pound, determined in accordance with the National Wool Act of 1954, as amended. The 1986 national average market price for shorn wool, 66.8 cents per pound, was 111.2 cents less than the support price.

A 1986 payment rate of 166.5 percent for wool results from dividing the support price by the national average price. The payment rate is the amount required to bring the average price received by producers up to the support price. The 1985 payment rate was 160.7 percent.

Producers will receive $4.45 per hundredweight in federal payments for unshorn lambs that were sold or slaughtered during 1986. The payment is based on the shorn wool payment rate, the average weight of wool per hundredweight of lamb, and the price of lambs' wool relative to the national average price for shorn wool.

Wool Producers' Comment Period Has Been Extended

Wool and mohair producers are being given more time to comment on an interim rule amending regulations which define a producer's eligibility for price support payments for mohair and wool and certain other minor changes, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official said.

Milton Hertz, executive vice president of USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation said that, under the interim rule, wool and mohair sold by producers will be eligible for price support even though the purchasers, such as hobbyists, are not engaged in the business of buying and selling wool and mohair on a grease basis. "Grease wool" means wool as it comes from sheep, lambs or goats before applying any process to remove the natural oils or fats.

Hertz stated that the sales proceeds of wool and mohair on which price support payments will be paid by CCC will be limited. Price support payments will not be made on that part of a producer's sales proceeds, in dollar amounts, which are in excess of the maximum sales price per pound, for wool and mohair, as determined by the CCC for each marketing year and publicly announced by USDA at the end of the marketing year.

"It is believed that price support payments based on sales not exceeding such maximum sales prices will enable wool and mohair producers to compete with foreign-produced mohair or wool and increase the domestic production of mohair and wool, which was the intent of Congress in enacting the Wool Act," Hertz said.

Comments should be sent to: Director, Emergency Operations and Livestock Programs Division, USDA/ASCS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington D.C. 20013. Comments must be received by May 13.

Commercial Pesticide Applicators May Get Mandatory Blood Tests

Cholinesterase testing may be a fact of life for commercial pesticide applicators across the country by the time spring 1988 rolls around, thanks to worker protection standards the Environmental Protection Agency is developing.

According to Dick Longmire, director of EPA's pesticide farm safety staff in the Office of Pesticide Programs, worker protection standards put into place in 1974 are brief, not comprehensive, and not very enforceable. The "rather extensive" proposed rules—Worker Protection Standards for Agricultural Pesticides—will be published sometime this spring, with enactment targeted for the spring of 1988.

Longmire stresses the regulations are far from final but, as they relate to cholinesterase testing, are likely to require commercial pesticide applicators to have a cholinesterase blood test to establish a "baseline" reading. Applicators would be required to have another test for every three or more consecutive days of exposure to toxicity category I or II organophosphates or when exposed six or more days in a 21-day period.

Basically, a cholinesterase is an enzyme that reacts with acetylcholine, a nerve transmitter. Under normal conditions, acetylcholine transmits impulses from the nerve tissue to muscle, nerve, or gland tissue, and cholinesterase shuts off the impulses by breaking the acetylcholine down into more basic compounds. Acetylcholine might command muscles to contract to facilitate breathing or swallowing, for example, and cholinesterase would break down the acetylcholine for the contraction to end.

When a person is exposed to carbamates and organophosphates—known as cholinesterase inhibitors—the body fails to manufacture the levels of cholinesterase needed to counterbalance the acetylcholine. While physicians generally recognize that carbamates inhibit the production of cholinesterase for a matter of hours or days, organophosphates have an effect for days or weeks.

"When you have a cholinesterase inhibitor, the acetylcholine cannot be destroyed, so the nerve or muscle receiving a signal continues to receive the impulse. It's like static. It never stops humming," explains Dr. Dean T. Stueland, emergency care specialist at the National Farm Medicine Center in Marshfield, Wisconsin. "What happens is that the body very quickly fatigues to that kind of message, and the nerve endings give up trying to function."

With cholinesterase depression, some of the symptoms of pesticide poisoning—headache, nausea, weakness, salivation, sweating, a marked urge to urinate and defecate, muscle twitching, blurring vision, tremors, convulsions and a staggering gait—begin to show up.

When a cholinesterase blood test is taken, two types of cholinesterase can be detected. Pseudocholinesterase is found in serum or plasma samples, while true cholinesterase is measured in the red blood cells. Physicians find serum cholinesterase readings a valuable index of the early effects of organophosphate poisoning, while red cell readings are useful in evaluating chronic exposure.

"Each person is his own best control," Stueland stresses. "Some people normally have a level of activity that is about half of what other people have." Once a person's baseline reading is established, degrees of pesticide poisoning can be determined. Physicians generally view a cholinesterase depression of 0-15 percent as statistical error. A 15-25 percent depression indicates slight poisoning. A 25-35 percent drop signals moderate poisoning, and a 35-50 percent depression in the cholinesterase readings indicates severe poisoning.

Four states—California, Ohio, Arizona, and Colorado—currently have some type of cholinesterase testing requirement in place.

With care, commercial applicators, pesticide workers, and farmers can limit or avoid deleterious health effects linked to toxic chemicals. It is when the out-of-the-ordinary exposure occurs that cholinesterase testing and retesting may prove helpful. Cholinesterase testing is like wearing a seatbelt—it is a bit of a nuisance sometimes, but it could save a life.

Telephone Numbers Available For

Pesticide Effects Information

The National Pesticide Telecommunications Network (NPTN) is a toll-free telephone service available to provide a variety of accurate, impartial information about pesticides to anyone in the United States. The service operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. It is funded by the U.S. EPA and operates from the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center, School of Medicine at Lubbock, Texas.

The NPTN provides the medical community health professional with: pesticide product information; information on recognition and management of poisonings; toxicology and symptomatic reviews; referrals for laboratory analyses, training in the recognition and investigation of poisonings, investigation of pesticides incidents, and emergency treatment information.

The general public is also provided pesticide information ranging from: product information, protective equipment, safety, health and environmental effects, clean-up procedures, disposal, and regulatory laws. The NPTN hotline number is 1-800-858-7378.

A new toll-free telephone number operated by the Chemical Manufacturers Association (CMA) has been established to handle nonemergency health and safety information concerning any chemical-based product. The CMA's Chemical Referral Center in Washington will provide information on chemicals including toxicity and disposal. The CMA-sponsored service is available Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. until 9 p.m. EST at 1-800-262-8200.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Moyers hosted a dinner at their home on Sunday in honor of their three children who celebrated birthdays in April.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Livengood and daughter, Rachelle, of Cuzzart; Tom Moyers of Oakland, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Myers and sons, Shaun and Jason, local.

Rotary News

The history of the Terra Alta Park was the program topic for the Terra Alta Rotary Club meeting on April 23. The speaker was Conrad Arnold, chairman of the Terra Alta Park Commission, who was a guest of Howard Metheny for the evening.

For many years until 1981, the Terra Alta Volunteer Fire Department used the Terra Alta Park for the Fourth of July festivities; then it was moved to the Firemen's Field across from East Preston High School. In 1982, part of the auditorium was dismantled because of the unsafety of the roof, but the foundation and walls of the building remained and there are some plans to reconstruct the facility which then will be used for civic programs, church services, plays, exhibitions and other recreational programs.

With the budget for the park cut to $700.00 this year, there is little that can be done to spruce up the park, Arnold said. However trees have been replanted and old ones have been removed for safety purposes. Also this year, 150 daffodil bulbs were planted around the park.

Clean-up for the park for this summer will be held on May 9 (with the alternate date being May 16). Other members of the park commission are Bill Sirk, Mrs. Lucille Spahr, Miss Barbara Root and Tom McConnell.

B&E. Theft

Investigated By Sheriff's Dept.

A breaking and entering and theft was reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department this week that was discovered by a summer resident upon returning to the area.

The loss, which amounted to $620, was reported by Edward G. Wetzel, Naples, Fla., Sunday that occurred sometime during the past six months.

According to Wetzel, items taken included a solid brass ship's clock and two woolen blankets.

Deputy Russell Drenning is investigating the incident.

A destruction of property was reported by Charles W. Knotts, Kitzmiller, that occurred last Thursday in Mtn. Lake Park.

According to Knotts, someone destroyed the dash gauges and possibly the engine of his 1965 Diamond T logging truck that was located at a logging site on O'Brien Street at the time.

Damage is estimated at $500. Detective-Sgt. D.W. Tucker is investigating.

George V. Futch, Swanton, reported a theft that occurred sometime between April 19 and 25 at the intersection of Boiling Springs Road and Rt. 135.

According to Futch, a battery and a tool box containing various tools were taken from his vehicle parked there. The loss is estimated at $340.

Deputy R. Drenning is investigating.

where she remains a patient.
David Hardesty of Mt. Top is seriously ill at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Personal Mention
Doris Crawford of Burke, Va., was a weekend guest here of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Parks, and uncle, Walter Shaffer, and of her brother and family, James and Cheryl Parks, Tammy and Cynthia, all of Egdon. On Sunday they all attended graduation ceremonies at Salem College where the Parks' granddaughter, Michelle Warner, was awarded a BSN degree, cum laude. She is the daughter of Sam and Susie Parks Warner of Salem.

David and Lois Wilt of Brunswick, Ohio, were weekend guests of her mother, Mrs. Dee Kight, at Silver Lake and visited his mother, Mrs. Mildred Wilt, and brother and sister-in-law, Alden and Carolyn Wilt, at Egdon.

Recent visitors of Mrs. Lydia Harsh, Aurora, and her granddaughter, Robin Lipscomb, were the former's daughter, Cleota Hoisington, and her granddaughter, Elizabeth, of Kent, Ohio. Other more local visitors have been Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hanline of Oakland and Harold Harsh of Stemple Ridge, also her local children.

Brad and Robin Teets of Stroudsburg, Pa., were weekend visitors in Egdon with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Teets, and at Horse Shoe Run with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Brown Jr., Robin's parents. They attended a Friday evening banquet of Robin's Dental Hygienist class at West Virginia University.

Marc Wachman was chosen Sailor of the Month for April at the Naval Air Base, North Island, San Diego, Calif. Wachman is married to the former Teri Johnson of Horse Shoe Run and has been stationed in San Diego since September, 1986.

Sunday afternoon visitors at the Claude Winters home, Egdon, included Clayton and "Teddie" Winters of Oakland, Ross and Naomi Teets of Aurora, and the Winters' children, Tom and Linda Lewis and family and Mary Lewis.

Mrs. Bessie Deakins, formerly of Aurora, and now living in Keyser, has been a patient in Winchester Memorial Hospital.

Zelda Snyder of Red House was a surgical patient in Monongalia General Hospital on Wednesday and returned to her home on Thursday.

Herrington Manor

Lake To Close

For Three Days

The Herrington Manor State Park Lake will be closed to fishing and swimming from 8 a.m. May 18, through 8 a.m. May 21, according to a release from the park. During this closure, a limited treatment will be completed in the lake to reduce nuisance weed growth. Left untreated, the lake would soon become choked with water milfoil, a park spokesman said. Once this occurs, the lake is no longer desirable for fishing, boating, or swimming, he noted.

All required permits and approvals have been applied for and received by the Park from the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Maryland Fisheries Administration, The Maryland Water Resources Administration and the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Public cooperation is desired during this official closure, the spokesman said. Persons having questions about the project may call Roger Riley at (301) 334-9180.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA FEDERAL ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION

Notice of Application Filed with the Commission.
(April 30, 1987)

Take notice that the following hydroelectric application has been filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and is available for public inspection:

a. Type of Application: Exemption (less than 5 MW)
b. Project Name: 1077000
c. Date Filed: September 18, 1986
d. Applicant: Reed Hydro Electric Corporation
e. Name of Project: Savage River
f. Location: Savage River, Garrett County, Maryland
g. Filed Pursuant to: Section 408 of the Energy Security Act of 1980, 16 USC §2705 and 2709
h. Contact Person: Mr. John L. Reed, President
i. Comment Date: June 8, 1987
j. Competing Application: Project No. 9697 000 Date Filed: 12/18/85
k. Description of Project: The proposed project would consist of: (1) an existing earth and rockfill dam 184 feet high and 1,050 feet long with a 10 foot diameter outlet tunnel; (2) a proposed concrete powerhouse 40 ft. long, 38 feet high, and 15 feet wide, enclosing two turbine generator units of 3.2 MW combined capacity; (3) a proposed 7.2 kV transmission line, 1.8 mile long; and (4) appurtenant facilities.

The existing facilities are owned and operated by the Upper Potomac River Commission. The estimated annual energy production would be 9.5 GWh. The hydraulic head would be 148 feet. Project power would be sold to Potomac Edison Company.

This notice also consists of the following standard paragraphs: A3, A9, B, C, and D3a. Purpose of Exemption: An exemption, if issued, gives the Exemptee priority of control, development, and operation of the project under the terms of the exemption from licensing, and protects the Exemptee from permit or license applicants that would seek to take or develop the project.

A3. Development Application — Any qualified development applicant desiring to file a competing application must submit to the Commission, on or before the specified comment date for the particular application, a competing development application, or a notice of intent to file such application. Submission of a timely notice of intent allows an interested person to file the competing development application no later than 120 days after the specified comment date for the particular application. Applications for preliminary permit will not be accepted in response to this notice.

A9. Notice of intent — A notice of intent must specify the exact name, business address, and telephone number of the prospective applicant, include an unequivocal statement of intent to submit, if such an application may be filed, either (1) a preliminary permit application or (2) a development application (specify which type of application), and be served on the applicant(s) named in this public notice.

B. Comments, Protests, or Motions to Intervene — Anyone may submit comments, a protest, or a motion to intervene in accordance with the requirements of the Rules of Practice and Procedure, 18 CFR §385.210, 211, 214. In determining the appropriate action to take, the Commission will consider all protests or other comments filed, but only those who file a protest to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules may become a party to the proceeding. Any comments, protests, or motions to intervene must be received on or before the specified comment date for the particular application.

C. Filing and Service of Responsive Documents — Any filings must bear in all capital letters the title "COMMENTS," "PROTESTS," "MOTIONS TO INTERVENE," or "MOTION TO INTERVENE," as applicable, and the Project Number of the particular application to which the filing is in response. Any of the above named documents must be filed by personal delivery or by registered mail, return receipt requested, and the number of copies required by the Commission's regulations to: Kenneth F. Plumb, Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Room N.E. Washington, D.C. 20426. An additional copy must be sent to: Mr. Fred E. Springer, Director, Division of Project Management, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Room 203 RB, at the above address. A copy of any notice of intent, competing application or motion to intervene must also be served upon each representative of the Applicant specified in the particular application.

D3a. Agency Comments — The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the National Marine Fisheries Service, and the State Fish and Game agencies are requested, for the purposes set forth in Section 408 of the Energy Security Act of 1980, to file within 60 days from the date of issuance of this notice appropriate terms and conditions to protect any fish and wildlife resources or to otherwise carry out the provisions of the Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act. General comments concerning the project and its resources are requested; however, specific terms and conditions to be included as a condition of exemption must be clearly identified in the agency letter. If an agency does not file comments within this time period, that agency will be presumed to have none. Other Federal, State, and local agencies are requested to provide any comments they may have in accordance with their duties and responsibilities. No other formal requests for comments will be made. Comments should be confined to substantive issues relevant to the granting of an exemption. If an agency does not file comments within 60 days from the date of issuance of this notice, it will be presumed to have no comments. One copy of an agency's comments must also be sent to the Applicant's representatives.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY MARYLAND

ROCCO M. PAONE, ET. AL.
Plaintiffs

PINEY MOUNTAIN CORPORATION, ET. AL.
Defendants

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

CLASS ACTION SUIT INVOLVING PINEY MOUNTAIN SUBDIVISION.

A Complaint has been filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, against the Piney Mountain Corporation, a Maryland Corporation. The Complaint is a class action brought by persons holding title to real estate in the Piney Mountain Subdivision, hereinafter called "the subdivision." Garrett County, Maryland, wishes to be represented, and sold to the Plaintiffs or assigns between 1964 and the present date.

PUBLIC NOTICES

THE CLASS: By stipulation, the (3) groups have been certified: (1) Legal Owners — All persons who presently hold legal title to real estate in the subdivision; (2) Equitable Owners — All persons who presently hold equitable title to real estate in the subdivision, including but not limited to, land contract purchases from the Defendant; and (3) Contract Members — All persons entitled to membership and its privileges in the Youghiogheny Mountain Club.

THE COMPLAINT: Plaintiffs allege: (1) the defendant entered into certain agreements at the time they purchased their properties, which provided for certain restrictive or protective covenants and continuing contract responsibilities by Defendant; (2) the defendant executed and delivered certain contracts, obligations, and deeds with the Plaintiffs, which were ambiguous in defining certain of Plaintiffs' property and contractual rights, Defendant's obligations; and (3) the defendant failed to perform its obligations under the contracts, obligations, and deeds with the Plaintiffs, which were ambiguous in defining certain of Plaintiffs' property and contractual rights.

THE ISSUES: (1) Are the Plaintiffs entitled to receive compensatory damages due to Defendant's failure to: (a) construct proper roads in the subdivision; (b) maintain and repair certain contractual obligations; and (c) maintain the common elements; and (d) apply the corporate funds first to contractual obligations owed the Plaintiffs.

(2) Should a receiver be appointed to handle the corporate affairs during litigation.

(3) The Plaintiffs have also asked the Court to make certain declarations concerning their rights and the duties of the Defendant, to declare, to wit: (a) the meaning of "maintenance of roads;" (b) the meaning of "maintenance fee" in terms of costs and expenses; (c) a minimum standard for "maintenance of roads;" (d) what property is covered by the term "the maintenance of roads;" (e) what capital expenditure Defendants responsible for before a road is subject to maintenance; (f) an accounting procedure to be used for income, expenses and capital outlay concerning roads and maintenance using a separate fund for this purpose; (g) what property will be included and excluded from road maintenance under existing plats, deeds and declarations; (h) a formula to assess all properties for "maintenance of roads;" (i) the obligation of the Defendant (and successors in interest) to remove snow as part of road maintenance; (j) specifically, the meaning of "common facilities" as used by the Defendant's documents; (k) what property is covered by the term "common facilities;" (l) who is a "property owner" for purposes of assessment for road maintenance; and (m) to grant such other and further relief as may be appropriate, including the reformation of deeds and agreements.

(4) To amend the restrictive covenants filed to conform to the declarations made by the Court as entered above.

(5) To enter a Judgment in favor of the Plaintiffs for damages to be used to make the capital expenditure and maintenance for roads determined by the Court.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: The Court has signed Orders directing the filing of this Notice, service of process on property owners and the completion of discovery.

Discovery must be completed no later than July 10, 1987, subject to good cause shown. The Plaintiffs have conducted certain discovery of the Defendant to date.

All members of the Class are also notified that they may be excluded from the Class provided they specifically request to be excluded by written notice filed with the Clerk of the Court for Garrett County, Maryland, Court House, East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550 (301) 334-1937. The Court further wishes to notify all members of the Class, who are not expressly excluded, that any Judgment passed, whether favorable or unfavorable to the Class, will be binding upon them if they do not expressly request to be excluded, any member who does not wish to be excluded, but wishes to be represented, may enter an appearance through counsel if they desire. All members of the Class who wish to file answers, to intervene, to request additional relief or to pursue any other legal relief pertaining to the issues in this case, must file such a written notice or request with the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, on or before June 8, 1987. This Order shall be published in The Republican for four (4) consecutive weeks beginning April 23, 1987. This Notice shall also be sent in convenient form to all members of the Class by both certified mail, return receipt requested, and by regular first class mail.

IT IS SO ORDERED, this 20th day of April, 1987.

SHS Student Of The Month Awards Presented

Mike Carr, a senior, received the Physical Education Student of the Month Award. The son of David and Carol Carr, Oakland, Mike has played in boys' intramurals and is in Sports Trivia for activity period. He is currently employed at the First United National Bank of Oakland. He plans to attend Garrett Community College and the University of Maryland to major in general studies.

In the Vocational category, Charles DeBerry received the award for FFA. He is a senior and the son of William and Donna DeBerry, Oakland. He is president of the FFA and has attended the State Leadership Camp, the State FFA Convention, and the National FFA Convention. Charles has been a member of a State Horse Judging Team, and winning State Land Judging Team and was on the Dairy Products Judging Team. He also has raised steer for the fair and has a Star Chapter Farmer Degree. Charles may enter a technical school or a two-year college in the field of Agriculture.

The daughter of Ernest and Patricia Martin, Oakland, Margie Martin, a junior, received the Math Student of the Month award. Margie is a member of the National Honor Society and of the Southern Garrett Concert Band. Among her achievements are English Student of the Month for December, 1986, and Who's Who Among American High School Students. Being a member of the Crellin Assembly of God, Margie plays in the church orchestra. She plans to attend college.

A sophomore, Melame Barr, received the Student of the Month Award in the Social Studies category. The daughter of Allen and Nancy Barr, Mt. Lake Park, Melame attends St. Paul's United Methodist Church, where she is a member of the UMYF and a pianist for the youth. She is a member of the Society of Distinguished American High School Students, mock trial team, and the Southern Garrett Drum Ensemble, Marching, Concert, and Stage Bands. She plans to attend a four-year college.

In the English category, sophomore Krystal O'Brien was honored. Krystal is the daughter of Gary and Maxine O'Brien, Swanton, and attends St. John's Lutheran Church. She is presently enrolled in the Volleyball activity class and is an honor roll student. She plans to pursue a business career.

The Science Student of the Month award was given to Kenny Giotfelty, a sophomore, who received the same award as a freshman. Kenny is the son of Gary and Suzanne Giotfelty, Deer Park. As a member of VICA, he is running for State Parliamentarian. He is also a member of the Southern track team and an honor roll student. He plans to attend CMU to major in engineering and to minor in computer science.

March For Justice Holds Kids' Dance

March for Justice, Inc. recently held a children's dance at Bloomington Elementary School where prizes were awarded in a dance contest and door prizes were given.

Local and area businesses contributing prizes and food included: Proudfoot's Pharmacy, tape recorder; Radio Shack, cassette case; T-Shirt Shack, gift certificate; Ben Franklin, toy ship; Dollar General, transformer set; Big Tee, a gift certificate; Coca-Cola Bottling Company, case of Coke; Charlie's Home Bargain Center, two hats; Miller's Market, three packs of hot dogs; 135 Meat Market, five pounds of hamburger; Ralph's Richfood, five packs of hot dogs; Bull's Restaurant, six bags of ice and four dozen doughnuts; Farley's Foodland, hot dog and hamburger buns, paper plates and napkins; and Kenny's Sanitary Market, paper cups.

March for Justice members expressed their appreciation for all the participating stores for their "generosity."

Several Sentenced In District Court On DWI Charges

Several were sentenced in Garrett County District Court, traffic proceedings, after being found guilty of driving while intoxicated. One woman received a 90-day suspended sentence.

Evonne C. Morman, 36, received the sentencing from Judge Jack R. Turney and was given a $500 fine as a result. She had been arrested for driving (or attempting to drive) while intoxicated January 27 while traveling eastbound on Rt. 40 at Zehner Road.

Kimberly D. Trickett, 25, was placed on 12 months supervised probation and fined $500 after she was found guilty of driving under the influence in a previous hearing. She had been charged with both driving while intoxicated and driving under the influence January 10 while traveling southbound on Rt. 219.

Judge Turney then suspended $300 of the fine. Paul E. Wengard, 20, was also placed on 12 months supervised probation and fined $500 after being found guilty of driving (or attempting to drive) while intoxicated. The fine was then reduced to $200.

He had been arrested February 22 while traveling westbound on Rt. 40 near Shade Hollow Road.

Charles L. Abernathy, 24, was found guilty of driving (or attempting to drive) while intoxicated and was placed on 12 months supervised probation.

He was also fined $500, $300 of which was suspended.

He had been arrested February 22 at Zump's parking lot on Rt. 219.

John E. Hemington, 75, was found guilty of driving (or attempting to drive) while under the influence of alcohol and was placed on 12 months unsupervised probation.

He was also fined $500, $300 of which was then suspended.

He had been arrested January 27 while traveling eastbound on Rt. 40 at Rt. 219.

Tracy J. Sheffield, 19, was found guilty of driving (or attempting to drive) while under the influence and placed on 12 months unsupervised probation. He was fined $500, $300 of which was suspended.

He had been arrested November 29 while traveling westbound on Bishoff Road at Sang Run Road.

Area Resident Earns Doctorate

Paul D. Majors, Frostburg, was recently awarded the doctor of philosophy degree in chemistry by the University of South Carolina, Columbia.

Dr. Majors completed his dissertation entitled "Multi-nuclear Solid State NMR Investigations of Gamma-Alumina Surfaces Using Basic Probe Molecules, also Chemical Shielding in Para-Substituted Cadmium Tetraphenylporphyrin Complexes."

Majors had published articles in the Journal of American Chemical Society on Nuclear Magnetic Resonance (NMR) involving investigations of catalysts.

Currently employed at the Lovelace Medical Foundation Research Center, Albuquerque, N.M., he graduated from Garrett Community College in 1979 with an associate of arts degree in mathematics and science and from Frostburg State College in 1981 with a bachelor of science degree.

Dr. Majors is the son of Gary and Marian Majors, Garrett County.

Hike And Bike For C.F. To Be Held May 16

A bike and hike to benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation will be held Saturday, May 16, at Broadford Recreational Center, Mtn. Lake Park, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Sponsor sheets may be obtained from any local school or by calling 387-5189.

A drawing for locally donated prizes will be held every hour.

Refreshments will be made available but, according to Mrs. Candy Kish, Swanton, organizer of the event, participants should also bring a packed lunch.

Mrs. Kish also stated that volunteers are still needed to check bikes or to help with the route.

Methodist Women Gather Recently At Spring Meeting

The spring meeting of the United Methodist Women of Romney District was held at the Main Street United Methodist Church, Petersburg, W. Va., on Thursday, April 9, with 135 ladies and pastors in attendance.

Doris Welker, vice president, presided over the meeting and the Rev. David Cox, pastor of the host church, led devotions. The theme was "Catch the Visions." The keynote speaker was Mrs. Ruth Daughtery, past president of the Women's Division, and special music was provided by Mrs. Peggy Dempsey, membership chairman. Communion was served by the Rev. Cox and the Rev. Richard Longdon.

Upcoming Events
"Day Apart" will be held at First Church, Parsons, W. Va., on Wednesday, May 13, where the theme will be "Suffering and the Christian Community of Faith." Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. The speaker will be Wayne Johnson, executive director of Hospice of Garrett County, Inc. Those attending are asked to bring the names of deceased members since May, 1986, along with the names of the president and church. Members are also asked to bring a sack lunch and a Bible, paper and pen.

"School of Christian Mission" will be held at West Virginia Wesleyan College in Buckhannon, W. Va., from July 29 to August 1.

Deep Creek Lake Clean-Up Slated For May 23-24

The Deep Creek Lake Management Program will be sponsoring a drive to clean up the Penelec buffer strip and land around Deep Creek Lake on Saturday, May 23, and Sunday, May 24, according to Eric C. Schwaab, lake manager.

Through a cooperative effort with the Deep Creek Lake Businessmen's Association, Milford Beckman and the Garrett National Bank, the Garrett County Roads Department, and the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association, Schwaab said he hopes that this will continue to be a yearly effort which will insure the beauty and integrity of the shoreline surrounding the lake. According to Schwaab, the most important contributor to the success of this project, however, will be the efforts of the individual landowners who have property around the lake. "It is hoped that all landowners in the lake area will take the time to gather up any trash or debris around the lake shoreline and transport it to the county landfill located four miles north of Oakland along the Oakland-Sang Run Road," he said. For this weekend, the landfill will be open on Saturday from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For those persons around the lake who do not have vehicles capable of hauling the larger articles of debris such as barrels or scrap lumber from docks, a group of volunteers will travel the roads adjacent to the lake with suitable vehicles for the pick-up of such articles. These volunteers from the Property Owners' Association and the Businessmen's Association will pick up only articles of debris of a convenient size.

Bloodmobile To Visit Oakland

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit the National Guard Armory in Oakland on Friday, May 22, and collect blood from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

According to a spokesman for the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross, there is always a shortage of blood during the summer months.

"With all the vacations, outdoor activities, and school breaks, donations tend to decrease, but the need for blood stays the same," the spokesman said. "For example, one-fourth of the blood supply in the Johnstown Region, of which Garrett County is a part, is collected from area high schools and colleges. These sources are generally not available during the summer months."

The spokesman said it takes only about one hour, from the mini-physical to the canteen, to give a pint of blood, and the actual donation takes six to 10 minutes. Anyone between the ages of 17 and 70 who weighs at least 110 pounds and is in generally good health is eligible to give blood.

"One pint of blood can save up to four lives," the spokesman said, noting that blood is separated into components which include red blood cells, platelets, white blood cells and plasma. "Once an accident or emergency occurs, it is too late to recruit donors," the spokesman said. "Blood must be available when it is needed."

Oakland Youth Seriously Injured In RV Accident

An Oakland youth was seriously injured in a three-wheel recreational vehicle accident that occurred late yesterday afternoon on a private road off Rt. 560 near the Steyer Mine Road.

John J. Schroth, 15, is listed in "serious" condition in the intensive care unit at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, as a result of injuries received in the 4:45 p.m. accident.

According to State Police records, Schroth was traveling eastbound on the private road when he lost control of the three-wheeler, went off the right roadside and struck an embankment.

He was thrown from the vehicle as a result.

The Maryland State Police Medevac helicopter transported Schroth to the hospital, according to investigating officer Tfc. D.G. Rigglesman.

Southern Rescue Squad also responded to the accident.

Mobile Home Near Friendsville Gutted By Fire

A cutting torch was blamed for causing a fire which gutted a mobile home near Friendsville Friday evening.

Friendsville volunteer firefighters were summoned at 6:16 p.m. to respond to the residence of Tim Minard, located in a trailer court along Glade Road about five miles north of Friendsville. The structure was owned by William Herring, who resides across the road from the trailer court.

When firemen arrived they found the home fully involved in flame. All of the contents were also destroyed.

According to James Martin, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, Minard, Herring, and another man were using a cutting torch to repair broken water lines beneath the mobile home. The torch ignited the insulation and the flames quickly spread into the rear bedroom, bathroom, furnace room, and finally throughout the structure.

Martin estimated the loss to be at least $15,000.

Also called to the scene were the Accident Volunteer Fire Department, the county air cascade vehicle and the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Oakland firemen and Deer Park were called at about midnight Tuesday night to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Arden Skipper, Center Street.

Upon their arrival they found the two-story frame house filled with smoke. A small fire in the basement was quickly extinguished, although there was moderate smoke damage in the house.

Investigation indicated that the cause of the fire was electrical in nature. Firemen remained on the scene for about one hour.

Oakland Memorial Day Service, Parade Planned; Bambacus To Speak

Senator John N. Bambacus will be the guest speaker at Oakland's annual Memorial Day observance on Friday, May 29. The activities will include a parade through downtown Oakland followed by the annual memorial service involving various organizations at the Oakland Cemetery.

Senator Bambacus is a former member of the United States Marine Corps, a Vietnam veteran, and is active in several veterans' organizations. He has been active in Boy Scouting and has served as a member of the board of directors of the Tri-County Council, Human Resources Development Commission, Frostburg Community Hospital and the Frostburg State College Foundation. He is a member of the staff at Frostburg State College, teaching local and state government, and directs the college's Public Affairs Institute.

He was elected to the Maryland General Assembly as State Senator representing District One in November of 1982 and re-elected in November 1986. He is assigned to the Senate Economic and Environmental Affairs Committee, the Joint Committee on Federal Relations, the Joint Committee on Education, and was re-elected chairman of Senate Select Committee One for the three Western Maryland counties and serves on the Special Joint Oversight Committee for Economic and Community Development.

The annual parade will form in the town parking lot on Liberty Street at 10 a.m. and will begin at approximately 10:20 a.m., traveling west on Liberty Street to Wilson Street, north from Wilson to Center, south on Second to Alder, east on Alder to Third, south on Third to Oak, and east on Oak to Fifth Street to the Oakland Cemetery.

A program will be held in front of the tomb of the unknown soldier. American Legion members are to gather at the Proctor Kildow Post Home on Memorial Drive at 9:30 a.m.

World War I veterans Earl Alexander, Accident, and Richard Maroney, Oakland will ride in the parade with Garrett County Commander Ron Friend and Senator Bambacus, followed by the Garrett County Commissioners, Knights of Pythias, local Boy and Girl Scout Troops, the Southern Garrett Band, the Southern Middle School Band, units from the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and Southern Rescue Squad, the American Legion and Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Vietnam Veterans of America. The color guard at the cemetery will be provided by all service groups.

Randall Kahl is in charge of the ceremony at the cemetery, which will begin at approximately 11 a.m. Music will be provided by the Southern Garrett Band, and the Knights of

Spring Rabies Clinic Schedule Announced By HD

The schedule for the annual spring rabies clinics was recently announced by the Garrett County Health Department. These clinics, which are offered to area residents to vaccinate their dogs and cats against rabies at a low cost, will be held the week of May 18-23 at the following times and places:

Bloomington Fire Hall, Monday, May 18, 5-6 p.m. Crellin Elementary School, Tuesday, May 19, 5-6 p.m. Friendsville Elementary School, Wednesday, May 20, 5-6 p.m. Gorman Fire Hall, Thursday, May 21, 5-6 p.m. Grantsville Elementary School, Friday, May 22, 5-6 p.m. Oakland Broadford Elementary, Saturday, May 23, 10 a.m.-noon.

Nine cases of rabies in raccoons were reported in Garrett County in 1986. Thus far in 1987 no cases of rabies have been reported. Dr. William W. Pope, Garrett County health officer, warns all residents that the disease is probably still present in the raccoon population of the area. Spillover into other species of wildlife and to cats and dogs is still a distinct possibility. In other areas of the country and the state where rabies has been endemic in raccoons, large numbers of cases are often reported in a cycle pattern of approximately every five years. The current epizootic of rabies was first de-

DNR Rationale For Rafting On Yough Discussed

The Youghiogheny River Local Advisory Board met on April 9 at Garrett Community College with Department of Natural Resources Local Representative Hugh Trimble distributing to the board members copies of a letter from Thomas Deming, DNR assistant attorney general, to John E. Hinebaugh that stated the department's rationale for allowing rafting by commercial companies and their customers.

That rationale is that using land for simple access to the river does not affect the character of the river. Several board members questioned this approach to the regulations because they felt that rafting was clearly a commercial activity that should be prohibited by the existing regulations.

John Hinebaugh reminded the board that, "the most important thing is to make arrangements with the affected property owners to allow for boating on the river before talking about changes in the regulations relative to boating." He also stated that he felt the department was moving too much toward regulations for boating and ignoring the property owners.

A motion was made by Rusty Thomas that the board reaffirm its recommendations to the State Scenic and Wild Rivers Review Board and the Garrett County Commissioners. These recommendations included resolving a determination of the actual owners of the right of way through the Yough white-water, for example, owners of the river bed and surrounding

County Students Show Significant Improvement On Writing Test

Educators were delighted by the performance of Garrett County students on the Maryland Functional Writing Test this year as ninth-grade students fared well above the state average with 84.5% of the students passing. The state average was 67.1%, according to State Superintendent David W. Hornbeck.

Paul Harr, test co-ordinator, stated that he was "very pleased" with the results, and that this year's students performed the "best ever" in the five years the test has been given. Last year's test results showed that 70.7% passed the test.

The break-down between the two county high schools revealed that Southern, with an 87.7% passage rate, improved significantly over last year's 56.7%.

Northern students, however, dropped from last year's 94.8% pass rate to a 78.5% pass rate this year.

Of the 87 tenth-graders who took the test this year, 43 (or 66.9%) passed. These students are members of the first class who will be required to pass the test before they graduate, in 1989.

Mr. Hornbeck stated that the drop in the pass rate for all Maryland students from last year could, in part, be attributed to a change in the test date from April to January, resulting in students receiving three fewer months of instruction in writing.

"The writing test continues to have a really positive effect on the classroom time spent on writing and the quality of instruction," the state superintendent said. "We expect to see in future years continuing improvement as even more teachers gain the skills to teach writing effectively."

Students who failed the writing test this year will receive additional instruction, or appropriate assistance, to bring their skills in narrative and explanatory writing up to the standards of the test.

Paul Harr stated that one of the goals of the test (and the preparation of the test) is to encourage students to view writing as more than just a school subject. He commended teachers for their excellent job in preparing students for the test.

A statewide committee is currently revising the Maryland Functional Writing Test to include a multiple-choice portion to test students in English usage, capitalization and punctuation beginning in 1989. The name of the test will change to Maryland Writing Test in 1988.

The Educational Testing Service has cited Maryland as a leader in assessing student writing. Maryland is one of approximately four states that require students to pass a writing sample test to graduate.

Two Tractor-Trailer Mishaps Close Rt. 48

Two tractor-trailer accidents that occurred early Friday morning within minutes, as well as within miles, of each other caused a section of Rt. 48 between Keyser's Ridge and Rt. 219 to be closed for approximately five to six hours.

The drivers of both vehicles were not injured, according to State Police records.

The first accident occurred when James W. White, 25, Liverpool, Ohio, was operating a 1984 International XLE, owned by Landis Leasing, Inc., Vineland, N.J., westbound on Rt. 48 and ran off the right side of the road and onto an embankment.

The vehicle then overturned and slid approximately 300 feet before striking a guardrail on the right side of the road.

The tractor-trailer was enroute from Baltimore to Ashtabula, Ohio, and was transporting 39,000 pounds of ferro-calcium silicon in crates when the accident occurred, spilling some of the chemical.

According to a State Police spokesman, the chemical is hazardous only when wet.

The accident occurred at approximately 5:15 a.m. about two miles east of Friendsville and is still under investigation by Maryland State Police.

Investigating officer, Tfc. R.J. Resh, charged White with failure to display registration tags and driving an unregistered vehicle.

The second accident occurred when Paul J. Kernosky, 23, Wausau, Wisc., was operating a 1985 International tractor-trailer westbound and lost control of the vehicle causing it to go off the left roadside. The truck struck a guardrail and overturned, spilling a load of linoleum.

The truck is owned by W.H. Transportation Company, Inc., Wausau, Wisc.

Tfc. D.G. Rigglesman charged Kernosky with negligent driving.

Liquor Board Seeks Assistance From Commissioners On H.B. 658

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners met with members of the Garrett County Liquor Control Board on Tuesday to field questions concerning House Bill No. 658. The bill recently passed the General Assembly and is now expected to be signed into law by Governor William Donald Schaefer.

The Liquor Control Board posed four questions to the commissioners and to state officials regarding the ramifications of the bill. The following questions were submitted to the commissioners in a letter dated May 6:

"1. In that the law does not become effective until July 1, 1987, when should we begin collecting the enhanced fees? The new statute mandates collection of these fees between June 15 and June 30. These dates must necessarily refer to June of 1988. However, this combined with the new law's abolishment of the liquor surcharge would mean a drastic reduction in revenue."

"2. The term 'fee' is found throughout the statute but is not defined. For example: Beginning on page 7, line 9, of the bill, the terms 'issuing fee' and 'annual fee' are used and then the unmodified word 'fee' is used on line 14. Which of the two fees is meant or does it refer to fees paid prior to July 1, 1987? It could mean annual fee, issuing fee, both of these, or some other fee not previously mentioned."

"3. There is an apparent conflict between the new Section 52 (D) found on page 7, line 38, which prescribes that the renewal period for all licenses shall be from June 15 through June 30, and the existing Section 68 (d-1) which allows renewals between June 15 and July 1. Which controls?

"4. Section 163 of Article 2B is modified on page 12, line 9, of the bill. Section 163 relates to the Liquor Control Board. The new language states that the position of the Clerk to the Board of License Commissioners is abolished. Why is the abolishment of the (position) found in a section dealing with the Liquor Control Board? May the LCB hire a clerk or other administrative or clerical employee?"

The letter further stated that a difference in revenue of over $100,000, depending on the answer to their first question, would be realized. "We would suggest that an Attorney General's opinion be requested," stated the LCB members. "We have done so, but were told none would be issued."

The LCB then suggested that if no opinion was stated that a suit for Declaratory Judgement be filed immediately.

The commissioners stated that they would be consulting legal counsel before answering the LCB's questions.

In other commissioner news, the county officials met with Diane Wolfe and other members of the Deep Creek

Special Olympics Set For Tomorrow

The annual Garrett County Special Olympics Spring Games will be held tomorrow, May 15, at Garrett Community College in McHenry.

Opening ceremonies will begin at 10 a.m., with Manning Smith, director of student services at Garrett Community College, giving the welcome and invocation. The special speaker will be Senator John N. Bambacus.

Competition in nine events will follow the opening ceremonies, with medals and awards being presented at 12:30 p.m. by Sen. Bambacus and Sam Piazza, director of area services, Special Olympics of Maryland.

The public is invited to view the Special Olympic competition.

"SIXTY YEARS BEHIND THE MAST," an autobiography telling of the adventures and accomplishments of Oakland resident Gordon K. (Sandy) Douglass, has just been published and is available at the Book Market in Oakland. One of the first to congratulate Douglass on the completion and publication of his book was Delegate George C. Edwards, pictured above (right) with the author. Sandy Douglass is known as a champion sailor, sailboat designer and builder, artist, barber shop singer and patient teacher. He is the designer and builder of the Thistle, Highlander and Flying Scot sail boats; he introduced the planing hull in America; was the first to use molded plywood on boat building; was five times North American champion, 10 square meter international sailing canoe; five times Thistle national champion; and seven times Flying Scot North American champion.

A PERFECT RECORD — Elbert Hershman, a 77-year old conservationist and outdoorsman, just bagged a spring gobbler for the 15th year in a row. Mr. Hershman, who lives in Pleasant Valley, shot this 14-pound turkey in the Snaggy Mountain area. This brings Mr. Hershman's total to 24 turkeys bagged in both the fall and spring seasons over the years.

Local Men Receive Sentencing In District Court

District Court Judge Jack R. Turney sentenced two local men to 18 months each in the Garrett County Jail during District Court proceedings this past week.

David E. Liller, 25, Oakland, was found guilty of indecent exposure following an October 1 incident along Rt. 39 in Oakland.

Judge Thayer suspended 12 months of the sentence, placed Liller on 18 months supervised probation and fined him $25.

A charge of disorderly conduct was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement.

The charges were filed by Deputy David Stoner of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department following an incident in which Liller reportedly interfered with the investigation of a traffic accident along Rt. 39 by refusing to leave the scene after having been ordered to do so several times by Sgt. Randy Lewis of the Oakland City Police.

According to police reports, Liller also indecently exposed himself on the public roadway.

John R. Toston, public defender, was the defending attorney.

Arnold W. Miller, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, was also given an 18-month sentence after being convicted of a misdemeanor theft.

Judge Turney then suspended 12 months of the sentence and Miller was placed on 18 months supervised probation and fined $100.

Charges of forgery and conspiracy were not prosecuted because of a plea agreement.

The charges were filed by Deputy David Crossland following a September 2 incident in which Miller reportedly conspired with co-defendants to steal and forge a check from James Knox in the amount of $294.

Miller was represented by Lisa C. Thayer.

In other court cases, John Michaels, Deer Park, was given a one-year suspended sentence, placed on one year unsupervised probation and fined $100.

The charge was filed by Michael G. Sines, Oakland, following a February 25 incident at Southern High School when Michaels reportedly became verbally abusive with Sines and, at one point, struck Sines several times on the face.

Michael R. Morrisette was the defending attorney.

Allen F. Armstrong, Oakland, also received a one-year suspended sentence, was placed on 12 months unsupervised probation and fined $50 following his conviction on a charge of battery.

He had been found guilty March 31 when a pre-sentence investigation had been ordered.

The charge was filed by Wilma Armstrong, Mtn. Lake Park, following a December 31 incident in Loch Lynn when Mr. Armstrong reportedly assaulted and battered her.

Mark J. Park, 22, Oakland, received a 90-day suspended sentence, was placed on six months unsupervised probation and fined $50 after he was found guilty of a misdemeanor theft.

The charge was filed by Gary M. DeShong, manager at Heck's Department Store, Oakland, after Park reportedly stole several fishing lures there March 30.

Brian G. Ayers, 39, Grantsville, was ordered to make restitution of $92.60 after he had been found guilty of malicious destruction of property in a previous hearing. A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered.

The charge was filed by Tfc. C.R. Smith, Maryland State Police, after a February 21 incident along Rt. 135 in Mtn. Lake Park.

According to police reports, Ayers was stopped at a red light there when he got out of his vehicle and began arguing with Roy T. Agnew, who was also stopped at the light.

At one point, Ayers kicked the door of Agnew's 1985 Chevrolet Chevette, causing about $200 worth of damage.

Teresa A. Arbogast, 25, Baltimore, was found guilty on two counts of disorderly conduct and one count of battery and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

The charges stem from a November 26 incident at Kitzmiller Elementary School when Arbogast reportedly entered the school to remove her daughter and disrupted the activities of a classroom.

The charges were filed by Dr. Brenda McCartney, principal at Kitzmiller School, who stated that she was pushed by Arbogast.

The following cases were placed on the Stet Docket after the complainants in each of the cases refused to testify.

David H. Ringer, 30, Oakland, was charged with battery by Diane M. Ringer, also of Oakland, following a March 25 incident in Oakland.

John R. Toston, public defender, was the defending attorney.

Diane Ringer, in turn, was charged with battery by David Ringer following a March 28 incident.

Michael R. Morrisette was the defending attorney.

Timothy W. Beeman, 23, Oakland, was charged with battery by Betty L. Keiper, also of Oakland, following an April 4 incident in Oakland.

Edward R. Bennett, 41, Deer Park, was charged with battery by Mary A. Bennett, also of Deer Park.

Morrisette was the defending attorney.

Dr. Friend To Be Speaker At Heart Dinner

The 40th annual dinner meeting and volunteer awards ceremony of the American Heart Association-Western Maryland Division will be held on Wednesday, May 20, at 6:30 p.m., at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

The speaker will be Alvin P. Friend, D.D.S., whose topic will be "Calling It Quits" as it relates to cigarettes and smokeless tobacco. Dr. Friend has made a personal commitment to speaking to schools, community groups and others to make them aware of the hazards of cigarettes as well as smokeless tobacco.

A native of Garrett County, Dr. Friend is a graduate of Potomac State College and the University of Maryland College of Dental Surgery. His internship was at Spring Grove Hospital and he then did his residency in oral surgery and anesthesiology at the University of Louisville. He has also presented many dental educational programs in Maryland and elsewhere. In 1986 Dr. Friend was inducted into the International College of Dentistry (F.I.C.D.) during the National ADA Convention in Miami. Between 1978 and the present, Dr. Friend and his wife, Ann, have served as short-term missionaries to Haiti.

Dr. Friend currently practices dentistry near Oakland where he resides with his wife. He is the father of four children and six grandchildren. The dinner is open to the public and reservations may be made by calling the Heart Office at 724-4011.

Oakland Woman In Good Condition Following Mishap

An Oakland woman remains a patient at West Virginia University Hospital Morgantown, W.Va., and is listed in "good" condition following a three-car accident that occurred last Thursday at 11:45 p.m. on Rt. 135 in Mtn. Lake Park.

Sharon K. Newport, 39, who sustained a compound fracture of the lower leg, was initially taken by the Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and later transferred to WVU Hospital.

Also injured were Sharon M. Savage, 38, and Carl E. Savage, 35, both of Oakland. Ms. Savage was admitted to Garrett Memorial Hospital and has since been released. Mr. Savage was treated for injuries there and released.

The accident occurred while the Savage vehicle, a 1987 Chrysler LeBaron, and 1977 Dodge Monaco, driven by Robert R. Bray, 54, Swanton, were traveling eastbound near Allegany Drive. A 1974 Ford Torino, driven by Newport, was traveling westbound and failed to keep to the right side of the road, striking the Bray vehicle in the left rear. As it continued westbound, it struck the Savage vehicle head-on.

Bray and a passenger, Madge L. Vance, 62, Deer Park, were apparently not injured.

Tfc. D.G. Riegleman of the Maryland State Police charged Newport with driving while intoxicated and failure to drive on the right side of the road.

In other accidents, a McHenry man was admitted to West Virginia University Hospital where he remains in "good" condition following a one-car mishap Monday morning along Rt. 7 at Hopemont, W.Va.

Larry Nicklow, 46, was taken to Preston Memorial Hospital by the Terra Alta Ambulance Squad and later transferred to WVU Hospital where he underwent surgery.

James W. Thomas, 18, also of McHenry, was also taken to Preston Memorial Hospital where he was reported in "satisfactory" condition Tuesday.

According to W.Va. State Police reports, Thomas, driver of the 1984 Ford Mustang, went over an embankment and the vehicle then overturned.

An accident investigated by Maryland State Police occurred Monday at 2:45 p.m. along Rt. 39.

According to investigating officer, Tfc. L. Rosage, Paul E. Smith, 20, Winchester, Va., was traveling westbound when he apparently fell asleep.

The 1980 Datsun 200 SX traveled off the right side of the road, striking a ditch and a Texas Eastern marker. The vehicle traveled for another 150 feet before it came to rest against an unoccupied car in a private driveway.

The parked car, a 1987 Plymouth, is owned by Richard

A. Shaffer, Oakland.

According to police reports, Smith was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad but hospital personnel were unable to verify his arrival.

Smith was charged with reckless driving.

Kitzmiller Man Charged On Handgun Assault

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department served warrants to several persons this week on various charges.

A criminal summons was served to Frank Bruckey, Kitzmiller, charging him with assault with a handgun.

The charge was filed by William J. Lyons, also of Kitzmiller following an incident Saturday on Shallmar Road.

Deputy P.K. Buckel served the summons.

A criminal summons was served to Fred E. Bowser Jr., Grantsville, charging him with harassment.

According to the complainant, Wanda M. Bowser, Friendsville, the charge stems from incidents that took place from June, 1983 to April 26 of this year.

Deputy Russell Drenning served the summons.

Charlene M. Copeland, Oakland, was served a criminal summons, charging her with battery.

The charge was filed by Douglas D. Hinebaugh, Mtn. Lake Park, following an incident Saturday at Broadford Park, Mtn. Lake Park.

John J. Branlen, Bloomington, was served a criminal summons charging him with disorderly conduct on the land of another and disturbance of the peace.

The charge was filed by Paul R. Wilson, also of Bloomington, after a May 1 incident.

The summons was served by Deputy Russell Drenning.

Arnold W. Miller, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, was served a summons charging him with breaking and entering and destruction of property as a result of an April 11 incident in Loch Lynn.

According to the complainant, Donna N. Valentine, Miller damaged a wall, door and door frame at her residence.

John Orendorf, 22, Accident, was charged with the theft of a Smith and Wesson 243 rifle after the rifle was reported missing by Daniel Orendorf, also of Accident.

The theft reportedly occurred May 3.

Detective Richard Kutchman investigated.

In other news from the Sheriff's Department, a theft was reported by Crystal Simmons, Oakland, that occurred sometime between Tuesday and Thursday of last week at her residence at Highview Park Apartments.

According to Simmons, a Grand Pre Stereo and an Electro clock-radio were taken. Loss amounted to $111.

Deputy P.J. Pratt is investigating the incident.

Thayer Sentences Oakland Man To Six Months

An Oakland man was sentenced to six months in the Allegany County Jail by Judge Fred A. Thayer during Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings last week.

Judge Thayer then suspended all but 10 days of the sentence.

Jerry A. Cline, 36, had been found guilty the previous week of making a false statement to a police officer following an April 30 incident at 135 Amoco Service Station, Oakland.

Cline reportedly called police to report a disturbance while at the service station but, according to police reports, no sign of a disturbance was observed when police arrived.

Man Sentenced In District Court On DWI Charge

A man found guilty of driving (or attempting to drive) while intoxicated was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail during traffic court proceedings last week in Garrett County District Court.

Judge Jack R. Turney then suspended 11 months of the sentence and placed Charles F. Lee, 42, on 18 months supervised probation. He was also fined $1000.

Lee was arrested February 2 on Herrington Manor Road.

David E. Liller, 25, was found guilty of violation of probation and a six-month sentence was re-imposed.

Liller had been found guilty of driving while intoxicated and driving under the influence after his arrest in December, 1985.

Dale P. Layton, 40, and Mark A. Garlitz, 23, were each granted a motion of revision, and charges against them were reduced from driving while intoxicated to driving under the influence.

Juvenile Charged After Escape From Youth Center

According to Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment, a 16-year-old youth from Oxon Hill was arrested and charged after he escaped from the Backbone Mountain Youth Center, Swanton.

Police said the juvenile escaped on April 29 and was apprehended later in Prince Georges County.

He was then transferred back to the youth center where Tfc. G.R. Chaney made the arrest.

In other State Police news, a breaking and entering and theft that resulted in the loss of approximately $1100 worth of property was reported by Charles J. Nelson, Swanton.

According to Nelson, the items were taken from his summer cottage at Beckman's Peninsula sometime between November 1, 1986 and May 1 of this year while he was away.

Property stolen includes a Percussion rifle, a .22 caliber Winchester rifle, a 12-gauge shotgun, a .22 caliber Colt pistol, a Civil War Percussion rifle and a battery-powered hand set telephone.

Cpl. G.D. Broadwater is investigating the incident.

Plane Crash Results In Power Outage

An aircraft spraying for gypsy moths in Allegany County crashed Friday morning without serious injury to the pilot.

The turbo-thrust plane crashed just yards from Rt. 48 near Vocke Road in LaVale after it struck a high-tension guidewire cable, and resulted in a power outage to parts of Allegany and northern and eastern regions of Garrett County.

The pilot, Franz Gruninger, 53, Quebec, Canada, reportedly walked away from the accident that occurred at 7:10 a.m. and was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, for minor cuts and bruises.

The aircraft, owned by a Canadian firm, was pulled down by the cable wire and came to rest in a culvert between the entrance to the highway and the main thoroughfare.

The plane was being flown as part of the Department of Agriculture's Forest Pest Management-approved gypsy moth spraying program.

According to State Police officials, minor leakage of the pesticide occurred into the culvert but not enough to be toxic.

State Police also said that the Federal Aviation Administration and National Transportation Safety Board have no plans to investigate the accident that occurred when the pilot was looking into the sun and did not notice the wires.

Parking Concerns Discussed In Friendsville

Dan Moore and Bill Graham of the Maryland State Police met recently with the Friendsville mayor and town council to discuss parking problems and violations in the town. It was agreed that the first step to correct these concerns should be to educate the citizens as to the existing ordinances and regulations.

Residents should, for instance, obey existing traffic signs that ban parking near an intersection (such parking can prevent the motoring public from seeing oncoming traffic). On Maple Street, between Morris Avenue and First Avenue, parking is limited to one hour. Employees of all town businesses are urged to park off-street, otherwise their cars fill up spaces needed for customer parking. People who park and ride with others to work are asked to park off Maple Street, for instance, Second Avenue or the town parking lot.

Several old and damaged trees which are creating safety problems will be cut down in the near future. This is one of the reasons the town has been planting new saplings.

The week of May 18-23 has been designated as "Clean-Up, Paint-Up Week" by Mayor Spencer R. Schlosnagle and the town council. Regular garbage collection that week will still be on Thursday, and on Saturday old furniture and other items will be hauled away.

Although the possibility of a town park for Friendsville seemed bleak at times, Schlosnagle said, the reality of it is now within sight. Survey of the site, the Harry Guard farm, has been completed, three appraisals have been submitted, the proper forms have been filed and inspection by DNR officials has been conducted. At this time the town is waiting on final approval of the Board of Public Works, which consists of Governor Schaefer, Comptroller Goldstein and State Treasurer Maurer.

The town of Friendsville recently was able to collect a water bill which was in excess of $1,100. This account was past due by over ten years. Notices are being sent out to other past due water and tax accounts as a reminder.

A $100 donation was recently made on behalf of the town to help finance the "Skills for Adolescence" program in the two middle schools. This program is sponsored by the Lions Clubs International and is an educational tool to inform youth of the dangers of drug and alcohol use.

The mayor and town council encourage residents to bag leaves and debris for weekly trash pickup. If burning is necessary, the use of a ten-foot wide fire break is suggested within the town limits. The individual doing the burning is responsible for controlling the

"ROCK AROUND THE CLOCK" is the theme of the 1987 Dance and Gymnastic Revue of Brenda and Company of Oakland, to be presented this Saturday, May 16, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and again Sunday, May 17, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Southern High School. Music and routines from the 1920s to the 1980s will be featured. Pictured are local youth who have dance and gymnastic solos in the event. Pictured left to right, seated, are Bryanne Miller, Peter fire and must be at the burning site to insure the fire does not escape.

Friendsville has recently adopted the county ordinance on dog control. The Garrett County Animal Control Warden will be strictly enforcing the regulations prohibiting dogs at large in the town of Friendsville.

Literacy Workshop Graduates Recently Receive Diplomas

Graduates of the "Laubach Way To Reading" workshop are now available in all areas of Garrett County to assist adults with low-level or no reading skills, according to Joan Sprangel, treasurer of the Garrett County Literacy Council.

Sixteen adults received diplomas Saturday following completion of the 12-hour workshop, sponsored by the Literacy Councils of Garrett and Frederick counties.

The volunteer tutoring service is provided free of charge on a confidential, one-to-one basis and, according to Sprangel, anyone interested in requesting a tutor should call 245-4287, 387-4114 or 387-6651.

Because of the continued requests for additional tutors, a fall certification workshop is already being planned. Interested persons should contact their local library, said Sprangel.

Newly certified tutors are welcome to attend the next Literacy Council meeting, Monday, May 18, at 1 p.m. at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland. All other interested persons are also invited.

Additional information about the Literacy Council is available at all local libraries.

Efforts Of Local Men Recognized By Area Agency

May is Older Americans' Month. During the month, older Americans who have proven that success can begin after retirement are being recognized by the Area Agency on Aging and Community Action.

Two Garrett County residents, John Dragoo and Charles Walters answered the question, "What's after retirement?" with the reply, "more education." During the months of April through June 1986, these two men took a federal Joint Training Partnership Act home improvement and repair course sponsored by the Area Agency on Aging and given by Garrett Community College.

After passing the course and receiving their licenses, Dragoo and Walters started J & C Home Improvements and are now reaping five-figure benefits from their joint business. Despite having entirely different backgrounds — diamond cutting, building supply company ownership, military service, Madison Avenue legal secretarial and political experience, and more — both men have built on all these past endeavors to achieve their current goals.

Presently Dragoo and Walters are very active in the community. They are members of the Moose, Elks, and American Legion clubs. The partners said that having the course offered "gave us a shot in the arm" with getting started. Both men agree, "Jobs can be adventures and you can learn something new every day."

Dragoo and Walters say, "there are a lot of fringe benefits with their new business — already they are getting repeat business, bonuses, and even dinner invitations by satisfied clients.

This course assisted the students in getting their license and required bonding. Dragoo says, "Home Improvement Services requires a license which protects homeowners." The service provider is taught through licensure to be cautious and to respect the law. Stuff fines are imposed on those who are unlicensed providers.

Dragoo and Walters said "each job they do builds on itself and the future is unlimited." Both have just finished a course in estimating. Hank Siefert was the teacher of this course as well as the licensure course.

Both men may be "officially" retired, but still look to the future proving that it's never too late to be successful.

Clean-Up Week To Be Conducted In Friendsville

The town of Friendsville will be conducting "Clean-Up Week" May 18 to 23, according to Mayor Spencer R. Schlosnagle.

The project, sponsored by the mayor and town council, is an opportunity to clean up, paint and repair old buildings, dispose of worn out furniture and appliances and clean up vacant lots in the town.

According to Schlosnagle, a thorough cleaning and renovation is needed to make the town safer and healthier for its citizens.

The mayor urges everyone in the town to participate and co-operate in the effort and reminds residents that their tax dollars have been spent, in part, for such a project.

Trash removal as usual will be on Thursday, May 21 and pick-up of large items will be Saturday, May 23, beginning at 10 a.m.

William Coddington was Garrett County's first sheriff.

of science; Lowell W. Yoder, Grantsville, bachelor of science; Townshend N. Grant, Mtn. Lake Park, bachelor of science; Stacey R. Bell, Michele M. Lynch, and Donna L. Schrier, all of Oakland, all bachelor of science; Nancy L. Stewart, Oakland, master of education; and Amy L. Dixon, Swanton, bachelor of science.

Speakers at the commencement will be F. Perry Smith Jr., Cumberland, who is a member of the Board of Trustees of the State Universities and Colleges; Ms. Robin W. Yankie, a resident of Frostburg and member of the graduating class; and Dr. Herbert F. Reinhard Jr., president of the college.

Bloodmobile Nets 111 Pints During Grantsville Visit

The May 5 visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Grantsville resulted in the collection of 111 pints of blood, according to Lela H. Bender, chairman of the blood donor program in northern Garrett County.

Mrs. Bender said that 114 persons responded to the bloodmobile, three of whom were deferred, and there were nine first-time donors.

Giving his 80th pint of blood and thus becoming a ten-gallon donor on this visit was Dalton Standon, while Claudine Opel became a seven-gallon donor. Olen Rembold, a five-gallon donor, and Harold J. Maust, a three-gallon donor. Reaching the two-gallon level were Rachel Miller and Raymond G. Yoder, while Ervin Sweitzer and Brenda J. Durst became one-gallon donors.

Volunteer nurses assisting with the visit were Rhoda Maust, Marlene Tice, Sara Wengerd, Mildred Yoder, Linda Miller, Dottie Folk, Chris Maust, Karen Maust, and Alice Orendorf.

Other volunteers were Mabel Brennehan, Claudine Opel, Esther Opel, Lois Bender, Glenda Yoder, Mary Opel, Erceel Jenkins, Alice Younkun, Hilda Sturtz, Rosie Miller, Brenda Hawkins, Charlotte Tice, Clea Baker, Lulu Brown, Mary Broadwater, Bertha Gerhart, and Ruth Horning.

Local firemen served as custodians and the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad provided emergency care coverage. Milk and orange juice were donated by Buckel's Market and Potomac Farms Dairy.

IS THERE LIFE AFTER CIGARETTES?

There are times when a cigarette tastes great. Like after a good meal. Or with your first cup of coffee in the morning. Or with sports and spirited conversation. Or on any of a dozen other occasions.

It's those times — the times you most enjoy smoking — that make the prospect of quitting seem so difficult. How can you conquer those moments of pleasure and break your habit?

The answer may be America's most successful stop-smoking program — Smoke Stoppers. It works because it deals with more than the habit of smoking, it deals with the attitudes, behavior, and patterns of smoking. Smoke Stoppers is a program designed and conducted by former smokers who know what it takes to quit and respect your courage to do the same. From the beginning, the goal of quitting remains your choice. Helping you fulfill your goal is ours. The program is always low-key, friendly, and positively supportive. Before long, the hard part will be over and you'll be ready to join the thousands of Smoke Stoppers graduates who haven't smoked in a year or more.

Does life go on after cigarettes? It may seem to require a courageous effort to know, but Smoke Stoppers could well be just the tool to help you find the answer.

You're invited to an introductory session. It's free and without obligation, so please come.

A Catch-22 . . .

There is little doubt in the minds of most local folks that improvements and expansion are needed at the Garrett County Airport. The development that is occurring right now in the McHenry area, coupled with that which is planned for the next several years, makes it important that the local airport is renovated so it will be able to handle larger aircraft. We do not expect to be landing DC-10s or 747s, but the airport should be large enough to accommodate corporate jets, for example.

Unfortunately, we once again find ourselves in a "catch-22" concerning the funding of an expansion project at the airport.

According to the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, the first necessary step in such a project is the moving of thousands of tons of dirt, an effort that is estimated to cost over two million dollars. The dirt must be moved in order to allow for the lengthening of the airport's runway.

The commissioners have attempted to acquire state monies for this initial phase of the project, but the state wants proof of increased utilization of the airport before it is willing to provide the funding. Of course, it is difficult and perhaps impossible for the utilization of the airport to increase as long as it is not adequate to handle more, and larger, aircraft.

The commissioners have attempted to convince the state that, if the airport is expanded, the increased utilization will be a natural occurrence, but so far the state has refused to accept this logic. There apparently is money available for actual construction at the airport, but dirt-moving expenses are not covered. There can be no construction without first moving the dirt.

The great majority of Garrett County residents do not use the airport. Most have never even been there. However, the airport undoubtedly has a profound, albeit indirect, effect on the county's overall economic well-being. As development in the lake area increases, so will the effect of the airport. The decision of whether or not to hold a convention here, for example, could hinge directly upon whether or not there is an airport close by that can accommodate corporate jets.

We hope a solution can be found to obtain funds to move that dirt.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This letter is in regards to the juveniles and young adults in the town of Friendsville who are walking the streets and spending their nights under the freeway bridges, drinking, swearing, yelling, fighting each other, and keeping people up all night long.

I am usually a very quiet member of the community, but after being kept up all night Saturday night, May 9, by these juveniles, I felt that I had to speak out and let more people know what is going on.

Early Saturday evening, as usual, the juveniles' party started under the freeway bridge. I tried to ignore the noise as long as I could, but the party kept getting louder.

Around 3:00 a.m. Sunday morning, I put in a call to the police reporting what was going on. At 4:00 a.m. Sunday morning the party was still in full force.

I am not blaming this problem entirely on the police, but I am blaming the juveniles and their parents who don't care where or what their children are doing. The parents surely do not want a policeman on their doorstep some night saying their son or daughter has been killed under a freeway bridge.

On Sunday morning, after getting very little sleep, my daughter and I made phone calls to some citizens of Friendsville asking for help with this problem. Most offered very helpful information.

We would like to thank Lucille Sines, Joe Sessa and Mary Friend just for listening to our problem. And a special thanks to Officer Phil Buckel for his help on Thursday evening with the same juveniles.

Anyone who reads this letter and cares about what is going on in our community (almost our back yard), please respond to this letter with any advice that will help us and our elderly neighbors who are so old to fight back and are so afraid that they sit in the dark at night with no lights on in their homes.

We are a family who cares what is going on, but our family alone cannot fight against an army of juveniles. Come on, good people of Friendsville, join the battle.

Thanks,
Mrs. Walter Coddington

Give a man enough rope and he will hang himself. Commissioner Gregg just "did them in" as for the need of county-wide zoning laws in Garrett County. Statements by Mr. Gregg: "If junkyard owners do not comply with the ordinance, they are summoned to District Court. Unfortunately, we lost the last case we took to court, which somewhat diminished the validity of the ordinance."

"In regards to junkyard approvals, it is difficult for this board to reject those requests unless they will pose a serious threat to the health or safety of neighbors."

The General Assembly has requested that a "Land Preservation and Recreation Plan" be prepared for each Maryland county. The plan will assure Garrett County's continued eligibility for participation in Program Open Space.

The objective of the plan is for agriculture land preservation, forest land preservation, provisions for recreation areas and protection of unique natural areas.

How have they been eligible for Program Open Space up until now without county-wide zoning laws giving some indication as where they are leading this county?

Sincerely,
C.W. Newhall Jr.

To the Editor:

Did you know that the bill in the Maryland General Assembly which would have halted the use of live animals in the testing of cosmetics and consumer products was passed by a large measure in both houses?

Great day for the animals! Want to make a bet?

This bill was then passed over to a conference committee stacked with opponents of the bill and there went the legislation, and there also went the death of the democratic system in Maryland as far as animals are concerned. Most Garrett Countians do not know the pain and torture these animals have to accept because of some legislators. Animals have no way of protecting themselves. We humans are responsible for them.

Please help the Humane Society help this bill be passed and approved in the 1988 Maryland General Assembly. Help save our animals from cruel deaths. Write to Garrett County Humane Society, P.O. Box 75, Accident, Md. 21520.

To the Editor:

I was very pleased to have been able to see the play, "Whisper Down The Lane," Thursday, May 7, at the Garrett Community College Auditorium sponsored by the Accident Elementary School PTA.

The play, which was performed by the Children's Repertory Company of 3707 Garrett Road, Drexel Hill, Pa., 19026, was about death and dying. We as a society find this a difficult subject to discuss. The play was very well done and gave one the sense of feeling it's okay to have the feelings we do — anger, guilt, depression, or fear — when going through the grief process and the healing of the loss of a loved one.

Persons of all ages would have profited by attending this play and hearing the discussion afterwards. If possible, I

Your "correction notice" in last week's paper, regarding Jack L. Lear's obituary reminded me that some correction should be made in the obituary of Robert P. Fratz that appeared in the April 16 issue.

Robert was a member of Zion Lutheran Church, of Accident, not Mount Zion, and the minister in charge of the service was Rev. Wilfred Karsten, not Rev. Stephen Yelovich.

Thank you,

Pythias and the American Legion will conduct the program. Graves of veterans will be decorated by the American Legion, V.F.W. and D.A.V. DeCorsey Bolden will serve as master of ceremonies and Rev. Russell Hamilton will provide the invocation and benediction.

Members of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10077 will provide the firing squad for the final gun salute to departed comrades, followed by playing of taps by members of the Southern Garrett Band.

Following the memorial service, the new Vietnam Memorial will be dedicated at the Garrett County Courthouse by Senator Bamabus and all of the service groups. The public is invited to attend.

Rabies Clinic

tected in Garrett County four years ago. While the incidence of the disease has dropped in the area where it was first reported, the population of susceptible raccoons in those areas may now be increasing. The increase in population could result in another peak of reported cases during the next few years. It is therefore extremely important to vaccinate all cats and dogs which have never received the immunization and to revaccinate all animals whose vaccinations have or are about to expire.

Vaccination of pets is the single most effective method of protecting humans from exposure to rabies. The vaccine which is currently used in clinics offers protection for three years to both dogs and cats over one year of age. Dogs and cats under one year of age and those that are receiving their first vaccination will require a booster shot the following year.

Dr. Pope also warned cat owners of the need to have their animals vaccinated. A large number of cats have been reported positive in Maryland since the beginning of the current rabies epidemic in 1981. Hundreds of individuals have been exposed to those rabid cats and have had to undergo costly post-exposure treatment. Maryland Law now requires cats as well as dogs over three months of age to have a valid rabies vaccination certificate. Failure to have cats or dogs vaccinated could result in a criminal penalty of a $500 fine.

A fee of $1 per animal will be charged to cover the costs associated with conducting the clinics. Dogs should be on a leash under the control of a responsible person at all times. Cats should be brought to the clinics in a wire cage or a tightly secured box with air

Aging of America

Make Your Community Work for Older People

The following is the first of three editorials by Carol Fraser Fisk, U.S. Commissioner on Aging, written for Older Americans Month, which is this month.

Today, as always in our history, America and Americans are changing. One of the most significant of these changes is the growth in our older population. By the year 2020, about one in four of us will be 60 or older. The "Aging of America" is changing the way we live, work, travel and the type of services, products, and housing that we need. It is changing health care and health costs. It is changing our individual and our family life, our community structure, and our expectations of what this Nation's institutions should provide and how they should provide it.

This year's Older Americans Month theme of "Make Your Community Work for Older People," focuses on the increasing need that we all share to make our communities good places in which to grow older. During May every neighborhood, town, city, and rural community has the challenge and the opportunity to begin laying the foundation for a truly responsive system of community services which will enable older people to live their lives with dignity and independence. We are asking them to join with their local Agency on Aging in planning for the new challenges and opportunities which the Aging of America brings to each of us and the communities in which we live.

Under the Older Americans Act, agencies on aging have been established at State and local levels with responsibility for serving communities across the Nation. These agencies plan, coordinate, and develop systems of services which enable older Americans to remain independent in their own homes and communities.

Agencies on Aging have a very special role to play in meeting the challenges of our aging society. As the organizations most familiar with the older population in the areas they serve, they are uniquely qualified to help each community respond to the needs of its older population. Under their leadership, a great deal has been accomplished, but they cannot do it all alone. It must be a team effort that brings together all of a community's resources to build a range of options for every older person.

In Dallas, Texas, the Access Center for the Elderly Program (ACE) was established by the Dallas Area Agency on Aging to create a more comprehensive and responsive system of services for frail and vulnerable older people. Under ACE, 22 agencies agreed to provide services to the elderly and to refer their clients to ACE. Since 1984, Parkland Memorial Hospital has sponsored ACE. The program now uses the hospital's social workers, discharge planners, and other staff to help coordinate community based services and ensure that older discharged patients can continue to receive the assistance that they need when they return to their own homes.

This May's Older Americans Month offers many opportunities for local discussions and grass roots activities that can help communities respond to the needs of their older citizens. Public officials; business, civic, religious, volunteer, and educational leaders; and each of you who is concerned about the welfare of older Americans can join together to discuss the well-being of older persons today and in the future. You can consider ways that you and your community can ensure the independence of each older person by using your community's resources to create a system of comprehensive and coordinated services that responds to the unique needs of each older American.

Fortunately, in many communities the services to help people are already in existence. Our goal is to ensure that all of the system works as a coordinated whole, and to develop new services when they are needed. Maryland's Gateway I and II Community Based Care System, which was established in 1982, is a good example of this comprehensive system approach.

Gateway I was established to promote program coordination and improve access to services by setting up a single entry point in each county to help the elderly apply for services.

Gateway II is implemented by an Interagency Aging Committee (IAC) comprised of representatives from the Office on Aging and the Departments of Health and Mental Hygiene, and Human Resources. IAC carries out interagency planning and develops a common budget for services. Through IAC at the State level and its county equivalents, the lead agency (usually an Area Agency on Aging) is responsible for program administration and financial oversight and for coordinating the public and private agencies that provide services.

Gateway II served moderately and severely impaired older persons through assessment, case management, home care and day care services. The program has lowered client costs, offered a viable alternative to institutional care, and improved the quality and provision of long-term care services. It has been so successful, in fact, that the program is going statewide.

In May we are urging the leaders of each and every community to "Make Your Community Work for Older People" by working with your Agency on Aging, assessing your system of services, and developing plans for making it even more responsive.

Also Tuesday, the commissioners met with Tom Glatfelter, fixed-base operator at the Garrett County Airport and other interested parties to discuss expansion of the Garrett County Airport.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg explained that the local airport is not a highly rated airport in terms of utilization and is, therefore, not entitled to funding for the earthmoving that is necessary to expand the airport. Most recent figures indicated that $2.5 million is needed for the necessary excavation.

When the excavation is completed, the county would then be eligible for grant money to complete the airport.

Thus far, the choices include improving the existing booth, and sites located elsewhere on

Our Turn

And the Big Winner Is . . .

The great American game shows — what a treat they are to watch! There are many popular game shows on television now, but I like to watch the lesser-known varieties with titles like, "Hit That Mark," or "You Got It!" These low-budget productions are amazing for several reasons.

Typically, the contestants are amazing. The announcer blares out catchy introductions, such as, "Here's our next contestant — a mother of 10 who enjoys parachuting in the Mohave Desert!"

Then the camera pans over to show a young woman of about 35 with gray hair and several missing teeth. The poor viewer at home is then left to wonder if it was the 10 kids or the parachuting that did her in.

Every show has an interesting "interview" portion where the host asks the contestants piercing, in-depth questions about their backgrounds. I was watching a show once when the host asked, "I hear you are a painter. What exactly do you paint?" The contestant immediately piped up, "By number!"

Of course the questions used during the game are equally amazing. I've heard some real mind-bogglers, such as, "The seven dwarves cried when this dark-haired lass ate the poison apple." Or, "This singer is also known as 'Ole Blue Eyes'."

Occasionally, they will throw in a trick question to confuse the contestant. "He wrote his famous address on the back of an envelope on the way to Gettysburg." I guess the producers expect the contestant to blurt out, "2000 Pennsylvania Avenue." What is most amazing is the fact that the audience actually claps and cheers for these contestants when they correctly answer these "stumpers."

Perhaps most unbelievable of all is the fabulous grand prize that the contestants have struggled to win for half an hour. Amid trumpet blares and flashing lights, the contestant discovers he has suffered through all of this humiliation to win a set of luggage and a year's supply of taco sauce, while we at home are left to wonder what happened to the trip to Mexico. Moreover, we wonder why we just wasted half an hour watching this nonsense.

By the way, who is "Ole Blue Eyes" anyway?

Neil Woods, Former Local Resident,

Awaits Heart Transplant Surgery

The following article recently appeared in "The Mountain Statesman", of Grafton, W.Va. Neil Woods formerly lived in the Garrett County towns of Oakland, Altamont, and Swanton, and worked as a railroad operator. He is a well-known banjo player in the area and a ham-radio operator. Two sisters and two brothers still live in Maryland: Helen Friend, Altamont; Constance McWhinney, Swanton; Glen Woods, Altamont; and Estel Woods, Baltimore.

The Republican was given permission to reprint the article by the author, Marvin Gelhausen, news editor of The Mountain Statesman.

Grafton, W.Va. — Heart transplant surgery is something most people only read about, but for Wickwire Road resident Neil Woods it will soon become reality.

The 55-year-old Taylor countyman had never missed a day's work in 36 years. But, two years ago, he noticed a change in his health. "I just started running out of energy," he comments. Woods went to Dr. David Federle at the Taylor County Medical Center. He was immediately referred to a cardiologist specialist at West Virginia University after x-rays showed an enlarged heart.

Many county citizens argue that the airport would be better utilized if the condition of the airport was updated. "It's a Catch-22 situation, once again," stated Commissioner Elwood Groves II.

The county officials also met with Duane Yoder, executive director of Garrett County Community Action, on Tuesday. Yoder informed the commissioners that HUD is planning to take action against the owners of Bradley Manor, the now defunct low-cost housing complex, located west of Oakland.

Many local residents have voiced concern about the health and safety of the complex which continues to deteriorate, causing "an eyesore in the community."

shores; and the enactment of a county ordinance to place a moratorium on all river rafting, which would be effective July 1 and continue until the requested disposition is received from the Scenic and Wild Rivers Review Board.

The board also requested completion of those recommendations at the earliest possible date. The motion carried unanimously.

The board asked that the department send the boating regulations that had been drafted up so they could study them for possible discussion at some future date after arrangements had been completed with the property owners.

John Hinebaugh made a motion that Hugh Trimble invite Secretary Torrey Brown, Senator John Bamabus, and Delegate George Edwards to an informal meeting with the board to discuss the overall situation relative to the river and maintain the lines of communication. That motion carried unanimously.

The agenda for the April 23 meeting was to be the proposed carrying capacity study, with the understanding that the members of the board will review the scope of work and determine what other areas should be included in the study and what priorities should be assigned to those areas.

Rusty Thomas gave the board a report on the Youghiogheny River water quality meeting held at Alpine Lake on March 28. The meeting involved personnel from West Virginia's and Maryland's Departments of Natural Resources and Trout Unlimited chapters from both states. One of the biggest concerns at the meeting was the acidic water that flows from West Virginia into Maryland.

Board members attending the April 9 meeting were: Melvin Dunithan, Elwood L. Groves II, John E. Hinebaugh, Dr. Deborah Pepper, Shaun Sanders, Donald P. Seboid, James Spear, Robert Thomas, and Rusty Thomas. DNR Representatives included Hugh Trimble, Frank Oslislo and Derek Richerson.

The board will meet again tonight, May 14, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in room 350 of Garrett Community College. The agenda will include a panel discussion on water quality in the Youghiogheny River.

Sincell Speaks To Youghiogheny Glades Chapter

Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, N.S.D.A.R., met recently at the Mtn. Lake Park Methodist Church. The guest speaker was Don Sincell, editor of The Republican Newspaper, who spoke on "The Role of the American Newspaper". A question and answer session followed the presentation.

Following the program, the business meeting was conducted. Mrs. George Porter, chaplain, led the group in prayer. Mrs. Richard Sherwood, regent, led the Pledge of Allegiance and the Daughter's Ritual. Reports were given by Mrs. Robert DeWitt, secretary; Mrs. Lindsay Gonder, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Thomas, national defense; and Mrs. Robert Proudfoot, book committee.

The chapter voted to be represented at the Friendsville Summer Festival VII and the Garrett County Fair in August.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. Randall Kahl, Mrs. Lindsay Gonder, Mrs. Robert Proudfoot, Mrs. Ronald Friend, and Mrs. Arthur Wolfe.

Representing the chapter at the Ninety-Sixth D.A.R. Continental Congress in Washington, D.C., were founding regent Mrs. Paul Calderwood and present regent, Mrs. Sherwood. Both attended various business meetings and patriotic programs at Constitution Hall and the Maryland Luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel.

The next meeting will be a 20th anniversary celebration of the founding of the chapter. The

Those who received surplus commodities in March do not need to re-apply at this time.

Herrington Manor Plans Weekend Wildflower Walk

Annual spring wildflower walks, conducted by Joan Norman, seasonal naturalist at Herrington Manor, will be held this weekend, giving area residents the opportunity to enhance the feeling of spring and learn a little more about this season of the year.

The first walk will take place at Herrington Manor State Park on Saturday, May 16, at 1 p.m. Those attending should meet at the park office.

The second walk will take place at Swallow Falls State Park on Sunday, May 17 at 1 p.m. Participants will again meet at the park office.

For more information, contact Herrington Manor State Park at 301-334-9180.

Northern Rescue Participating In Portrait Program

To raise funds for aiding in the purchase of a new ambulance and other equipment, the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad is participating in a portrait program.

The rescue squad has authorized the employees of the Bower Precision Portraits company of Confluence, Pa., to solicit orders for 8x10 inch color portraits, according to Patricia Bowser, chairperson.

The representatives will begin canvassing the area this Saturday, May 16. They will carry a letter of authorization from the rescue squad.

Residents of the northern end of the county should note that canvassing will be done by communities and will continue through the summer, Ms. Bowser said.

Residents are also encouraged to call any squad member for verification, any questions, or for further details, she noted.

The taking of portraits will be by appointment.

GOBA Meets.

Discusses 50/50 Drawing Progress

The Greater Oakland Business Association met Tuesday, May 12, at Cornish Manor. Among topics of discussion was the current 50/50 drawing being held to raise money for new Oakland Christmas decorations.

The tickets for the first drawing have been available since May 1 and the first drawing will be held Friday, May 15. Santa will draw the winner and then proceed to WMSG/WXIE to announce the winner. The drawing will be held on the 15th of each month through August.

Tickets are available at local participating businesses at $1 each.

Other topics discussed at the GOBA meeting included coupon books, a carrier for the new Christmas decorations, a Memorial Day Promotion (most Oakland businesses will close on Monday, May 25), the annual sidewalk sale held in August, an advertising theme for the town of Oakland and traffic problems which may occur during the upcoming sewage system construction.

Two new members, Bill Rozell from Garrett Automotive and Dick Wheeler from First Federal Savings and Loan, were introduced and welcomed to the association.

John M. Drescher To Be Speaker At Glade Church

John M. Drescher, well-known author and speaker, will be speaking at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church this weekend.

There will be a service on Friday at 7:30 p.m. for married and engaged couples. Baby-sitting will be provided for parents who want to bring their children along.

Drescher will speak on prayer Saturday evening and on Sunday at 10:30 a.m. he will be speaking on "Commitment — Key to Enduring Marriage."

There will be a carry-in lunch at noon on Sunday and everyone is welcome to bring a dish and participate.

Then at 2:00 p.m., Sunday, Drescher will speak on fasting and on Sunday evening at 7:30 on "Study to be Approved to God."

Drescher is from Harrisonburg, Va., where he and his wife, Betty, now live. They are the parents of three sons and two daughters. He teaches at Eastern Mennonite Seminary and is the Seminary pastor.

Drescher has written 28 books and has had articles published in more than 100 different magazines and journals, such as Reader's Digest, Christianity Today, These Times, Catholic Digest, Parents Magazine and others. He is contributing editor of Pulpit Digest. His books have been translated into Japanese, Thai, African, Dutch, German, French, Spanish, Finnish and Portuguese.

He has conducted many family retreats and seminars, and preaching ministries across denominational lines.

Books by Drescher on the family include: "Now Is The Time to Love," "If I were Starting My Family Again," "Meditations for the Newly Married," "When You Think You are in Love," and "You Can Know It's True Love."

Drescher served as editor of the Gospel Herald, official organ of the Mennonite Church, for 11 years.

The public is invited to each of these services. The Cherry Glade Mennonite Church is located along the Accident-Bittinger Road, approximately four miles from Accident. Persons with questions may call Pastor Elmer H. Maust at 245-4143. The weekend conference is sponsored by Cherry Glade and Maple Glen Mennonite Churches of Grantsville and Oak Dale of Salisbury, Pa.

Accept Positions With A&A Realty

Karen F. Spiker, president of A&A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens, announced recently that two local persons have accepted positions as marketing coordinators with the local real estate firm.

Pamela L. Holloway, Deep Creek Lake, and Wilda Fint, Aurora, W.Va., are among the newest members of the A&A staff.

Pamela L. Holloway

Mrs. Holloway, a native of San Francisco, is a graduate of W.T. Woodson High School, Fairfax, Va., and holds a bachelor of arts degree in German from Radford College, Radford, Va. She was previously employed by G.T.E. Spacenet Corporation, McLean, Va., as a regulatory administrator, responsible for drafting and negotiating contracts for the lease of domestic satellite time. Prior to this employment, she worked as a paralegal with the law firm of Haley, Bader & Potts,

Washington, D.C.

She resides with her husband, Edward L. Holloway.

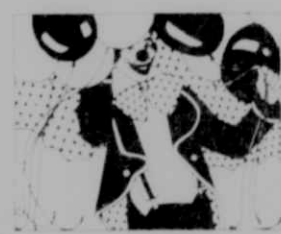

Wilda Fint

Mrs. Fint attended Dundalk Community College for training as a certified nursing assistant. She was formerly employed as a certified nursing assistant in obstetrics and medical-surgical floors of a hospital. She is now licensed by the state of Maryland and will actively market all types of local real estate with A&A.

Mrs. Fint is also a certified water safety instructor and teaches a water safety course for the American Red Cross. She resides in Aurora with her husband, Ralph.

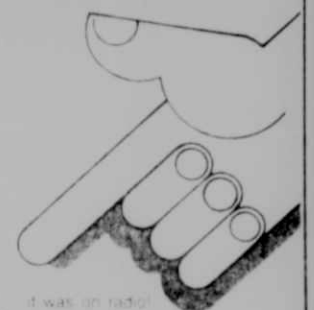

TEACHER APPRECIATION WEEK, which was last week, was observed in a rather unique fashion at Loch Lynn School, as the school's PTA sponsored a contest whereby students were asked to identify baby pictures of the Loch Lynn teachers. Several of the students correctly identified the photos and a random drawing of those students' names was required to choose a winner. James Moon, a fifth grade student, was declared the winner and received a disc camera and film for his efforts. Making the presentation was Mary Ann Friend, president of the PTA.

Comment Period Open On Dock Permit Requests

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) is currently soliciting comments from all interested parties relative to requests for dock permits from four developments at Deep Creek Lake with frontage on the Penelec buffer strip.

Under Article 35 of Penelec's current license, the Department of Natural Resources may not issue permits for more than ten dock slips unless a formal application is made to the FERC for amendment of the license to allow the placement of additional slips on the waters of Deep Creek Lake. The four developments involved in the pending request included Cedarbrook Development, Penn Cove Properties, Sandy Beach Properties, and Arrowhead Townhomes Development.

Descriptions of the four requests currently before the FERC were outlined in the public notice section on page 39 of the April 30 edition of The Republican, along with a description of the proper format for all comments. June 1, 1987 is the closing date for all comments, which should be directed to William J. Madden Jr., of Bishop, Liberman, Cook, Purcell, and Reynolds, 1200 17th Street NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

W.O.W. DONATES FLAG, POLE TO SHS — One of the activities of the 11th Biennial Maryland Jurisdictional Convention for Woodmen of the World was the presentation of a United States flag and flag pole to Southern High School. The pole has been located at the Southern athletic complex, between the baseball field and the track. Above, Dr. Thomas Shaver, left, a National Trustee for Woodmen of the World, is greeted by Arthur Refosco, principal of Southern. Pictured center is Asa McCain, treasurer of Oakland W.O.W. Lodge 11 who served as emcee for the flag presentation ceremony. Lodge 11 hosted the three-day convention, most of which was held at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

Tax Reform Protects Gifts As Major Source Of Down Payments For Homes

Gift laws that were largely untouched by the Tax Reform Act will be good news for the home buyers partially dependent on gifts to finance a home, according to a Garrett County real estate company.

Donors can significantly reduce gift taxes by excluding up to $10,000 in gifts annually per person even if the recipient is not in the family. Karen F. Spiker, of A&A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens, said gift law provisions protect an important down payment source for many home buyers, particularly first-time buyers in Western Maryland. The average down payment for a home for first-time buyers is nine percent, according to Better Homes and Gardens research.

"Better Homes and Gardens real estate research also shows 17 percent of home buyers receive a gift to help with the down payment," said Spiker. "These gifts reduce the donor's overall tax liability, yet still serve as a major source of down payments."

Ms. Spiker lists the example of a husband and wife who gave $45,000 to their son and daughter-in-law for a down payment on a home. Because the $10,000 tax exclusion can apply to both husband and wife, they could each give $10,000 to both children for a total of $40,000 to the younger couple. It reduced the parent's gift tax liability to $5,000.

The recipient does not have to be a member of the family said Ms. Spiker. The donor can select anyone to receive a gift and the $10,000 exclusion still applies. The exclusion is also renewed annually; a donor may give any amount they choose each year and still reduce their gift taxes.

In the case of husbands and wives, they may split gifts equally for tax purposes even if the gift comes from one of them. Spiker suggested accurate records be kept of each gift, and that the gift be given as a check for better record keeping. Such records need to be attached for form 709 when gift taxes are filed April 15, or each year. Gift taxes are part of gift and estate taxes and are to be treated separately from income taxes.

"Any gift does not need to be given all at once, but can be given in piecemeal fashion until the $10,000 exclusion is exhausted," said Ms. Spiker. She advised that in the case of gifts from grandparent to grandchildren, gifts of up to $1 million are exempt from the tax, but amounts over that can be subject to a hefty new 50 percent "generation skipping" tax. Ms. Spiker said tax accountants or tax attorneys should be consulted about specific changes and requirements related to gift taxes.

The amount of the annual gift tax exclusion has varied since it was first introduced in 1932. The ceiling was $3,000 until 1981 when the amount was raised to $10,000. The exclusion must be taken in the year it was made and deductions for future or intended gifts are not allowed.

ATTENTION INVESTORS!

Have you been offered

"SKY-HIGH" RATES
on non-bank investments?

If so, we suggest you consider these facts before you invest:

Fact #1: Fees

Almost all non-bank investments have charges associated with them. Some of these charges might include: Load fees, Management fees, Sales commissions, Middleman fees, etc.

When you deduct these fees from your rate of return, you may discover your net yield to be much lower than the "sky-high" rate first offered.

Fact #2: Risk

Many non-bank investments can go down in value if interest rates go up, resulting in losing a part of your investment principal. Yields on non-bank investments are generally stated in the past-tense, and have little bearing on future yields.

Share Life's Discoveries With A Local Nursing Home Resident

by Pam Ashby

Nursing home residents have a lifetime of experience to share — with family members, friends, nursing home staff and the entire community.

Volunteerism is strong at both Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home and Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home in Oakland. Many individuals and service organizations give their time to teach, entertain and just be with residents to talk or reminisce.

May 10-16 is being observed nationally and locally as Nursing Home Week. Various activities are being held this week at both local nursing homes to celebrate the event and to promote visitation by community members to residents at the homes.

Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home's activity director, Becky Amtower, noted that activities at that home began on Mother's Day. Each female resident bearing the title "mom" received a corsage. The festivities continued with a Western Day, complete with music, singing and dancing. Staff recognition day was held Tuesday and a volunteer brunch was given on Wednesday. Today, the residents will enjoy an indoor carnival day and a 50's day is planned for tomorrow.

Joanne Harsh, activity director at Dennett Road Manor, said that festivities at that home also began Sunday when hand-crocheted corsages, made by volunteers, were presented to the mothers at the home. A balloon launch was enjoyed by the residents yesterday and a clown and ice cream day is slated for Friday.

Although special activities are being held at the nursing homes this week, many activities throughout each week of the year are provided by staff and volunteers for the residents.

Joan Crawford, instructor at Garrett Community College, is responsible for providing credit courses for some of the residents and many other volunteers teach (to name a few) crafts, ceramics and exercise classes.

Mrs. Harsh said she feels it is important to provide activities that cater to the interests of the residents. Bringing in common farm animals and planting a garden are not uncommon at that facility and the residents who farmed all their lives appreciate a "bit of home."

PREPARE FOR TAKE-OFF — Residents of Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, as part of Nursing Home Week activities, were treated to a balloon launch yesterday. Activities director, Joanne Harsh, shown center, coordinated the launch and hopes some of the balloons will be found and that the finders will respond to the residents.

Singing, church and Sunday school are also provided at the homes through the efforts of many volunteer pastors and lay leaders in various churches in the community.

Adults aren't the only volunteers involved with the local nursing homes. Students, scouts and 4-Hers are also frequent visitors to the homes. Bill Ewing, counselor at Southern High School, selects students interested in nursing to give 200 hours of volunteer time to the homes. This is coordinated through a time-release program.

The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club has also been instrumental in providing special programs and activities for the residents.

It would be nearly impossible to name every volunteer who passes through the halls of those nursing homes, but in talking with staff and residents it is clear that the time they give is much appreciated.

"Discover Life's Treasures" is the theme for Nursing Home Week. Mrs. Amtower and Mrs. Harsh urge local citizens to visit a nursing home this week and encourage residents to interact fully with people of all generations.

"We have many fine, unselfish volunteers, but there are never enough," said Mrs. Harsh.

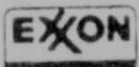

PAINTING AND MAKING MUSIC are just a few of the activities provided on a continuing basis at Dennett Road Manor and Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home. Special events are planned throughout this week in observance of Nursing Home Week to encourage visitors to spend time with residents who have a story to tell. Above, Joyce Livengood, assistant activities director at Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, leads the rhythm band. Below, Louise Kitzmiller, teaches painting classes for the more creative residents of Dennett Road Manor.

In Maryland, the population age 25 to 44 grew by 173,000 between 1980 and 1985, increasing its share of total population from 29.7 percent in 1980 to 32.5 percent in 1985. Other major gains were persons 65 years and over, increasing by 62,000 or 15.7 percent, reflecting continuation of past trends.

The population under 5 years increased by 40,000 or 14.7 percent, due primarily to the recent upturn in the number of births. The 1985 figure of 312,000 for the under 5 year population represents the largest under 5 population since the 1973 level of 319,000.

Populations showing a decline were youths aged 5 to 14 years, down 73,000 or 11.2 percent, and persons 15 to 24 years, down 43,000 or 5.4 percent. The decline in the number of persons in the 5 to 14 age group was the result of the early 1987's baby bust.

During the 1980-85 period, the 45 to 64-year-old group was the most stable, increasing by 16,000 or 1.9 percent.

Age Distribution Changes Noted By Planning Office

Population estimates recently released by the Census Bureau show changes in age distribution of Maryland's population from 1980 to 1985. These changes reflect differences in past fertility rates as well as recent movements of population into and out of the state, according to the Department of State Planning (DSP).

"Fluctuations in fertility are reflected in the population's age structure, as children from low birth and high birth periods age over time," explained Michel Lettre, director of DSP's Office of Planning Data. Thus, for example, the high birth period of 1946-1964 (baby boom) had had an influence on the present population 25-44 years old.

Moore To Speak At Full Gospel Business Men's Dinner May 16

Ed Moore will be the speaker for Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship this month. He will speak at the Aurora Fire Hall at 7 p.m. on Saturday, May 16. THE REEL VIDEO VOLLEYBALL TEAM was the winner of the Garrett Community College Open Volleyball Tournament, held at the college May 2. In the photo, player/coach Ann Wellham presents the first place plaque to John Culp, co-owner of Reel Video, McHenry.

Reel Video Wins Volleyball Event

A team sponsored by John Culp and Richard Powers, co-owners of Reel Video, Mid-Lake Mall, McHenry, won the open volleyball tournament held at Garrett Community College May 2.

Reel Video defeated Country Roads of Cumberland in the final playoff, 15-11, 13-15, and 15-10. Each of the teams won seven games apiece during round-robin play to reach the finals.

Other teams participating in the event were Big Tee and Mt. Top Paving of Oakland and Keyser, W.Va. Big Tee and Mt. Top Paving each won three games in the tourney.

The members of Reel Video were: Ann Wellham, player/coach; Debbie Wilson, Chris Gregory, Valerie Broadwater, Sue Snyder, and Margaret Quinn.

Playing for Country Roads were Laurie Derlan, Wendy Deremer, Laura Robinson, Cindy Kenney, Tammy Brailer, Diana Folk and Joanie Keller.

Little League Begins Season, Notes Additions

It was sunshine, hotdogs and baseball this past Saturday, May 9, as Oakland Little League, Inc. opened its 1987 season. Hopes ran high as all ten Little League teams met on the ballfields at Broadford Park. In the Senior Division, four of the five teams played opening games.

Among the additions and improvements announced by the League this season is a new pitching machine donated by Davidson's Army and Navy Discount Stores.

New wooden fencing at the dugouts of the Little League field was donated by Bauer Lumber.

The League is also planning the addition of restrooms near the concession stand this season. Fairfax Concrete Products, Inc. has donated the materials for this project. Other donations are being solicited and expected for the completion of the restrooms.

Opening day for T-ball will be this Saturday, May 16. T-ball is for boys and girls ages 6-8. Its primary purpose is to introduce young children to the sport of baseball in a fun and non-competitive way, according to a League spokesman. There are over 90 local youngsters involved in this program and the League urges members of the community to come out to the Park and "share the fun" this Saturday.

The League also noted the following team sponsors who make the program possible:

Oakland Little League — American Legion, Big Tee, Brownings, Garrett National Bank, Glatfelter Enterprises, Inc., Knights of Pythias, Lions Club, A&A Realty, Woodmen of the World and (Orioles) Burnett, Eiswert and Jones.

Senior Division — First United National Bank & Trust, The Elks Club, My-O-Tire, Ralph's Richfood and Stewart Funeral Home.

T-ball — The Oakland Rotary Club, Tom Browning's Home-town Market, Southern Auto Supply, Arrowhead Deli, Beachy Lumber Company and The American Burger Center.

A PITCHING MACHINE is among the new equipment of the Oakland Little League, which kicked off its 1987 season this past weekend at Broadford Park. The pitching machine was a donation from Davidson's Army-Navy Discount Store of Oakland. Another donation was from Fairfax Concrete Products, Oakland, in the form of materials for construction of restrooms at the ballfield concession stands. Pictured left to right are Russell Sines, president of the League; Willard Roth, of Fairfax Concrete; and Phil Davidson, owner of Davidson's.

Deer Park VFD To Host Softball Tourney June 78

A one-pitch softball tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday, June 6-7, at the Deer Park Sportsmen's Club field.

This annual softball tournament is sponsored by the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department and is open to all "Class D" softball teams in the area.

Entry fee is $80.00 per team with cash prizes to the top three teams. A trophy will also be presented to the championship team and a trophy will go to the player hitting the most home runs during the two-day event. Drawing for the tournament will be held Wednesday, June 3, starting at 8 p.m. at the Deer Park Fire Hall, Route 135. Each team should have a representative present and entry money is due at that time.

Softballs will be furnished by the fire department.

To enter, persons should call Terry King, tournament chairman, at 334-1100 between 6 a.m. and 3 p.m., or after 3 at 334-1121.

Proceeds from the tournament will benefit the New Truck Fund of the Deer Park Community VFD.

Opening Day Little League Results Noted

Opening day for the Oakland Little League resulted in a clean sweep for Division I teams over Division II.

Big Tee topped the Orioles, 18-5; Brownings edged WOW, 5-4; Garrett National Bank defeated A&A Realty, 4-1, and Glatfelter's stopped K of P, 15-11.

In Senior Division action, Elks defeated First United National in a slug-fest, 31-16, and My-O-Tire whipped Ralph's Richfood, 12-2.

Lake Resident Among The Best Lacrosse Goalies

A Deep Creek Lake resident was recently ranked as one of the top lacrosse goalies in the United States, by virtue of his 71.2 save percentage.

Andy Henry, who is also one of Maryland's most outstanding water skiers, plays for the Guilford College Quakers in Greensboro, N.C., and led his team to a 10-4 record this past season.

Guilford, which played against some of the nation's top lacrosse colleges, such as Duke, North Carolina, Penn State, Boston College, and Georgetown, is one of the top ranked lacrosse schools in Division III competition. Other powerful teams on the Quakers' schedule were Salisbury State, Hampton Sidney, Roanoke, and VMI.

Henry had his best game this year against Salisbury State, after which he was awarded the game ball and was interviewed by Lacrosse Magazine, published nationwide. He also had outstanding performances against Duke and number one ranked North Carolina.

Having just completed his sophomore year, Henry was named Most Valuable Player, marking the first time a sophomore has ever won the award at Guilford.

Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Henry, Deep Creek Lake. He is majoring in sports management and business at Guilford.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Ronald Wayne Warnick, who passed away in a tractor trailer accident one year ago on May 16, 1986.

That last day we had together will always be in my mind and heart. For when you made your last trip, little did I know that we would part. My darling Ron, the tears still flow, for it was so hard to let you go. You are always in our thoughts and prayers, because we love you so. We miss your smile and thoughtful ways and hope to be with you again some day.

Loved, missed and remembered always by Mother Nida, and Family

SUCCESS has been the name of the game on the tennis courts this year for the Southern High Rams, as both the boys' and girls' teams are sporting outstanding records. The boys' team, 11-2 on the year, also won the Potomac Valley Conference Championship, as well as the Bi-County title, while the girls, who are 9-4, finished runners-up in the PVC tournament. The boys are coached by Fred Pratt and the girls by Linda Garris. Pictured above, left to right, front row, are Ed Frankhauser, Andrew Frost, Eric Eiswert, Rob Sharps, Doug Fike, and Gary Long. In the second row, same order, are Darren Nordeck, Steve Few, Gordon Savage, and Mike Hornyak. Below, left to right, front row, are Marin Burns, Courtney Smith, and Cheryl Wilt. Standing, same order, are Stacey Clary, Pam Gnegy, Julie Kitzmiller, and Tracy Humberston.

Southern Boys' Tennis Team Wins Bi-County; To Compete In Regionals

Although the Southern High boys' tennis team was edged by Bishop Walsh in their final regular season match Tuesday, the Rams nipped cross-county rival Northern on Friday, 5-4, and then captured the Bi-County Championship held Monday at Allegany Community College in Cumberland.

The Southern girls, under Coach Linda Garris, also completed their season, topping Northern at home on Friday, playing well in the Bi-County event, and then losing to Bishop Walsh on Tuesday, 7-2. The Lady Rams finished with a record of 9-5.

Coach Fred Pratt's team was heavily favored against Northern, but it was a typical Ram-Husky match-up, with Southern winning five of six singles matches, but then losing three doubles contests.

Northern's Gene Cutter topped Eric Eiswert in the opening singles match, which was followed by victories by Southern's Gary Long, Gordon Savage, Doug Fike, Rob Sharps, and Mike Hornyak.

Greg Holtschneider and Bill Bishoff of Northern then topped Hornyak and Steve Few, Mike Bishoff and Jim Stevens nipped Southern's Ed Frankhauser and Darren Nordeck, and the mixed doubles team of Cutter and Tanya Burdock edged Sharps and Cheryl Wilt in the final match, 9-8.

Fike and Savage captured the Bi-County boys' doubles title on Monday by whipping Paul Thompson and Jeff Colvocoresses, 6-4, 6-2, while Southern's Courtney Smith won the girls' singles championship by downing Fort Hill's Nancy Powers, 6-4, 6-2.

Gary Long of Southern made it into the boys' singles finals, but was defeated by Ed White of Fort Hill, 6-0, 6-1.

In girls' doubles action, Pam Gnegy and Karen Burns of Southern were ousted in the semi-finals, falling to Christy Carr and Laura Grant of Beall, 6-3, 6-4.

Beall was declared the winner of the girls' Bi-County title. Also competing were Northern, Allegany, and Fort Hill.

Smith, Gnegy and Burns will represent the Southern girls in the District I Tournament this weekend at Hagerstown, while Fike, Savage, and Long will represent the Southern boys.

Against Bishop Walsh on Tuesday, Cheryl Wilt recorded the only singles victory for the Southern girls, while Savage, Fike, and Sharps each earned singles wins for the Rams.

The Bishop Walsh girls came into the match undefeated and the Spartan boys had lost only two of 12 outings.

Huskies Blanked By Bishop Walsh

The Northern High tennis teams were among the latest victims of the Bishop Walsh teams, as the Huskies were blanked by the Spartans last Thursday in rain-shortened matches, 5-0 and 5-0.

It was the eighth win without a loss for the BW girls' team and the 10th win in 12 matches for the Spartan boys.

The Northern teams were also edged by Southern on Friday in Oakland (see separate story) and then participated in Bi-County Tournament Sunday at Allegany Community College in Cumberland.

The best finish by a Husky in the Bi-County event was by Gene Cutter, who made it into the semi-finals of the boys' singles.

Southern Girls' Track Team Finishes Third In PVC Tourney

The Southern High School girls' track team produced another strong showing this past week by finishing third in the Potomac Valley Conference Tournament, held Thursday at Hampshire High School in Romney.

Coach Bob Quick's girls scored a total of 51 points in the 11-team event, which was won by Frankfort with 120 and one-half points, followed by Keyser with 101 and three-quarters points. Winning fourth place was Berkeley Springs with 48 points, followed by Tucker County, 47; Musselman, 44; East Hardy, 39; Hampshire, 13 and three-quarters; Moorefield, 10; Union, 7; and Petersburg, 2.

Tonya Shreve captured the only first place for the Lady Rams, winning the 100-meter dash in 13.2 seconds.

Taking third places for Southern were Christine Bittinger in the 1600 run and Tonya Shreve in the 200 dash. Southern relay teams also won third in the 800 and 1600 events.

A fourth place was recorded by Bittinger in the 3200 run, while Patti Giotflety took fifth in the shot put and Jennifer Savage won fifth in the 100 high hurdles and sixth in the 300 hurdles.

Debbie Blamble was sixth in the 400 dash and Sandy Thomas took sixth in the shot put.

The Rams then participated in the Area Meet Monday night at Allegany, however they finished ninth out of ten teams, recording only 12 points.

The best Southern finish was by the 800 relay team, which took fourth. The Southern team took fifth place in the 3200 relay, as did Savage in the 300 intermediate hurdles and Tabitha Sliger in the high jump.

Fort Hill won the meet with 168 points, followed by Keyser and Frankfort with 93; Beall, 42; Mount Savage, 37; Allegany, 36; Bishop Walsh, 27; Valley, 13; Southern, 12; and Hampshire, 6.

Meanwhile, the Southern boys' team tied for eighth place in the 11-team PVC tourney with 6 points and finished last in the 28th annual Beall Invitational at Frostburg on Tuesday, an event which featured eight teams.

The Rams' best finishes in the PVC tourney was a fourth place in the 400 relay and fifth in the 800 relay.

Musselman won the PVC title with 153 points, followed by Keyser with 108; Frankfort, 90; Berkeley Springs, 86; Hampshire, 45; East Hardy, 34; Tucker County, 19; Southern and Union, 8; Moorefield, 5; and Petersburg, 4.

At the Beall Invitational, Southern took a fourth in the 400 relay and a sixth in the 800 relay. Rex Ashley was sixth in the high jump.

Fort Hill won the meet with 123 points, followed by Keyser with 110; Frankfort, 96; Allegany, 79 and five-sixths; Beall, 79 and one-third; Bishop Walsh, 37; Hampshire, 29 and one-half; and Southern, 5 and one-third.

10-K WINNER — Tonya Yelovich, a student at Northern High School, was the winner for her age group in the Pacemaker Classic, a ten-kilometer (6.2-mile) race, held at the downtown mall of Cumberland last week. Tonya finished the course in 47 minutes flat, which was the best time in the 14-19 age group for girls. Tonya is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Stephen Yelovich, Accident.

Rams Defeat Frankfort, Petersburg, Berkeley Springs And Allegany

It was a great week on the baseball diamond for the Southern High Rams, as they won five straight games and improved their season record to 15-2.

The Rams began their streak last Thursday afternoon by crushing host Frankfort, 17-5. They returned for a home game Monday, in which they whipped Petersburg, 12-2, and then took a pair from visiting Berkeley Springs on Tuesday, 10-0 and 5-0. The 15th win of the campaign was recorded yesterday in Cumberland, a 2-1 victory over Allegany.

Coach Jim Bosley's team will conclude the regular season on Monday at home against Northern and will undoubtedly move into the Class B playoffs.

Against Frankfort, J.R. and Bruce Bosley led the Rams' 22-hit attack, as each finished with a home run, two singles, and four RBIs. Teammate Rich Goad smacked a double and two singles, while Frankfort's Troy Waggoner rapped a homer and a double.

The Rams were down 4-0 after the first inning, but came back to tie the score in the top of the third and take the lead for good in the top of the fourth.

A grand slam by J.R. Bosley was the highlight of the win over Petersburg on Monday, as the Rams again found themselves down after the first inning, 2-0, when Viking Bill Feaster ripped a two-run homer.

Southern put the game away in the third inning with three walks, two singles, two Viking errors, and Bosley's grand slam, all of which resulted in nine runs.

Donnie Horner was the only player from either team who had more than one hit, as he finished with three singles. He also recorded an RBI and scored twice.

Dale Bittinger ran his record to 4-0 on the mound, scattering five hits. The Rams finished with eight hits off Feaster and Bucky Riggelman. It was the seventh loss in 15 games for Horner was the star in the first game against Berkeley Springs on Tuesday, as he went the distance on the mound, yielded only four hits, and hit a home run and a single. Horner has allowed only one walk in over 20 innings of pitching.

The opener went only five innings because of the 10-run rule.

The Rams erupted for eight runs in the second inning, as Bruce Bosley led off with a double, Horner walked, and Max Hill hit a single to load the bases. The first run scored on a fielder's choice and then Jamie Colaw smacked a triple to send home two more runs. Scott Lohr and J.R. Bosley followed with singles and Tim Chapman concluded the inning's scoring with a two-run double.

Lohr hit three singles in the Rams' 13-hit attack, while Hill singled twice. Derrick Munson hit two of the Indians' four hits.

Holtzschneider Is Horseshoes Winner

Carl Holtzschneider was the winner of the first tournament of the season of the Ringer Slingers Horseshoe Club, which was held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds Sunday afternoon.

Vernon Sines placed second in the Class A division, while Dave Nugent finished third.

Capturing the Class B event was Jesse Fearer, with Joe Lewis as runner-up.

All winners were awarded trophies.

The next singles tournament sponsored by the club will be May 24 at the Fairgrounds, with a qualifying time of 12:30 p.m.

Jason Park needed only 60 pitches in the nightcap, while the Southern offense took advantage of seven Berkeley Springs errors. Only one of the Rams' five runs was earned.

Park struck out one batter and scattered five hits, while the Rams' recorded six hits off losing pitcher Tom McClintock.

Bo Butler was the ace in the hole for the Rams yesterday at Allegany, as he struck out 13 Camper batters and allowed only three hits and a single walk.

Allegany's pitcher also performed well, giving up only six hits and striking out five Ram batters.

Colaw opened the scoring for the Rams in the first inning when he rapped a solo homer over the leftfield fence.

The winning run came in the second frame when Chapman singled, moved to third on a sacrifice bunt by J.R. Bosley, and scored on a single by Hill.

The Campers came back in the seventh inning with their only run of the game when Pat McGregor singled, moved to third on a walk to Bill Park, and scored on a single by Brode.

The loss was only the fifth in 16 starts for Allegany.

HERRINGTON MANOR LAKE CLOSED

The Herrington Manor State Park Lake will be closed to fishing and swimming from 8:00 a.m. May 18 through 8:00 a.m. May 21, 1987. During this closure, a limited treatment will be completed in the lake to reduce nuisance weed growth. Left untreated, the lake would soon become choked with water milfoil. Once this occurs, the lake is no longer desirable for fishing, boating or swimming.

All required permits and approvals have been applied for and received by the Park from the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Maryland Fisheries Administration, the Maryland Water Resources Administration, and the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Public cooperation is desired during this official closure. Persons having questions about the project may call Roger Riley at (301) 334-9180.

Huskies Crushed By Mountaineers, Defeat Bruceton Mills, East Preston

It has been an up and down season for Coach John Helmick and his Northern Huskies, but that is usually the case when a team is composed of mostly younger players.

The Northern squad, which includes mostly sophomores and freshmen, defeated Bruceton Mills last Thursday afternoon, 10-8, in Accident. The Huskies then took it on the chin twice from Beall, losing 10-0 on Saturday in Frostburg and 21-1 at home on Monday. They rebounded yesterday with a 7-2 victory over host East Preston to even their season record at 7-7.

The Huskies have three remaining contests, including a doubleheader against Rockwood this Friday and a return engagement with Southern on Monday.

Solo home runs by Aaron Zumpano and Tom Savage, both in the third inning, highlighted the Huskies' win over Bruceton Mills last Thursday. There were runs scored in every inning of the contest, as the score changed hands on numerous occasions.

Northern's Dave Yoder hit a sacrifice grounder in the bottom of the sixth to send Sean Jones home with what was to be the winning run.

Zumpano and Savage each finished with two RBIs, while Ed Tabor added a pair of singles and scored twice. Ed Metheny and Wayne Humbertson each hit doubles for Bruceton.

Todd Wagner provided a strong pitching performance for the Huskies, striking out nine batters and giving up no walks. The Huskies survived seven of their own errors, as only three of Bruceton's runs were earned.

The Huskies connected for only one hit off Beall pitcher Brent McKenzie on Saturday in a game that was called after five innings because of the 10-run rule. The Mountaineers scored runs in all four innings.

The second encounter with Beall on Monday also went just five innings, as the Mountaineers opened with 10 first-inning runs.

Bucky Tyler led off that frame with a single, which was followed by an error and a walk to McKenzie to load the bases.

SOFTBALL has become one of the area's most popular team sports and the season for most of the county leagues is now underway. There are nearly 50 teams in Garrett County, most of which are affiliated with the Mt. Top Softball League. The Mt. Top League has a regular division, a young girls division, and the Old Timers division. The photo above was taken at the McHenry field on Friday evening during a doubleheader between the Sheriff's Fall Guys and My-O-Tire, of the Old Timers League. My-O-Tire won the first game easily, but the nightcap went into extra innings before My-O-Tire nipped the Fall Guys, 4-5.

Mike Turner then hit a two-run single and John Ralston walked to load the bases again. Steve Cutten drew a walk to force home a run and Frank Duncan followed with a single.

The Huskies' worst enemy that day was themselves, as they committed 10 errors. Thirteen of the Mountaineers' runs were unearned.

Chuck Stevens singled three times for Beall. Tyler added a double and a single, and Duncan had two singles.

The Huskies' only run came in the first inning when Zumpano scored on a single by Savage.

The win was the 10th in 12 starts for Beall.

The Zumpano-Savage duo struck again yesterday against East Preston, as the two each hit solo homers.

The West Virginians held a 1-0 lead after the first inning when Andy Haskiell doubled and later came home, but the Huskies knotted the score in the top of the second when Jeff Rounds came home on an error.

Northern assumed a 2-1 advantage in the third when Sean Jones scored on another East Preston miscue.

The score was tied at 2-2 going into the fifth frame, when the Huskies recorded three runs, led by Savage's solo homer. Zumpano's blast came in the Huskies' two-run sixth.

Going the distance for the winners was Ed Tabor, who allowed only four hits and one earned run, while fanning 10 batters and walking four. Paul Pritt, who also tossed all seven innings, was tagged with the loss.

Coach Helmick is hoping that his team can win two of their final three games to finish above the 500 mark, which has not been accomplished in several years at Northern. Unfortunately, two more of his top players seem to be lost for the season after being injured this past week.

Junior Rodney Lipscomb is benched with an ankle injury and Todd Wagner dislocated the middle finger on his pitching hand in the first game against Beall. Wagner may see limited action somewhere on the field, but not on the mound.

"In essence, we are playing with a jayvee infield and all of our outfielders except one (Zumpano) are first-year players," Helmick said. "One day they play brilliantly, the next day they can't even catch the flu! But that's to be expected with a young team. They are really hustling, though, they are aggressive, and they are playing with a lot of maturity."

"Our goal right now," he continued, "is to finish at 500 or better for the year. That will give our team a real positive outlook for next year."

Helmick said his team will be a definite underdog against Southern and probably against Rockwood as well. "But if we play up to our capability, we will have a good shot at some wins," he concluded.

Neil Woods

On his second visit to Dr. Lyons at WVU, Woods was informed that he would probably have to have a heart transplant. However, doctors tried a variety of medications first but these didn't seem to help.

Woods said his problem is a weakening of the heart muscle. His wife, Loretta, said this is now resulting in congestive heart failure.

After medication failed to improve his condition, Woods was referred to the National Institute of Health where a study was underway on his particular heart problem. Since March 19 he has been on a waiting list for a heart transplant at Presbyterian University Hospital in Pittsburgh.

"I didn't like to hear it," is how Woods reacted to the decision that he would be facing a heart transplant. He said the other doctors he had been to had said he would end up needing a transplant, but he had hoped the medication would relieve more of his problem than what it did.

Woods said he had problems sleeping because it is difficult to breathe. "Since the first of the year, I have really been going down hill, but lately I've been sleeping better," he said. He now waits for the call that a transplant donor has been located. When he is notified, the doctors want him at the hospital within three hours.

He is prepared for the transplant surgery. "I'd like to feel better. I just don't feel like doing anything," he commented. Woods and his wife plan to drive to the hospital in Pittsburgh when he is called for surgery. In December he underwent a week of tests at the hospital. At that time he was placed on an inactive list because doctors did not believe he was in immediate need of a transplant.

However, in early 1986 he began having more problems with breathing and his name was moved to the active list of individuals in need of a donor heart. His week's stay in the hospital cost him $5,000 in addition to costs covered by insurance. The transplant surgery will place a financial strain on the family resources.

Woods explained that the surgery cost will be around $100,000. In addition to this, there will be hospital fees, intensive care costs and medication expenses. He said patients who make excellent recovery without any complications are looking at a five to six week stay in the hospital. This length of stay is frequently longer.

Once the transplant surgery is done, a biopsy of the heart is made every week to determine whether the body is accepting or rejecting the donor organ. Once the patient receives four test results that the body is accepting the new heart, then the patient can return home. Loretta Woods said insurance will pay the first $25,000 of the surgery cost plus 80% of the remaining costs, then the family will be responsible to begin payment.

After returning home, Woods will have several trips back and forth for checkups. He will also be on medication that will cost $5,000 to $6,000 per year for the remainder of his life. Several factors are considered in locating a donor. The transplant organ must be from someone of the same blood type, approximate weight and size. "We never had this in our family, my dad was about 85 when he died," commented Woods.

As far as Woods knows, he is the first person in Taylor County to be faced with heart transplant surgery. He is originally from Maryland but has lived in Taylor County since 1964. He worked in communications for the Chessie System Railroad. He and his wife are the parents of five children. The two girls and three boys include: Diana of Cumberland, and Karen of Virginia, who has returned home; Craig, Stephen and Wayne.

"Everybody is very supportive," commented Loretta Woods on the reaction of friends, neighbors and the community to the forthcoming transplant surgery. She said the family is dealing with the matter. "I guess you pray a lot and try and think good thoughts," she said. Woods said he is kind of lucky that it's not that far to go to the hospital.

While at Presbyterian University Hospital for the week of tests, Woods visited with other patients either facing or recovering from transplant surgery. He has talked with a Preston County man who had a heart transplant in July 1986. The man is recovering and told Woods that the surgery improved his breathing. Woods has talked with a Lost Creek man who underwent a heart transplant in December.

Woods has on his mind the statistics of heart transplant surgery. The first heart transplant was conducted in 1967. Statistics now indicate that 80 percent of all patients live a year, 65 percent live five years and the longest survivor so far has lived 12 years. However, Woods is reassured by the fact that a new medication seems to be assisting with the body accepting donor organs rather than rejecting them.

Loretta Woods said they have been told the wait for a donor heart could be three months or longer. She said to survive, most patients must receive a heart within a year of being placed on the active waiting list. She is grateful for assistance coming from the Woodmen of the World organization, of which she is a member.

The Woodmen of the World have opened a support fund for Woods at Blueville Bank. Anyone wishing to assist the family in meeting the cost of this transplant surgery can make donations to this fund by contacting the bank at 7 Harman Center, Grafton, W. Va., 26354, or by phone at (304) 265-3400.

A reception for the graduates, family and friends was held in the Student Center following the commencement ceremony.

Douglas Shiflet Scholarship Fund Is Established

The family and friends of Douglas Shiflet have established a scholarship for Garrett Community College students in his memory.

Doug, who died in an automobile accident in 1986, was a student at GCC from September, 1983 to May, 1985. He was a center on the Lakers Basketball team for two seasons. His hometown was Waynesboro, Va.

The scholarship will be established and awarded under the sponsorship of the Grantsville Lions Club. All monies for the scholarship will come from private donations.

A committee has set up the following criteria for eligibility:

- applicants must be sophomores at Garrett Community College.
- applicants must be members of the Garrett Lakers Men's Basketball Team.
- must have a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 or better and maintain that G.P.A. during the award year.
- must exhibit good citizenship as determined by the scholarship committee.
- may be asked to submit letters of recommendation.
- the amount of the award will be established at the beginning of each award year depending on the monies available.

Persons wishing to contribute to the scholarship or requesting more information should contact the Financial Aid Office of Garrett Community College at 387-6666 ext. 111.

GCC Recognizes Top Achievers On Awards Day

Annual Awards Day was held recently at Garrett Community College. Dr. Stephen Herman, president of GCC, welcomed the students, faculty members and administrative personnel to the ceremony.

Mistress of ceremonies for the event was Susan Sisler, president of the Student Government Association.

Awards were given to students included in Who's Who in American Junior Colleges, students who had attained athletic and academic achievements, and students involved in the work-study program.

Those named to Who's Who included: Gail Aldridge, Carlotta Christensen, Karen Frank, Kathy Gallagher, Edna Bender, Robert Germain, Dwayne Hedrick, Anita

Insight Into Education

SWAN MEADOW ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

The following article was written by Mrs. Esther Yoder, principal of the Swan Meadow Elementary School.

The Swan Meadow Elementary School, located five miles south of Oakland along U.S. Route 219, is one of Garrett County's three "combination" schools, serving pupils in grades one through eight.

Contrary to what some people seem to believe, it is one of Garrett County's public schools, using county curricula with slight modifications to better serve its population, which is basically Amish.

When consolidation was taking place throughout the county in the 1950's, the patrons of the Swan Meadow School became concerned about the school's future. The Amish did not want to have their children go to the larger city schools. In working with the Board of Education, an agreement was reached by which the Board of Education would furnish the materials, and the community would build the new school. Many hours of labor were donated during the spring and summer of 1958 to accomplish this. That fall, when school opened, pupils moved the textbooks and materials from the one-room school (which is still standing) to the new two-room structure with a basement. Enrollment increased steadily, and in 1968 two portable rooms were added at the back of the building.

The Supreme Court ruling in the Yoder vs. Kansas case allowed the Amish to terminate their formal education after the completion of the eighth grade, rather than at the age of sixteen. When this went into effect, enrollment at the school dropped.

At the present time, there is an enrollment of sixty pupils, with a fully certificated staff of two full-time teachers and a half-time teaching principal, plus an aide. Traveling teachers provide each pupil with one period of art and one period of music per week.

Due to the smaller number of pupils per grade, all classrooms are multi-grade. Reading, language arts and math are taught at each grade level (with some sub-groupings), while science, social studies and health are taught on a rotating basis. It is very important to build a solid foundation in the areas of the language arts and mathematics, as the student population is basically Amish, and the completion of the eighth grade means the termination of their formal education.

The school has been involved in the Maryland Reading Project since its inception, with nearly 100% of the pupils earning certificates. During the current school year, the school participated in the Pizza Hut "Book-It" program, with all pupils reaching the goals which were set up. Three times a week, pupils participate in a twenty-five minute period of sustained silent reading (SSR). Though it is a small school, Swan Meadow has a very adequate library. The Ruth Enlow Library Bookmobile services the school on a bi-weekly basis throughout the school year. Through reading, pupils broaden their knowledge of the world around them, as well as improve their reading skills.

Upon entering first grade, many pupils are fluent only in the "Pennsylvania Dutch" dialect which they speak at home. Occasionally there is one who barely even understands the English language. And yet, by the time they reach the third grade, they have become sufficiently bi-lingual to score well on the California Achievement Tests which are given throughout the State of Maryland. Scores on these tests in the various grades have consistently been above the national norms.

Community is a very important aspect of the culture from which these pupils come. Most of the pupils have contact with each other in various ways outside of school. This helps to create a strong "family" feeling throughout the school. Also contributing to this feeling is the fact that pupils remain with the same teacher for more than one year, and with many of the same pupils. Older pupils tutor younger ones in areas with which they are having difficulty.

Parents are very supportive of the school. During the winter months, several fathers volunteer their time to help pupils in grades three through eight with woodworking for one half day a week. Last summer, parents and older siblings spent several days repairing and painting the wooden fence around the large playground.

An important annual event is the fall Harvest Sale. Parents and pupils work together to make the affair a success. Produce, baked goods and other items are donated by parents to be auctioned to raise money for the parent-teacher organization. Pupils make crafts, candy, cookies and cider to sell to raise money for each room to buy "extras."

There is much interest in having people from foreign lands visit our school. The exchange students from Germany paid us a visit, and we considered ourselves very fortunate to have Miss Tanaka, from Japan, visit our school a few days ago.

The school's goal could be stated very briefly as wanting to develop each pupil, as much as possible, to his/her fullest potential.

Lions To Host

Circus June 5

The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department and the Friendsville Lions Club announced this week that the two organizations are sponsoring the Roberts Brothers Three-Ring Circus on Friday, June 5.

According to Patricia A. Bowser, secretary of the Friendsville VFD, there will be two shows presented that day at the Friendsville Elementary School grounds, one at 6 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m. More than 30 circus animals will be shown and on display at the site.

Advance tickets, which include family, adult, and children tickets, are available from any member of the fire department and/or Lions Club. They are also available at Walt's Amoco, Youg Motor Exxon, and the Old Mill Grill Restaurant.

Residents planning to attend the circus are encouraged to purchase their tickets before 9 a.m. June 5. "Also be on the lookout for the arrival of the circus clowns one weekend real soon," Ms. Bowser said.

Arbor Day

Ernie Metz Jr., Maryland State forest ranger, led the annual Arbor Day program at the school. He presented slides showing the benefits of "tree planting day" and spoke of J. Sterling Morton, who realized that trees would enrich the soil and conserve moisture. The American Forestry Congress passed a resolution in 1883 promoting Arbor Day.

Shower

A baby shower was given for Cherie Rettell, Gifted and Talented teacher, April 2.

Field Trip

On April 2, 1987 Pad 4 students and teachers, Michael Warne and Ruby Thompson, took a field trip to Baltimore Inner Harbor.

The students attended a class about Puffins, a bird of the North Atlantic, at the National Aquarium and then viewed the various exhibits there. They later spent some time participating in hands-on activities at the Maryland Science Center, including a boa constrictor. The students also observed activities associated with the ships and the harbor.

The trip was related to studies involving sea life including sharks and puffins, as well as lessons on the state of Maryland, Baltimore City and the Chesapeake Bay.

PTA Meeting

The April PTA meeting was held April 27. The election of officers for 1987-88 was the main item on the agenda. The new officers are Judy Sebald, president; Anita Shunk and Rebecca Broadwater, vice presidents; Linda Aheriat, secretary; and Kathy McMillan, treasurer.

Matt Steringer, principal, announced coming events for the school and introduced Suzanne Mitchell, who is finishing the year for Cherie Rettell, gifted and talented teacher, who is on maternity leave.

AN EXCURSION TO CAMP HICKORY was a special event for the students of Swan Meadow School. POSTER WINNERS — The Garrett Board of Realtors recently sponsored a poster/essay contest for local youth, using the theme of fair housing. Students at Crellin Elementary School were the only Garrett County youngsters who submitted posters and, therefore, captured all of the awards. Pictured in the front row, left to right, are Kevin Shaffer, grade two, who received a $50 U.S. Savings Bond as the grand prize winner; Nathan Beahm, grade five, $10 cash for second place; and Amy Elliott, grade four, $5 cash for third place. All other students winning their grade levels received ribbons. In the second row, same order, are Joshua Rodeheaver, first, David Upole, second, and Ryan Channel, third, kindergarten; Anya Tasker, Bradley Zimmerman, and Kenzie Alexander, first, second and third place, respectively, for first grade. In the third row, same order, are Nancy Biffinger, Kevin Tasker, and Scot Schroyer, first, second and third, second grade; and Erin Long, Tina Maule, and Billy McCartney, first, second and third, third grade. Standing, same order, are Nicole Treissler, Carrie Upole, and Amy DeWitt, first, second and third, fourth grade; and Jennifer Tasker, Mark Cannon, and Becky Gank, first, second and third, fifth grade.

Circus Coming

The Roberts Brothers Circus will be arriving Friday, June 5, at the Friendsville Elementary School grounds with shows at 6 and 8 p.m. Area residents may expect the arrival of the circus clowns soon. The circus is an event jointly sponsored by the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department and the Lions Club.

Fort Necessity To Participate In Old Pike Days

Fort Necessity National Battlefield will be participating with several other area sites in Old Pike Days, to be held this Saturday and Sunday, May 16 and 17. Activities will center around the Mount Washington Tavern each day from 10:30 to 5:00. This will be the "last free weekend" at Fort Necessity before the new entrance fees take effect.

Old Pike Days commemorates the National Road, modern day U.S. 40, which was the first Federally funded highway to the west. Constructed through Fayette County, and reaching Wheeling by 1818, the National Road became a highway for commerce and immigrants seeking a better way of life in the vast American West.

Events at Fort Necessity will revolve around traditional arts and crafts of the early to mid 1800's. On both days there will be demonstrations of tin smithing, tool painting, dulcimer playing, and wool spinning. Additionally, there will be a special musical presentation each day at 2:30 featuring songs of the time. Park Rangers and volunteers will also be presenting talks about Conestoga wagons, toys of the time, tavern life, and herbs used during the period. Some period recipes will be available to sample.

Although the Park's Visitors Center will also be open both days from 10:30 to 5:00, all special activities will be taking place at and around the Mount Washington Tavern, which is located 11 miles east of Uniontown, Pa., along the National Road, U.S. 40.

On Monday, May 18, Fort Necessity National Battlefield will be embarking on a new era in park operations as that will mark the beginning of fee collection activities at the park.

An entrance fee, which is payable in the Park Visitor Center, will be collected from each visitor aged 12 to 62. The fee is $1.00 per person, with a maximum of $3.00 per family, and entitles the visitor to access to the Visitor Center, Fort, Mount Washington Tavern, Picnic Area, and all other facilities. A receipt will be issued which entitles the bearer to entrance for seven days from date of purchase. The receipt will have to be shown to gain access to the facilities.

Pilgrim parents were known to name their sons such things as "Humility," "Hate-Evil," and "Kill-Sin."

- 1 Tbsp. sugar
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup celery, chopped
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped onion
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped sweet pickles
- 1 7-oz. can tuna
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup diced mild cheddar cheese
- 2 Tbsp. green pepper, diced
- 1 Tbsp. chopped pimiento
- 1 small can of peas

Cook macaroni according to directions. Stir in chopped vegetables. Add tuna and peas. Combine sour cream, mayonnaise, vinegar and sugar. Pour over vegetables and tuna. Chill thoroughly. NOTE: One cup of chicken may be added for tuna.

PICKLED BEETS

Mrs. Martha Schrock

Select small beets, cook until tender. Dip in cold water.

- 2 cups sugar
- 2 cups vinegar
- 2 cups water
- 1 tsp. allspice
- 1 Tbsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. cloves

Pour over beets, simmer 15 minutes. Pack in jars and seal.

LOW-CALORIE CRANBERRY SPARKLER

Esther Seal

- 1 cup Ocean Spray low calorie Cranberry Juice Cocktail, chilled
- 1 1-pint bottle Cherry Cola beverage, chilled
- 1 Tbsp. lemon or lime juice

Combine all ingredients. Pour over ice in glasses immediately. Garnish with stemmed maraschino cherries. Serve with straws.

PARTY PUNCH

Esther Seal

- 2 small boxes lime or strawberry Jello
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 quart hot water
- juice of 3 lemons
- 1 large can unsweetened pineapple juice
- 3 quarts cold water

Prepare Jello according to package directions, set aside. Dissolve sugar in water, pour into Jello. Add pineapple juice and cold water. Place punch in freezer for 1 hour, serve. Yields: about 1 gallon.

CRANBERRY CRUNCH MOLD

Mae Nicholson, formerly of Steyer

- 1 pkg. raspberry Jello
- 1 pkg. orange jello
- $2\frac{1}{2}$ cups boiling water
- $2\frac{1}{2}$ cups chilled orange juice
- 1 large orange, sliced but unpeeled
- 1 12-oz. bag cranberries, mashed
- 1 cup sugar
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup green grapes
- 1 cup peeled, chopped apples
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped nuts

Dissolve Jello in boiling water; add juice. Chill until syrupy; blend orange slices, cranberries and sugar in blender; add to Jello. Then add apples and nuts. Mold overnight and garnish with grapes.

BOSTON BAKED BEANS

Juanita Hamilton

- 4 cans pork and beans
- 5 slices bacon
- 1 cup coarsely chopped onion
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup molasses
- $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. mustard
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup catsup

Turn beans into 3 qt. casserole. In skillet saute bacon and onions 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add molasses, catsup, mustard; mix well. Stir into beans. Bake, uncovered, 45 minutes at 400°.

STRAWBERRY SOUR CREAM JELLO

Frostburg State Commencement Stated Saturday

Frostburg State College will conduct its 90th Commencement ceremonies this Saturday, May 16, beginning at 1:30 p.m. in the Physical Education Center, with over 380 degrees to be conferred at the event.

Featured speakers will be F. Perry Smith Jr., of Cumberland, who is a member of the Board of Trustees of the State Universities and Colleges; Ms. Robin W. Yankie, a resident of Frostburg and a member of the graduating class; and Dr. Herb F. Reinhard Jr., president of the college.

The college's three academic deans, Dr. Ron Kealy, Dr. Don Smith and Dr. James Cotton, will present the candidates for degrees which will be conferred by President Reinhard. Honor graduates and faculty achievement award winners will be recognized by Dr. Kenneth Jablon, vice president for academic affairs.

The Commencement Ensemble will be under the direction of Dr. Bryan Burton, and the National Anthem and Alma Mater will be led by Charles S. Rice, a member of the class of 1988.

Ms. Colleen T. Peterson, director of alumni affairs, will induct the graduates into the FSC Alumni Association, and the invocation will be made by Rev. Kieran Fergus, O.P., of the United Campus Ministry.

Also scheduled on the day of Commencement will be reception and complementary continental breakfast hosted by President and Mrs. Reinhard for all graduating students, their families and guests from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. at the Lane Center; ROTC Commissioning Ceremonies at 10:15 a.m. in Pullen Auditorium; and a brunch, by reservation, for graduating students, parents and friends from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at Chesapeake Dining Hall.

New FSC Alumni Chapters Established

In a word, "new" might be the best way to describe Frostburg State College's alumni association. Since last fall, the association has established three new alumni chapters and last week, at its annual meeting, the organization approved a new constitution, new board of directors and new

"THE ART EXPLOSION" is the name of an arts fair which will be sponsored next week by the Art Honor Society of Southern High School. The fair will be held Friday, May 22, during the school day for the student body and that same evening from 7 to 9 p.m. for the general public. The event will exhibit the best art works by Southern students and will include paintings, drawings and sculpture in a variety of styles and mediums. Photography and some craft items will also be on display. Many items will be for sale. officers.

The college's alumni affairs director Colleen Peterson worked with local alumni to establish new chapters in Hagerstown, Frederick and Washington, D.C., each having the potential of attracting over 1,000 local members. An Allegany/Garrett County chapter as well as a Baltimore chapter are now in the planning stages.

Though already established, the alumni association in its revised constitution and by-laws officially sanctioned the new alumni chapters noting that "a chapter may be formed by ten or more dues-paying members subject to the approval of the board of directors of the parent body."

Also at the annual meeting, the FSC alumni association heard remarks from President Herb F. Reinhard, who stressed the importance of a strong alumni association whose members can be a effective voice for the college on a lot of issues.

Of nine newly-elected board members, the association named three as officers, including Thomas G. Slater, Adamstown, president; Judy Wolfe, Frostburg, secretary-treasurer; and Frank Perry Jr., Frostburg, president-elect. Past president G. David Green of Grantsville will remain a board member.

The Frostburg State college alumni association has scheduled its annual homecoming celebration for October 9-11. Local chapters are also planning various summer events which will be announced as plans are finalized.

'Anne of Avonlea':
Not just family fare

By Connie Passalacqua

Who says family entertainment has to be a bore? The four-part miniseries "Anne of Avonlea," which premieres Tuesday, May 19, on The Disney Channel, is a joy for all ages. It's the follow-up to last year's Emmy Award-winning "Anne of Green Gables."

Megan Follows

"Anne of Green Gables" isn't that the yucky, old-fashioned book your grand-mother gave you for your eighth birthday, that you stashed away at the bottom of your toy chest? Yes, both miniseries are based on a series of classics written between 1909 and 1915 by Lucy Maud Montgomery. But this second production, which focuses on spirited

Anne's (Megan Follows) maturing into adulthood, lifts the character way up off the yellowing pages of an old novel and makes her quite contemporary.

An orphan delivered to the loving hands of Marilla Cuthbert (Colleen Dewhurst), Anne has a knack for finding trouble, but always wriggles out of it by using common sense and good-naturedly seeing the irony in everyday situations. In this sequel she has become a teacher in a girl's school, who also wrestles with romance. When her best friend marries a chubby, unattractive man, Anne sighs, "Why is it that real men are never like the ones in romantic novels?" Is it any different today?

The real treat, though, in watching "Anne of Avonlea," is its stunning scenery. The miniseries was shot during the lush green spring of Canada's Prince Edward Island (the Canadian province in which the book was set). Watching it is almost an armchair trip back to the Victorian era.

What's incredible is that 30-year-old Kevin Sullivan produced, directed and wrote the second miniseries in just under a year. (He was also responsible for "Anne of Green Gables.") An American network would have taken much more time and used many more backstage creative personnel. But could it be as good?

Barbara Stanwyck
was also a TV star

By Toni D'Amato

I know Barbara Stanwyck starred in "The Big Valley" and "The Colby," but my wife and I can't agree on whether or not she had another series of her own. We'd also like the names of some of her best films. — W.M., Malone, N.Y.

Barbara Stanwyck

This legendary film star hosted a dramatic anthology called "The Barbara Stanwyck Show" from 1960 to 1961. She was a frequent star of the dramas presented on that series. Three of the episodes were designed to become pilots for a new series tailored for Stanwyck. In it, she would play the owner of a business in Hong Kong. The pilot aired in November 1960, and two other episodes followed in 1961, but they never developed into a series.

So many of Stanwyck's films were Class A that it is difficult to single out any as "the best." She shone bright in such films as "Golden Boy" (1939), "The Lady Eve" (1941), "Double Indemnity" (1944) and "Clash by Night" (1952).

We'd like to know who plays ALE. Is it someone dressed up, or is he operated like the Muppets? — G.H., Cedar Bluff, Va.

ALE, star of the sitcom of the same name, is brought to life in much the same way as the Muppets. He's not a puppet with strings; a human is his main source of movement. Producers won't go into any great details, however. They say they want to maintain illusions about the alien by not revealing his true identity.

What is the name of the movie in which Catherine Deneuve played a mistress to a king or prince? — H.E., Cleveland, Ohio

I think you're talking about "Mayerling," a 1969 British film which starred Deneuve, Omar Sharif, James Mason, Ava Gardner, James Robertson, Justice and Genevieve Page. A remake of a 1936 film, it was based on the true story of Hapsburg Crown Prince Rudolph, who fell in love with a commoner and ended up killing her lover and himself.

BEHIND THE SCENES

'Moonlighting' director moonlights with success

By Frank Lovece

Allan Arkush knows all about Maddy and David's problems on "Moonlighting." All about Cybill Shepherd's, too. But he's discreet. That's part of the reason he's gotten to direct so many episodes of the hit series, including the much-ballyhooed season finale. Another reason may be the fluid style the director brings from the films he's directed and TV shows such as "St. Elsewhere."

Cybill Shepherd

Arkush came up through the ranks knowing schlocky scripts firsthand. He apprenticed in producer Roger Corman's quickie film factory, where the pace resembled Lucy and Ethel's candy conveyor belt scene. Arkush had his share of flops after breaking through to good reviews with 1979's "Rock 'n' Roll High School."

Arkush is perhaps the most visible director among the generation who has emigrated to TV from the movies, eschewing television's competent efficiency in favor of a more cinematic style. "My first TV job was a pilot called 'Summer,'" he recalls. "MGM-TV called me because they didn't want to go with a regular TV director. They were shocked when I talked about 'visual style.' They thought, 'Uh, oh — that'll cost money!'"

He got the assignment anyway. Soon Arkush and his witty compositions became a sought-after commodity in television. "In 'Moonlighting,' I'm doing material that I'd never be offered in feature films," says Arkush. "The movie studios make so few adult romantic comedies, you end up waiting for three years until all the stars are assembled. It hit home this summer when my agent and I read every movie script available. In came one for 'Moonlighting' that was head and shoulders above nearly all of them. So it was obvious I should stay where the material was good, and hold off on movies until some feature comes along that I love."

Now, Arkush is moonlighting for TV. "When you're a good director, (TV) producers will not only give you freedom, they'll write toward your strengths," observes Arkush. "I've been lucky. In TV, I've worked with more good actors and scripts in the last two years than I did in my whole career before that."

SOAP OPERA WEEK

'AMC' actor holds many theater awards

By Kimberly Redmond

I'd like some information on Robert Gentry, who plays Ross Chandler on "All My Children." — J.J., Johnstown, Pa.

Gentry is a native New Yorker who always planned to be an actor. He won the Newcomers' Award for his work in the play "American Dream," in which he appeared off-Broadway and at the Spoleto Festival in Italy. He also won a Theater World Award for his performance in the off-Broadway production of "Angels in America."

Robert Gentry

In daytime television, Gentry has appeared as Ed Bauer on "Guiding Light," and has been on several other soaps, including "One Life to Live." Gentry has appeared on nighttime shows, such as "Police Woman" and "Fantasy Island."

Whatever happened to Mary

Page Keller, the actress who played Sally Frame on "Another World"? Will she ever return to daytime TV? — K.S., Waterloo, Ala.

Mary Page Keller

Keller is currently co-starring on the Fox Network in a new sitcom called "Duet." It's unlikely that she'll return to daytime, but you never know.

I'm convinced that Eric Braeden, who portrays Victor Newman on "The Young and the Restless," appeared in a nighttime television series before he joined "Y&R." Am I right? — E.L., Winston-Salem, N.C.

You are indeed! Braeden starred in the 1960-68 series "Bat Patrol," which still turns up in reruns.

CINDY SAYS

Bette Davis says Tom who?
'AMC' star's unlucky streak

By Cindy Adams

Franco Zeffirelli's $200-million movie "The Bible," which will take a decade to film — if there are no retakes — has a yes from Marlon Brando to play Moses, and Elizabeth Taylor, Hilton Wilding, Todd Fisher, Burton Burton Warner, this season's spinsters, to play Mary Magdalene. Merv Griffin, owner of TV's "Wheel of Fortune," visited the White House, where they are also known to play a few games. Said Nancy Reagan to Griffin: "Don't you have a few more game shows that could block out the news?"

Elizabeth Taylor

There was this Class A Hollywood party, see. The scenario went like this: Tom Hanks chatted with Arlene Dahl. Along came Bette Davis. Tom Hanks rose and greeted her with the respect due a Bette Davis. Miss D, one of the stars of all time, peered at Tom Hanks, one of the stars of this time. "And who are you?" she asked. "Tom Hanks," said Tom Hanks. There was a pause. "And what do you do?" Arlene Dahl tried to help. She commenced a litany of Tom's credits. "Tom had the lead in 'The Man with One Red Shoe,' 'Splash,' 'Bachelor Party'..." "Indeed," said Miss Davis, whom you can't hardly imagine standing on line to see Hanks in "The Money Pit."

Tom Hanks

As I recently reported, Meg Myles, Joanna on "All My Children," did a turn around NY's Wolfman Rink and ended up with a busted wrist. As I now report, she celebrated her return to the show by attending a Kiwanis Man-of-the-Year Award dinner. She rose to dance with her date. Someone tripped. The someone landed on her. Meg ended up with three cracked ribs. It is my opinion that Meg Myles should go home after work.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Richard Anderson welcomes bionic duo

By Evan Levine

Superman had nothing on this guy. OK, so he had tight, but this hero had something better — he was bionic. This meant that he could literally leap tall buildings with a single bound. He was Steve Austin (Lee Majors), the Six-Million-Dollar Man, whose successful show started a wave of TV superheroes in the mid 1970s. Among these was the spinoff, "The Bionic Woman," with Lindsay Wagner in the title role. Both series were about ordinary people who were given bionic replacements after being in debilitating accidents. In addition to a premise, the shows shared the brooding presence of Richard Anderson as Oscar Goldman, the government agent who recruits the superhumans. And now, the fearless trio is back in NBC's "The Return of the Six-Million-Dollar Man and the Bionic Woman," airing Sunday, May 17.

Richard Anderson

Anderson, who plays Buck Fallmont on "Dynasty," not only stars in the movie, but is credited with the story idea. "I knew the time was right," he explains. "I knew that the audience who grew up with the characters would want to see what they look like now."

"I'd had the idea for a couple of years. I talked it over with Lindsay (Wagner), who was enthusiastic. Lee (Majors) was tentative, but he agreed to do it."

Futuristic technology and the "man in the white hat," as Anderson calls it, meet in this movie. It focuses on Austin's relationship with his son, Michael (played by Tom Schanley), who, like dad, is rebuilt with bionic parts after a plane crash. When a terrorist organization threatens to use Michael as a hostage, the bionic duo reunite to make sure good triumphs.

"Introducing Steve's son was my idea," says Anderson. "I wanted to update the show, to incorporate new technology. I wanted it to appeal to people with an interest in medical technology. Part of the original interest in the show was that it gave people with medical disabilities hope."

"That's really why I wanted to bring it back," admits Anderson, who had starred in both series simultaneously. "I wanted more humanity in programming. From the first, I saw that this went beyond cardboard figures."

Does this mean another series is on the way? "Could be," admits Anderson. "The first time around, I knew we had a winner. After the first episode, my daughter came home and said, 'Everyone's running around the schoolyard in slow motion.'"

During Mental Health Month Agencies To Focus Attention On Depression

Garrett County Mental Health, Community Rehabilitation & Addictions Service is joining with more than 600 other members of the National Council of Community Health Centers across the country to focus attention on one of the nation's most prevalent mental disorders — depression — during Mental Health Month, May 1987. Garrett County Mental Health, Community Rehabilitation & Addictions Service is using the theme, "Down But Not Out: Depression Can Be Treated Effectively," for its public education campaign.

In announcing the theme, Director Scott Ward noted that depressive disorders are a major public health problem in the United States, afflicting some 9.4 million Americans during a six-month period. "None of us is immune to depression," Ward explained. "Fully 25 percent of all women and 11.5 percent of all men in this country will have a depressive episode during their lifetime. It can affect everyone from infants to the elderly, rich or poor.

"In fact," Ward continued, "instances of depression have been described from the earliest recorded history and literature. In the Old Testament, both King Saul and Job, judging from descriptions of their behavior, suffered from serious depressions. Hamlet, the 'Melancholy Dane', is probably the prime example. The famous and powerful, no less than ordinary and obscure, have endured it, including Abraham Lincoln and Winston Churchill," he said.

"Clinical depression is more than the 'blues' that strike all

A FIELD SERVICE UNIT of the Disabled American Veterans will pay a visit to Oakland on May 18 to provide assistance and information to local veterans concerning VA disability compensation, medical care, veterans' pensions, employment programs, and educational benefits. The van will be parked at the corner of Liberty and Second streets from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Veterans need not be DAV members to take advantage of the free services offered by the van staff. Veterans or family members visiting the DAV van should bring the veteran's VA claim number, if known, and Social Security number, which are needed for filing and reopening claims.

of us occasionally," Ward added, urging that anyone who experiences four or more of the following symptoms for more than a few weeks should seek treatment: sad, depressed or "empty" mood; loss of interest or pleasure in ordinary activities; decrease in sexual drive; sleep disturbances (insomnia, early-morning waking, oversleeping); eating disturbances (appetite and/or weight loss or gain); decreased energy, fatigue, feelings of pessimism, guilt, worthlessness, helplessness, hopelessness; thoughts of death or suicide attempts; activity level slows down or increases; diminished ability to think and/or concentrate.

Effective treatments are available for most depressions. "As many as 80 to 90 percent of persons with depression can be successfully treated," Ward said. "Sadly, only one in three seek mental health treatment."

A complete range of services is available at Garrett County Mental Health, Community Rehabilitation & Addictions Service. Persons may call 334-8111 or 895-3111.

Crime Victims, Witnesses Brochure Being Distributed

Governor William Donald Schaefer and the Maryland Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services are reaching out for Marylanders who have become victims or witnesses of crime.

The Maryland Crime Victims and Witnesses brochure is being distributed to criminal justice and law enforcement agencies in both the public and private sectors statewide. The brochure offers guidelines for the treatment of and assistance to crime victims and witnesses. These guidelines were contained in Senate Bill 274 which became state law on July 1, 1986. This law requires that all local and state criminal justice agencies follow certain guidelines when dealing with victims or witnesses of crime. In accordance with these guidelines, every crime victim or witness should:

- Be treated with dignity, respect, courtesy, and sensitivity;
- Receive emergency help as needed;
- Receive notification of court dates or cancellation of those dates;
- Be advised of law enforcement protection available from harm arising out of prosecution and law enforcement efforts;
- Be provided a waiting area apart from the accused;
- Be informed of any available financial assistance or social service;
- Receive help with bill problems occurring as a result of the crime;
- Be assisted with prompt property return;
- Be able to participate through a written statement (victim impact) and/or oral address (allocution) in the sentencing phase of trial;
- Be informed of restitution procedures and information;
- Receive speedy handling of the case in which you are involved.

In addition, the following is available to citizens when requested in writing:

- The progress of the case from the police and the State's Attorney;
- The prompt return of information about a very complex criminal justice system," Governor Schaefer said. "It enables victims and witnesses of crimes to become fully informed about the nature and extent of these important guidelines."

Bishop L. Robinson, secretary of the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services agreed, "This brochure represents an important effort by the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services to better educate the public about our criminal justice system," said Robinson.

The Governor's Task Force on Victims Services, the Maryland Victim Assistance Network, the Stephanie Roper Committee, Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, and the Maryland Coalition Against Crime contributed to the development of the Maryland Crime Victims and Witnesses brochure.

Attend Rotary-Sponsored Youth Event

Two Garrett County students recently participated in the 28th Annual World Affairs Institute's Model United Nations Security Council sessions. These sessions composed a two-day project held April 24-25 at the Ramada Inn in Morgantown, W. Va. The Rotary Club of Morgantown co-sponsors the annual event along with the Department of Political Science of West Virginia University. The Oakland Rotary sponsors two delegates and a chaparone each year. Rotarian Richard Peake heads this project.

The highlight of the program was the institute banquet where Capt. Jon A. McBride, an astronaut and space shuttle pilot, spoke on "America's Space Program and Its Role in World Peace."

The participants noted their appreciation to the Oakland Rotary for "its continued interest in providing enriching activities for Garrett County youth."

Masons To Meet

Oakland Lodge No. 192, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, will have a regular communication on Tuesday, May 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple, 3 South Wilson Street.

The Fellow Craft Degree will be conferred on all eligible Entered Apprentice Masons. Worshipful Master James Wm. Nelson invites all Master Masons to attend.

Asthma Program Set For June 2

The American Lung Association of Maryland and Garrett County Health Department are sponsoring Asthma Awareness Night on Tuesday, June 2, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. General practitioner Donald Richter, M.D., will present an overview on asthma and a segment on asthma medications. This free program is open to parents of asthmatic children 6 to 12 years old.

The meeting will be held at Garrett Community College Oakland Center, 104 East Center Street, Oakland, Room 603.

Pre-registration for this free Christmas Seal Service is required and may be accomplished by contacting the Garrett County Health Department at 334-8111.

Commencement

Events Scheduled At Zion School

Zion School of Christian Education, Grantsville, will observe its 14th Commencement Convention Wednesday, May 20, through Sunday, May 24. This will include graduation exercises for both Zion School of Christian Education and Zion Christian Academy.

The five-day observance will begin with a recital Wednesday, May 20, at 7:00 p.m. This presentation will mark progress of individual students in the Music Department. A farce, in three scenes, "The Stout Gentleman," will be presented following the recital. This play was given in early May and was so well received that it will be repeated on this occasion. Refreshments will follow.

In the Baccalaureate Service, Thursday, May 21, at 7:30 p.m. the message will be presented by Rev. C.B. Shaal of Somerset, Pa. Rev. Shaal has served as pastor and state director of Evangelism and Missions for the Church of God for the state of Pennsylvania.

An area-wide Missionary Rally will be held Friday, May 22, at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Kupare, Senior pastor of a church in Harare, Zimbabwe, will be the speaker. He and Rev. Michael Muwani, who will have a part in the service, are visiting at Zion for the purpose of observing the operation with the hope of opening a Bible Institute in their home country.

Commencement Exercises will be held Saturday, May 23, at 7:30 p.m. Rev. J. Earl Douglass, Fallen Timber, Pa. will present the commencement address. Rev. Douglass is a pioneer evangelist and pastor of the Assemblies of God churches. He has many friends in this area.

The Children of the Kingdom will present a concert at Zion, Sunday, May 24, at 7:30 p.m. This group is a combined band and chorus which travels regularly as a ministry. The seven-member band plays a total of 14 instruments which accompany the eight-member chorus.

LIFE INSURANCE - ANNUITIES

DISABILITY - HOSPITALIZATION

SERVICE IS OUR TRADITION

Life insurance needs change. Young families need more protection than those in which the children have grown and moved away from home. Middle-aged people need retirement plans if they do not set them up at an earlier age. Elderly people want help in obtaining benefits, changing beneficiaries, or in securing protection for grandchildren.

We are pointing these things out because some insurance organizations are only interested in making initial sales. Their representatives are not around when you need help most.

When you join the Woodmen, you become a member of a long established Society which will always assign a field representative to serve you.

Throughout America are four- and five- generation Woodmen families who know we do our best to serve them best both during and after the initial sale. In fact, we're known as "The Family Fraternity®".

"Enjoy The Great Taste Of Health" Campaign Underway In Maryland

Garrett County was represented on April 23 at the Western Maryland Regional Kick-off for the new statewide campaign, "Enjoy The Great Taste Of Health." Directed by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Chief of Chronic Nutrition, Diana Schmidt, the campaign chairman, encourages Marylanders to prepare and eat low-fat and high-fiber foods because of their links to preventing heart disease and cancer.

Proclamations from the former and current Governors Hughes and Schaefer of Maryland were read, and speeches by elected county and state officials, 4-H administrators, and the Washington County Health Officer were delivered in the setting of Hagerstown's Washington County Museum of Fine Arts. Demonstrations on the preparation of low-fat, high-fiber foods were presented and a buffet of such foods was served.

Alma Ream, Mountain Lake Park, was invited by first-round judges to enter her Hush Puppy Muffin recipe in the campaign's recipe contest at the kick-off celebration. Ms. Ream was provided an apron printed with the campaign's title.

Ms. Ream has been cooking with low-fat, high-fiber foods for several years. "I have always experimented with recipes, so it was not a problem to modify my recipes with healthier ingredients," she said.

Ms. Ream cooks for her mother, who is a diabetic so she often substitutes different ingredients to promote good health and suit her taste. Ms. Ream recommends that one can reduce the salt and sugar called for in a recipe by half without much difference in taste. When cooking with bran, one can use unbleached flour for half the flour recommended and bran that has been soaked in water for the other half of the measured flour. Ms. Ream often uses buttermilk, which is low in fat, for baking because it makes her breads more moist.

Ms. Ream works part-time as a computer operator/secretary for Holzshu-Nolte Welch and Associates in Oakland and enjoys experimenting in her kitchen with new recipes to enter in recipe contests in her spare time.

Ms. Ream's entry was applauded at the kick-off celebration by the rest of the Garrett County contingent pictured above from left to right: Ann Carroll Sherrard, R.N., nutritionist for Garrett County Health Department; Michelle Meale, R.D.E., nutritionist for Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, Wendy Wakefield, R.N., nutritionist for Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Alma Ream; and Elizabeth Rees Gilbert, health educator, Garrett County Health Department.

The following is Ms. Ream's recipe, plus a recipe for a stir-fry dish that was prepared at the Regional Kick-off Campaign.

Hush Puppy Muffins

- 1 cup flour
- 1 cup corn meal
- 1/4 cup oat bran
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 1 beaten egg
- 1/2 cup milk

- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1/4 cup diced onions
- 1. Combine all dry ingredients and mix well. Use medium size mixing bowl.
- 2. Add remaining ingredients. Let rise twice and stir down (about 1 min. each time).
- 3. Spoon into muffin pans.
- 4. Bake in pre-heated oven at 400° for approx. 20 minutes. Makes 1 dozen.

Note: Stirring down mixture keeps muffin consistency dense and prevents batter from rising over edge of muffin tins.

Garden Scramble Stir-Fry

- 1 tablespoon salad oil
- 1 tablespoon Soy Sauce

- 1 large clove garlic, minced or pressed
- 1 cup broccoli flowerets, cut in 1/2" chunks
- 1 cup cauliflower flowerets, cut in 1/2" chunks
- 3 tablespoons water
- 1/2 cup carrots, cut in 1/2" slanting slices
- 1/2 red bell pepper, cut in 1/4" strips
- Pepper
- Whole cashews
- Place wok over high heat. When wok is hot, add 1 tablespoon of the oil. When oil is hot, add garlic and stir-fry for 30 seconds. Add broccoli and cauliflower and stir-fry for 1 minute.

Add 2 tablespoons of the water; cover and cook, stirring frequently for about 3 minutes. Remove from wok and set aside.

Add 1 tablespoon soy sauce to wok. When hot, add carrots and red pepper. Stir-fry for 1 minute. Add remaining 1 tablespoon water; cover and cook, stirring frequently for about 2 minutes or until vegetables are tender-crisp. Return broccoli and cauliflower to wok and stir-fry to heat through (about 1 minute). Add pepper to taste and garnish with cashews. Makes 2 to 3 servings. Serve over brown rice.

LEARNING ABOUT THE HEART is not often part of a kindergarten curriculum, but is precisely what is happening at Red House School, where youngsters have been supplied Heart Treasure Chests by the American Heart Association. Above, Billy Stoner checks a classmate's heart beat and below he listens to the warm heart of his principal, Dorothy Spaid. The intent of the program is to teach children heart healthy habits which they can use the rest of their lives.

also learn healthy lifestyle habits from a board game.

Lessons emphasize low-fat diets and the importance of life-long habits of physical activity and rest. This information is reinforced by sending the children home with newsletters for their parents outlining how they can help their children adopt heart-healthy lifestyles.

Toni Knapp, a parent aide for Ms. Carroll's class at Red House School, made red laminated hearts on strings for the children to place on their chests as they pursued their study of the heart. "They did enjoy the kit, and it was meaningful for them," said Ms. Carroll.

Rebecca Friend, director for Rainbow Cottage Day Care Center, purchased the kit for continual use in her preschool program. "The parents were impressed with their children's new awareness of the way the heart works when we introduced the unit this spring. We used the unit to help teach the kids about foods that are good or bad for the heart, and how animals have hearts too," mused Ms. Friend.

The Heart Treasure Chest Kit is available for loan or purchase from "Wellness Together", by calling 334-2155, 334-8111 or 895-3111.

"We're hoping the Heart Treasure Chest will give young children a fighting chance against heart disease and stroke," said Ms. Moomau.

Coal wasn't used as a fuel until the 12th century, though it had been used for sculpture before then.

Preschoolers Get To The Heart Of Health Issue With Treasure Chest

At an age when most children only know the alphabet and a few nursery rhymes, local preschoolers are learning about the heart. Bolstered by research indicating the initial stages of heart disease can appear as early as age three, Helen Carroll's class at Red House School and the children of Rainbow Cottage Day Care Center are teaching children how to establish heart-healthy habits they can follow all of their lives, with the goal of preventing heart disease.

This early heart health education program, sponsored by the American Heart Association, is called the Heart Treasure Chest. Packaged in a box that looks like a pirate's treasure chest, the program employs audiovisuals, class activities, books, music, finger-plays and games to teach young children about their hearts.

During the three-week program, children learn about how their hearts work, how to tell if they're healthy, how to combine physical activity and rest to help their hearts and what foods will promote heart health. "The whole purpose behind the Heart Treasure Chest is a new emphasis focusing on developing healthy lifestyle habits early in life," said "Wellness Together" coordinators, Elizabeth Rees Gilbert and Mikal Moomau, who are local distributors for the kit.

The coordinators say that the Heart Treasure Chest is effective because each day of the course a new surprise can be taken out of the treasure chest and used as a teaching tool. One day might feature a stethoscope so youngsters can listen to their heartbeat. The heart's pumping action is simulated with a syringe and a tubing to pump water. Children are given cutouts of the heart to pin on their chests. They read stories and sing songs about the heart and are shown pictures of proper rest and exercise. They

SMS Students To Participate In Summer Centers

Five students of Southern Middle School have been accepted as participants in the Summer Centers Program, sponsored annually by the Maryland State Department of Education.

Nancy Alvarez, Vickie Karlstrand, Aaron Paugh, Nick Pope, and John Savage have been selected, while other students considered for the programs included Dan Cuppett, Randy Davidson, Corbin DeBerry, Maria Massi, Michael Sandulian, and Liz Savage.

Miss Alvarez will attend the Theatre Movement and Acting Program at Goucher College in Towson from June 28-July 11, where she will develop concentration, observation, and discipline skills, as well as vocal and physical projection on stage. She will also receive coaching in scene studies.

Miss Karlstrand and Nick Pope will participate in the Painting and Drawing Program at Goucher College, also from June 28-July 11, in which they will explore a wide variety of media, including pencil, ink, water color, and acrylics on canvas. They will also receive solid technical training and encouragement to develop independent and personal expression.

Aaron Paugh has been accepted for the Critical and ACCEPTED FOR SUMMER PROGRAMS — Several Southern Middle School students were recently accepted by the 1987 Summer Centers Programs, sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Education. The two-week programs are held at various sites in Maryland and concentrate on a variety of fields of study. Pictured left to right, front row, are Aaron Paugh, Mike Sanjulian, John Savage, and Liz Savage. In the second row, same order, are Nancy Alvarez, Dan Cuppett, Calvin DeBerry, and Vickie Karlstrand. Not present for the photo were Randy Davidson and Nick Pope. Alvarez, Karlstrand, Paugh, Pope, and Savage have been accepted into the programs, while the other students were considered for participation.

Creative Thinking Environmental Research Program at St. Mary's College, St. Mary's City, slated for July 5-18. There he will do research and experiment with the estuarine environment of St. Mary's County and develop a research topic based on field observations. He will use the scientific method to assist with identifying variables which contribute to environmental conditions and increased appreciation of the role of science with its impact on society.

Miss Savage will attend the Chesapeake Bay Studies, Smith Island Itinerary Program, which will be held at various sites in the Chesapeake Bay area from June 21 to July 3. She and fellow students will be examining the Port of Baltimore and its relation to the Chesapeake Bay aboard the workboat, Osprey, while living aboard the Lightship Chesapeake in the Inner Harbor and canoeing and studying the fresh and brackish tidal sections of a major bay river. They will round out their experience with studies of the watermen's communities of Smith Island while based at a study center in Tylerton on this island.

According to a Southern Middle spokesman, students who show promise in terms of personal qualities and academic achievement are considered for the Summer Centers Program.

Moviegoers Spend More, According To Tax Records

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reports that Marylanders spent more than $72.6 million on taxable entertainment during the third quarter of fiscal year 1987 (January, February and March, 1987). "That's 8% more than the $67.2 million reported during the same period one year ago," he said. "Maryland's counties, cities and towns are receiving checks totaling $4.6 million in tax revenue as a result of these collections."

Moviegoers spent $14.9 million for tickets during January-March, or 17% more than the $12.7 million they spent at this time last year. "The national exposure that Maryland received in the films 'Tin Man' and 'Bedroom Window' may have lured some away from their VCR's and into the movie theaters," Goldstein said.

Despite an unusually mild winter in Western Maryland, ski slopes and ski rentals enjoyed their normal seasonal boom. However, the gross receipts of $1.25 million were a modest 1% more than the $1.24 million spent by skiers in the first three months of 1986.

State rentals, on the other hand, showed a decline of 17%, as gross receipts fell from $1.6 million in the first three months of 1986 to $1.3 million in the same time period this year.

"All of this leisure time spending results in admissions and amusement tax revenue which is returned to Maryland's counties, cities and towns," Goldstein said.

"Checks totaling $4,648,135 are being sent to the state's subdivisions as their share of the admissions and amusement tax revenue for the third quarter of Fiscal Year 1987. That's 5% more than the $4,420,354 they received for the same time period in Fiscal Year 1986."

Garrett County received $43,771, compared to $38,424 for the same quarter the previous year.

SMS STUDENTS PERFORM WELL ON SAT — A number of students of Southern Middle School recently demonstrated considerable academic ability by making high marks on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, a test that is required for admission into most of the nation's colleges and universities. Three of the students, Michelle Liller, Aaron Paugh, and John Savage, earned outstanding scores on the Standard Written English portion of the test and were awarded certificates of distinction from the Johns Hopkins University Center for Talented Youth. As participants in this program, students are recognized for notable academic achievement and are offered special opportunities for unique career exploration and academic enrichment experiences. Pictured are the students who took the test, nearly all of whom made high scores. They are, left to right, front row, Heather Lipscomb, Aaron Paugh, Robyn Roth, John Savage, Pat Skipper, Ashley Smith, Tara Wolring, and Randy Davidson. In the second row, same order, are Brian Friend, Kelly Friend, Alison Graybill, Michelle Kiser, Jenny Koon, Michelle Liller, Shawn Williams, and Dan Cuppett. In the back row, same order, are Denise Bee, Carla Crittendon, Erin Dabney, Joe Devine, Kelli Dixon, Emily Elmlinger, Malyna Swyer, and Susan Umstot. Not present for the photo were Caroline Geroski, Amanda Hauser, Scott Meyers, and Courtney Moran.

Miss Bowman Is Student Council Award Winner

Connie Bowman, a senior at Northern High School, was recently named an award winner in the area of Student Council by the United States Achievement Academy.

Miss Bowman, daughter of Sam and Norma Bowman, McHenry, was nominated for the award by Mildred Wuck, vice principal and advisor to the Student Council of Northern High School.

The criteria for selection for such an award includes academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, citizenship, attitude, and dependability, among others. The names of all U.S. Achievement Academy award winners are included in the Academy's yearbook.

The Ultimate Threshold

Life has been a succession of beginnings.

Until the day you graduate! Now suddenly you are on the doorstep—not of the future—but of your future.

Relationships now become increasingly important. Ambitions clamor for realization. And, most important, convictions have to be tested in the laboratory of life.

Where do we gain those convictions? Hopefully, years before graduation, encouraged by earnest parents, we will have learned about God and His truth. For millions of fortunate young men and women who graduate this month... a neighborhood CHURCH or SYNAGOGUE.

TORN TO HEAL

May 17, 1987

Background Scripture: Hosea 5:8 through 7:16

Devotional Reading: Psalms 31:19-24

Just as love is powerless to save without judgement, so discipline and punishment are often essential to judgement. To "punish" means to exact a penalty for an offense. "Discipline" may mean to punish for the purpose of correction and training. It is important for us to realize that both of these—punishment and discipline—have a constructive purpose: to change for the better the one who is in violation of the rules or laws.

FOR PREVENTION

Unfortunately, people often assume that the purpose of punishment is retribution: "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." Some people indeed meet out punishment because they get satisfaction in administering retribution. When this is true, there is little difference, if any, between punishment and revenge. But the true purpose of punishment, although it comes "after the fact," is, in reality, aimed at prevention or "before the fact."

If we punish now for some wrong that has been performed, it is for the purpose of discouraging a repetition of that act.

In the prophetic literature of the Old Testament we find that punishment in the hands of God is always constructive, never sheer retribution. If God punishes Israel it is so that the people may realize their sin and return to the Lord.

is in this light that the Lord muses: "What shall I do with you, O Ephraim? What shall I do with you, O Judah?" (6:4). God does not subject Israel to its many calamities for the purpose of "paying-back" the people for their infidelity. God subjects them to hardship and suffering "until they acknowledge their guilt and seek my face, and in their distress they seek me, saying: 'Come let us return to the Lord' (Hosea 5:15b).

"But is all that necessary?" we wonder. "Must God punish us in order to bring us to our senses?" The answer, often, but not always. Sometimes the sheer knowledge that we have sinned or failed in some way is enough to turn us away from our deadly course. Often, our consciences will bring us to our knees in genuine contrition.

"STRICKEN & TORN"

But there are other times when punishment seems to be the only way that God can get our attention. Thus, says Hosea, "he has torn, that he may heal; he has broken, and he will bind us up" (6:1). In the family we may penalize children in order to motivate them to change their conduct. In the larger society, we have an elaborate and often not very effective—penal system that is designed to change the behaviour of those who break the law.

It would be wonderful, of course, if each of us were so upright and eager to please God that we would never need discipline or punishment. Children would never have to be "grounded" and there would be no need for police, courts or prisons. Obviously, that is a state of affairs we are not likely to see this side of the Kingdom of Heaven.

It should not be so surprising, to us, then, to realize that sometimes we must first be "torn" in order that we may ultimately be "healed." If a bone is broken and not set properly, it may have to be broken again so that it can heal properly. If there is a malignancy growing inside us, often we cannot know healing until it is destroyed or removed from us.

So, too, spiritually we may need to be stricken so that God may "bind us up."

Alpha Beta State Holds Convention In Baltimore

Over 300 members of the Alpha Beta State, Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, attended the 50th annual convention for key women educators, May 1-3, at the Omni International Hotel, Baltimore. State President Mary Jean Gray presided at the golden birthday celebration.

Dr. Barbara Baker, international president, was welcomed at a reception following a dinner theatre at the Lord Baltimore Quality Royale Hotel on Friday evening of the convention.

Society business was conducted Saturday morning and was followed by a birthday luncheon. Scholarship recipients were announced and included: Norma L. Eckard, Hagerstown, The Dr. Esther J. Crooks Scholarship; Marjorie Silverman, Columbia, The Dr. Anne H. Matthews Scholarship; and Carma Latvala, Owings, The Dr. Fern D. Schneider Scholarship.

Afternoon workshops were then held preceding the evening's activities which included the installation of new officers. They include: Lillian F. Dexter, XI, president; Dr. Elizabeth Barger, PI, first vice president; Jeanne Jones, Omega, second vice president; Delores Ann Kalo, Upsilon, recording secretary. The procession of Chapter presidents preceded the banquet.

A Sunday morning service of remembrance was held prior to breakfast and the final meeting. Zeta, Tau, Phi, and Alpha Zeta were the hostess chapters and Dr. Barger was the convention chairman.

Members attending from the local Alpha Beta Chapter were: Lillian Reckner, president; Barbara Flinn, vice president; Rosanne Sherwood, vice president; Judy Pula, Anna Bishop and Anna Marie Miller, members.

The Alpha Beta State will host the International Convention in Baltimore July 17-23.

Church Women United Observe May Fellowship

Church Women United observed May Fellowship Day on Friday, May 8, at the Hoes United Methodist Church.

At the 11 a.m. business meeting, the following women were elected to serve as officers for the 1988-89 term: Charlotte Mousch, president; Lori Schmuck, vice-president/program coordinator; Evelyn Steyer, secretary; and Martha Glatfelter, treasurer. They will be installed in November at the World Community Day services.

Also during the business meeting, Ida Maust shared a slide presentation on Habitat for Humanity. The group decided to use Habitat as its local focus for 1987. A special collection was taken to provide meals for the work crews during the summer. Several churches represented at the meeting also decided to provide meals and food products for the workers as individual projects. At noon a covered dish luncheon was served in the Hoes Church social room.

The worship service entitled "For Such A Time as This" began at 1 p.m. It was a time of remembering Church Women United in Garrett County from the years 1940-1987. After the greeting from Fran Williams, the host pastor, Charlotte Mousch recalled the work of CWU in the local area, as well as national events in which the group has been involved. Favorite songs from each decade were sung throughout the service.

Participants in the program were Audrey Brennenman, Mary June Harvey, Helen Keller, Helen Silber, Betty Wildeson, Mareva Teets, Helen Glatfelter, Nora Baker, Faye Humberson, Ellen Humberson, Olive Grove, Lori Schmuck, Catherine McCrobie, Fran Williams, Nellie Bishoff, Orpha Miller, Hazel Margroff, Martha Glatfelter, Evelyn Steyer and Charlotte Mousch.

There were 29 women in attendance from 11 churches representing five denominations.

Area Christian Women To Meet

The Oakland Area Christian Women's Club will meet at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, on Wednesday, May 20, at 11:30 a.m.

Frank Kniep, of Glen Burnie, will be the speaker for the luncheon meeting and music will be provided by Dr. David Sheets. A free nursery will be provided.

The price of the luncheon is $5.50. Reservations for the meal, which must be honored, and reservations for the nursery may be made by calling 334-8506.

Savings Bonds Semiannual Rate Set At 5.81%

The semiannual market-based interest rate for United States Savings Bonds, in effect from May through October 1987, has been set at 5.84 percent, the Treasury Department announced last week. The rate is 85% of the average market yield on five-year Treasury marketable securities during the preceding six months.

Although Bonds may be redeemed after six months, they must be held five years or longer to receive market-based rates. Bonds held less than five years earn interest on a fixed, graduated scale. Yields at redemption are the average of semiannual market-based rates during the time held, rounded to the nearest quarter percent and compounded semiannually, or a minimum rate, whichever is more. The current minimum rate is six percent.

Katherine D. Ortega, treasurer of the United States and national director of the Savings Bonds program, said that the market-based rate program, now nearing the end of its first five years, "has had a tremendous positive impact on Bond sales. When it was first introduced in 1982, Savings Bond sales totalled $3 billion. In the first half of Fiscal Year 1987 alone, we have sold more than $7 billion worth of Series EE Bonds."

Savings Bonds semiannual rates are changed each May 1 and November 1 to reflect market activity during the preceding six months. The last semiannual rate, in effect from November 1, 1986, through April 30, 1987, was 6.06 percent.

As of March 31, 1987, the total value of Savings Bonds held by the public was $94.76 billion, the highest level ever.

Consumers may call toll-free for current rates and other information, 1-800-US BONDS.

Eastern Star Chapter Meets

Oakland Chapter 67, Order of Eastern Star, held its regular meeting Tuesday, April 7, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple, Oakland.

Worthy Matron Geraldine Teats opened the meeting with the greeting, "Nobody Walks Alone." She then greeted the Associate Grand Matron, Ida Fuller; Associate Grand Patron, Wilbur Carr; Deputy Grand Lecturers, Elizabeth Mullenex and Wilda Hile; past matrons of other chapters, Jose Blair, Betty Jane Rankin, and Emma Carr; and one visitor, Grace Quinet.

There was balloting on one candidate, followed by an Easter program entitled "An Easter Memorial," presented by the Worthy Matron, Chaplain, Star Point Martha, and secretary, who read a list of all deceased members of Oakland Chapter. A vocal solo, "You'll Never Walk Alone," was presented by Sharon Perando.

The Associate Grand Matron and Associate Grand Patron spoke briefly and then announced a Grand Office appointment for Wilda Hile, past matron of Oakland Chapter and Deputy Grand Lecturer assigned to Bethlehem Chapter in Westernport. She was installed along with the other Grand Officers at Grand Sessions in Hagerstown on April 29. She will serve as Grand Martha until April 1988.

The Worthy Matron's closing thought was "An Easter Promise." Refreshments were then served by Norma Hesen and her committee.

Hospice Memorial Service Set At Camp Hickory

Hospice of Garrett County, Inc. and The Mt. Top Ministerial Association will be holding a Memorial Service for past Hospice families on May 17, 4 p.m. at Camp Hickory, behind Northern High School, near Accident.

The service, which will include lighting of a candle for each former patient and a brief statement or saying by family members or volunteers, will be followed by a covered dish dinner. The meats, drinks, utensils and cups will be provided by Hospice.

All family members of former hospice patients and their volunteers are urged by Wayne Johnson, executive director, to attend this service.

Diabetes Group To Meet Monday

The next meeting of the Garrett County Diabetes Association will be held Monday, May 18, 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland.

Blood sugar testing and information about diabetes will be available at the meeting. The public is invited to attend.

Dr. Gail Herman Is Presenter At Teacher Institute

The University of Connecticut has announced the selection of Dr. Gail Neary Herman, Sky Valley, as a presenter for the annual Confratute program, a summer institute for teachers of gifted and talented students. This combined conference/institute hosts approximately 700 teachers and administrators from throughout the United States, Canada, and a number of overseas nations.

Joseph Renzulli, director of Confratute, in announcing the appointment of Dr. Herman, said that leaders are chosen on the basis of outstanding accomplishments in teaching, program development, and providing educational services to gifted and talented youth. Dr. Herman was chosen to assist in offering a program which brings together researchers, practitioners, and educational leaders from throughout the world. Dr. Herman is a Visiting Assistant Professor of Special Education in the College of Human Resources and Education of West Virginia University, Morgantown, W.Va.

where she teaches in the Gifted Program, organizes a Tapestry of Talent State Storytelling Festival for gifted students, advises one hundred and fifteen graduate students, and provides consultation for gifted programs.

Renzulli concluded by saying the Confratute is the largest and best known training program of its kind. The staff or more than 50 people represent persons with high degrees of specialization and accomplishment in teaching, research, administration, counseling, and developing programs for gifted and talented students.

BPW OFFICERS INSTALLED — Officers of the Oakland Chapter of Business and Professional Women were installed this past week at a meeting at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Mason-Winters Wedding
Tina Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Mason of Pleasant Valley, became the bride of Kevin "Poke" Winters in an evening ceremony May 2 at the Crellin Assembly of God Church. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Winters of Hutton and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George Winters, Eglen, and Mrs. Julia Shaffer, Crellin. On Sunday a dinner for more than 50 family and friends of the couple was held at the home of the groom's parents after which the couple opened their wedding gifts. They have moved into their new home on the Underwood Road.

Visiting his parents and home for the wedding were 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Scott Winters of Arkansas. He has been in training at an Arkansas AFB and will be transferred to Texas in the immediate future.

Also here for the wedding were James and Alberta Moore of Newark, Ohio, who were weekend guests of her sister and brother-in-law, Jessie and George Winters, at Eglen.

opening for the May 4 meeting of the Eglen Extension Homemakers who were observing National Extension Homemakers Week. Special guests for the meal were the postmaster, Marie Teets; the clinic physician, Dr. Robert Coughlin, and his staff, Florence Minnig, Marilyn Arnett and Rose Ina Harsh, the latter a club member.

The club is sponsoring a "Pride in Eglen" week during which the community residents were asked to clean their premises and the Mountaineer 4-H Club is assisting in a roadside trash collection. It is also requested that residents plant golden margolds to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the signing of the U.S. Constitution.

Following the meal, a business meeting was conducted by vice president Cynthia Bachtel. Because of a conflict with lesson training on June 2, the regular meeting has been changed to June 9 at which time members are asked to bring salads for a luncheon and a study of summer salads. A committee of Ruth Parks, Lillian Knotts and Rebecca Teets will make plans for a June birthday party at Hopemont.

The meeting closed with devotions by the hostess, Rebecca Teets, using the story of the infant Moses as an example of the influence of the mother and concluding her devotion with a poem, "What Is A Home?"

The club members then went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fike in Eglen where Mrs. Fike displayed her collection of dolls and Mr. Fike showed the items he has made in his woodworking shop. After that they went to Horse Shoe Run where George Roth showed his workshop full of homemade wooden items, antiques, and collectibles. The children were especially enchanted with a water wheel which powered a ferris wheel, all made of wood. Mrs. Roth then showed the glassware and china which she and her son have collected and also displayed quilts she has recently completed.

Members who attended the luncheon and or went on the tour were: Mary Rembold, Shawn and Craig; Linda Lewis and Sara; Brenda Hartsell and Allen; Mildred Wilt, Lettie Bonner, Rebecca Teets, Lillian Knotts, Ruth Teets, Ruth Parks, Nina Layman, Avenell Parsons, Jean Winters and Carolyn Wilt.

The club invites anyone interested in their activities to attend the next meeting which will begin at noon on June 9.

Cemetery Association Meets

The annual meeting of the Aurora Cemetery Association will be May 30 at 2 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Aurora. All interested persons are asked to attend.

PSC Graduate

Shawna Sisler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Sisler, has graduated from Potomac State College, Keyser, at ceremonies held there on May 10.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Barr, and Vera Stemple, all from Bridgewater, Va., visited with family and friends in Aurora this weekend.

Visiting with their daughter, Mary, in Columbia, S.C., were Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hauser. They were joined in Columbia by Mr. and Mrs. Scott Sisler who accompanied them back to West Virginia, stopping at Heritage USA, in Ft. Mill, N.C., along the way.

Charles "Boss" Wotring, formerly of Aurora, is now a medical patient in the Clarksburg VA Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Teets of Aurora spent the weekend in Springfield, Va., where they attended the confirmation of their granddaughter, Jennifer Teets. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doane Teets and the former Teets were guests of another son, Alan, and Mary Teets.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters visited in Cecelia, Ky., with their daughter and her family, Paul and Rebecca McCollom, Michael, Laura and John, this weekend.

George Hauser returned to his home last Monday following surgery in a Morgantown hospital.

Bambacus To Speak To Rotary

The Oakland Rotary Club will hold its regular weekly meeting tonight at the Starlite Restaurant, beginning at 6:15 p.m. with Senator John N. Bambacus the featured speaker.

The senator will present to the Rotary Club his annual review of the recently ended legislative session.

GCTA To Give Scholarships To Local Students

The Garrett County Teachers Association Governing Board members voted at their April meeting to establish a college scholarship fund for two county high school seniors. Effective in the 1987-88 school year, the scholarships, in the amounts of $250 each, will be given to one student at Northern High and one student at Southern High who plan to major in education while at college.

According to GCTA Vice President Jim Raley, "With escalating college costs, declining amounts of financial aid available and a major teacher shortage facing this country, every little bit helps in assisting a worthy student to achieve his/her career goals."

He said teachers believe that "the students are our future. In preparing our youth for the future, we must also encourage them to help educate future generations. Hopefully, these scholarships will be an aid to some students who are seriously considering teaching as a career."

Oakland Girl Scouts To Dance At 75th Pageant

Eleven lucky young ladies from the Oakland neighborhood Girl Scouts of America have been chosen to participate in the 75th anniversary pageant entitled, "Tradition With a Future — A Timely Light." The local girls will be dancing the Jitterbug, a popular dance of the 1940's, as part of their appearance in the pageant.

Attending from Garrett County will be: Tammy Wolford and Lisa Masters, senior scouts; Melanie McCloud, Jennifer Wolford, Lisa Wolford and Kerri Tressler, cadette scouts; Kerri Shaffer, Diane Hetrick, Heidi Savage, Staci Kisner and Stephanie Filsinger. They are being instructed by Linda Roberts, dance instructor at Garrett Community College and Frostburg State College.

The anniversary pageant will be the culmination of the 25th annual meeting of the delegate assembly of the Girl Scouts of Southwestern Pennsylvania. The event will be held Friday, May 15, at the Carnegie Institute in the Pittsburgh, Pa. area. The pageant will highlight the many happenings that have made Girl Scouting an enduring event over the past 75 years. Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouts, said many years ago, "I've got something for the girls

ROCKIN' GIRL SCOUTS — Eleven Girl Scouts from the Oakland area have been chosen to participate in the 75th Girl Scout Anniversary Pageant slated for May 15 in Pittsburgh, Pa. SHS Student Runner-Up In Math Competition

A Southern High School student was named runner-up in the Second Annual Tri-State Mathematics Competition held recently at Allegany Community College, Cumberland.

Bobby Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bernard, Oakland, had the second highest score among 80 high school juniors from 12 area schools who participated in the competition. He was awarded a one-year full tuition scholarship for his efforts.

According to James Winner, Division Chairman of Mathematics and Engineering at ACC, the competition is conducted to promote an interest in the study of mathematics and related areas, such as engineering, computer science, chemistry, and physics, and to recognize student achievement in mathematics.

David Homan, of Salisbury High School, won the event and Craig Feaster, of Bedford High School, was third.

Bernard is an honor roll student at Southern, a member of various student organizations, and is a three-sport letterman.

GRANTSVILLE

The Rev. Powell Hall, pastor of St. Paul's United Church Charge, returned home on Wednesday after having heart surgery at the Georgetown University Hospital.

A benefit dinner will be held for him, to help cover expenses, at noon on Sunday, May 17, at the church. There will be no charge for the meal, but donations are requested. The menu will include spaghetti, cole slaw, and beverage. Everyone is welcome.

The Rev. Brian Perry is substituting as pastor at St. John's United Methodist Church until June 7. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Younkin returned home on Tuesday after a three-week visit with their daughter and family, Rev. and Mrs. James Beardsley and son, Steve at Newark, Del., and Rev. and Mrs. Allen Younkin and daughter, Brenda, at Woodbury, N.J. They also attended the high school graduation of their granddaughter, Brenda.

After spending five years in California, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hensel have returned to their home in Grantsville.

Many senior citizens of the Grantsville area, attended the Senior Citizen party at the Eastern Garrett Fire Hall in Finzel, on Thursday, where some 150 persons attended the party and participated in the activities.

Beef Producers In Search Of State Beef Queen

The first Maryland Beef Queen will be selected at the First Annual Maryland Beef Queen Contest and Beef Producers Summer Meeting, Tuesday, June 23, 6:30 p.m., at Martin's West in Baltimore. The beef queen will be selected to represent the state of Maryland at beef related activities such as shows, county/state fairs, consumer related beef promotions, industry events, and educational programs. She will also be asked to represent the Maryland Beef Producers in interviews with the news media during her reign.

To qualify, a candidate must be single, age 16-20; a daughter of a parent, parents, or guardian engaged in the production of beef, or the candidate herself must be actively engaged in the production of beef, or have beef as a 4-H project.

All candidates will be judged on appearance, poise, knowledge of the beef industry, communication skills, and past experience regarding beef.

Call Carolyn Lechlirer for an entry form or send nomination information to: Carolyn Lechlirer, 24110 Laytonville Road, Gaithersburg, MD 20879. All entries must be received no later than June 3.

The Honorable Louis L. Goldstein will be the guest speaker at the event, with other dignitaries such as representatives from the Maryland Department of Agriculture. For further information on the Maryland Beef Queen Contest or reservations for the Annual Beef Producers Summer Meeting, call Carolyn Lechlirer at 301-251-6841 (9 a.m. to 4 p.m.) or 301-253-1501 (evenings), or Edie Bernier at 301-539-4733.

Spraying Of Gypsy Moth Infested Areas Continues

It was announced this week by Secretary Wayne A. Cawley Jr., that the Maryland Department of Agriculture's 1987 campaign against the Gypsy Moth began on April 27 and will continue through early June as the program moves across the state, treating 132,000 moth-infested acres across Maryland.

This spraying program is made necessary by the devastating deforestation of vast areas of the state, resulting in loss of wildlife habitat, income from timbering operations, and creation of erosion problems and possible damage to historical watershed recharge areas. According to Robert H. Tichenor, chief of MDA's Forest Pest Management Program, this suppression effort has been designed specifically to target Gypsy Moth in an environmentally sound manner.

Single aerial applications of either B.T. or diflubenzuron are being made in accordance with all Environmental Protection Agency requirements, and only when weather conditions are ideal. Spraying is done at very low levels — about 50 feet above the treetops — to ensure thorough coverage of tree leaves and containment of spray within specific target areas. Pilots are expert and fly in compliance with all Federal Aviation Agency requirements for low-level flying.

Treatment for Gypsy Moth will continue through May as the program moves north and west across Maryland, treating trees as they leaf out for the summer, and will end the first week of June in Garrett County. Spraying will begin at dawn each day and continue until dark, weather conditions permitting. Residents in treated areas have been notified and should be aware that the program is in progress. "We are right on schedule so far," said Tichenor, "and the department wishes to assure the public that we are taking great care to ensure the safety of all but the Gypsy Moth."

Weather Is Good For Field Work

The week which ended May 3 was a good period for spring work, with rains that came late Sunday. There were 6.8 days suitable for fieldwork, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Seventy percent of the acreage has been prepared for planting of spring crops. Topsoil and subsoil moisture were both reported adequate.

Wheat, barley, oats and rye were in mostly good to excellent condition. Barley was 50 percent headed, which was normal for this date. Rye was 75 percent headed, 10 percent ahead of the average level. Wheat is beginning to head. There was some powdery mildew reported in wheat.

As of May 3 farmers had planted 20 percent of the corn, five percent below the average pace. Spring oats were 80 percent planted, the same as normally expected. Sweet corn was 30 percent planted, 10 percent behind average. Snap beans were 50 percent planted, five percent ahead of normal. Apples were 90 percent in bloom. Strawberries were 70 percent in bloom. The hay harvest has begun. Alfalfa weevil was present in varying concentrations and was spreading.

Weather

Temperatures for the week ended May 1 averaged 53 degrees F., five degrees below normal. The low temperature of 27 degrees was in the mountains. The high temperature was 80 degrees. Rainfall for the week fell mostly on April 25 and 26 averaging 0.49 inches, ranging from a trace to 1.35 inches.

Ag Commission To Hold Open Meeting In County

The Maryland Agricultural Commission's regular monthly meeting will be held tonight at the Wisp Resort's conference facilities in McHenry beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Ag Commission is made up of 17 members representing commodities and organizations across the state and is the advisory body to Maryland's Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley Jr. concerning policy issues which affect agribusiness in Maryland.

Garrett County farmers and agribusinessmen are invited to meet with the commission at this open meeting to exchange ideas and discuss issues of mutual concern.

Nitrogen Applied At Planting Time Is Important

Even crop farmers with half of this year's corn acreage planted could find it profitable to recheck planting procedures.

For instance, V. Allan Bandel, an Extension agronomy specialist at The University of Maryland, suggests that farmers take a good look at how their nitrogen fertilizer is applied at planting time.

The rate of nitrogen application should depend on the corn variety being planted, the type of tillage system being used, and the yield potential of the soil. "You should also consider the kind of nitrogen formulation being applied and the method being used," Bandel says.

Longtime research by University of Maryland agronomists indicates that maximum economic yields in fields of continuous no-till corn usually occur when nitrogen is applied at a rate of 150 to 180 pounds per acre. This statement assumes that no manure has been applied to the field, and no legumes have been seeded there in recent years.

Conventionally tilled fields in Maryland appear to reach their maximum economic yield under similar conditions with only 120 to 150 pounds of nitrogen per acre — about 30 pounds less than in no-till fields.

When properly managed, however, no-till cornfields will out yield conventionally tilled fields in most years. Bandel pointed out. So the extra nitrogen recommended for no-till planting is normally a good investment. Establishing a precise nitrogen rate for fields also depends on soil type and the kind of fertilizer formulation being used. For help in determining methods and rates of application, contact a county Extension agricultural agent.

Bandel notes that a 30 percent nitrogen solution is the most common direct-applied nitrogen fertilizer formulation used in Maryland.

He recommends applying starter fertilizer in a band near each row at planting time to meet part of the corn crop's nitrogen requirements for the current growing season. The starter fertilizer could supply about 20 pounds of nitrogen per acre and all of the phosphorus requirements for the season, as determined by a soil test. The rest of the nitrogen can be applied later, either by dribbling or soil injection. Timing is less critical with injection than with surface applications.

Phosphorus in the starter fertilizer helps get corn plants off to a fast start, Bandel says, so that they can compete successfully with weeds. He notes that phosphorus is much better utilized by corn plants under no-till conditions than with conventional tillage. For that reason, The University of Maryland's soil testing laboratory now makes separate recommendations for phosphorus requirements, depending on the type of tillage system which a farmer is using.

Soil testing kits for submission to the laboratory are available from county offices of The University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service.

Alfalfa Weevil

Alfalfa weevil adults and larvae are active throughout the state but their development has been hampered somewhat by the cool weather. Generally speaking, populations are greater this spring than those experienced in 1985 and 1986; however, the age and number of larvae vary greatly from field to field. A number of field populations have been reported to be far ahead of the average larval age in other fields in the same area. Part of this variation seems to be due to differences in the amount of egg laying that took place last fall. Keep in mind that a large portion of the eggs can be deposited in the fall — sometimes 25% to 40% of the total egg production if fall conditions are mild. These overwintered eggs hatch earlier than those laid in the spring, resulting in feeding injury to younger alfalfa. Therefore, fields that were seeded or left unharvested during the fall may experience more initial damage and an earlier larval peak because the fall-laid eggs were allowed to overwinter. Whereas any cutting taken during late September through October would have destroyed many of the overwintered eggs.

The following facts should be considered when selecting insecticides for weevil control.

Furadan 4F: the one half lb. rate generally provides good protection for 2 to 3 weeks; the full one lb. rate is rarely needed; the 3/4 lb. rate may be worthwhile in fields with high populations where plant height is still less than 8 inches; 7 to 28 days harvest interval depending on rate; restricted use pesticide and only one application per cutting is permitted; use only on pure stands of alfalfa; used primarily for early season control which is more disruptive to weevil parasites.

Lorsban 4E and Imidan 50% WP: one lb. rate gives protection roughly equal to 1/2 lb. rate of Furadan; generally use pesticides; can be applied more safely with ground application; with Lorsban, some yellowing may be observed on young, rapidly growing stands but alfalfa will outgrow with no loss.

Lanate L: 0.9 lb. rate gives about the same initial protection as the 1/2 lb. rate of Furadan but does not last as long; restricted use material; control is comparable to Lorsban and Imidan.

Supracide: 1/2 lb. rate also is equal to 1/2 rate of Furadan; restricted use pesticide and quite high in toxicity; should be used only by those willing to assume special safety precautions; suggested for early season control like Furadan, thus can be disruptive to parasites; can be used on mixed stands of alfalfa and grasses.

Puncep-M: 1/2 lb. rate generally provides about 10 days protection; gives good control initially but, if applied early for high weevil populations, may have to be applied again before harvest; restricted use pesticide.

Bethoxchlor and Malathion: the combination of one lb. each product per acre gives moderately good control and is quite safe to use; commercial formulations may be hard to find.

Malathion: gives 3 to 7 days protection at the 1 1/2 lb. rate; not a good choice for use in fields where treatment must be applied early; not effective when temperature is below 60 degrees F.

Fresh Vegetable Market May Be Limited This Year

Jarvis L. Cain, an ag-economist at The University of Maryland, looks for the locally produced fresh vegetable market for 1987 in Maryland to be limited in size by consumption habits, trends and competition, in total and by crop. He also expects the market to be very responsive to changes in supply, negative to price, and to react to a relatively small over supply with a large downward change in price, suddenly, after most costs are incurred by the grower.

The situation is not materially different from conditions at this time last year, says Cain. Together with established Maryland vegetable growers, new growers (driven from weak grain and tobacco markets and a changing dairy situation) face the potential for a significant over supply of fresh vegetables in Maryland this season. "We faced this situation last year," Cain said, "but a severe drought lowered supplies, providing positive returns for those with irrigation, losses for others."

A significant over supply of fresh vegetables in Maryland this season will hurt new growers by not providing adequate returns for their first crops. Established growers will be hurt by lower prices and net returns. "Cheap produce" could be a temporary blessing for local consumers. Longer range implications may not be so positive.

Cain's by-word for 1987, therefore, is moderation! "Have your markets as secure as you can before you plant," he says. "Speculation will be especially risky this year."

30 percent of cropland to be left idle in 1987

WASHINGTON — American farmers intend to reduce their plantings of cereal grains and soybeans drastically in 1987, according to a survey by the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported March 31.

A total of 72 million acres—30 percent of the nation's cropland—will be left idle this year under government programs to reduce "surpluses."

Farmers who comply with the reductions will be compensated with cash payments and other benefits. Since the program is voluntary, it may be presumed that the payments will equal or exceed what the farmer would make on the idled land if he harvested a normal crop.

The area farmers intend to plant to corn, the nation's leading crop, will be reduced to 68 million acres. That is 12 per cent below last year, and 19 percent below 1985 plantings.

Plantings of wheat will be reduced 10 percent below 1986 to 65 million acres. Farmers also intend to reduce their plantings of soybeans, by 7 percent below 1986 to 57 million acres. That would make 1987 plantings of U.S. soybeans the smallest since 1976.

Prospective plantings of the main coarse grains, except oats, are reduced even more sharply. Sorghum plantings would be reduced 23 percent below 1986 to 12 million acres. Plantings of barley would be reduced 16 percent to 11 million acres.

Prospective plantings of oats would rise by 7 percent over 1986 to 16 million acres. But the increased plantings do not necessarily ensure an increase in the harvested area. Oats often are sown as a cover crop, which must be clipped before ripening, on land that is diverted from other grains to comply with government programs.

This is an enormous food-producing resource that is being put on the shelf under U.S. farm programs this year.

American farmers normally harvest for grain 88 percent to 90 percent of the total area planted to corn. The balance of 10 percent to 12 percent is harvested for ensilage. If the intentions reported by USDA materialize, as they are likely to do, the U.S. corn crop in 1987 probably would be down at least 25 million tons below last year's 209 million.

It would fall short by 41 million tons, 18 percent, of the record U.S. corn crop of 1985.

To hold the reductions in the corn harvest to those levels, huge as they are, yields from the corn actually planted in 1987 would have to equal last year's record high of 119 bushels per acre.

If corn yields fall 10 percent below the normal trend, which is within the range for a moderately bad season, the 1987 crop would be down 31 percent from the 1985 record, to only 155 million tons.

These decreases in potential grain production, if output is cut by the same proportions as planted acreage, would total about 42 million tons. That is a lot of grain.

It is almost precisely half as much as all U.S. grain exports in 1986. It is more than the combined average annual grain exports of Argentina, Australia, and Canada during the 1970s. It is nearly three-fourths as much as their combined annual grain exports during the 1980s.

Yet huge as America's surplus-control effort is, it is not expected to overcome the world grain surplus problem—unless there are serious and extensive crop failures. An end to the "farm problem" remains out of sight.

QUICK QUIZ

HOW'S YOUR FARM AND FOOD IQ?

If you're hungry for some informative facts about food, this quiz could whet your appetite.

1. U.S. farms are the most productive in the world. One farm family feeds this many people: (a) 4 (b) 16 (c) 62 (d) 78?

2. Which state is the leading agricultural producer in the U.S.? (a) Illinois (b) Iowa (c) California (d) Florida?

3. Farm chemicals protect crops from insects, weeds and disease. Without this protection, food prices would soar. Can you guess what percent? (a) 2 percent (b) 10 percent (c) 20 percent (d) 50-75 percent?

4. The quality, quantity and variety of foods we enjoy today are believed to contribute to longevity. Since 1900, the average life span in the U.S. has increased from 47.3 to how many years? (a) 73.8 years (b) 52 years (c) 59.5 years (d) 64 years?

Beef Output Falls; Pork Output Expands

With the January 1 total U.S. cattle inventory at the lowest level since 1962, beef output is expected to decline again in 1987 to nearly 22.5 billion pounds and higher farm and retail beef prices should prevail, according to University of Maryland Ag Economist John W. Wysong.

Wysong reveals that pork output is expected to recover to the 1984 and 1985 national levels of 14.7 billion in 1987 from the reduced 14.0 billion level of 1986.

Veal production should be down in 1986 as beef cattle producers retain heifers to rebuild their herds.

Both broilers and turkeys have expanded in output each year since 1983. Further increases are expected in 1987, says Wysong. Poultry production expansion has helped Maryland broiler growers keep their houses full the past few years. However, poultry expansion may be more limited in 1988 if reduced broiler prices continue in 1987.

Total output of beef, pork, broilers and turkeys, plus veal, lamb and mutton, has exceeded 56 billion pounds each year since 1985. Egg output has been fairly stable at a level of nearly 5.8 billion dozen eggs, but egg prices have been lower so far in 1987, the economist said.

National "Take Pride" Campaign Speaks To Md. Agriculture

The national "Take Pride in America" campaign is one which is particularly appropriate to people in Maryland-Delaware agriculture. It's a national campaign to stimulate pride in, and responsibility for, public and private land in the U.S. It also encourages volunteerism for land improvement and other activities contributing to its protection and betterment. Only through a concerned focus on land and its use can American farmers continue to be productive and efficient food producers.

Egg Production Up

Egg production in Maryland increased nine percent over 1985. The value of production was also up nine percent over the previous year. The number of turkeys raised in Maryland and Delaware during 1986 totaled 125,000 head, down from the previous year's total of 140,000. Value of production was $1.68 million compared with $1.69 million in 1985.

More U.S. And State Dairy Animals To Be Slaughtered In DTP

Dairy farms participating in the Dairy Termination Program (DTP) conducted by the USDA have sent more than 1.1 million head of milk cows and heifers to slaughter or export since the April 1, 1986, start-up date. In Maryland, 230 bids were submitted and 115 dairy farms' bids were accepted. Nationally, nearly 40,000 farms submitted bids and nearly 14,000 farms were accepted.

The national co-payment of an assessment to help finance the buyout program declined from 40 cents per cwt of milk sold plus 12 cents for Graham-Rudman adjustment to only 25 cents on January 1. The U.S. milk support price is scheduled to decline by 25 cents on October 1 and another 50 cents per cwt on January 1, 1988, if federal government purchases are expected at that time to exceed 5.0 billion pounds of milk equivalent in butter, dry milk powder and cheddar cheese.

USDA has purchased 377 million pounds of red meat since April 1, 1986 to help offset the price depressing effects of the dairy animal slaughter on beef prices. Currently, cull cow prices have recovered from their 1985-86 lows, but some seasonal decline is expected during the late summer fall months in cull cattle and general beef cattle prices.

Broiler Production Sets New Record High

Broiler growers in Maryland produced 263.9 million meat-type chickens in 1986, down three percent from 1985. The average liveweight for 1986 was 4.3 pounds compared with 4.2 pounds in 1985. The price per pound (liveweight) in 1986 was 37.5 cents, an increase of 4.5 cents per pound. The increased price per pound more than offset the decreased production, and resulted in a record high value of production of $425.5 million.

The value of broilers produced during 1986 in the U.S. was $6.78 billion, up nine percent from the $5.68 billion in 1985. The total number of broilers produced in 1986 was 4.65 billion, up four percent from 1985. A record high total of 19.7 billion pounds were produced compared with 18.9 billion pounds a year earlier. Prices in 1986 averaged 34.5 cents per pound on a liveweight equivalent basis, compared with 30.1 cents during 1985.

SUPPORT FOR THE COUNTY FAIR — The Garrett National Bank exhibited their support of the Garrett County Fair this week by donating a $1,500 check to Fair Board President Gerald Giotfelly to help with the paving project now going on at the fairgrounds. Another is a large building to house the hog and dairy goat exhibits.

Alternative To Dinoseb Herbicide Approved For Use

Maryland farmers can use the herbicide, Pursuit, to control weeds in lima beans and snap beans, it was announced today by Secretary Wayne A. Cawley Jr., Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Responding to the Maryland Department of Agriculture's request for use of Pursuit as a substitute for the currently suspended herbicide, Dinoseb, the Environmental Protection Agency has granted specific exemption for the use of Pursuit on lima beans and snap beans only.

MDA is responsible for ensuring that all provisions of the specific exemptions are met. There are stringent procedures which must be followed to ensure that all requirements for proper use are satisfied. These specific exemptions will expire on September 30. For further details and information call Dave Shriver, Maryland Department of Agriculture, 841-5710.

The Locusts Are Coming! The Locusts Are Coming!

After a 17-year absence, they're coming soon to a neighborhood near you.

"They" are the 17-year locusts—or, if you prefer to be scientifically correct, "periodical cicadas." And according to entomologists, in early May they'll be arriving by the millions throughout the eastern United States.

The invasion will start when scores of dime-sized holes suddenly appear in lawns, gardens, fields, and sandboxes, says Eugene Wood, an entomologist with The University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service.

Nymphs—or the young of the periodical cicadas—have spent the first 17 years of their lives 18 to 24 inches underground, burrowing in the soil and feeding on the sap of tree roots.

But in May the nymphs will emerge en masse from their underground homes. Next, says Wood, "They'll climb up tree trunks, fence posts, weed stalks" and whatever other upright structures they come across. Once elevated, the nymphs will shed their skins and become adults.

"It's amazing to watch," says Wood of the transformation. "They first appear wingless and grub-like. But then they split the back of their skin and out crawls an entirely different insect—complete with crumpled wings." The finished product is red-eyed and about one and one-half inches long.

"But if you didn't see adult cicadas in your lawn 17 years ago, you probably won't see them this time around," says Wood. Periodical cicadas aren't strong fliers, and they tend to repeatedly infest the same spots.

"Consequently," he says, "you can count spotting the most cicadas in established neighborhoods—neighborhoods with many old and undisturbed trees."

But even in record droves, the periodical cicadas should do little, if any, damage to plants or people. Says Wood: "They're actually very mild-mannered. They don't hurt anyone. They're not a health threat. So we might as well enjoy them while we can."

The only havoc the cicadas wreak is the result of the egg-laying habits of the females. When depositing eggs, the females may weaken tree twigs. "On large trees, this is a type of natural pruning," says Wood. But on young fruit and shade trees the damage can occasionally be serious.

Most frustrating to people may be the loud mating song of the males. From dawn to dusk, for several cacophonous weeks, the males will "drone on and on," says Wood. Cotton may provide the only relief.

Periodical cicadas shouldn't be confused with annual cicadas—their more common cousins, which show up every summer. Nor should they be dubbed locusts. That's a misnomer supplied by the Pilgrims, says Wood. Periodical cicadas descend, but they do not devour.

Despite decades of trying, scientists still haven't solved the puzzle of the cicadas' natural timelock which keeps them on an unfailling 17-year cycle. "But maybe," says an optimistic Wood, "in another 17 years we will."

Seventeen-Year-Locusts? — No! They're "Periodical Cicadas"

PERIODICAL CICADA

After spending 17 years in the ground, periodical cicadas, or 17-year "locusts" will be making a sudden and dramatic appearance in 1987 over part of the northeastern section of the United States.

The insects will begin to emerge from the soil before the middle of May and continue emerging until late June. Shortly after emergence, individuals move or fly to nearby shrubs and trees and start their droning mating song.

Since this experience is so unique, it will be of great interest to see the transformation of the nymphs to adults and to see such an abundance of one type of insect which can be observed, heard, and handled.

Appearance and Life Cycle

Adult cicadas are about one and one-half to two inches long with a heavy black body and reddish-brown eyes and orange wing veins. Toward the outer edge of the front wings there is a black "W" marking. Male cicadas "sing" during the day to attract females and this is accomplished by vibrating membranes located on the sides beneath the wings.

A week after emergence, the adults mate and the females deposit eggs in groups on twigs near the end of branches of more than 200 kinds of trees. The eggs hatch in about six weeks and the young or the nymphs drop to the ground where they burrow into the soil and feed on the sap of tree roots for the next 17 years. During the spring of their last year, the nymphs burrow to the soil surface and emerge. Eventually they crawl onto tree trunks, posts and other upright structures and after a short period shed their skins and become new adults. The empty skins are left clinging to objects.

Damage

The only damage caused to plants by cicadas is that which results from the egg-laying habits of the females. With the aid of a knife-like organ called an ovipositor they gouge longitudinal slits into twigs in which to deposit eggs. This structure cannot harm people. Twigs in which many slits are made are often broken or partially broken from the branches. On young shade and fruit trees this type of injury, if extensive, can be serious. Generally, however, well established trees around the home, and forest trees will easily grow out of the "pruning" or flagging damage, and control is not necessary. Although over 200 different kinds of shrubs or trees are subject to attack, the females show decided preferences for oak, maple, hickory, apple and nut trees. Evergreens are rarely troubled.

Adult cicadas pose no health threat to people or pets.

Preparing For The Locust Invasion

They'll make a lot of noise. And they won't win many beauty contests.

But the droves of 17-year locusts expected in the east this spring are mild-mannered when compared to most other insects.

Still, some steps may have to be taken to protect young fruit and deciduous trees. That's because periodical cicadas (the locusts' technical name) sometimes severely damage young trees when laying eggs.

Here's what The University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service recommends:

- Find out if periodical cicadas invaded your neighborhood 17 years ago. If they didn't land in your yard or field in 1970, they'll probably also stay away in 1987.

- If you're a homeowner in a recently developed community, you're probably home free. Construction crews that tear down old trees also cut off underground food supplies for young cicadas. On the other hand, if your neighborhood is an established one with lovely old trees, beware.

- If you're living in a "hot spot," delay planting any new trees until the fall. You'll protect vulnerable young trees from cicada damage, and you'll also protect them from the risk of summer drought.

- Don't prune young trees until the fall—when the cicada invasion has run its course.

- Wrap young trees and shrubs with a cheese cloth cover. (Mosquito netting will also work). But be sure to keep the cover loose—so that sunlight can penetrate and the plants can grow. You'll probably want to keep the cover on for about five weeks, or until the cicadas leave.

- Still having problems? You may want to use an insecticide such as carbaryl. Apply the insecticide to the twigs and branches of young plants when adult cicadas are present. Follow the label directions carefully and never spray when honey bees hover. Spraying at dusk will help you avoid bees.

Check Out The Market For Herbs

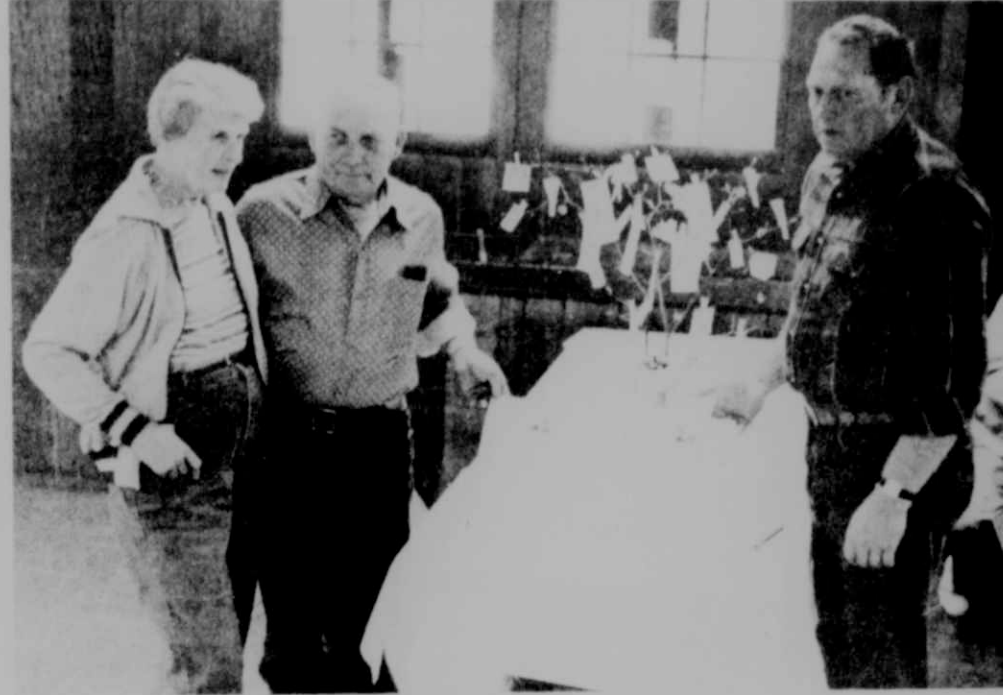

The Maryland Department of Agriculture will be participating in the first Baltimore Herb Festival on May 23 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Leakin Park in Baltimore City.

According to Desiree Mundell, marketing specialist with the Maryland Department of Agriculture, this will be an opportunity for serious buyers and sellers of herbs, as well as hobbyists to exchange valuable ideas.

Featuring lectures on various types and uses of herbs, as well as herb clinics, topiary, displays and designs, the festival includes clinics on noxious herbs, medicinal uses for herbs, herbal crafts and nature hikes to identify wild herbs.

Highlights will include lectures by Arthur O. Tucker, co-curator, Dover Herbarium, Delaware State University; Ann Loring, herbalist, Delaware Nature Education; and Bertha Reppert, writer/author, with her newly published book, "Herbs With Confidence."

MDA's booth will be located at the entrance of the park next to the park chapel. Desiree Mundell and George Roche will be available to encourage and assist in improving communication between herb growers and merchandisers. Participants will be asked to identify their interest in the herb market, i.e. hobby, buyer, seller. The Marketing Research Development Group will be emphasizing the importance of information networking in the herb market to link and identify potential buyers and sellers of

First United Bank Employees Receive Paraplanner Certificates

Richard G. Stanton, President, First United National Bank & Trust, announced that eight employees have earned the designation of Certified Financial Paraplanner from the College for Financial Planning, Denver.

Those who received certificates are Lisa M. Bender, Donna S. Bittinger and Annette M. Chapman, customer service representatives; Dorothy B. Cathell, assistant vice president & trust officer; Shirley E. Fitzwater, trust representative; Constance L. Judy, assistant vice president; Benjamin W. Ridder, vice president; and Linda S. Sanders, assistant vice president.

The paraplanner course provides training in such subjects as: communications, time value of money, insurance, investments, income taxes, pension plans, trust benefits, estate planning, Social Security benefits and financial statement and cash flow preparation and analysis.

First United reports that it offered this extensive paraplanner training to these individuals, so that they could, in turn, provide broader knowledge of financial matters to their customers.

The 15-week course was taught by William B. Grant, Esq., senior vice president and trust officer and certified financial planner for First United.

Lisa M. Bender, an employee since 1985, holds a bachelor of science degree from Frostburg State College. Her major was political science/business administration. She is married to David Bender and they have two children, Andrea and Austin.

Donna S. Bittinger has an associate of arts degree from Potomac State College, and a bachelor's degree in accounting from West Virginia University. Following her graduation, Mrs. Bittinger became a member of the First United staff in 1983. She is married to Jim Bittinger.

Annette M. Chapman, an employee since 1983, is currently attending Garrett Community College. Prior to becoming a customer service representative, she was a teller. She is married to Terry Chapman.

Dorothy B. Cathell holds an associate of arts degree in Business Administration from Garrett Community College. She first joined the Bank in 1947 and has held the following positions: bookkeeper, teller and executive secretary. Mrs. Cathell and her husband, Mitchell, have two sons, Carl and David.

Shirley E. Fitzwater has completed several trust-related courses. Since joining the bank in 1973, she had held the following positions: teller, secretary, central file clerk, and trust assistant. She and her husband, William, have two sons, Jeremy and Joshua.

Constance L. Judy joined the bank with nine years prior banking experience with Arlington Trust Company. Since joining First United in 1975, she has been a bookkeeping clerk, bookkeeping supervisor, and assistant cashier. Mrs. Judy and her husband, Charles, have two children, Allen and Aaron.

Benjamin W. Ridder started his banking career in 1977, following 13 years in the field of newspaper advertising sales. He is a graduate of the School of Bank Marketing and Maryland Bankers School. He and his wife, Helen, have three sons, Kevin, Fred and Richard.

Linda S. Sanders holds an associate of arts degree from Garrett Community College. She is currently enrolled in Maryland Bankers School. Since joining First United in 1967, she has been a secretary, audit assistant, and auditor.

Counseling Course Offered By GCC

A course entitled Techniques For Counseling, Coping and Intervention is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College in cooperation with the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Chaplaincy Service. This one-day course will be held on Wednesday, May 20, between 9:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Participants will meet in the Assembly Room of the Garrett County Health Department located in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Ministers, counselors and other professional caregivers who wish to develop their counseling, coping and intervention skills are invited to participate. Specific topics will include roles of the caregiver, grief counseling and stress management. The instructor will be Ralph C. Clampa, chaplain and director, Department of Pastoral Care, Memorial Hospital and Medical Center of Cumberland, Inc.

Participants will receive 4 Continuing Education Units (CEUs) or 4.25 National Board Certified Counselor (NBCC) credits. Garrett Community College is approved by the NBCC to offer continuing education for nationally certified counselors. NBCC approval is limited to the sponsoring organization and does not necessarily imply endorsement or approval of individual offerings.

The fee for this course is $10, payable to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Chaplaincy Service. Lunch will be provided at no additional cost to participants.

Interested persons may pre-register at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College, or may register in the Assembly Room on May 20 of the Health Department at 9:30 a.m. For more information, persons may call the Office of Continuing Education, 334-8286.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Garrett County Commissioners propose to amend the Garrett County Comprehensive Water and Sewerage Plan as it pertains to the Trout Run Treatment Plant, to include the water system proposed for Ski Harbor formerly the Deep Creek Lodge property near McHenry, Maryland, and the water system for Sunplace Condominiums located along Deep Creek Drive, McHenry, Maryland.

The amendment change proposed for Trout Run will increase the rated capacity from 75 mgd to 9 mgd and clarify the design improvements to the wastewater treatment facility.

The amendment pertaining to Ski Harbor is the inclusion of the plan for a water system for the proposed development of approximately 50 townhouse units.

The amendment pertaining to Sunplace Condominiums is for a water system to serve a proposed development of 33 condominium units.

A public hearing will be held by the Garrett County Commissioners in the Commissioners' Meeting Room in the Court House in Oakland, Maryland on Tuesday, May 19, 1987 at 9:00 a.m. in order to provide an opportunity for public comment and review of the proposed amendments to the Comprehensive Master Plan.

STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT COURSE OFFERED — State Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany/Garrett) will teach a course on state and local government at Frostburg State College during the first session of summer school. The class will be held from 9:30 to 10:50 a.m. each weekday beginning May 18 through June 26. Bambacus, now serving his second term in the Senate of Maryland, has held a teaching appointment at the college since 1972. His teaching responsibilities have included courses in state and local government, intergovernmental relations, and political behavior. He also directs the college's Public Affairs Institute. Serving as chairman of Senate Select Committee One for the three Western Maryland counties, the senator will devote class time to issues affecting Allegany and Garrett counties. Bambacus was a member of the staff of U.S. Senator Charles McC. Mathias Jr., serving as statewide campaign director and later as a part-time special assistant. A former member of the Frostburg City Council, Bambacus was commissioner of finance and revenue following his election to the council in 1976. The class will meet in Old Main, Room 104. For information regarding registration, interested persons should contact the Summer Sessions Office at 689-4201.

Lung Association Offers Brochure

The American Lung Association of Maryland is offering a free, informational brochure designed for those who need help in understanding and coping with problems associated with the chronic respiratory disease of a spouse, parent, child, or other family member. "Help for Families of Respiratory Patients" discusses techniques for helping the patient deal with the disease and offers suggestions to help family members deal with individual problems.

This brochure is useful for anyone who cares for a chronically ill person. To receive a free copy, persons may call the American Lung Association of Maryland, toll-free, at 1-800-492-7527.

Health Systems Governing Body Convenes May 6

The Governing Board of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland met on May 6 at the Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake. Commissioner Ronald Bowers, president, presided.

Ms. Carole Walker, chairwoman of the Governing Body, gave the Governing Body report.

Joseph Montana, chairman of the Review, Evaluation and Implementation Committee, reported on the Committee's action concerning two Certificate of Need applications for long-term care services in Allegany County. Frostburg Community Hospital proposes to renovate space for a 17-bed Extended Care Facility (ECF) Unit, and Perini Services, Inc. proposes to build a new nursing home facility outside of Cumberland comprised of 66 comprehensive care beds and 20 domiciliary care beds. The REI Committee recommends to the Governing Body endorsement of both projects with qualifications.

The Governing Board discussed Agency funding for fiscal year 1987-88.

Fred Tola, Staff Coordinator, reviewed the document entitled "Access to Obstetrical Care for Western Maryland Women with Low Income."

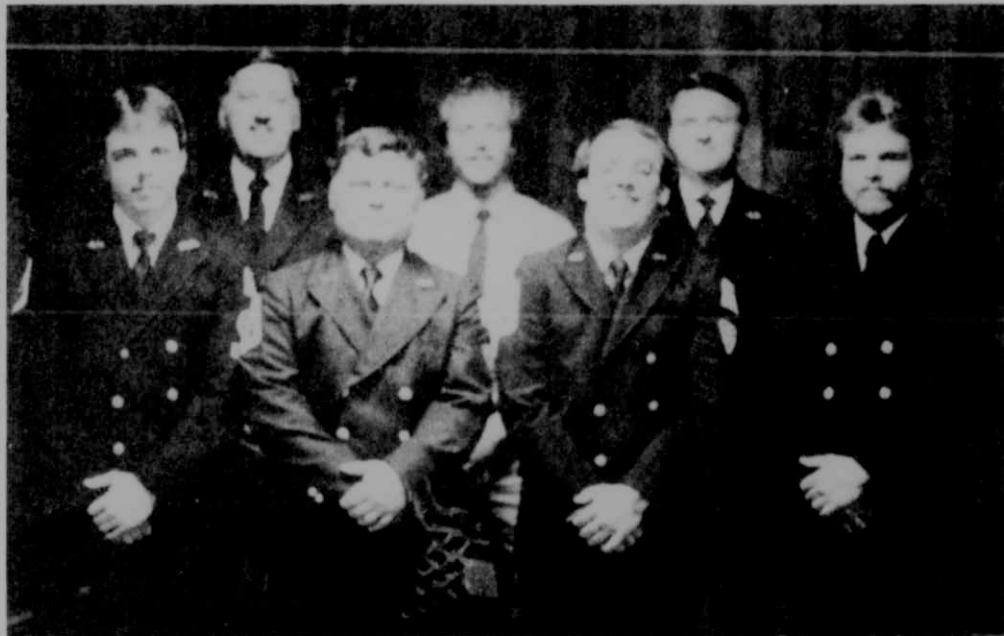

This document was prepared by Tola at the request of the Governing Board in an attempt to identify the degree to which access to obstetrical care is a problem in Western Maryland. The document gives information about obstetrical services available by county; it provides a background on the malpractice insurance crisis and its impact on ob services; and finally, it provides recommendations to the county commissioners. Copies are available by calling the Agency office at 724-1616. A nominal duplicating fee of $3.00 each will be charged.

Kery Hummel, executive director, gave an update on pending Certificate of Need applications. The following applications have been submitted to the Maryland Health Resources Planning Commission: the development of adult psychiatric services in Washington County Hospital, Hagerstown; the development of adult psychiatric services at Frederick Memorial Hospital, Frederick; the provision of home health services by Gettysburg Home Health Care for northern Frederick County; and the development of child/adolescent psychiatric services in Washington and Frederick Counties by Brook Lane Psychiatric Center, Hagerstown and Frederick Memorial Hospital, Frederick.

The Governing Board was given an update on the status of General Assembly activities regarding health legislation.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Governing Board is August 6 in Allegany County.

Those Garrett County members present were: County Commissioners John Braskey, Ernest Gregg Jr., and Elwood Groves II.

Deadline Nearing To Report Hazardous Materials to State

Businesses in Maryland which store certain hazardous materials above specified levels have just a few days to notify the state that they are subject to Section 302 of Title III of the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act (SARA) of 1986, announced a newly-formed gubernatorial Commission that coordinates implementation of the federal law.

According to SARA, industries must submit such notification if one or more of some 400 "extremely hazardous substances" is present on-site in an amount in excess of an established "threshold planning quantity," said Max Eisenberg, Ph.D., director of the Office of Environmental Programs Science and Health Advisory Group, on behalf of the Commission.

Deadline for notifying the state is May 17, Dr. Eisenberg said.

Last October, President Reagan signed SARA into law, thereby requiring the Governor of each state to designate an emergency response commission. Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer signed an Executive Order on April 14 establishing the Maryland Emergency Response Commission.

In addition to coordinating the state's activities under SARA, the Commission is also responsible for designating local planning districts and for appointing local planning committees to carry out emergency planning.

The Maryland Commission had determined that all 23 counties, along with Baltimore City and Ocean City, should be designated as local planning districts.

For the May 17 reporting deadline, industries should address notifications to: SARA, State Response Commission c/o the Science and Health Advisory Group, 201 W. Preston Street, Baltimore, MD 21201. Copies of the hazardous substances list, and additional information on SARA, are available at that address or by calling (301) 225-5782.

Originally, Superfund was created by Congress in December 1980 by the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA). Although managed and administered by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the Superfund program is also often carried out at the state and local levels of government, as well.

Garrett Realtors Meet, Induct New Members

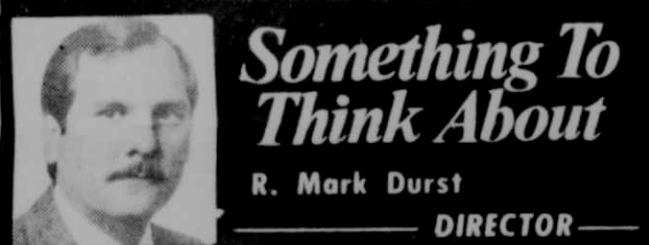

A general membership meeting of the Garrett County Board of Realtors was held at the Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake, April 30.

President Leo O'Neill conducted business of the meeting and introduced guest speakers, Craig Ingram and Judy Haley, local certified public accountants. Their topics dwelt on changes in the Tax Reform Act of 1986 and how it is affecting investment real estate and individual agents. There are still many benefits to purchasing real estate for investment, they pointed out.

Seventeen new members were inducted into the Board by President O'Neill. They include: Susan Bell, Wilda Fint, Rae Ann Frazee, Pam Holloway, Herb Lambert, Linda Edwards, Kevin Liller, Cindy Rosson and Ryan Stemple, all affiliated with A&A Realty/Better Homes & Gardens; Tom Dettmer from Garrettland Realty; Dennis Hannibal from Haywood Agency; Kim Shillingburg from Century 21/Country Time; Frank Lancelotta, Cathy Duggan & Jean Selby from Realty Realty; Margaret Oliverio from Douglas W. Spaulding Real Estate, and Wade Groves.

The following associate members in attendance were also recognized: Mike Bailor, Greg Hinebaugh & Steve Lantz from First United National Bank & Trust; Mary Lou Rohrbaugh from Garrett National Bank; Craig Ingram, C.P.A.; and Ralph Duvall from American Home Funding.

SHOULD THE BODY BE VIEWED?

Some people have strong views on this question and these should be respected. Others have no firm commitment one way or the other, and would answer such a question on the basis of circumstances. For these people, we would offer the following advice, based on many years of experience.

If the body can be made viewable, it should be viewed. It serves a number of very helpful and constructive purposes. In cases where the decedent has been living away from home, or confined to a distant medical institution, viewing can provide the confirmation that death has occurred.

It provides a way to recall the loved one as he or she should be remembered — free of the evidence of pain, wasting, or injury. Viewing is likewise considered therapeutic for people. It is especially helpful for a child who has experienced the death of one loved. Instead of relying on imagination, the child can begin to comprehend the real meaning of death.

HIRING A HOUSE INSPECTOR

Naturally you will carefully inspect any home you intend to purchase as best you can. However, if you are not a building expert and you have some serious questions about the house's structure or systems, it makes sense to hire an independent house inspector to do a professional job. If this is your case, here are a few pointers.

Home inspectors are supposed to work FOR the buyer. The real estate agent is not the inspection expert and he or she will be the first to tell you. Hire a house inspector who is totally impartial. That means someone who simply inspects the house and submits the findings but does nothing whatsoever to correct any fault he may find. In that way, the inspector will not be motivated to "discover" a lot of extra faults as a means toward finding repair work.

The inspector should be knowledgeable enough to give approximate costs of repairs as a guide so the client can make an informed decision on the house. Our office can help you find such an inspector.

New Lake Bridge To Be Opened Monday Evening

Ceremonies marking the opening of the new Deep Creek Lake Bridge on U.S. Rt. 219 will be held at the bridge on the federally observed Memorial Day, May 25, at 6 p.m.

Gov. Melvin Steinberg, State Comptroller Louis Goldstein, Transportation Secretary William Hellmann, Transportation Secretary-Designate Richard Trainor, State Highway Administrator Hal Kassoff, and other state and local officials are planning to attend the ceremonies.

The Northern High School Band will be performing at the Deep Creek Lake Bridge ceremony.

The new 680-foot bridge, spanning the state's largest man-made lake, was built by W.P. Dickerson & Son of Youngwood, Pa., for $5.4 million. The three-span steel girder structure replaces a two-span truss bridge built in 1924.

According to the State Highway Administration, the old bridge, only 20 feet wide, presented safety problems because of its narrowness and a low vertical clearance to the water of only eight feet. The new 40-foot-wide bridge will have one 12-foot-lane and an 8-foot shoulder in each direction, as well as a 16-foot vertical clearance to the water.

The bridge opening will climax Five-Star Highway Commemoration Day, sponsored by the State Highway Administration, which also includes three dedications and a ground-breaking, all in Western Maryland.

Entertainment at the bridge opening will include a performance by the Ralph Case Cloggers, an internationally known blue grass clogging group that has performed for several presidents.

Following the dedication of the Deep Creek Lake Bridge, a picnic for dignitaries and guests will be held at Deep Creek State Park.

Grantsville Post Notes Plans For Memorial Day

Grantsville Post 214, American Legion, will celebrate the Memorial Day holiday on Monday, May 25. They plan to pay tribute to their departed comrades by visiting the following cemeteries and memorials: monument to B-52 Flyers at Little Crossings, 8 a.m.; St. Ann's Cemetery at Avilton, 8:20 a.m.; Mt. Zion Cemetery on Long Stretch, 8:40 a.m.; Johnson Cemetery on Little Savage Mountain, 9 a.m.; Finzel Cemetery, 9:20 a.m.; Bittinger Cemetery, 12:20 p.m.; and New Germany Cemetery at Twin Churches, 1 p.m.

A parade will form in Grantsville at 10:45 a.m. The principal TRADITIONS NEVER DIE in Garrett County as each community plans its own special service and activities to remember its soldiers who gave their lives for their country. This photo depicts a Memorial Day parade held in downtown Oakland in 1993. The photo was taken on Alder Street looking west toward Second Street, the town's main street. It is interesting to note that not a single woman is to be found in this 84-year-old picture. The annual Memorial Day Parade in Oakland will be held Friday, May 29, at 10:20 a.m. The parade will be followed by a full-military service at the Oakland Cemetery on High Street. Senator John N. Bambacus, a Vietnam veteran, will deliver the address. The parade in Grantsville will form at 10:45 a.m. and Grantsville Post 214, American Legion, plans to pay tribute to their departed comrades by visiting various cemeteries and memorials in the area. The principal speaker will be the Rev. Stephen F. Yelovich, pastor of Accident Evangelical Lutheran Parish.

Newhall Farm Rated One Of Top Five Tree Farms In United States

Charles "Sonny" and Patricia Newhall's "Brittany's & Birds" tree farm near Oakland has been declared one of the nation's top five tree farms as a result of regional judging last week of outstanding tree farmers in the Mid-Atlantic Region of the American Tree Farm System.

The Newhalls, named Maryland's Outstanding Tree Farmers in February, were rated above state winners this year in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia in the 12th annual Outstanding Tree Farmer Contest sponsored by the American Forest Council.

The Newhall farm will now be judged against the other four regional winners to determine a national winner. A panel of 25 judges, all of whom are involved in the tree farm and timber industry, will make the final decision sometime in

Oakland Youth Still "Critical"

An Oakland youth who was seriously injured in a three-wheel recreational vehicle accident last Wednesday afternoon, May 13, remains a patient in the intensive care unit at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, in "critical" condition.

John J. Schroth, 15, was thrown from the three-wheeler after he lost control and went off the right roadside on a private road near Steyer Mine Road.

The Maryland State Police Medevac helicopter transported Schroth to the hospital. Southern Rescue Squad also responded to the accident.

REGIONAL WINNERS — Maryland's Outstanding Tree Farmers for 1987, "Sonny" and Patricia Newhall, have been named regional winners for the Mid-Atlantic Region of the American Tree Farm System, rating above state winners from New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Their farm, "Brittany's & Birds," will now be entered in national competition against four other regional winners from across the United States.

Zoning Proponents Seeking Study Of Zoning And Land Use In County

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners met Tuesday with two representatives of the League of Women Voters and several other interested persons regarding the issue of zoning and the Land Use Program in Garrett County.

Jack Fridinger and Connie Margison, spokesmen for the Board of Directors for the League, asked the commissioners if they felt the current zoning ordinance and the Land Use Program instituted in 1974 were sufficient for county zoning. They mentioned that there are no "real restrictions in rural development in the county."

The commissioners welcomed the comments from those who attended the meeting, according to Commissioner Elwood Groves II, but said the board now has the task before them of setting a budget and roads problems that must be resolved before the end of June as mandated by the state.

The commissioners told those present that they would look at current zoning laws and the Land Use Program and "get back with them" when current issues were resolved.

County Administrator Robert Fousek indicated that population-wise, 40 percent of the county is currently zoned, either by Deep Creek Lake zoning laws, town ordinances or state-owned land regulations.

Fousek also stated that Zoning Administrator John Nelson would need time to study the current zoning ordinances and land use in the county.

The commissioners also met Tuesday with the Sanitary Commission to modify the water and sewerage master plan for Garrett County.

Fousek explained that any time a new water or sewer system is developed or proposed, it must be included in the state-mandated master plan.

The three amendments made to the master plan include: the Trout Run Facility for increased capacity, the Ski Harbor development of a private water system, and Sun Beach development for a private system.

On Sunday there will be live gospel music featuring Lifeline, a gospel group from the Cumberland area. There will be music from local churches and individuals, followed by a community hymn sing and vesper service coordinated by the Grantsville Ministerial Association. Any church choir or individual that would like to participate on Sunday, June 28, should contact Grantsville Days chairman, Gerry Beachy, for scheduling.

Also on Sunday there will be a Coaster Derby Time Trial by the Frostburg Elks as a prelude to their 4th of July Coaster Derby which is held annually in Frostburg.

There will be a meeting on May 27, at 7 p.m. at the new Grantsville Town Hall, next to the Grantsville Park, for any group or individual who would like to have a booth or participate in Grantsville Days. Any local, non-profit organization can have a food booth upon approval of the Grantsville Days booth committee. There will also be space for individuals desiring craft or demonstration booths. Interested persons are encouraged to attend the meeting on May 27 or contact Gerry Beachy at 895-5177 or bring requests for booths to Beachy's Pharmacy.

Cardiac Arrest Apparent Cause Of Driver's Death

An apparent fatal heart attack was determined to be the cause of death for an Accident man involved in a one-car accident Monday near his home on a private farm lane.

Benjamin C. Rush, 66, had been operating a 1973 J-4000 Jeep when the vehicle turned to the left and ran through a wire fence. The vehicle continued for about 50 feet and struck a wood fence and large tree before stopping.

According to police records, it was revealed by medical exams and police investigation that the 8 a.m. accident was not the cause of death.

Born in Confluence, Pa. June 16, 1920, Mr. Rush was the son of Mrs. Sarah Jane (Thomas) Rush, Confluence, and the late William Rush.

A Navy veteran of the submarine service in World War II, Mr. Rush was a farmer and retired school bus driver for the Garrett County Board of Education. He was a member of Zion Lutheran Church, the Garrett County Farm Bureau and Friendsville Memorial Post 8769, VFW.

Also surviving are his wife, Mrs. Loretta (Bowser) Rush; two sons, Craig Rush, Portland, Me., and Norris Rush, Accident; three daughters, Mrs. Beverly Stone and Mrs. Linda

Industrial Park Theft Results In Over $3000 Loss

A theft that resulted in the loss of over $3000 worth of items was reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department this past week.

According to a spokesman for the Empire Construction Company, New Creek, W. Va., someone removed numerous items last Wednesday or Thursday from a trailer located at Southern Garrett Industrial Park, including a Honda engine, a Powermate generator, three Black and Decker screw guns, two Black and Decker three-eighth inch drills, 10 six-inch PVC pipe fittings, one double glass door, and various other items.

Total loss was estimated at $3,320.

According to reports, most of the items were taken from just outside the trailer door.

The theft is being investigated by Deputy W.C. Thomas.

A theft of food stamps, in the amount of $182, was reported by James R. Bucklew, Crellin.

According to Bucklew, the food stamps were removed from his mailbox, May 8.

Detective-Sgt. D.W. Tucker is investigating.

A destruction of property was reported that occurred at Bauer Home and Lumber Center, Rt. 219, Oakland, on May 12.

The crime was reported by Delbert Cosner, Oakland, who discovered on his arrival that the front door had been shattered and was lying on the ground.

According to investigating officer, Deputy W.C. Thomas, there are no suspects as of yet and no estimate of damage.

Eight Local Establishments Cited For Alcohol Beverage Violations

A total of eight local establishments were cited this week for alcohol violations by Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment.

According to Cpl. Garland Broadwater, investigating officer, the license holder as well as the seller were served summons this week following complaints by area residents of alcohol violation incidents.

The charges were filed after a State Police cadet (under the age of 21), accompanied by a State Police officer, entered the establishments and purchased alcoholic beverages.

The establishments and those persons charged are listed, in alphabetical order, as follows:

The Board Room, Oakland; Robert J. Welch, 36, Oakland, license holder, and Delores Chloros, 39, Deer Park, bartender.

Bud's Package Liquors, Crellin; William R. Reckart, 51, Oakland, license holder and counter attendant.

Fox's Pizza Den (The Winds), McHenry; Herbert McCrobie, 49, and Barbara J. McCrobie, 43, both of Friendsville, license holders, and Nova K. Matthis, 25, Grantsville, counter attendant.

Hill Side Inn, Grantsville; Earl H. Trent, 75, Grantsville, license holder and bartender.

Hill Top Inn, Grantsville; Dean S. Wishner, 37, Springs, Pa., license holder and bartender.

C.P. Martin and Sons, Mtn. Lake Park; Deepak Bhatnager, 38, Mtn. Lake Park, license holder, and Betty R. Paugh, 60, Mtn. Lake Park, counter attendant.

Riverside Lounge, Friendsville; Paul E. Spear, 51, Friendsville, license holder, and Sharon L. Friend, 29, Friendsville, bartender.

Sereno's Tavern, Hutton; Steven Lantz, 22, Oakland, license holder and bartender.

In other State Police news, James R. Shockey, 29, Cumberland, was served a criminal summons charging him with assault and battery and disorderly conduct.

The charges were filed by

Education Board Appoints Ringer As Acting Superintendent Of Schools

The Garrett County Board of Education, at its regular meeting held last Thursday, voted unanimously to appoint Albert R. Ringer as acting superintendent of the Garrett County Schools during the absence of Dr. Jerome Ryscavage.

Dr. Ryscavage, who suffered a heart attack recently, is currently undergoing a cardiac rehabilitation program and will not return to his position for the remainder of the school year.

Mr. Ringer is the assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction and has formerly served as acting superintendent of schools for Dr. Raymond McCullough.

Also at the May meeting, the Maryland State Department of Education proposal for rural school enhancement was presented by Dr. David Hornbeck, state superintendent of schools.

Seven rural Maryland counties, including Garrett, were asked to participate in the study. The study, if all counties respond favorably, will also include Allegany, Caroline, Cecil, Dorchester, St. Mary's and Somerset.

According to Dr. Hornbeck, the proposal calls for the state government, the state department of education, the business community, colleges and universities and local school systems to examine those factors, financial and otherwise, that must be changed in order to enhance the present rural system.

Although there are numerous examples of remarkable achievement and exemplary programs, said Hornbeck, each system has "important steps to take in the quest to deliver educational services reasonably calculated to largely eliminate drop-outs by the turn of the century and to have all of those graduates be productive workers, nurturing family members and effective citizens."

Hornbeck also outlined the pre-requisites for the program to begin. They include a commitment of time and human resources for a three-year period and sufficient long-term state funding ($225,000 for the first year and up to $300,000 for each of the next two years). If that funding is not made available, a sufficient state staff and other fiscal resources would be needed.

Hornbeck cautioned that the plan is not a "quick fix" and will require a collaboration of efforts from all those involved and affected. He further noted that a team will be carefully selected to produce a detailed plan of action, and will work with an advisory group appointed by the governor.

Specific objectives of the project include: reducing drop-outs to less than 2.5% per year, maintaining or improving attendance by having each school meet or exceed 95%, emphasizing teacher and administrator attendance by having personnel in the central office and in each school meet or exceed 98%, improve student achievement so that there is steady, defined improvement for each child in reading and math each year and to achieve an 80% pass rate on each Maryland Functional Test at

"THE SQUARE DANCE MAN OF ALL TIME" is how country singer Roy Clark described Ralph Case, who began a square dancing career more than a half century ago at a barn dance in Candler, N.C. Case and his dancers and cloggers will be the featured entertainment for the annual statewide Civilian Conservation Corps reunion, to be held Saturday, May 30, at Deep Creek Lake State Park. The entertainment by Case will take place at the Oakland Fire Hall. Case, now 74, has entertained three presidents and has worked extensively with such country music notables as Hank Snow, Hank Williams, Patsy Cline, Grandpa Jones, George Jones, Ernest Tubb, and Minnie Pearl. He is also credited with giving Roy Clark his start in the business, as Clark's very first appearance on television was dancing a performance with Case's group. Clark and his father answered Case's want ad for square dance musicians and were paid $2 or $3 dollars per night. "Ralph wound up taking square dancing all the way to the White House," Clark said. "He taught Margaret Truman how to square dance, and my daddy was there playing when he did it!" Case and his dancers will also perform at the official opening of the new Deep Creek Lake Bridge Monday, May 25, where ribbon-cutting ceremonies will begin at 6 p.m.

CCC Reunion To Be Held May 30 At Deep Creek

The annual state-wide reunion of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) will be held at Deep Creek Lake State Park on Saturday, May 30, marking the first time such an event has ever been held in Garrett County.

The county was the home of seven CCC camps from 1933 through 1942 and was responsible for a variety of construction and conservation projects in the area. The CCC was a pet project of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who initiated the program to provide employment and help bring the nation out of its great depression.

Each camp consisted of four barracks which housed about 200 young single men between the ages of 17 and 23. There were a few camps for World War I veterans, most of whom were over 40 years old at the time.

The former CCC "boys" will meet at the two large pavilions at Deep Creek State Park from 1 to 3 p.m. All parking by the pavilions has been reserved for veterans, many of whom are disabled because of age, ailment, or by injuries suffered in World Wars I and II.

The evening activities will be held at the Oakland Fire Hall from 7 to 9 p.m., where entertainment will be provided by the famous Ralph Case Dancers and Cloggers, who have performed with Roy Clark on television. Case, now 74 years old, has entertained three presidents, has worked extensively with dozens of top country stars for the past several decades, and gave Roy Clark his first job, which launched him into stardom (see more information under above photo).

The reunion headquarters are at Oak-Land Motel, Oakland. Further information about the event can be obtained from Dennis Abe, Box 283, College Park, MD 20740; telephone 771-1137.

Activity Buses For Rural NHS Make Life Easier

Activity buses have been on the rural roads to and from Northern High School this past year, making life a little easier for students, parents, teachers and coaches.

Northern High School is not located in a town. All of the students have to be bused to the school and many parents have far to travel, if they have the time at all, to allow their children to participate in extra-curricular activities. That is why the new activity buses have been vital to that area.

A total of 3,347 student rides have been given through the program which began with a $5,000 grant. The students now pay a minimal 50 cent charge per ride to keep the program in operation.

Extra-curricular activities that have utilized the bus system include: student council, school plays, band, drill team, newspaper staff, home economics club, S.A.D.D. club, weight training club, cheerleaders, all athletic teams, letterman club, after school movies, and middle school students participating in activities at their school.

Bus drivers manning the Grantsville route were Cecil Sebold and George and Wanda Wassell. Bob Collier handled the Friendsville route.

Ed Green, principal at NHS, and Don Douds, athletic director, stated their appreciation to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, school superintendent, and Mike Sines, transportation director, and the Board of Education for realizing the problem of transportation at NHS and for the $5,000 grant.

ACTIVITY BUSING is an important part of student life at Northern High School since the members of the student body are scattered over such a wide geographic area. A total of 3,347 student rides were provided by the Friendsville and Grantsville route buses, allowing students to more easily participate in extra-curricular activities at Northern. Students pay $.50 for a ride and these proceeds, plus a $5,000 grant from the Board of Education, finance the operation. In the photo, left to right, are Don Douds, athletic director; Bob Collier, Friendsville route driver; Wanda Wassell, bus contractor; Cecil Sebold, Grantsville route driver; George Wassell Jr., contractor; and Ed Green, Northern High principal.

Karen Spiker Selected AAUW Woman Of Month

The Garrett County Branch of the American Association of University Women has named its Woman of the Month in Garrett County for May. Ms. Karen Spiker was nominated by Polly Hanst and is being recognized in the area of "business."

Ms. Spiker, having obtained her broker's license in 1977, opened A&A Realty. Seeing a market and need for log home construction in the area, she started Mountaineer Log and Siding Company, Inc. in 1980. She is currently president of Mountaineer Log and Siding Company, Inc. and Broker of A&A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens.

Ms. Spiker is vice president of the Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council, chairperson of the Snowmobile Task Force, secretary/treasurer of the Deep Creek Business Association, and member of the Garrett County Board of Realtors. She is currently working towards an additional broker designation — Certified Residential Broker — through the National Association of Realtors.

Ms. Spiker enjoys skiing and hopes to do some white water rafting and windsurfing. She lives in the Oakland area with her two children, Tack and Betsy. Mrs. Hanst said AAUW applauds Ms. Spiker's endeavors in the world of business.

The American Association of University Women promotes equity for women, education and self-development over the life span, and positive societal change. Persons who wish to honor a woman in Garrett County or who are interested in AAUW are asked to contact Kathie Smith at 334-3249.

Millican Named New Coordinator Of Habitat Group

Election of officers was held this week at the meeting of the Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, with John Millican being appointed coordinator of operations. Effective June 1, he will be replacing Sister Catherine Arata who will soon begin an assignment in El Salvador.

A native of Crellin, Millican received his high school education in Terra Alta, W. Va. and graduated from Garrett Community College and the Howard Payne Bible College in Texas.

He has been working with Habitat as a Vista volunteer since last November.

He currently resides in Mtn. Lake Park with his wife and three children.

Also at the meeting, three officers were re-elected. They were: Duane Yoder, president, Russell Sines, vice president, and John Parsons, treasurer. David Ramsey is the newly elected secretary for the group.

During last month's meeting on April 20, four new members of the board of directors were named. They are as follows: Rev. Dan Nesembeni, Red House, Norma Schrock, McHenry, Charles Morris, Oakland, and Fran Williams, McHenry.

Those members re-elected with expiring terms were Gorman Beitzel, Bittinger, Margaret Ellis, Accident, John Parsons, Friendsville, Richard Peake, Swanton, Russell Sines, Mtn. Lake Park, Richard Tepper, Mtn. Lake Park, and Duane Yoder, Swanton.

Hold-over board members present at the meeting were: Ed Henn, Deer Park, Connie Margison, Oakland, Ed Myers, Friendsville, Dave Ramsey, McHenry, Juris Reneslakis, Kitzmiller, and Henry Yoder, Grantsville.

The following goals have been set for 1987: to build three new homes, to expand the summer work camp to three instead of two weeks, to repair and rehabilitate 10 houses for low income families and do a feasibility study on developing a tract of land for a Habitat community.

Also at the meeting, three officers were re-elected. They were: Duane Yoder, president, Russell Sines, vice president, and John Parsons, treasurer. David Ramsey is the newly elected secretary for the group.

Josh Livengood State Winner In Poster Contest

Joshua Livengood, Friendsville, was recently named the first place winner for the state of Maryland in the Smokey Bear and Woody Owl Environmental Poster Contest.

Joshua, a student at Accident Elementary School, received a citation for outstanding achievement from sponsors of the contest, the National Council of State Garden Clubs, the Forest Service, U.S.D.A., and the state forester.

His poster has also been entered in the regional contest but the winners have not yet been announced.

Joshua is the son of David and Pam Livengood, Friendsville.

Bloodmobile To Visit Oakland

The Johnstown Red Cross Unit Bloodmobile will be in Oakland at the National Guard Armory on Friday, May 22, from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m., according to Lucy Burnett, local coordinator.

Burnett noted that the quota for this visit is 175 pints and urged all former blood donors and first-time donors to "give the gift of life."

Hutzel Family Burned Out, Not Minard Family

It was incorrectly reported on the front page of last week's issue of The Republican that a mobile home in the Friendsville area that was destroyed by fire served as the residence of Tim Minard.

In fact, the mobile home was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hutzel and their four children, who lost everything in the blaze but the clothes on their backs.

The family had no insurance on their possessions and, although they have received numerous donations of clothing and other items, they still need furniture, appliances, and other supplies.

Persons having such items to donate are asked to call 796-5753.

Montana Man Arrested On Fugitive Charge

A Montana man was arrested last week by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and held in the Garrett County Jail without bond on a fugitive from justice charge from the state of Nevada.

Robert B. Lane, 45, Columbia Falls, was arrested along Rt. 219 near Oakland, while police were recovering stolen property on a violation of parole charge. The fugitive charge was then discovered.

According to arresting officer, Deputy C.P. Nolan, Lane will be extradited to Nevada.

Cpl. Randy L. Sines of the Oakland City Police assisted with the arrest. The Sheriff's Department also investigated an auto theft that occurred May 6 at Team One, Inc. Rt. 219, Oakland.

According to police reports, a 1984 Dodge Charger was taken from the used car lot by a 15-year-old Accident youth who had escaped from the Finan Center, Cumberland.

The juvenile reportedly drove to Bedford, Pa., where he was observed at a service station obtaining gas for the vehicle and failing to pay for it.

Maryland State Police were then alerted by Pennsylvania State Police and the youth was pursued from Cumberland to Hancock at a high rate of speed. He was finally stopped by a rolling road block and arrested there. He was subsequently charged with auto theft, breaking and entering and escape.

The auto theft was investigated by Deputy David M. Stoner.

THE CIRCUS IS COMING TO TOWN! — The Roberts Brothers Three-Ring Circus, sponsored by the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department and the Lions Club, will be performing at the Friendsville Elementary Schoolgrounds on Friday, June 4, with two performances at 6 and 8 p.m. A wide variety of performing animals will be featured, as well as animal trainer, Dick Stuart, who will present a cougar act with the "untrainable" cat leaping through a fire hoop. Also featured are trapeze stars, wire acts, jugglers and "Bob O the Clown." Spencer R. Schlosnagle, Friendsville mayor, urges everyone to purchase tickets in advance. They are available at the following establishments: Wall's Amoco, Youg Motor, Old Mill Grill, S&S Market, Maxco, and Friendsville Pharmacy. Pictured are two of the performing acts in the show, above, Bob O the Clown and partner Bobbins.

dent of GCC, and Duane Yoder, executive director of Community Action, have been notified of the commissioners' intentions to dispose of the facility if an acceptable bid is received.

Fousek indicated that the commissioner-appointed Continuing Education Task Force, set up to determine the feasibility of the continuance of being housed in Center Street School, will soon recommend that the college vacate that facility any way.

Both agencies now housed in that facility, under normal conditions, would have until June of 1988 to vacate. If the building would be sold, though, they may be forced to change that date.

Board To Approve Budget, Ratify Contracts Today

A special public meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education will be held today at 1 p.m. at which time the Board will be ratifying employee contracts and approving the budget for fiscal year 1988.

According to Albert Ringer, acting superintendent of Garrett County Schools, two labor groups have yet to sign contracts.

When approved, the budget will be presented to the Garrett County Commissioners for approval.

Thayer Sentences Oakland Man To Over Two Years

During Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings last week, Judge Fred A. Thayer sentenced an Oakland man to two years and sixty days in the Maryland Department of Corrections after finding him guilty of three charges.

Jerry A. Cline, 36, was found guilty of disorderly conduct, battery and resisting arrest during the jury trial held May 14. The charges had been entered into Circuit Court from District Court after Cline requested a jury trial.

The charges were filed by Cpl. Randy L. Sines, Oakland City Police Department, following a December 22 incident outside Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

According to police records, Cpl. Sines responded to a report of a disorderly person in the parking lot. On his arrival, Sines discovered Cline in his parked vehicle and, when approached, Cline began to create a disturbance, using foul and loud language, said Sines.

Cline reportedly then shoved Cpl. Sines and struggled when placed under arrest. Sines had to seek assistance from Deputy Pratt to make the arrest.

Cline was represented in court by Bill Lee Smith.

ORVs Need Regulated . . .

Another state legislative session has come and gone and out of that session there came no new laws restricting the operation of three- and four-wheel vehicles. Thousands of young people, some no more than five or six years old, continue to be injured or killed every year in mishaps involving these vehicles.

Garrett County has had its share of these grim statistics over the past few years. Right now a local 15-year-old lies in a coma in a Cumberland hospital because of a three-wheeler accident.

Many believe that laws of this nature represent over-regulation by the government, a situation that is not in the best interest of the public. They say that if parents allow their young children to operate ORVs, then that is a matter of privacy and individual right. If an accident occurs, then so be it. The government should keep its hands off.

While we too are aware of the evils of over-regulation and recognize that there are already laws on the books that seem to invade our privacy and threaten our individual rights, we do not believe that certain restrictions on ORV operation, such as age, fall into these categories.

We must be at least 16 years old, receive driver education, and pass a battery of tests before we can legally operate an automobile. The same applies to the operation of motorcycles.

If our lawmakers do not, for whatever reason, like the idea of a minimum age requirement for ORV operation, then perhaps they would support restriction of the speed capabilities of the vehicles. For example, if a five-year-old continues to be allowed to operate, he should be unable to travel faster than, say, 15 miles per hour.

Some will say that this matter should be left to the parents to decide. Unfortunately, we have far too many irresponsible parents (not necessarily including the parents of the young man mentioned above), and for that irresponsibility, the children are often the ones who pay dearly, with injury and sometimes, death. In our opinion, our lawmakers have a responsibility to do what they can to protect the innocent.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This letter is in protest to House Bill 658. If this Bill is signed by the governor, it will reduce the tax on liquor sold in the county. It will take the licensing of liquor sales out of the hands of the County Liquor Board and place it entirely in the hands of the county commissioners.

The county commissioners and Delegate Edwards and Senator Barnabus banded together in the framing and passage of this piece of legislation. The main purpose is to reduce the tax on liquor sales, entice more drinkers into the county, and increase the consumption of alcoholic drinks. They claim this will bring more revenue into Garrett County. But by reducing the tax on liquor, it is apt to bring in less instead of more. It will take more money out of the pockets of our people.

But importing more liquor and selling it will not in any way contribute to the welfare of our people and our county. Instead, it will do just the opposite. Selling and drinking liquor cannot help anybody except the makers and sellers. It will make us all poorer. It cannot contribute to the worthwhile development of our county. It will increase the cost of law enforcement. It will increase crime and it will help to ruin our young people. It can cause more drunk drivers to kill more people on the highways, and make it more dangerous to drive our cars to work and to church.

We have already seen too much tragedy in too many homes because of fatal accidents on the highways that resulted from drunk driving. Instead of bringing more liquor into the county and enticing more drinkers, we should be desperately trying to reduce the sales of liquor. Instead of reducing taxes on liquor we should be increasing this kind of tax to decrease consumption and discourage the drinking. The way our elected officials are thinking and doing is helping to destroy our county and also helping to enrich the makers and sellers of alcohol.

Surely we have seen enough to cause alarm. Bill 658 has not been signed into law. The governor is in Europe for two weeks. He will not be available to sign bills until after the end of this month.

Write Governor W. Donald Schaefer, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, and ask him to veto Bill 658.

Sincerely,
Clifford Friend

To the Editor:

During the past month I have become aware of rumors that the old building of the Deer Park Community Church is either going to be torn down or burned down. Calls have come to me about this matter since the Episcopal Church once leased this building. However, the lease was surrendered when the St. John's congregation moved to the building on Rt. 135 in 1961.

The history of the ownership of the Deer Park Community Church is rather complex. It was built in 1873 through a subscription in the form of shares. Some 51 people signed for shares in the original group. Mr. H.G. Davis contributed the most money and received 25 shares.

Over the years, there were several re-organizations of the Board of Trustees. In all of these re-organizations, Mr. F.H. Thrasher seems to have been the majority shareholder, having received the 25 shares that belonged to Mr. H.G. Davis. All other individuals had only 1 to 5 shares each.

If someone wants to acquire the property, I would suggest that they hire a lawyer and follow legal means for doing it. Otherwise, the Deer Park Community Church building still remains the private property of the original shareholders' heirs.

To the Editor:

As the summer party season begins, the tendency to drink and drive increases. The members of the Northern High School Students Against Drunk Driving Club realize this and would like to remind your readers of some shocking statistics. In 1985, 44,000 people were killed on our nation's highways with half of these fatalities a result of alcohol related accidents. In fact, 50 percent of all automobile accidents are caused by drunk driving. In the 16-to-19 age group the number one killer is the automobile. In 45 percent of these accidents the major factor is alcohol.

Life is too precious to throw away. Please don't drink and drive.

the ninth grade level. Among other items discussed at the meeting was the suggestion of the board to wait until an architect for the Southern High School renovation project is appointed to allow input from that person on the cost of a fixed-seating auditorium.

According to Mr. Ringer, suggestions from the architect would allow the board data with which to work during planning of the auditorium.

At a public meeting held May 5 to discuss the proposed auditorium, the majority of the 45 persons in attendance were in favor of seeking funds to build the auditorium. Although locating the auditorium at Garrett Community College was discussed, the preferred site was Southern High School.

Information on the update of the proposed needs assessment study was presented with selection of a steering committee begun to determine a "verbal picture", according to Ringer, of each individual school and the county system as a whole.

The committee will determine the criteria and format to be used in the study.

Also at the meeting, the board approved the articulation agreement between the Garrett County Board of Education and the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees, allowing for institution of the program to begin.

The resolution, entitled "A Common Curriculum for Superior Academic Performance and Career Advancement: An Eight-Point Program," establishes common academic and vocational education curricula between the public schools and Garrett Community College and strives for encouragement of students to further their education, be it community college, vocational-technical school or varied other types of additional education.

A positive report on the success of the student tours to Annapolis was presented by board member, Beverly Murphy, who stated that the trips seemed to be very educational and worthwhile experiences for the students.

As part of the fourth-grade study of Maryland, tours were taken to Annapolis by different classes every Friday since the beginning of April.

Murphy noted that the bus she accompanied from Grantsville had a total of 38 students

Ron Skidmore Outlines Art

Courses Program For GCC Board

Ron Skidmore, assistant professor and head of the art department at Garrett Community College, spoke to the Board of Trustees Tuesday night at a regular board meeting. He outlined the programs within his department and shared with the trustees, plans for additional endeavors.

Skidmore said, "Art is a vital part of a well-rounded education." He noted that his students ranged from art majors to students seeking self-enrichment to accomplished artists sharpening their skills.

Incorporated this year at GCC is an art gallery located in the Administrative Building. The gallery has provided an outlet for students as well as local and out-of-state artists. "Each exhibition brings new faces to GCC," stated Skidmore.

Several exhibitions are planned for this summer during the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival.

Skidmore also informed the board that an art club had been formed this past year called, "Raiders of the Lost Arts." They have had several fundraising events to help keep the art department at GCC self-supporting. Most college art departments cannot support themselves.

A new studio fee of $10 will be charged next semester to offset the cost of materials. A manual potter's wheel was recently donated to the college art department by Ginger Gehr of the New Germany area.

One proposal Skidmore discussed with the trustees was a centralized fine arts department which would include music, theatre and art.

Following Skidmore's presentation, Dr. Stephen Herman, GCC president, commended him for his enthusiasm in a thriving art department and for his contribution to culture in Garrett County.

Trustee Duties
At the Tuesday meeting, the trustees reviewed the recently revised "Duties and Responsibilities of the Board of Trustees." A preamble and concise wording of the document are to be composed by board members, Pat Fischetti and Wayne Hamilton. It will then be presented at the June board meeting.

"This gives us an instrument by which to review ourselves," said Hamilton. "I feel it was a wise decision to compile it and I think it should be included in the GCC Policies and Procedures handbook."

The board concurred with Hamilton's statement. It was also suggested that a copy of the document be sent to the governor upon its completion as a basis for consideration of nominees to the board.

Task Force
The GCC Continuing Education Task Force, appointed recently by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners to study the impact of continuing education in the county, will soon be ready to make a formal report, according to Hamilton, a member of the task force.

Hamilton noted that the group has had several productive work sessions and will make recommendations to the commissioners. The final report is expected to be presented in early June.

In related matters, Dr. Herman indicated that the GCC self-study is progressing rapidly and that a final analysis is expected by September.

The self-study will be instrumental in preparing for the Middle States Accreditation Team. A rough draft of that report is due in January of 1988 in preparation of the Middle States visit in March of that same year.

"I am confident that we will be ready for that evaluation and that we will keep our accreditation status," said Dr. Herman.

The president noted that he had spent two days recently with Middle States for the purpose of determining how they evaluate institutions and the type of criteria used. While there, he stated that he heard "good news" about GCC and how it is progressing.

Governance Charter
The governance charter recently instituted at GCC was also discussed at Tuesday's meeting.

Dr. Herman told the board that it was reviewed and that no major changes will occur in the charter.

He did say that more individual authority will be given to each administrator in various departments to expedite the discharge of responsibilities.

The president also said that it was decided that the college cabinet will now meet once a month as opposed to twice a month.

Articulation

The much-discussed articulation agreement between GCC and the Garrett County Board of Education was unanimously approved by the board of trustees at Tuesday's meeting.

The Garrett County Board of Education approved the agreement last week.

The purpose of the agreement is to establish common academic and career advancement curricula between the Garrett County Public Schools and GCC which include: articulation of subject matter, coordination of approaches to content and skills development, cooperation on text selection and design for common activities for professional/staff development.

Academic Report

Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, reported that the college would once again be producing its own course catalogue for the coming academic year with the exception of the typesetting which is being completed by the Sincell Publishing Company, Oakland.

The catalogue cover was designed by Ron Skidmore.

Dean Mitchell also discussed the summer assignments for advising students and noted the change in advising policies. Students now meeting with their advisors must do so by appointment. Each student will initially be given about one and one-half hours to fill out applications, take placement tests and be given tours of the facility. Housing and other information about the community will also be shared with each student.

The dean then informed the board that transfer students from GCC to Frostburg State College were faring well. She said that of the 26 students who transferred to Frostburg last year the average grade point average was 3.11. "I think that speaks highly for the preparation they are receiving here at GCC and for the quality of the students," she stated.

Since the first graduating class at GCC in 1973, 234 students have transferred to FSC and 88 percent of those students have been in good academic standing, according to data compiled by Dean Mitchell. "That says we are doing something educationally sound," Mitchell said.

Finally, Dr. Mitchell asked for the approval of the faculty time release policy recently devised by college staff. Dr. Herman recommended the approval of that policy and it was approved by the board.

The new policy calls for 15 hours of classroom teaching per semester and 30 hours of preparation, grading, office hours and committee work for full-time faculty members.

The board also approved the revised tuition reimbursement policy. The policy states, "All requests for tuition reimbursement must be submitted for approval by the Dean of Academic Affairs and the President prior to enrollment in any credit courses. Approval will be based on the relevance of the request of the employee's expertise and/or assigned responsibilities by the College."

The board will reimburse up to 12 credit hours per fiscal year at a maximum of $75 per credit hour. This will be subject to the budgetary process. The employee must receive a grade of "C" or better to be eligible for reimbursement.

Our Turn

The Language of Love
by Pam Ashby

When you live with other human beings for any length of time, you really get to know them. A new language between family members is often created — and that language doesn't always include words.

When you click your tongue against the roof of your mouth several times, your child knows you just said, "Shame on you for making faces behind that plain lady's back!" To which your child, with a mere snoot, conveys, "Plain, heck! She's a Neanderthal woman if I ever saw one."

On the other hand, if you click your tongue once, your spouse knows you just said, "That's totally disgusting." More effect is gained if you roll your eyes while clicking. That reveals just how disgusting it was.

If you answer "Huh?" in a very bored and non-committal tone after being asked a question, that signifies that you don't really want to be bothered at the moment. If that same "Huh?" is stated in an excited and exaggerated high pitch, it either means indignation or we'll discuss this further.

Clenched teeth in our house, with or without words, means, "You had better clam up and not pursue this any further if you value your life."

Hubby's set jaw says, "I'm the injured party here. How dare you?" My set jaw means, "I'm pouting and I want to be understood and hugged." (It also means I just cheated on my diet and I'm trying to hide the food I just crammed into my mouth.)

Inequity around the old homestead can be determined by a staccato-like "Uh!" deep from within, lips slightly pursed and the eyebrows lowered. A terse "Geez" also indicates injustice, especially from a teenager just before he slams his bedroom door.

Depending upon the tone of voice in which they are asked, entire sentences can also mean something other than the word emitting from one's mouth. For instance: "Did you pack lunches?" can mean "What the heck did you do while I was working late at the office — sleep, eat, watch T.V.?"

On my day off when Hubby inquires (not so sweetly), "What did you do all day?" I know he really means, "You obviously didn't make the beds, run the vacuum, dust the furniture or clean the bathrooms." At this point, you don't even want to know my thoughts, as my mouth gapes open, my eyebrows meet my hairline and my nostrils flare as I place my hands firmly on my hips. "Geez!"

Of course, not all the unspoken or misspoken words in our house are negative. We also subscribe to the universal language of smiles, laughter, hugs, back rubs, hand-squeezing and knowing looks — the language of love.

Local Heroes Remembered

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of accounts of local war heroes, written by Ron Friend, Garrett County commander of the American Legion, which will appear this month leading up to Memorial Day, May 30.

Paul Hoyer: Citizen, Soldier, Hero

Paul Hoyer is one of Oakland's outstanding senior citizens, but is senior in name only. Paul is still active in many local organizations such as The American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Elks to name a few, in addition to running his own business.

Paul has given much to his community since his return from the war. He was commander of The American Legion Post 71 in 1948 and manager for several years. He was instrumental in developing the Proctor Kildow Post 71 into the fine post it is today, and is still working to make it better.

Paul entered the service in June 1942 and trained at Fort Belvoir, Virginia Engineering School. After four months of intense training, he was sent to Australia, and then on to New Guinea, landing at Port Moresby. From Port Moresby, he was flown over the Owens-Stanley Mountains to Ora Bay where he was assigned to the 41st Infantry Division, 116th Engineer Combat Battalion.

Paul received the Bronze Star at the Battle of Buna. From there, he was ordered to Hallandia, Wakde, Biak, and then to Lyte in the Philippines where he received the Legion of Merit.

His citation for the Legion of Merit reads:
Technical Sergeant Paul W. Hoyer, Corps of Engineers, United States Army. For exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service in Biak, Netherlands East Indies and in the Philippine Islands from 15 January 1945 to May 22 1945. Serving in the Division Engineer Supply Office and later in the Task Force Supply Depot, 116th Engineer Combat Battalion, Sergeant Hoyer displayed conspicuous initiative and resourcefulness during the preparation for two movements of the Division and the actual operations.

By virtue of his untiring efforts, all necessary assault and pioneer supplies were available to division troops for the landing at Mindoro and later for the assault landing at Zamboanga, Mindanao. Frequently working 12 to 18 hours a day with a limited number of men to assist him, he supervised the off-loading and storage of supplies at Mindoro and later their regrouping and supplementing for the next operation. At Zamboanga he set up a permanent depot three days after D-Day and supervised the repair of existing buildings and the construction of new ones.

Through his tireless and unrelenting efforts under enemy fire, the unloading, checking, and stocking of approximately 12,000 tons of engineer supplies was expedited, as well as the collection of many tons of captured Japanese engineer stocks. His efficient redistribution of these supplies to units of the Task Force speeded the accomplishment of the assigned mission.

Sergeant Hoyer's performance of the extremely difficult tasks involved was characterized by outstanding ability, sound judgement and devotion to duty and contributed greatly to the success of the Task Force.

Paul donated his medals to the Garrett County Historical Society Museum in Oakland. They are on display in the military section of the museum.

As we approach the Memorial week, may each of us remember our living heroes as well as our fallen comrades who have given so much that we can enjoy freedom in America and around the world.

A Memorial Service will be held at the "tomb of the unknown soldier" at the Oakland Cemetery on May 29 at 11 a.m., following the parade.

to increase the amount of wildlife on the property. He set out seeking advice from the Maryland Forest, Parks and Wildlife Service. As his project progressed, he helped establish the Allegany Mountain Chapter of the Ruffed Grouse Society.

Over the past five years, old fields have been planted with buckwheat, millet, and clover, and small clearcuts have been established in poor quality stands of timber to provide nesting cavities for squirrels and birds. While improving the wildlife habitat on the property, Sonny has produced 200 cords of firewood, 268 cords of pulpwood and 39,000 board feet of saw timber.

By being named regional winner, the Newhalls keep the title in Maryland and Garrett County for the second year in a row. The farm belonging to Marshall and Cindy Stacy, "Pinetum Enterprises," was the regional winner last year.

The American Tree Farm System is managed by the American Forest Council under the sponsorship of the American Forest Foundation. Funds for the program come from forest industry, forestry landowners and others interested in encouraging good forestry on private lands.

The Newhalls will be honored tonight at the second annual Tree Farm Awards Banquet to be held at the Majestic Gardens Restaurant in Frostburg.

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK was the first full week in April, with the entire year, 1987, being designated "The Year of the Reader" by the Center for the Book of the Library of Congress. In Garrett County, the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library and all of the libraries in the county held special programs throughout the month of April along with a membership drive. Dr. Gail Herman (above) presented her unique lap-sit program of "Stories for the Season" at the Accident branch. For this presentation, laps are required for children below grade one and all children are encouraged to wear pajamas. Parents and their young children experience a time of sharing, participation and wonder as Dr. Herman weaves together her imagination and that of her young listeners. The Finzel library branch held a program on preparing a child for kindergarten. The program was presented by Dorothy Minnick, Route 40 School kindergarten teacher, assisted by Betty Burdock, kindergarten aide.

NEWS

THE MARYLAND FOREST, PARK & WILDLIFE SERVICE

Thousands of seedlings grown at the Buckingham Forest Tree Nursery have been planted this spring by Maryland landowners. Garrett County Project Forester Ernie Metz has worked with county landowners to develop planting plans to reforest cutover woodlands and to forest open space areas. Seedlings can be purchased from the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service Nursery, at cost, but seedling orders must be made well in advance of the planting season. Orders are now being taken for spring 1988 planting.

Many species of trees are produced at the nursery to meet the needs of landowners all around the State. Seedlings planted for forest buffers in the Chesapeake Bay Critical Area and to reforest unproductive farm land under the Conservation Reserve Program have increased the numbers and variety of seedlings grown. Mining companies have been encouraging the State to grow more varieties of strip mine reclamation as well.

Loblolly pine seedlings are the most sought after seedlings and are distributed primarily on the Eastern Shore and in Southern Maryland. White pine seedlings are also in demand.

In Garrett County, the majority of requests were white pine with 106,850 being planted. Metz is available to help landowners implement management plans. He will examine the area to be planted and make recommendations to landowners. The minimum order for the same species is 250 seedlings, enough for a 1/4 acre planting site. Seedlings are not available for ornamental purposes.

The 140-acre Buckingham Forest Tree Nursery is located in Anne Arundel County and has been producing seedlings for conservation plantings for more than 35 years.

For more information about spring planting of seedlings or other forest management practices, contact the Forest, Park & Wildlife Service office at Mt. Nebo, 334-3296.

HOME WAS JUST A MAILBOX AWAY — A special event took place in Kitzmiller during April to celebrate National Library Week and The Year Of The Reader. Library staff member, Dixie Wilson (above right), served as hostess for an open house at her family home in Kitzmiller — one of the famous mail order houses from Sears, Roebuck & Company. The architecture and style of the Sears house in Kitzmiller is unique, and sturdy. Sears, Roebuck & Company began selling mail-order homes around 1908 and continued until the 1940s, although the "Modern Homes Department" actually dissolved during the Depression, in 1937, when, because of a "Liberal Payment Plan," Sears found themselves foreclosing on a large percentage of recently purchased homes. Several more undocumented Sears homes have been discovered in the area. Sears provided a great number of styles and sizes and prices for their mail order homes. In 1935, a six room home with bath and lavatory, already cut and fitted, could be ordered for the price of $1,584, with monthly payments as low as $10 to $65. A top-of-the-line home, "The Magnolia," a 10-room home complete with impressive two-story-high columns at the front, sold for a kit price of $5,140. And yes, they were kits — pre-cut and fitted, delivered to the property and stacked for the new owner to build — kind of an early day modular home. Approximately 100,000 homes were sold by Sears between 1908 and 1937, and those homes are now the darlings of owners and preservationists across the country.

Auditions For "Harvey" Slated

Auditions for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival performance of the comedy "Harvey" will be held Monday, June 1, and Tuesday, June 2, at the Garrett Community College auditorium. The time for both evenings will be 7:30 to 9 p.m.

According to Jane Avery and Ben Sincell, directors of the production, six men and six women are needed to fill the cast. No previous acting experience is required to audition. The play will be presented July 10, 11, 12, 18, and 20 at GCC, where all rehearsals will be held.

For more information, persons may contact Sincell at 334-2878.

"Make A Wish" Director To Speak

Executive Director of "Make A Wish Foundation" of Western Pennsylvania Michele Atkins will be the guest of the steering committee of Dream Come True Fund of Garrett County on Friday, May 22. Atkins will discuss the "Make A Wish" program as it relates to the Dream Come True Fund which is currently in the planning stage.

The Dream Come True program is being developed under the leadership of Aloise O'Neill and Cleo Johnson to grant a final wish to individuals who are terminally ill.

Any Garrett County resident, who is 18 years of age or older, will be eligible to submit a final wish for consideration. Plans are not complete at this time; when they are finalized, patient care providers will be advised and will inform terminally ill patients.

"MARY DAILEY CROOK'S HUSBAND, GENERAL GEORGE CROOK", was the title of the historical talk given by Gerald Sword (above), known to Garrett countians as a former park manager at Herrington Manor and speaker on county history. The talk was on the life of General Crook, especially his activities in the west. A slide show accompanied Sword's talk, which was held as part of the National Library celebration in April. A series of activities also took place at the Friendsville branch during the month. The activities included a guide to income tax resource books; crafts relating to Easter; a spotlight on local authors and related books, articles, photos and objects of local interest; a discussion of new, old and unusual bestsellers plus National Book Critics Circle Awards; and a puppet show by Kendra Frazier. The Grantsville branch celebrated the month with a program by Jack Caruthers on "The Lumber Business — Garrett County's First Industry."

Garrett County has the most ruffed grouse, bears and timber rattlers in the state.

May 23-30 Proclaimed Garrett County Mental Health Week

GARRETT COUNTY MENTAL HEALTH WEEK was proclaimed for May 23-30 by the Garrett County Commissioners on Tuesday to assist the Garrett County Mental Health, Community Rehabilitation and Addictions Service (GCMHCAS) in the observance of May as Mental Health Awareness Month, which was proclaimed nationally. The major disorder to be focused upon this year is depression, which is considered a major health problem in the United States, afflicting over nine million people. Over 16,000 suicides in 1980 were associated with depression and losses in economic figures total $16 billion annually. According to

by Jean James

Garrett County Mental Health & Addiction programs are currently located in the Health Department facility adjacent to Garrett Memorial Hospital. The staff includes two psychiatrists (one of whom is part-time in Grantsville only), two Maryland licensed consulting psychologists, seven doctoral-level consulting psychologists from West Virginia University, five master's-level psychology associates, seven addictions counselors and seven clerical staff.

Referrals for mental health services are accepted from physicians, courts, and community agencies, along with individuals who wish services for themselves. Services include psychological testing, individual, group and family counseling, psychiatric evaluation, diagnosis and medication, hospital and nursing home consultations, jail groups, and education and prevention groups offered in schools and at the Health Department. In addition, the staff offers 24-hour crisis on-call services which may be accessed through the hospital, the police or 911. A continuum of personal adjustment program is offered to level 4 students in conjunction with the Board of Education.

When a person wishes services, he or she is given an intake and diagnostic appointment. This appointment will be with a professional staff person who will gather background information and in most cases with a psychiatrist for diagnosis and recommendations for treatment. Following this appointment, staff meet with the psychiatrist to determine the best course of treatment. The person is then linked with the most appropriate therapist and arrangements are made to begin therapy.

New services planned include more comprehensive treatment programs for children and adolescents. Garrett County has been noted for the unique cooperative relationship between the Board of Education and MHCAS. The Continuum of Personal Adjustment Program (which will expand next year) is a special education and treatment program offered to students in Garrett County schools. In July a child psychiatrist, Glenn Kashurba, M.D. will provide consultation, diagnosis and treatment part-time through MHCAS.

The "Lighthouse" Community Rehabilitation Program offers rehabilitation and vocational training to referred clients. It is expected that Ms. Brenda Nischan, coordinator of Community Rehabilitation Services, will expand staff and services. In addition, Ms. Nischan will develop two residential homes to provide supervised rehabilitative living situations for six Garrett County residents. The Lighthouse is currently located on Rt. 219 just north of Oakland. Larger facilities are being sought.

A comprehensive Mental Health & Addictions Prevention program is being developed by James Lighthouse — Community Rehab Program

Lighthouse is Garrett County's only Community Rehabilitation Program providing services for persons experiencing ongoing emotional or mental difficulties. Garrett County residents who are alone or who are isolated geographically can also apply for services.

Currently, Lighthouse is open five days a week between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., and actively serves 26 members.

Present support services provide members with the opportunity to gain or improve skills in a variety of areas. These include daily living, social/interpersonal, health, safety, food and nutrition, recreational and home management skills.

When asked if there was one thing clients would like to tell people about Lighthouse, members responded:

"Helped me learn how to cook, how to get along with people, and how to help my son in school;"

"It's a nice place to come to;"

"A place to come to forget one's problems for a little while;"

"A friendly place to meet people and join in on the activity, no matter what it may be;"

"I've met other people with the same problems as I have, and it is good to be around people who share the same difficulties."

In the fall of 1987, Lighthouse will be expanding

New Women's Services

by Nancy Frost,
Cert. Addictions Counselor

The MHCAS of the Garrett County Health Department is pleased to announce an expanded schedule of services designed especially for women. They involve women working with women in group sessions. The goal: to help each participant achieve her full potential as an individual and member of family and community.

The benefits of women working with women are often twofold. Empathy and understanding are easily established and working from shared experiences toward common goals is both rewarding and productive.

The group serves as a resource and strong support in helping each individual reach her objectives.

These new women's services are offered in two phases. Phase One is designed to address any immediate problems such as substance abuse or an emotional problem like depression. This phase will

Local businesses have assisted in the promotion of Mental Health Awareness Month, such as Heck's Department Store, which took the initiative to contact the Garrett County Health Department about assisting. The management of Heck's agreed to distribute mental health and addictions information brochures to all shoppers and to display the National Mental Health poster throughout next week, which has been declared Garrett County Mental Health Week. In the photo, left to right, are Liz Gilbert, an educator for the Garrett County Health Department; and Ronnie Hillsman, Bill Clark, and Brenda Leishman, assistant managers at Heck's.

the existing program to include Residential Support Services. This additional service will provide apartment living situations and residential support for up to six Garrett County residents. Also, plans are being made for a Vocational Support Service component, which will provide members with the opportunity to identify current work-related skills, through Vocational Evaluation/Assessment as well as providing guided pursuit of a vocational goal through career counseling.

CAC Transport Program Holds Annual Banquet

The Garrett County Community Action Transportation Program staff held its Third Annual Transportation Banquet at the Bittering Fire Hall recently to honor volunteers and staff.

The Transportation staff consists of Linda Green, director; Bonnie Zimmerman, coordinator; Sarah Ricketts, secretary; Brenda Carr, acting secretary; drivers Ray Teets, Vernon Strawser, Bill Reed, John Shahan, Bill Bittering, Barbara Hetrick, Jimmy Gill, Lawrence Ford, Dan Riley, Jerry Smith, Tom Simpson, Carrie Coffman, Alice Wilhelm, and Etta Jacks; Arden Green, mechanic; and F. Beryle Foy, manager of the Accident Transportation Office.

Certificates were presented to Ray Teets for seven years of service and 130,000 accident-free miles; Vernon Strawser, six years of service and 150,000 accident-free miles; Bill Reed, five years and 115,000 accident-free miles; and John Shahan, three years of service and 90,000 accident-free miles.

Certificates for two years of service and 60,000 accident-free miles were presented to Bill Bittering, Dan Riley, Jerry Smith, Carrie Coffman, Jimmy Gill and Tom Simpson.

Lawrence Ford and Barbara Hetrick were presented with certificates for one year service and 30,000 accident-free miles.

Etta Jacks and Alice Wilhelm, who have been with the program for less than one year, were presented with certificates for safely and courteously transporting the citizens of Garrett County.

Certificates were furnished by Royal Insurance Company of Maryland.

Honored as volunteers to the program were Karen Broadwater, Sondra Paugh, Pearl VanSickle, Genevieve Bowman, Alice Bell, Ann Ford, and Cora Bowser.

Special guests included Mira Riggan, M.T.A. representative; Duane Yoder, executive director; Pam Nelson, operation director; Mary Gnevy and Julie Lewis of the finance department of C.A.C.

Vernon Strawser and Bill Reed were presented Driver of the Year plaques by Linda Green and Bonnie Zimmerman. Each of them was presented $25, donated by Steyer Gas & Oil.

Those desiring information about the program or wanting to arrange for transportation may phone Community Action at 334-9431, Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Operation Swamp To Be Conducted By DNR Police

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources Police will be conducting "Operation S.W.A.M.P." this Memorial Day weekend from May 22 to 25 in the Deep Creek Lake area, according to Sgt. Robert Buckley.

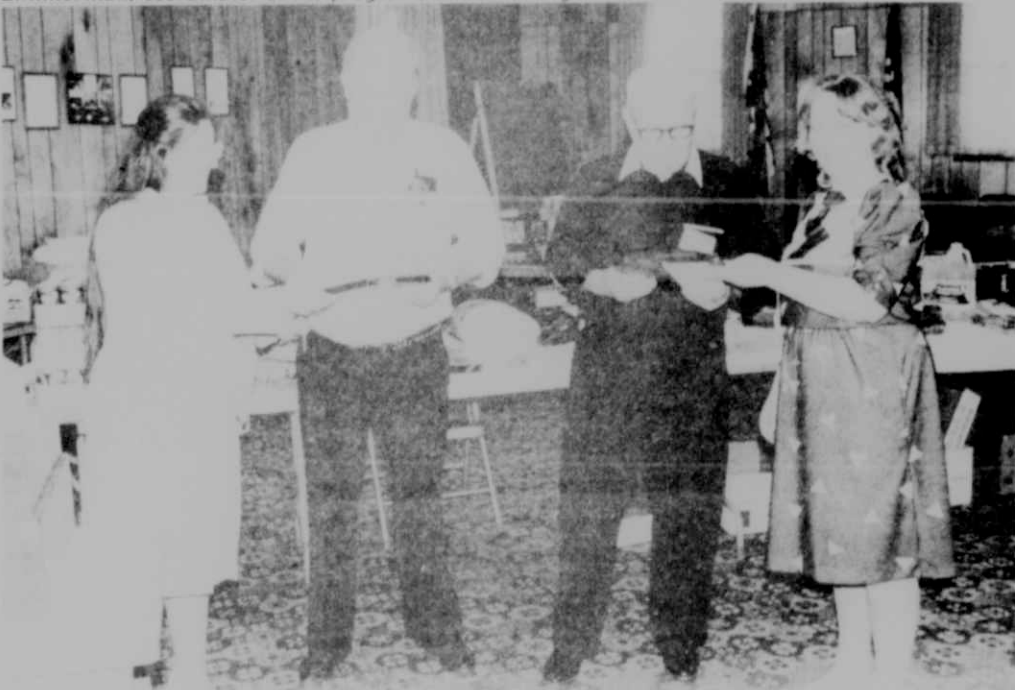

"Operation S.W.A.M.P." (safer waterways through alcohol monitoring patrols) was designed to reduce the number of boating accidents through the monitoring and enforcement of alcohol violations.

In addition to Deep Creek Lake patrol boat units, a special alcohol enforcement unit has been assigned to the lake area during this period.

Deep Creek Lake was selected as an area where alcohol violations and a large number of boating accidents have occurred, said Buckley.

Bicycle Repair Workshop Slated

The Ruth Enlow Library invites bikers of all ages to learn how to care for and repair their bikes. Terry Knotts, owner of Terry's Bike Shop, will be at the Ruth Enlow Library's garage on May 23 from 9 to 10 a.m. to demonstrate minor repairs that can be done by bike owners as well as repair prevention. If time permits, he will look at bikes brought by those attending.

From 10 to 10:30 a.m., Chief of Police John Sines will talk about bike safety. The public is welcome to attend.

Service Slated For Vietnam Vets

A ceremony to honor the 13 men from Garrett County who lost their lives during the Vietnam War will be held at noon, Friday, May 29, at the Courthouse Plaza.

The celebration, sponsored by the Vietnam Veterans of America, Garrett County Chapter 245, will feature a plaque in honor of the veterans. Speakers at the event will be Sen. John Bamabus and the Garrett County Commissioners. Everyone is invited to attend.

B&E, Theft Results In $1500 Loss

The Maryland State Police recently investigated a breaking and entering and theft that resulted in the loss of approximately $1500 worth of property at a residence on Lake Shore Drive.

John C. Denison reported that someone pried open the front door of his residence May 12 while he was away from the area and removed various items including jewelry, a computer, a VHS VCR and other items. The inventory was not complete at the time of the police report.

Tfc. L. Rosage is conducting the investigation.

A destruction of property was reported to the McHenry detachment that occurred sometime between Saturday and Tuesday this week on Turkey Neck Road.

According to reports, damage in the amount of $1000 occurred when someone shot holes through a connection box containing connecting blocks and wires located one-fourth mile from the Steiding Church Road.

According to the investigating officer's report, it appeared that the 13 holes were made by a .30 caliber bullet.

Tfc. David W. Broadwater is investigating.

A breaking and entering and theft occurred sometime between April 13 and May 6 at the residence of Dale K. Hatrich, Grantsville.

According to Hatrich, a Marin model 336, .35 caliber rifle was removed from his living room. The rifle is valued at $300.

Tpr. Paul R. Brown is investigating the incident.

Another destruction of property was reported by Donna R. Oester, Grantsville, that occurred Friday at an unoccupied trailer.

According to Oester, two windows were damaged when someone threw objects through them. They are valued at $50 each.

Cpl. Richard Graham was the investigating officer.

CELEBRATING 50 YEARS OF AN AMERICAN CLASSIC

May 17, 1987, the official 50th anniversary date commemorating the availability of Ray-Ban sunglasses!

Arnold Palmer endorses Ray-Ban glasses on a 1972 counter card. Glare protection with Ray-Ban is extolled in a pamphlet from the early 1940's.

Glamorous "Top Gun" star Tom Cruise and other celebrities wearing Large Metal "aviator" sunglasses both on and off screen have also given the classic metals a big boost in popularity.

The Wayfarer fashion phenomenon — triggered by Hollywood in "The Blues Brothers" and "Risky Business," and publicity in fashion magazines — began in 1982, and sales of this wildly popular style show no signs of slowing. In fact, 1986 sales were almost double 1985's.

A Brief Summary of Ray-Ban's Colorful History

Six years before Charles Lindbergh's historic flight, John Macready, an Army Air Corps lieutenant, flew non-stop over the Atlantic. Lindbergh achieved instant and lasting fame. Macready's feat gained only obscurity. There's another event in Macready's life that is undoubtedly even more obscurely recorded. But it is one that has been monumentally important for Bausch & Lomb. In the late 1920's, it was Lt. Macready who asked Bausch & Lomb to create an absorptive glass for use in flier's goggles. Bausch & Lomb, then as now, devoted an enormous amount of its energy to research. The result was the first Ray-Ban green glass. In 1936, Bausch & Lomb introduced our first commercial sunglasses. In 1937, we took two very important steps. Knowing that Anti-Glare could never be protected as a trademark, we changed the name to RAY-BAN. Ray-Ban was registered in March of 1937. 1937 also marked the introduction of the Large Metal sunglass. Acclaimed as an American design classic, it is the keystone of the Classic Metals collection. Ray-Ban sunglasses went to war in 1942. From 1942 to 1945, Bausch & Lomb was fully committed to the war effort. Ray-Ban lenses were part of the Bausch & Lomb contribution and were standard in government issue sunglasses. In 1951, Bausch & Lomb began work on developing a truly neutral glass. The glass was then reformulated slightly in 1952 and ushered into the Ray-Ban line as Ray-Ban G-15. Almost immediately, G-15 became the most popular Ray-Ban lens and still is today. In 1956, Bausch & Lomb dramatically expanded the Ray-Ban line and began the practice of offering a number of new styles each year. In 1972, the Federal Drug Agency ruled that all prescription and sunglass lenses must be impact-resistant. No problem! Bausch & Lomb had started making all Ray-Ban lenses impact-resistant ten years earlier. The addition of Changeable gray and brown lenses in 1974 signaled another shift in Ray-Ban marketing practices. By 1985, we offered 24 lens options. We reduced this number to a more workable 16 in 1986. At their inception, Ray-Ban sunglasses were soundly conceived, designed and manufactured to function as a superior piece of protective equipment. Today, fifty years later, they are still conceived, designed and manufactured with that same purpose. They deservedly enjoy a reputation worldwide for unmatched performance and protection. On January 19, we received the prestigious Council of Fashion Designers of America award for outstanding contribution to fashion. When Lt. Macready approached Bausch & Lomb in the late 1920's, his request was a challenge but a simple one — create a single type of absorptive glass. It's inconceivable that he ever thought that this project would lead to Ray-Ban sunglasses, with a product history that is probably unique in honors and accomplishments.

FASHION AWARD

In January 1986 Ray-Ban sunglasses received a distinctive honor — an award for outstanding contribution to fashion in 1985, given by the Council of Fashion Designers of America. These sunglasses, celebrating their 50th anniversary in 1987, have earned the respect of servicemen, the general public, movie stars, sports figures, and now the recognition of the highest fashion authorities.

A Golden Salute to the World's Finest Sunglass . . . THE GENERAL

We, the employees and management of Bausch & Lomb, extend sincere thanks to all those who have shown us continuing support. Without merchants to promote our products and patrons who believe in them, we would not enjoy the good fortune and success bestowed upon us.

Rams Ranked Number One In Area; Defeat Huskies In Finale

"We're number one!" is a cry used by fans everywhere, even if their team is not really number one; however, the fans of Southern High School can use the term accurately, as the 15-2 Rams are currently ranked number one in the area in baseball.

The poll by the Cumberland Time/News, which is determined by the voting of eight area coaches, has the Rams in first place this week, which is the first time a Southern High team in any sport has been so ranked in this particular poll. Fort Hill is in second place with a 14-4 record, followed by Beall, 12-2, Keyser, 20-5, Allegany, Valley, Mount Savage, Hampshire, Franklin, East Hardy, and Circleville. Beall was topped by Keyser yesterday, however, which will undoubtedly change the rankings this week.

The Rams concluded their regular season Monday by defeating cross-county rival Northern, 12-5, in Oakland, which was the 100th career victory of eight-year coach, Jim Bosley, making him the winningest coach in school's history.

The Rams will host one of two Region I Class B semi-final playoff games this Saturday at 3 p.m. when they take on Middletown High School. Southern is ranked number two in the region, behind Damascus, 13-3, which will host fourth-ranked Walter Johnson, 9-7, in the other semi-final.

In the contest against Northern Monday, the Huskies jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Aaron Zumpano smacked a triple on the first pitch of the game and came home on a one-out double by Tommy Savage.

The Rams came right back in the bottom of the first frame to take a 2-1 lead, as Scott Lohr reached on an error, Tim Chapman walked, and both scored later on an infield error.

The Huskies responded in the top of the second to tie the score when Ram pitcher Donnie Horner walked a pair of batters and Zumpano followed with an RBI ground-out.

Again Southern took charge in the bottom of the second when Rich Goad rapped a two-run single, giving the Rams a 4-2 lead, however Northern scored another run in the third, Southern added two in the third, and the Huskies answered with two in the fourth to narrow the gap to 6-5.

A three-run homer by J.R. Bosley in the bottom of the fourth, which scored Goad and Bobby Bernard, put the Rams on top 9-5. Lohr added an RBI single in the fifth and Horner followed with an inside-the-park home run in the sixth to complete the scoring.

The Huskies out-hit the Rams, 7-5, as Savage finished with a double and two singles and Zumpano added a triple and a single.

Besides the homers by Bosley and Horner, Bo Butler added a triple and the Rams took advantage of nine walks by Husky pitchers.

The loss was the eighth in 17 games for the Huskies.

The Southern jayvees also concluded their regular season by blanking Northern, 7-0, and finishing with a 10-2 record. The junior Rams, who have recorded a 24-5 record over the past three seasons, are coached by Ed Wildesen, assistant coach for the varsity.

The meeting between the Rams and Middletown on Saturday will be first-ever between the two schools, and Coach Bosley admits he does not know a whole lot about them.

"I do know that teams in the Hagerstown area are always strong," he said. "They apparently are a real power-hitting team and I understand they have a good left-hander who will probably pitch against us."

Bosley said he will put junior Bo Butler on the mound against Middletown. Butler has a 3-1 record and an outstanding ERA of 1.88. He has also struck out 63 batters in just 41 innings.

Bosley said that a few key members of the team are suffering from illness and injury, but he expects they will be ready to go by Saturday. Butler is still nursing a sprained ankle, Rich Goad has a bruised calf, and Max Hill has been out all week with the flu. "Playoffs have a way of speeding up the healing process!" Bosley said.

If the Rams are successful against Middletown, they will meet the winner of the Damascus-Walter Johnson contest on Tuesday. If Southern wins and Walter Johnson upsets Damascus, the game will be played on the Rams' diamond. If the Rams and Damascus both win, the final will be at Damascus.

The winner of the Regional championship, which is currently held by the Rams, will move on to the state semi-finals in Frederick on May 30.

Southern Girls Softball Team Wins 11 Straight

After opening the season with a doubleheader loss to Salisbury, the Southern High School girls softball team turned things around immediately and has since reeled off 11 straight victories, giving the Lady Rams a berth in the regional playoffs.

Coached by Ken McLaughlin, the Southern girls gained a doubleheader revenge over Salisbury, swept Meyersdale and Hancock in doubleheaders, topped Calvary Christian in a single game, and whipped Northern four times. The 11 consecutive wins represent the longest winning streak by any team at Southern this school year.

Leading the Ram effort have been seniors Wendy Bosley, Kim Grimm, and Diane Butts.

Bosley has a pitching record of 9-1 with an ERA of 1.81 plus 70 strike-outs. She is also hitting .481.

Grimm, who is 2-1 on the mound, has anchored the short-stop position and holds a .342 batting average, while Butts, the catcher, is batting .425.

Other leading offensive players include Cheri Bosley, who is batting .500; Gretta Younkin at .400; Sonya Hilton at .349; and Sandy Mason, who is hitting .318. Other members of the team are Belinda Evick, Billie Jo Everidge, Kendra Stemple, Laura Savage, Missy DiSimone, Cathie Werdebaugh, Stacy Bowser, and Miriam WHOPPERS LIKE THIS ONE really do exist in Deep Creek Lake and anglers who know where to fish, know what bait to use, and have a lot of patience can bring home prizes like this one caught by Clarence Moats, right, and Bill Thomas on May 4. This walleye was 31 and one-half inches long, a record for Deep Creek Lake, and weighed eight pounds, 12 ounces. The same week that this fish was caught, Don Ringer, a local fishing and hunting guide, reeled in two walleyes, one of which was 29 and one-half inches long and the other 27 inches long. All three were caught in the same area of the lake.

Evans.

"It has been a pleasure to be around these girls," McLaughlin said. "The seniors came together and, with the help of a few underclassmen, have made coaching this team enjoyable. The winning streak was something that came on quietly and has been something we really haven't had time to talk about. We are anxious to get into the playoffs to find out how good we really are."

The regional competition is set to begin May 22.

McLaughlin noted his appreciation to Don Mason, Don Bittinger, and B.J. Buser for their many hours of work on the girls' softball field. He also voiced appreciation to Brenda Buser, who has worked with the jayvee squad and coached first base.

Windsurfing Event Set For June 7 At Deep Creek

A windsurfing tournament is scheduled for Sunday, June 7, at the McHenry Cove of Deep Creek Lake.

This tournament is a triangle race and begins at the Court Club in McHenry. Registration will start at noon and the race will begin at 1 p.m. The race is open to all and the registration fee is $5.00. There will be competition in men's and women's divisions, with prizes awarded in each class.

Refreshments will be available, and spectators are welcome. For registration information, persons may call Dale Carpenter at (301) 387-5170.

Huskies Sweep Rockwood To End '87 Campaign With Winning Record

A winning season was the goal of the Northern Huskies and their coach, John Helmick, this season, and they reached that goal yesterday by sweeping doubleheader from visiting Rockwood, 3-0 and 5-0. The victories gave the young Northern squad a final record of 9-8.

The Rockets managed to connect for just five hits on the afternoon, as Northern's Danny Sines gave up just three hits in the opener and Ed Tabor yielded only two in the night cap, as both hurlers went the distance.

The Northern offensive attack included only a total of seven hits, but the Huskies took advantage of seven Rockwood errors and several walks.

Tony Bittinger accounted for half of the Huskies' hits in the first game, recording a double and a single for one RBI. He also scored once. Sines fanned six batters.

The second game, in which Tabor earned seven strike-outs, the Huskies put the game away in the fifth with four runs. Northern took a 1-0 lead in the third when John Sherbin walked, stole second, moved to third on a sacrifice, and then stole home.

Sherbin walked again to lead off the fifth frame and scored on a base hit by Rodney Lipscomb. Nate Emory followed with a single and later scored on a single by Aaron Zumpano. Kirby King, who was pinch-running for Lipscomb, came home on a balk and Todd Wagner followed with a squeeze bunt that brought home Zumpano.

Coach Helmick and the Huskies are already anticipating a strong 1988 season, as every member of the team is an underclassman and expected back next year.

University Of Pennsylvania Coach Ed Zubrow To Speak At Banquet

Ed Zubrow, the highly-successful head football coach at the University of Pennsylvania, will be the featured speaker at the annual Southern High School Sports Banquet, slated for this Sunday, May 24, at the school.

In his first year as Pennsylvania's head coach in 1986, Zubrow guided the Quakers to a spectacular 10-0 record, the school's first undefeated, untied season since 1904. During this magical season, the Quakers accomplished the feat of winning the Ivy League title, their fifth in a row, and became the first Ivy school to win three straight outright championships. Along the way, the Red and Blue registered its first win over a Division I opponent, Navy, since 1963.

Because of its outstanding year, Pennsylvania was voted the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) Co-Team of the Year, along with Holy Cross. Ranked among the nation's Top 10 throughout the season, the Quakers ended the year ranked seventh in the NCAA Division I-AA poll. The Quakers also placed second in the Lambert-Meadowlands Cup rankings.

Pennsylvania finished as the only undefeated, untied team in Division I-AA, and was one of only two major college football teams to finish the season without a loss or tie. The other was Penn State.

Prior to being named Pennsylvania's 10th head football coach on January 7, 1986, Zubrow served five years as the Quakers' defensive line coach.

Zubrow, 36, arrived at Pennsylvania with former head coach Jerry Berndt in the winter of 1981. A diversified and multi-faceted individual, he served as the Quakers' recruiting coordinator and academic advisor, in addition to his defensive line coaching duties. He is acknowledged to be greatly responsible for recruiting a large portion of that first freshman class in 1981 which played an important role in the resurrection of the Pennsylvania gridiron program.

During his five years as an assistant, Zubrow coached several all-Ivy athletes. His most successful protegee was the 1985 Ivy League Player of the Year, Tom Gilmore, a defensive tackle. Back in the 1984 championship season, Pennsylvania's defensive unit acquired the rare double of leading the Ivy League in both total defense and scoring defense. In each of the Quakers' five championship seasons, Pennsylvania's defense ranked among the league's best.

Zubrow is a 1973 graduate of Haverford College. An American Studies major, he played football one season as an offensive lineman before an injury curtailed his playing career. His first full-time position, came in 1974 at the Haverford School where he taught English and served as an assistant varsity football coach to former Pennsylvania assistant Mike Mayock. In 1976, he was appointed as Director of Athletics at Penn Charter School, and two years later was named Penn Charter's head football coach. In three years, he accumulated a 15-12 overall coaching record. Following Penn Charter's 1980 season, he left the school to join the Pennsylvania staff.

A native of Philadelphia, Zubrow is single and resides in Philadelphia.

The sports Banquet is sponsored by the Southern Garrett Athletic Association.

Christy Fratz Is MVP At UMBC

The Department of Athletics and Physical Education at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County, recently presented awards for the 1986-87 seasons.

Among the recipients was Christy Fratz, a graduate of Northern High School. She received the Most Valuable Player award in women's volleyball.

FOLLANSBEE™ FLOAT DRUM

DIMENSIONS:

FOLLANSBEE™ FLOAT DRUMS are molded from tough polyethylene. The 1 1/2" flange around the entire perimeter is molded as part of the drum. The flange is drilled in two places on each side for convenient attachment to the dock.

These drums are not affected by gas or oil, fresh or salt water and are resistant to most chemicals.

Drums can be foam filled if desired.

Ideal for swim floats, homeowner docks, and small marinas.

Each Follansbee™ Float Drum will support 285 pounds.

This drum meets the current regulatory requirements for Dock Floatation for Deep Creek Lake Natural Resources Management Area.

NEW TRAILER FOR BAND — The Southern Garrett Band Boosters recently took delivery on a new 28-foot equipment trailer for use by the Southern High School Band. The Boosters purchased the unit with funds raised from Friday Night Bingo, held each week at the Oakland Fire Hall. The Equipment Trailer Fund was initiated by a donation from the Oakland Rotary Club. Although the interior of the trailer is not completely finished, it will accompany the band to Virginia Beach this past weekend for the Dixie Band Festival, where the band participated in stage, concert, and street competition. The members spent Sunday at Busch Gardens, Va. Pictured above with the new trailer and band members are, in the foreground, Rick Cropp, left, representing the Band Boosters, and Richard Clever, band director.

Merrill Couple To Celebrate 50th

A 50th wedding anniversary celebration will be held for Mr. and Mrs. Delwood Merrill, Barton, at the Grantsville Fire Hall June 13.

Hosted by their sons, Darrell Merrill and Tom Reese, the celebration will take place from 2 to 6 p.m. and will feature entertainment by the "Country Gospel Singers" and a buffet luncheon.

The family requests the presence of all relatives and friends. No invitations have been sent.

Shaffers Will Celebrate 40th

Mr. and Mrs. James Kenneth Shaffer, Crellin, will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary with an open house Sunday, May 31. The event will be held at the Crellin School from 2 until 4 p.m.

All friends and relatives are welcome to attend. The family asks that gifts be omitted.

Murphy Couple Celebrates 69th

Friends and relatives gathered at the Pleasant Valley home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Murphy May 14 to help the couple celebrate their 69th wedding anniversary. The Murphys were wed May 14, 1918, in Cumberland.

The Murphys' granddaughter, Carolyn Shreve, and her husband, Mayo, were also honored, having celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on May 5.

Also observed at the same celebration were the 90th birthday of Mr. Murphy, which occurred May 9, the 16th birthday of his great-grandson, Wayne Shreve on May 16, the birthday of a granddaughter-in-law, Mary Simms, which occurred May 13.

The table was decorated with a coral, white and silver theme, using coral and peach-colored flowers. The cakes were decorated by Sandra and Susan Crosby.

The Shreves were presented a money tree, taking the form of a plaque of coins arranged in the shape of a 25. The Murphys were given a wall hanging of various dried grasses, created by Mrs. Tommy Bernard. Both couples received numerous flowers, cards and other gifts.

Over 50 persons from Maryland, West Virginia, and Virginia attended the celebration.

Lisa Scott, Russell Drenning Vows Recited In Double-Ring Ceremony

Lisa Elizabeth Scott became the bride of Russell Dale Drenning on April 11. The double-ring ceremony took place at the Beulah Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, Pa., with the Rev. Dr. Jim Long officiating. Brent Ruka was organist and Sharon Chasholm was vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Scott, Pittsburgh. Mr. Drenning is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Drenning.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of matte satin. The Basque bodice was accented with illusion and featured an off-the-shoulder neckline with the sleeves terminating in Saxon points, enhanced with Venise lace. The bouffant skirt swept to a full chapel train with ruffles and Venise lace accents. A bandeau headpiece, accented with silk illusion netting and roses, held a fingertip veil. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of Calla lilies, stephanotis, Swedish ivy and baby's breath.

Bethann Hall, Penn Hills, Pa., served as the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Darla Jones, Pittsburgh; Lisa Wilkens, Swissvale, Pa., and Wendy Fedenick, Penn Hills.

Serving as his brother's best man was Dennis Drenning, Asheville, N.C. Erik Scott and Kirk Scott, brothers of the bride from Penn Hills, and Rick Gephart, Oakmont, Pa., were ushers.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Holiday Inn in Wilkinsburg, Pa.

The couple honeymooned in Williamsburg, Va. and Washington, D.C. They now reside in Oakland.

The bride is a graduate of Penn Hills High School and is a licensed beauty operator.

The groom is a graduate of Swissvale High School and is employed as a deputy for the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Out of town guests were from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, Oklahoma, New York, Indiana and North Carolina.

Mental Health Week

Brenneman, coordinator of Prevention Services. Prevention staff have presented programs to all middle and high school students in the county and will be extended to all elementary aged children next school year.

MHCRA's now has a full range of psychiatric services available. Alan Arnoon, M.D. has joined the staff this year as Medical Director. Anthony DeMunecas, M.D. is continuing to serve patients in the Grantsville area.

MHCRA's has become a well-known site for practicum and internship students from both Frostburg State College and West Virginia University. There are students pursuing bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees.

The MHCRA's is one program component of the Garrett County Health Department. William Pope, M.D., M.P.H. while administering all Health Department programs, has been a forerunner in the State of Maryland for the development of a comprehensive management information system. Recently the system has been expanded to provide daily auditing information.

(Jean James, M.A., is the clinical coordinator for Mental Health, Community Rehabilitation and Addiction Services of Garrett County. She will be participating in the WFRB Radio Tri-State report this Saturday as an additional means of getting out information in this nationwide promotion for community mental health services.)

Sincere Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my many friends in Garrett County who have shown their love and concern for me following my father's death, Mr. Russell J. Mize, of Danville, Va.

Thank you for the flowers, cards and phone calls.

May God Bless

Letters to the Editor

The following letters were composed by third and fourth grade students at Grantsville Elementary in response to a field trip which was provided for all fourth grade students in the county.

Dear Board of Education Members,

I thank you for the trip to Annapolis. I liked the Liberty Tree. Also I liked the State House. The Chapel was very pretty. I liked how people dressed, also. The Chesapeake Bay Bridge was very, very long. And Sandy Point State Park was a nice place. The replica of the Liberty Bell was neat. This was my first trip to Annapolis. The State House dome was the biggest wooden dome in the U.S. I learned that it didn't have nails, it had wooden pegs to hold it together. The crypt of John Paul Jones was nice. The cannon in front of the State House came off the Ark and Dove. Thanks again for the trip.

Your friend,
Lori Glotfelty

Dear Board of Education Members,
Thanks for the trip to Annapolis. It was neat. I really PYTHIAN GRAND CHIEF VISITS — Reta Mercer, Grand Chief of the Pythian Sisters of Maryland, made her official visit to Garrett Temple No. 17 on April 26. She was accompanied by several sisters from other groups downstate. She is a member of the M1. City Temple in Frederick. After her message on "Miracles," the local group presented a program in her honor. Officers attending the meeting, left to right, seated, were Ellen Turney, secretary, P.G.C.; Reta Mercer, Grand Chief; Nelle Swartzentruber, most excellent chief; and Dottie White, manager; standing, same order, Mary Browning, P.S.R.; Naomi Teets, protector; Linda Callis, excellent senior; Mary Lou Rohrbaugh, P.G.C.; Rachel Wagner, visitor and pianist; and Henrietta McClung, treasurer. The meeting concluded with refreshments.

liked the crypt of John Paul Jones! The Bay Bridge was really neat. At the Naval Academy there were a whole bunch of sailors. The Liberty Tree was real nice and I got some pictures of it. We also saw the State House. The old cannons were very interesting. So was the replica of the Liberty Bell. At Sandy Point State Park I found some oyster shells. Also, when we were going over the Bay Bridge I saw a green heron. In the State House there was a statue of George Washington. I also found out that the Governor went to his office through a tunnel under the ground. At the city dock there were a whole bunch of boats. Around the door of the Hammond-Harwood House there were a whole bunch of carvings. On the upstairs of the Naval Chapel there was a 12 foot long boat hanging from the ceiling. I also found out that the State House has the largest wooden dome in the United States. It doesn't have nails, just wooden pegs. I also found out that at the bottom of old buildings they have what they call chocolate chip. It is little pebbles put in the cement that help keep the big rocks in place.

Your friend from Grantsville School,
Matthew Durst

Dear Board of Education Members

On April 24, our fourth grade class from Grantsville Elementary School were at Annapolis on a field trip paid for by the Board of Education. We studied Maryland and its history in our class this year, but to see the place we talked about was very interesting. The crypt of John Paul Jones was of most interest to us. We were interested in the Hammond-Harwood house door. It was beautiful. We would also like to thank Mrs. Beverly Murphy who came with us as a chaperone. Thank you for planning and supporting this trip. It was fun and we learned a lot. Neither Laura nor I have ever been to Annapolis. We want to thank you for providing us with this opportunity.

Your friends,
Kristi Wilt

Dear Board of Education Members,

We are fourth grade students from Grantsville Elementary School. April 24, our class went to visit Annapolis. We enjoyed our trip very much. We would like to study and learn more about Annapolis because it was a good experience for us. We enjoyed studying about Annapolis, but it was more beneficial actually seeing it, and walking the streets.

Our tour guide, John, who was dressed in a colonial outfit, was good at explaining the history of Annapolis. We liked the House of Delegates and the

Dear Board of Education Members,

I liked the State House, the dome was very big. The Liberty Tree was the biggest tree I ever saw. The Naval Academy Chapel had two Pipe Organs. Our tour guide told us that the smallest pipe was about the size of a pencil. We saw a cannon that was dredged out of the harbor. I thought the crypt of John Paul Jones was scary. But it was a lot of fun. Mrs. Murphy told us a lot about some places. We saw a copy of the Liberty Bell. I really enjoyed the trip. It was nice of you to pay for it.

Thank you,
Trey Mast

Dear Board of Education Members,

I liked the trip. Thanks for paying for the trip to Annapolis. I have never been to Annapolis. It was cool looking. I liked the State House and the Naval Academy the best. The best thing at the Naval Academy was the crypt of John Paul Jones and the swords and stairs where the crypt was. I liked the Chesapeake Bay Bridge except I'm scared of heights. I also liked the statue of George Washington in the State House.

Sincerely,
Julie Handwerk
Amy Glotfelty

Dear Board Members,

I am a fourth grade student at Grantsville School. On April 24, 1987 our class visited Annapolis. The part I liked was the State House. It was really nice inside. The floor of the State House was made of marble. The dome on top of the State House is the largest wooden dome in the U.S. Back then they didn't have nails so they had to use wooden pegs to hold the large dome up.

The trip was really nice. I will never forget it.

Your Annapolis friend,
Jason Cutler

Dear Board of Education Members,

I am a fourth grade student from Grantsville Elementary School. On April 24, 1987 our class went on a trip to Annapolis. I enjoyed the trip very much. It's nice to study something in the class, but it's completely different actually going to that place. The things I enjoyed the most were the crypt of John Paul Jones, the Naval Academy Chapel, the Statue of Tecumseh and the docks.

Your friend,
Amie McKenzie

I also liked marble staircases in the state house. I also liked silver cups in the State House. I liked the cannon off the Ark and the Dove. I liked the replica of the Liberty Bell. I really liked it. Well, thanks for the trip again.

Your friend,
Benjamin Dyer

Dear Board of Education,

I thought the crypt of John Paul Jones was interesting. I thought the stuff on it was fascinating. I thought the interesting thing about the Liberty Tree was that it was so huge! I thought going across the Chesapeake Bay Bridge was fun! The Chesapeake Bay Bridge is very, very long. The Chapel is very fancy. I wish our church was as fancy as that. At Sandy Point State Park we could see the Chesapeake Bay Bridge. I've been to Annapolis before when I was five. I thought the State House was beautiful. The cannon by the State House was from the Ark and the Dove. In the olden days they used a twist of tobacco as money. They took a block of tea and chipped some off and made tea. The streets are made of bricks. There is a plaque where George Washington resigned. We looked up and saw where the Governor's office is. The State House has the biggest wooden dome in the U.S.

Sincerely,
Marina Combs

Thank You

We would like to express our thanks and appreciation to all our many friends and relatives for their kindness shown to us as we celebrated our 50th wedding anniversary.

Thank you for the beautiful cards, gifts, letters, flowers and for all those who shared in our wonderful day.

God Bless You All
Rev & Mrs. Paul Poland

IGB's Spotted

IGB's (Identified Grounded Balloons) were found in Garrett County again this past week at the height of balloon season. Gil Bernasoli from the Deep Creek Lake area retrieved a balloon that had traveled from New Lebanon, Ohio. The balloon had been launched by Gordon Graff and Clarence Gilmer from the Royal Villa Care Center.

Another balloon was found yesterday by Tom Hauser in a cornfield on the Underwood Road. The balloon was from Jason Johnson, West Newton School in Pennsylvania.

Voters League To Meet Monday

The monthly meeting of the League of Women Voters of Garrett County will be held Monday, May 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland.

According to a spokesman for the League, those in attendance will attempt to reach consensus on what action, if any, the League and other interested citizens should take to preserve and/or enhance the Garrett County recreational/tourist experience.

The League has had two information gathering meetings of this subject, one in January 1986 and another in March of this year. Since the March meeting, other related issues have surfaced, such as the moratorium on sewer permits at Deep Creek Lake, discussion on extending the lake sewer system, and controversy on issuance of permits for multiple docking facilities when the Department of Natural Resources is still involved in a study on lake use limits.

At the meeting the original agenda items will also be reviewed.

AAUW Issues Name Grant For Patricia Powers

The late Patricia Powers, who was a member of the Garrett Branch of the American Association of University Women, has been remembered by the branch with a name grant to the AAUW Educational Foundation for $500.

Mrs. Powers, whose untimely death occurred in January of this year, was "a valuable member" of the local branch, according to Martha Jachowski, president. "Pat sparked enthusiasm, followed by creativity and effort in many of our activities and programs," she said.

After obtaining a degree at the University of Maryland, Mrs. Powers worked as a home economist for a power company and, at the time of her death, was a home economics instructor at Southern High School. Her husband, Tom, and daughters, Tiffany and Ainsley, survive her.

This is the 13th name grant given by the local AAUW branch in memory of or in honor of members. A total of $6,500 has been contributed for higher education of women, where the need is great, to train women for college teaching, research, and other areas requiring advanced learning.

The Garrett Branch, which has a chief goal of education, also offers and annual scholarship for a local woman beginning college-level education at Garrett Community College. The branch also contributed a dollar per member to the newly established Judith Resnick American Fellowship.

Sons Of The American Legion Elect Officers For Squadron 71

Newly elected officers of American Legion, Proctor Kildow Post 71, Sons of the American Legion Squadron 71 were installed by County Commander Ron Friend on May 4. The Oakland Proctor Kildow Sons of the American Legion Squadron 71 is the first squadron in Garrett County. It was officially first endorsed by American Legion County Commander Ron Friend and Commander Ernie Strobel on February 12. The second endorsement was by Commander Michael Reagan, American Legion Department of Maryland, on February 15. The final endorsement was March 5 by Robert W. Panogle, National adjutant.

The official charter and charter membership scroll were presented to Commander Friend at the American Legion Department of Maryland Executive Committee meeting at Westernport Victory Post 155 Sunday, May 17.

The Proctor Kildow Squadron 71 is growing, according to Friend, with membership doubling since March. All male descendants, adopted sons and step-sons of members of the American Legion, and of

Warnick Certified As "Master Technician"

Robert Warnick has recently been certified as a "Master Technician" by the Pennsylvania Petroleum Association.

For certification as a "Master Technician", oil burner service technicians must successfully attain a passing grade in an established series of tests and attend various approved courses of training conducted by the Pennsylvania Petroleum Association.

The Pennsylvania Petroleum Association also announces that Jim Cesnick and Rob Heilig have successfully completed technical training and met the requirements for certification as a "Basic Oil Heat Technician."

Warnick, Cesnick and Heilig are employed as service technicians with A.D. Naylor's Contracting in Oakland.

Braskey To Speak At Deer Park Memorial Service

Commissioner John Braskey will speak at the annual Memorial Day service, sponsored by the Deer Park Homemakers' Club at the Deer Park Cemetery on Saturday, May 30, at 2 p.m.

This year will mark the 33rd consecutive annual service held by the club for Memorial Day.

Should there be rain, the group will gather at the Deer Park United Methodist Church on Church Street in Deer Park.

Lions Club To Pick Up Trash

The Grantsville Lions Club will assist area residents this Saturday by picking up large, bulky items of furniture or appliances that are being disposed of and hauling them to the pick-up site designated by the county commissioners.

Persons having such items are asked to contact the Club by telephoning Fred Holliday at 895-5208. The Lions will pick up the items this Saturday, May 23, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A graduation celebration was held at the State Line United Methodist Church on Sunday evening to honor two graduates from Northern High School, Misses Susie Kolbfleisch and Melissa Lapp. Each received a Bible with her name engraved on it. Brian Perry conducted the service, assisted by Mrs. Flo Tissue, and singing was led by the Sunday School superintendent, Harold Schmidt. Refreshments were served in the social room following the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Golden and daughters were among those attending graduation exercises at West Virginia University, Morgantown, on Sunday, where the Golden's daughter, Sherri, was a graduate. The Golden's entertained at their home on Saturday with a graduation party honoring their daughter, with many friends, neighbors and relatives attending.

Thursday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanft were Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hanft and daughter, Addison, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanft attended the Loyola College Reserve Officers' Training Corps Commissioning Ceremony, Baltimore, on Saturday, where their daughter, Melrose, received a commission in the grade of Second Lieutenant, and attended a supper reception at Melrose's apartment, where the food was prepared by her sister, Mrs. Juanita Johnson. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kuser and son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Needer and daughters, Reisterstown; James Short, Sykesville; Mrs. Teresa Kimmell, Finksburg; and Miss Lynette Johnson. Melrose's roommate, Miss Laura Taylor and friend, Terri, also attended the commissioning ceremony. Lynette Johnson was a Friday overnight guest of her aunt, Melrose. Mr. and Mrs. Hanft returned to their home here on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schwing were Wednesday visitors of Mrs. Edith Dean, Buckhannon, W.Va. She was a former teacher at the Accident Elementary School. Mr. and Mrs. Schwing were among those attending the Hospice Memorial Service and picnic on Sunday afternoon at Camp Hickory.

Several families from this community attended the spaghetti dinner on Sunday at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Grantsville, where free will donations were accepted to help the medical expenses of the pastor of the five churches in the Grantsville Methodist Charge, Rev. Powell Hall, who had to undergo surgery several times at Georgetown University Hospital, Washington, D.C. Lloyd and Glenn Alexander,

Garrett County BPW Members Attend Convention

Lisa C. Thayer, president, and Phyllis Buckel, vice president, were delegates from the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club to the 57th Annual Convention Business and Maryland Federation of BPW held in Oxon Hill May 14-17. Garrett County's Young Careerist Catherine R. Daniels and Past State President Phyllis Trickett also attended.

The delegates actively participated in the BPW and internal and external political process. They voted on a legislative platform which includes economic equity, family-oriented personnel policies, and women's health care issues as priorities for 1987-1988.

Elections were held and the following officers were installed: president, Annette J. Funn from Upper Marlboro and Central Prince George's BPW; president-elect, Bea Gordon from Bethesda and Bethesda-Chevy Chase BPW; first vice president, D. Anita Small from Brandywine and Southern Prince George's BPW; second vice president, Bea Gordon; recording secretary, Rosemary Mott-Say-Ranier from Towson and Towson-Towson BPW; and treasurer, Ethel B. Van from Owings and Calvert County BPW.

Funn follows Doris J. Houdeschildt from Lanham and College Park BPW as president. She is a microbiologist employed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration as a Consumer Affairs Specialist. "Let Us Take Action and Rise Above Mediocrity" is her theme for the year.

BPW/md represents working women in 33 local organizations throughout Maryland. BPW/md is part of a national network of 3500 local organizations. BPW/md is the world's oldest and largest organization of working women.

Persons may call Lisa C. Thayer at 334-9312 or 334-9622 for further information about BPW.

Farewell Dinner To Be Held For Rev. Mahoney

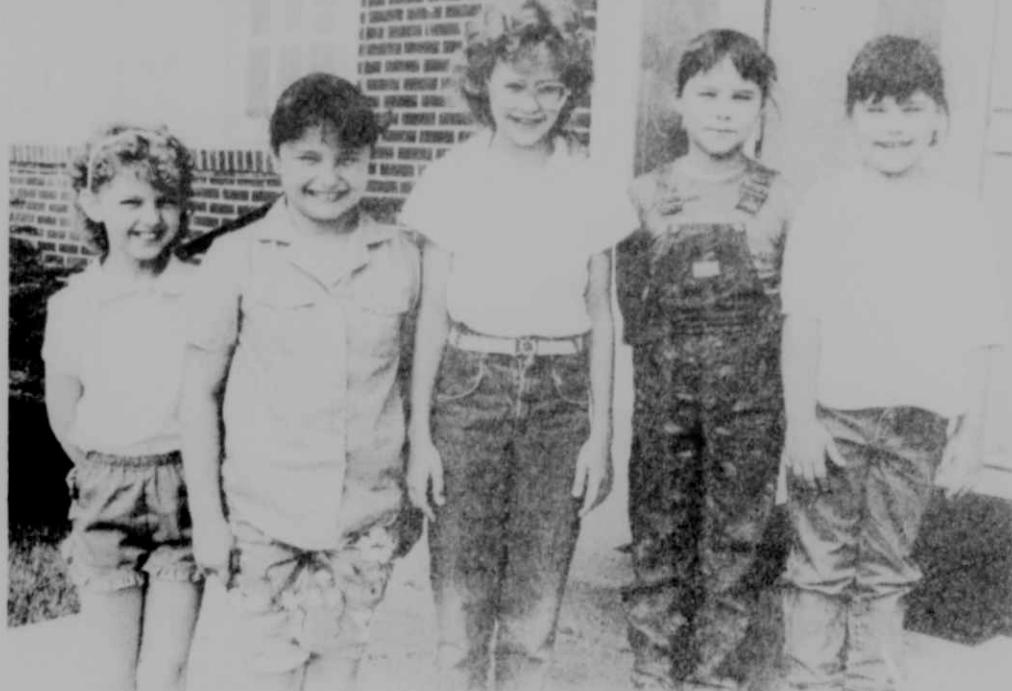

Rev. Dr. David F. Mahoney, who has served as pastor of the Bethel United Methodist Church in Mtn. Lake Park for four years, has been assigned to St. John's United Methodist Church in New Martinsville, W. Va. His last sermon at Bethel will be on June 7.

Dr. Mahoney will be honored by members of the church at a covered dish farewell dinner following church service this Sunday, May 24. All members are invited to attend.

Dr. Mahoney has served as pastor of churches in North Carolina, Georgia, Massachusetts, West Virginia, and Maryland. His interests include philosophy, fiction writing, and historical research.

Several books have been written and published by Dr. Mahoney, including a collection of poems, "Anthology of Modern Day Poets and Authors"; the book, "In The Tradition of Baruch"; dealing with the methodology of local church history; "Stairs of the Years"; and "Melting Times", a history of West Virginia and Garrett County, Maryland, United Methodistism.

Dr. Mahoney was appointed to Bethel United Methodist Church in 1983, and has served since then until the present as TALENTED YOUNG PEOPLE who happen to be students at Red House Elementary School were recently declared winners of that school's annual talent show and the top two finishers went on to represent the school in the county-wide show, held April 25 at Northern High School. Pictured above, left to right, are Holly Stoner, who won first place with her vocal solo; Amanda Stoner, who placed second with a clarinet solo; and Jamie, Beth and Amy Herrington, who took third with their dance routine. NATIVE AMERICANS VISIT LOCAL SCHOOLS — Members of the American Indian Tribal Cultural Organization, Inc. (AITCO) spoke to pupils at Northern High School, Loch Lynn Elementary School and Accident Elementary School while visiting Garrett County last week. On Tuesday, May 12, four AITCO members presented talks on various aspects of Native American culture at Northern High School. Michael Nephew, right, who is Seneca Cayuga, explained to the students how the founding fathers drew heavily on the principles of the government of the Six Nations of the Iroquois League when writing the American Constitution. Michael answered many of the students' questions about this interesting topic. The questions Michael was asked most often, however, were, "How long has your hair been growing to get that long?" (Since 1974), and "Are you married?" (Not telling!) Mona Masoka, not pictured, spoke on the history and folklore of her people, the Sioux. Kathy Frick, left, and Carolyn Strickel (Creek Cherokee) gave presentations on several areas of Indian life, music, dance and art. On Wednesday, May 13, Carolyn Strickel and Kathy Frick spoke to third, fourth and fifth grade classes at Loch Lynn and Accident Elementary Schools. Demonstrations of Indian music and dance and examples of traditional Indian clothing were featured in the presentations. Small gifts of Indian necklaces were given to five students who had celebrated a birthday during the week. AITCO is a non-profit organization of Native Americans and interested non-Native Americans based in the Washington, D.C. area, and includes members from Maryland and seven other states and Canada.

AITCO's 1987 pow wow is scheduled for July 11 and 12 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, McHenry. The public is invited to attend this event.

The Federation Speaks

by William C. Hogan

As many people in education are aware, the St. Louis school system has decided to base teacher performance on how well their students do on standardized tests, either directly or by improvement over the school year. Teachers whose students didn't perform well would be rated unsatisfactory and be subject to dismissal.

Francis J. Breslin thinks that if strict accountability is good for teachers, it might be worth a try elsewhere. Breslin's first suggestion deals with parents:

"Parents should be evaluated on their children's behavior. If children act responsibly . . . their parents should receive a good rating. On the other hand, if their children are disrespectful and rowdy, their parents should receive a poor rating."

Like the superintendent in St. Louis, Mr. Breslin would give little weight to good intentions or honest effort. Never mind that parents worked many long hours to provide for their children. The bottom line of this evaluation is that rotten kids equals rotten parents.

Mr. Breslin feels that this evaluation process would work just as well for the medical profession and religious leaders. Concerning doctors, they would be evaluated based on their patient's health.

"It wouldn't matter that there is no cure or that a disease may be hereditary. It wouldn't matter that they begged their patients to take their medicine or to stop smoking. These doctors are just not motivating. They're ineffective. They should lose their licenses."

According to Breslin, clergymen should be judged by the virtue, or lack of it, found in their flocks. Once again, as with the St. Louis school system, personal example or honest effort mean nothing.

"It would be beside the point that the man of the cloth would be a saint whose goodness and warmth inspired all whom he met. . . and urged all to lead the good life. If there were repro-bates or malicious gossips in this fold, he should be defrocked."

Mr. Breslin sees great mental benefits for these types of accountability: what a relief to the chain smoker on his deathbed to know that it wasn't his fault he was dying of cancer, but the doctor's for not convincing him to give up his four packs a day habit, or the reprobate who, sitting in jail, knows it's not his fault, but the clergyman's, who failed to reach him.

Picture this: On the Judgment Day, the Lord will separate the saints from the sinners and sends the sinners to eternal damnation, the Father will look and say, "My Son, so few saints, and so many sinners? Thou has not done thy job? Thou has not gotten through!"

Sounds pretty silly doesn't it? No sillier than to judge a teacher and make him entirely responsible for student performance based on standardized tests.

Cecelia Brant, Mrs. Kathleen Wentz, Accident, and Mrs. Helen Harman returned to their respective homes on Sunday evening. They were among the 44 people taking the senior citizen trip to Holland, Mich., on Wednesday, with Ernest Spoerlein, being the tour coordinator. They toured a shoe factory, the Delft Pottery factory, watched a parade of 100 bands and saw fields of tulips.

Miss Lois Maust, Cumberland; Miss Debbie Maust, Morgantown, W.Va.; and their mother, Mrs. Markel Maust, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Urbane Maust, Reisterstown. Mrs. Maust, Lois and Debbie attended a concert given by the Handel Choir at Baltimore on Sunday, where Mrs. Maust's brother, Philip Miller, Baltimore, is a member of the choir. They were Sunday overnight guests of Philip and his wife at Baltimore and returned to this community Monday evening.

TRADITIONAL INDIAN DRESS, DANCE AND MUSIC — Traditional clothing of the Native American Indian was worn by Carolyn Strickel (left) and Kathy Frick during their presentation to Loch Lynn and Accident elementary students while visiting Garrett County last week representing the American Indian Tribal Cultural Organization (AITCO). The object the women are holding between them is a women's dance shawl with 14-inch trim which may be carried over one arm as the dancer gracefully circles the arena, or may be wrapped around the dancer's shoulders as she kicks and spins in the distaff version of the fancy dance. Carolyn and Kathy are wearing the basic regalia consisting of a dress or skirt and blouse covered with exquisite beadwork. In Carolyn's hair (left) are beaded plates, while Kathy wears fur pendants in her hair. Native American ladies have worn bells for as long as is known, the students were told. In the old days, they were used as portable tool kits — no lady was without her small pouch, knife sheath and awl case. Today the tradition continues. The bells can be beaded, or decorated with silver conchos. A lady dancer will often have something in her hand. She may carry a beaded bag, or a fan which she will use in modesty and propriety to cover a smile. Traditional dress will be worn by both the women and the men dancers at the annual pow wow July 11 and 12 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. The public is invited to attend to watch the dancing, and to browse through vendor's displays of Native American crafts, which will be for sale, and enjoy Native American food.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt were Mrs. Patricia Woods and daughter, Theresa, Cumberland; Mrs. Schmidt and daughter, Pamela, and Mrs. Woods and daughter, spent the afternoon at Fort Necessity and were sightseeing at the Mt. Washington Tavern and at the Toll House at Addison, Pa. Guests of the Schmidts for a cook-out that evening were Mrs. Woods and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Schmidt and son, Sam, and Miss Betty Schmidt.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Stemple and daughter, Jessica, were among those attending the FFA Banquet on Saturday evening at Northern High School and were among the visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Golden.

Mr. and Mrs. Charly Ahern, Oakland; Miss Lena Giotfelly, Accident; Mr. and Mrs. James Friend, McHenry; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ringer, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ringer, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ringer and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hoffman and family were all Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Friend, McHenry. The occasion was to celebrate the first birthday anniversary of Amanda Friend. Amanda's mother, Mrs. Danny Friend, and great-grandmother, Mrs. Charles Ringer, also observed birthday anniversaries the same day, May 16. Her great-great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Albert Ringer, also had a birth date the same day.

Spending two weeks vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kolbfeisch, are Mrs. Ronnie Stark and twins, Herndon, Va. Another guest for a few days last week was Mrs. Peggy Osmond, Frederick. Saturday evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. James Kelley and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kelley and son, Rockville.

Mrs. Cleda Baker, Grantsville, was a Monday afternoon visitor of Mrs. Hazel Oester. Sunday evening visitors of Mrs. Oester were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Butler, Grantsville.

Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Artice for a cookout were Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Artice and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tomblin and family, Accident, and Mrs. Zella Green.

Wednesday dinner guests of Mrs. Alfreda Friend were Mrs. Virginia Fike, Confluence, Pa., and Elmer Hanft. Sunday dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson and sons, Friendsville. Elmer Hanft was a supper guest.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman during the week were Amanda Baker, Uniontown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hockman, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Long and children, Beth and J.R., Miss Mildred Wucik and Betty Darlington.

The Garrett County School Board in 1900 barred married women from teaching in public schools.

Pet Pointers

SIMPLE PRECAUTIONS TAKE HEAT OFF PETS

Warmer temperatures and sunny days ahead beckon pets and people to the great outdoors. But too much heat and sun can be harmful, even deadly, to cats and dogs, according to the Maryland Veterinary Medical Association.

Animals do not have sweat glands, and therefore, do not perspire like humans and can overheat quickly. Extreme heatstroke can result in brain damage or death. A little common sense, however, can minimize the chances of a serious incident. Pets pant in an attempt to cool themselves. Their lungs are a part of their cooling system. They must have cool air available for this cooling system to work properly.

Never leave pets (or children), in a closed parked car. Within minutes, interior temperatures can soar to lethal levels of up to 160 degrees. At this temperature, pets can suffer heat-stroke, severe brain damage, or death. Keeping the errand short won't make the difference. The car heats up much too quickly. Parking in the shade won't solve the problem, either, as the expression, "ninety in the shade," confirms. Cracking the windows is fruitless. If it's that hot out, the pet needs to be exposed to much more ventilation than small cracks can provide. There is an option, however, Veterinarians advise, "If it's going to be hot or humid and you need to travel, leave your pet at home."

Animals kept outdoors should have access to shade and fresh water. Temporary shelter can be made by placing a blanket over wooden crates or lawn furniture. Limit exercise and play periods to the cooler times of the day. Remember that the sun moves—a shady area may soon be in full sunlight.

Inside the house, adequate ventilation should be provided with screened, open windows, air conditioning or fans.

An overheated animal will pant heavily, slobber from the mouth, vomit and/or experience diarrhea. Collapse or coma is possible. When this happens, body temperature must be reduced quickly by soaking the animal with cold water, gently massaging the legs and body. Provide small amounts of water, give artificial respiration if necessary and promptly seek veterinary advice.

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup Pickapeppa sauce

3 tablespoons vegetable oil

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup Worcestershire sauce

3 tablespoons Burgundy or other dry red wine

3 tablespoons red wine vinegar

2 $\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons brown sugar

2 cloves garlic, minced

Prick both sides of steak with fork, and place in a large shallow pan.

Combine remaining ingredients; pour over steak. Cover; marinate 24 hours in refrigerator, turning occasionally.

Remove steak from marinade. Grill over hot coals 4 to 5 minutes on each side, or until desired degree of doneness. To serve, slice steak across grain in thin slices. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

LEMON CHICKEN

1 (6-ounce) can frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed and undiluted

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup soy sauce

1 teaspoon seasoned salt

1 teaspoon celery salt

$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon garlic powder

2 ($2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3-pound) broiler-fryers, cut up

Lemon slices (optional)

Combine first 5 ingredients; stir well.

Place chicken on grill over medium-hot coals. Grill about 15 to 20 minutes, turning frequently. Brush with sauce, and grill an additional 30 to 35 minutes or until desired degree of doneness, basting and turning frequently. Garnish with lemon slices, if desired. Yield: 8 servings.

MARINATED KABOBS

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup lemon-lime carbonated beverage

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup dry sherry

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup soy sauce

3 tablespoons sugar

3 tablespoons vinegar

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon garlic powder

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper

2 pounds ($1\frac{1}{2}$ -inch-thick) boneless sirloin steak, cut into 1-inch chunks

$\frac{1}{2}$ pound fresh medium mushroom caps

1 pint cherry tomatoes

2 onions, cut into eighths

2 green peppers, cut into 1-inch pieces

1 small fresh pineapple, cut into 1-inch pieces

Combine first 8 ingredients, mixing well; pour into a large shallow dish. Add meat; cover and marinate at least 2 hours in the refrigerator, turning meat occasionally.

Remove meat from marinade, reserving marinade. Alternate meat, vegetables, and pineapple on skewers. Grill over medium-hot coals 10 to 15 minutes or until desired degree of doneness, basting frequently with marinade. Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

HOT-STYLE EYE OF ROUND

Thelma Green

Mt. Savage, Md.

1 (3 lb.) beef eye of round roast

Instant meat tenderizer

1 cup hot style or regular catsup

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup water

2 Tbsp. of Worcestershire sauce

1 clove garlic, minced

$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. Chili powder

$\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt

Sprinkle meat with tenderizer, using $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. per pound of meat. To insure penetration pierce all sides with a long-tined fork. In a saucepan, combine all other ingredients, simmer 5 minutes.

Insert spit rod through center of roast. Place medium hot coals around drip pan in grill. Roast over coals in covered grill for about $1\frac{1}{2}$ hours.

Brush with sauce during the last 30 minutes. Heat remaining sauce and pass with meat. Serves 8.

BARBECUE SAUCE

J. Winters

1 small bottle Italian salad dressing

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup vinegar

2 Tbsp. oleo

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup brown sugar

4 Tbsp. A-1 sauce

2 cans tomato sauce

1 cup chopped onion

$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. paprika

Dash garlic salt

1 tsp. salt

Simmer all together until union is done. This is good on chicken or pork chops. Pour over meat, bake in oven until done.

Cook's hint: I cover with foil. Last 20 minutes open and baste meat.

GLAZED SPARERIBS

1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup honey

2 tablespoons minced onion

2 tablespoons red wine vinegar

1 teaspoon celery seeds

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper

1 clove garlic, minced

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup dry sherry

4 pounds spareribs

Combine first 9 ingredients in a heavy saucepan; simmer, stirring occasionally, about 20 minutes. Stir in sherry.

Cut ribs into serving-size pieces; place on grill over slow coals. Grill about 30 minutes, turning frequently. Brush with sauce, and cook an additional 2 hours, basting and turning frequently. Baste ribs with remaining sauce before serving. Yield: 4 servings.

STUFFED FRANKS

1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce

1 tablespoon sugar

2 tablespoons spicy brown mustard

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon garlic powder

8 frankfurters

6 small green onions, chopped

8 slices bacon

8 hot dog buns

Combine tomato sauce, sugar, mustard, and garlic powder; stir well. Slice frankfurters lengthwise to make a pocket. Brush inside each pocket with sauce; sprinkle with onion. Wrap each frankfurter with bacon, securing with a wooden pick.

Cook frankfurters over hot coals 10 to 15 minutes or until bacon is crisp, turning often and basting with remaining sauce. Serve in hot dog buns. Yield: 8 servings.

SEA SCALLOP KABOBS

1 small onion, grated

$\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons lime juice

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon sugar

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt

Pinch of pepper

1 pound fresh scallops

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter or margarine, melted

Combine first 5 ingredients in a small shallow dish. Add scallops, tossing gently to coat. Cover and marinate at least 2 hours in the refrigerator, stirring often.

Place scallops on skewers. Grill 5 minutes on each side over medium-hot coals, brushing frequently with butter. Yield: 4 servings.

Md. DECD Wins National Award

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced this week that the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development has been awarded a Distinguished Service Award for a series of studies on Maryland's workers' compensation issue.

The announcement marks the third time the department has been recognized for its research capabilities. Maryland is also the first state in the nation to win the award three times.

The award was announced by the Industrial Development Research Council, Inc., an international non-profit organization to corporate real estate and facility planning executives. DECD was one of 22 entrants for the top award.

The award was conceived as a means to honor and reward those groups contributing works of significance to the planning profession, to encourage additional area research and to enhance professionals in the preparation of material designed to identify locational advantages for industry.

"This is a very high honor for DECD," Governor Schaefer stated. "It recognizes the professional quality of DECD's research, which in turn reinforces and increases the credibility of the department's other work."

"This award again demonstrates to the business community that when they're looking for a place to locate a business, Maryland's economic development staff will provide the timely, meaningful information necessary to make an informed decision," the governor said.

DECD's award-winning studies, "Workers' Compensation in Maryland," (1985); "Workers' Compensation in Maryland: An Update," (1986); and "Report of the Governor's Commission to Study the Workers' Compensation System," (1987), were issued as part of an on-going effort to compare and monitor Maryland's workers' compensation system in relation to similar systems around the nation. The studies were prepared by DECD's Division of Research.

The governor also credited DECD's study with contributing to recent improvements by the General Assembly in the state's workers' compensation laws.

"Workers' compensation is an extremely complex issue, and it is crucial that everyone involved use the same data and have confidence in those sources," the governor explained.

"DECD's work was impeccable in this regard and they have truly earned their award," he added.

DECD won similar awards in 1980 for its "Silicon Valley Opportunity Study," and again in 1984 for a "A Comparison of High Technology Centers in the U.S.," both prepared by DECD's Office of Business and Industrial Development.

The award was presented to DECD at the IDRC Spring World Congress on May 13 in Seattle, Washington.

Oakland Man Sentenced On Theft Charges

During Garrett County District Court proceedings last week, an Oakland man was sentenced to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail after being found guilty of two counts of theft.

Arnold W. Lipscomb, 22, had been found guilty of the charges during a March 17 hearing before Judge Jack R. Turney and a pre-sentence investigation had been ordered.

The 18-month sentence was then suspended and Lipscomb was placed on two years supervised probation and fined $50.

The charges were filed by Tfc. C.R. Smith, Maryland State Police, following a February 4 incident in Accident when Lipscomb reportedly stole two jackets valued at $200 each.

The jackets were removed from the Lazy Susan Restaurant and Bar and were the property of Daniel R. Stanton and R.T. Wengert, respectively, both of Grantsville.

John Toston, public defender, represented Lipscomb.

In other court cases heard last week, Dana Chapman, 19, Kitzmiller, was found guilty of telephone misuse and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

The charge was filed by Earl Boyce, Mtn. Lake Park, and stemmed from an April 6 incident when Chapman reportedly made repeated telephone calls to Boyce with the intent to annoy.

John R. Toston represented Chapman.

A charge of theft against Denzil R. Kisner, 56, Deer Park, was placed on the Stet Docket following Kisner's return of the stolen property.

According to court records, Kisner purchased a dog, valued at $300, from Galen Beckman Jr., Mtn. Lake Park, but failed to pay for the dog.

Toston was the defending attorney.

ATTENTION INVESTORS!

Have you been offered

"SKY-HIGH" RATES

on non-bank investments?

If so, we suggest you consider these facts before you invest:

Fact #1: Fees

Almost all non-bank investments have charges associated with them. Some of these charges might include: Load fees, Management fees, Sales commissions, Middleman fees, etc.

When you deduct these fees from your rate of return, you may discover your net yield to be much lower than the "sky-high" rate first offered.

Fact #2: Risk

Many non-bank investments can go down in value if interest rates go up, resulting in losing a part of your investment principal. Yields on non-bank investments are generally stated in the past-tense, and have little bearing on future yields.

Memorial Day is a time for honoring those brave men and women who died for their country, that we might continue to live in peace and freedom. How best can we honor them? Certainly, it is important to hold ceremonies, to place flowers on the graves of those near and dear to us. These are public displays of private grief.

There is another way that we can honor these great men and women, however. That is in upholding the principles that they gave "the last full measure" to defend. Study the constitution—here we find the principles upon which this nation was founded. Then make every effort to live by these principles.

This Memorial Day pay tribute to the brave men and women who have died for America and continue through the year to honor them by upholding those values that they died to protect.

WHEN YOU ARE DISAPPOINTED

May 24, 1987

Background Scripture: Hosea 10:1 through 11:11

Deviational Reading: Psalms 78:12-19. If you've never been disappointed in another person, you've led a remarkably sheltered life! Sooner or later, someone will let you down. Worst of all is when we are disappointed by someone whose loyalty and dependability we did not question. The experience can be devastating and throw us into a deep depression. It may seem that we can never again trust anyone.

Disappointment, the Bible indicates, is not limited to human beings. In his own way, it would seem, God too can be disappointed when his children let him down and even betray him. If we think people have let us down, think of how much God's children have disappointed him! Betraying his trust in us seems to be one of the recurring themes in the history of the world.

Israel, THE CHILD. Speaking through the prophet Hosea, God speaks of Israel as a parent would his offspring: "When Israel was a child, I loved him, and out of Egypt I called my son" (11:1). There is tenderness in this analogy: "Yet it was I who taught Ephraim to walk, I took them up in my arms, I led them with cords of compassion, with the bands of love, and I became to them as one who eases the yoke on their jaws and I bent down to them and fed them" (11:3, 4).

The response of the people of Israel was that of little children: "The more I called them, the more they went from me" (11:2). In that regard, some of us never grow up, for we spend our lives pretending that we do not hear his call.

Through numerous prophets God has warned them about following after the Baal cults, but they turned a deaf ear to these entreaties. As a result their Baal will go into exile with them. "Yes, the thing itself shall be carried to Assyria, as tribute to their kingdom" (10:6).

Not only did the people of Israel worship false gods, but they also allowed iniquity and injustice to prevail throughout the land. "You have plowed iniquity, you have reaped injustice, you have eaten the fruit of lies" (10:13). The consequences of their sin are staggering: "Thus shall it be done to you, O house of Israel, because of your great wickedness" (10:15).

TRUST IN CHARIOTS

The people of Israel also disappointed God in yet another way: instead of trusting in him, they looked to arms and military pacts to save them from invasion and domination. "Because you have trusted in your chariots and in the multitude of your warriors, therefore the tumult of war shall arise among your people, and all your fortresses shall be destroyed." (10:13, 14). And the consequences will be severe: "They shall return to the land of Egypt, and Assyria shall be their king because they have refused to return to me" (11:5).

All three of God's complaints—idolatry, iniquity, and reliance on military might—are current sources of God's disappointment. We are still "letting him down" the way that Israel let him down. And we are still suffering the same kinds of consequences. But the good news is that, even in the midst of our disobedience, God still perseveres in his love and pursues us much as he did Israel. "How can I give you up, O Ephraim! How can I hand you over, O Israel? My heart recoils within me, my compassion grows warm and tender" (11:8).

So, the next time we find ourselves disappointed by the disloyalty of someone who lets us down, let us remember that our human disappointment is nothing compared with that of God. And let us remember, too, that God's persistent, forgiving love is stronger than his disappointment, let us make certain that our love in Christ is also much stronger than our disappointment.

Lions' Program To Aid Students Seeking Support

The Lions Clubs of District 22-W, which includes Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties, have undertaken the task of raising $30,000 to put the Lions' Quest—Skills for Adolescents Program into the Allegany and Garrett County schools this fall.

The Quest Program not only stresses the evils of drug and alcohol use and abuse, but the curriculum is designed to help the students face everyday problems common to all teenagers, a Lions spokesman said. "Quest enables the child to have a better understanding of his family and work more closely with the family unit," he said. "Children are taught how to make wise, healthy decisions when faced with a crisis. This program involves not only the student and teacher, but the parents play a major role in the activities of the Quest Program."

In order to pay for the teachers training to effectively teach the program, supply the materials necessary for the children to reap the full benefit of the Quest skills, and furnish the texts and workbooks for the students and the parent books, the Lions are asking for the support of the businesses, industries, Lions, Lionesses, and the members of the community.

The Lions Quest Program is sponsoring the Hagerstown Suns vs. the Prince Williams Yankees baseball game at Memorial Stadium in Hagerstown, on May 29 at 7:30 p.m. A $2.00 ticket not only gives admission to the game, but also provides an opportunity to win one of the cash prizes that will be drawn. Persons do not have to be present to win one of the cash prizes.

Persons may contact their local Lions Club members for a ticket or they may stop by the Country Club Mall, LaVale, on Saturday, May 23, and purchase a ticket or give a cash donation. For more information, persons may also call Tom Jeffs at 729-0512.

"Individuals or groups that desire to make a tax-deductible contribution to help the students of Allegany County be better equipped citizens and leaders for tomorrow you will want to support them through the Lions Quest Program," the spokesman said. "You are helping the students of your area to be drug and alcohol-free, be equipped to deal effectively with daily problems, become more family oriented, and learn wise decision-making which will make them more responsible adults."

Persons who wish to send a check to this cause should make checks payable to District 24-W Lions Quest Program and mail it to Lowell Jackman, chairman, 319 Montgomery Court, Smithsburg, MD 21783.

Leininger Elected To Math Honorary

Bible Prophecy Event Stated At Loch Lynn Church

A Bible Prophecy Conference will be held at the Loch Lynn Evangelical Free Church, 107 W. Third Avenue, starting Sunday, May 24 through Wednesday, May 27.

Dr. Herman Hoyt, Bible teacher, author, President Emeritus of Grace College and Grace Theological Seminary at Winona Lake, Ind., will be speaking at each service.

Born near Dallas Center, Iowa, in 1909, Dr. Hoyt was the eldest in a large family of children. Distinguishing himself early, he was valedictorian of his high school class in addition to having captained the school football team his junior year, the only team in the state to complete the season without having a point scored against it.

Also valedictorian of his graduating class at Ashland College in Ashland, Ohio, he went on to earn highest honors (summa cum laude) from Ashland Theological Seminary, where he was president of his class.

In 1930 he married Harriet Fitz of Dallas Center. The Hoyts have two sons.

After seven years teaching experience, he was appointed professor of Greek and New Testament at Grace Theological Seminary, a school he helped to found. He then served as registrar and dean of Grace Schools until 1962, when he succeeded retiring President Alva

J. McClain as president of Grace College and Grace Theological Seminary.

He was elected moderator of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches in 1944, was a trustee of Bryan College, was president of the Christian League for the Handicapped, was a charter member of the Evangelical Theological Society, and was president of the Board of Directors of the Winona Lake Christian Assembly, which operates the Winona Lake Bible Conference.

Having traveled widely in this country, Canada, the Caribbean, and Bible lands of the Near East, he has authored many books. His latest, Biblical Eschatology, was released in 1969. Others are forthcoming.

The Prophecy Conference at the Loch Lynn Church will start at the Sunday School hour, 10 a.m. this Sunday, May 24, when Dr. Hoyt will speak on "Significant Signs of the Times." The worship hour message at 11 a.m. is entitled, "The Great Unveiling of Our Lord Jesus Christ."

All evening services will begin at 7:30. Sunday night's message is "The Next Event in the Panorama of Prophecy" and Monday's message is "The Divine Purpose in the Great Tribulation." On Tuesday the topic will be "The Final Destruction of the Great Russian Bear," and Wednesday, Dr. Hoyt will be speaking on "The Appearing of the Glory of Our Lord."

All are welcome to attend this conference. For more information, persons may call Pastor Russell L. Hamilton at 334-4172.

To Attend Boyd

Stacey Wable, a graduate of Salisbury Elk-Lick High School, has been accepted for studies in travel and tourism at the Boyd School, Pittsburgh, for the fall semester.

Upon completion of the course of study, the graduate will be qualified for entry level positions in the travel industry such as a reservationist, ticket agent, ramp agent, passenger service agent, travel agent, travel counselor and car rental agent.

Sarbanes Rep To Visit County

Senator Paul Sarbanes has announced that his Western Maryland representative will be in Oakland, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, and Bloomington, on the dates listed below, to seek citizens' views and assist with problems relating to the Federal Government.

"I have asked Nina Conway, my Western Maryland representative to be available to meet with concerned citizens and report to me the views of Garrett County residents about current national issues and the difficulties they may be having with Federal agencies," Sarbanes said. "These meetings are very important in helping me stay informed of my constituents' needs and to better represent their interests in the Senate. I urge all concerned citizens to meet with Mrs. Conway at one of the scheduled times so my office can continue to provide effective assistance to and representation for all Marylanders."

The times and locations of Mrs. Conway's meetings are as follows: Oakland, Garrett County Courthouse, Commissioners Meeting Room, Wednesday, May 27, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Grantsville Fire Hall, Wednesday, May 27, 5 to 7 p.m.; Kitzmiller Community Building, Thursday, May 28, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Bloomington Fire Hall, Thursday, May 28, 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Constituents who are unable to meet with Mrs. Conway during one of these times may contact her at 1906 Frederick Street, Cumberland, Maryland 21502, (301) 722-5369.

CONTINUAL NOISE
Hair cells inside the inner ear are injured by too much noise. This can lead to permanent damage. People are usually careful about loud noises, but continual moderate noise often does far more damage. Attention must be paid to such noise before the price is paid later on. Consider that each step on the hearing audiogram is ten times louder than the one before. Ninety decibels is ten times louder than 80 db, and one hundred times louder than 70 db. Some ears are more sensitive than others. On average, however, continual exposure over 80 db, or any noises louder than 140 db, can cause permanent hearing loss and/or ringing in the ears (tinnitus).

Today's science has provided new insight and solutions to hearing difficulties. At ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES you will find the hearing assist devices which offer the latest that technology has developed. We also like to boast of our experienced and friendly staff who provide individualized and caring attention so that your total hearing needs are considered. We invite you to come in and "hear" what we say.

OSHA regulations say that workers exposed to more than 85 db for eight hours must have hearing protection.

CABLE LOG

Shaffer finds meaning of life in Las Vegas

By Connie Passalacqua

"Why is it that everyone but me has a comedy special on cable?"

That high-pitched whine, delivered with David Letterman's customary tongue held firmly in check, is all too familiar to regular viewers of his "Late Night" show. Writer-performer Chris Elliot had recently had his "Action Family" on Cinemax and Larry "Bud" Meltman is seen frequently on stand-up comedy specials. But the Main Event is definitely the bandleader-sidekick Paul Shaffer's "Viva Shaf Vegas," which airs as this month's "Cinemax Comedy Experiment" on May 25 and 30.

Paul Shaffer

Lovable because he's sweet, small and balding, Shaffer is nonetheless renowned as the unofficial King of Hip. And in "Viva Shaf Vegas," he gets a chance to be the coolest of the cool.

"That's exactly the threshold I would have wanted," says Shaffer, who's probably ground a hole in his cheek by now. In the special, Shaffer is unable to commit to his fictional girlfriend Hope Crosby. So he heads to Las Vegas to find the meaning of life. There he performs, along with topless showgirls and inept novelty acts, in his own hotel showroom act, haunts the Strip's late-night lounge shows where he sees his real-life childhood idols, Sam Butera (Louis Prima's original saxophonist), and the Checkmates (a rhythm-and-blues group).

Shaffer started his Vegas obsession early in his life. "My parents were probably the swiftest parents in Thunder Bay (Canada) and they took me to Vegas when I was 13. I've never gotten over it. I saw a supper show with Nat King Cole and another with Phil Harris. I never understood what Harris did at the time, but I never forgot it either. He had a lot of different acts — magicians, chorus girls — and every once in a while he'd come out and try to sing a song. One wonders what the entertainment value was in his act.

Illusion became reality last week when Shaffer actually played a hotel showroom as "Late Night with David Letterman" aired from Vegas. "Imagine playing Vegas twice in one year," says Shaffer. "Now they'll really have to call me the Desert Fox."

SUNDAY

In "Celebration Family," Stephanie Zimbalist and James Read play a couple who provide a home for several unadopted children. The ABC movie airs Sunday, May 24.

Miss Universe gets ready to turn over her crown

By Evan Levine

If you want the inside story of the in-fighting, backstabbing and bra-paddling that goes on at the Miss Universe pageant (airing May 26, on CBS), don't ask the current titleholder, Venezuela's Barbara Palacios Teyde. As far as she's concerned, the whole experience couldn't have been better.

Barbara Palacios Teyde

Teyde was a first-time contestant when she entered the Miss Venezuela pageant in May 1986. She'd been approached by the pageant director several times before, but felt that she wasn't ready. This time out, she won the titles of Miss Venezuela, Miss South America and Miss Universe in a three-month period. "I had no pageant experience. I hadn't done it as a child," admits the 22-year-old beauty queen. "But my mother told me from the time I was little that she could see me with a crown." Part of her reason for entering, Teyde says, was not only that it was an honor to represent her country, but that she knew it would provide her career with an enormous boost. "Being Miss Universe was all about my career," she explains.

While Teyde enjoyed the traveling — especially to Singapore, the site of the current pageant — she claims that the pageant itself was her favorite part of the experience. "It's nice to see the different cultures," she says. "With all the political troubles going on, girls from different countries can get together and be like a big family."

If after one year, several thousand miles, and endless supermarket ribbon-cuttings, Teyde is still unwavering in her defense of the pageant, her sincerity can only be admired. "It was hard, but it's important to be a role model," she asserts. "I have a lot more maturity. I grew up a lot."

With the heavy of beauties competing for the title, to what does Teyde attribute her win? "I had a good interview," she says. "I love to talk. I talked about how much I wanted to win."

Teyde isn't too sorry her year in the spotlight is over; she's looking forward to seeing her family, and her plans include a return to advertising. In the meantime, she's excited about the upcoming pageant. With the pressure off, she can enjoy the spotlight without a supermarket in sight.

Rutger Hauer had some reservations about acting

By Toni D'Amato

I've been a fan of Rutger Hauer ever since I saw him in "Blade Runner." But I know little about him. Can you tell me something? — E.C., Philadelphia, Pa.

Rutger Hauer

Hauer is a native of Holland. His parents were actors and drama teachers. But initially Hauer shied away from acting and tried his hand at several different careers including carpentry, welding and gardening. Following a stint in the army, he entered a drama school in Amsterdam. After graduation, he toured the Dutch provinces with a theater group and made his film debut in "Turkish Delight," which was nominated for an Academy Award as best foreign film in 1974. His most recent feature film was "Wanted: Dead or Alive." Hauer's TV work includes "Inside the Third Reich" and the recent TV movie "Escape from Sobibor."

I was amazed to see a film recently in which Peter Lorre played a character named Mr. Moto. I've been a fan of his for many years and never knew he played such a role. He was wonderful in it. Can you shed any light on how he came to play an Oriental detective? — R.D., Buffalo, N.Y.

The "Mr. Moto" series was produced by 20th Century-Fox at the height of Charlie Chan's popularity. The studio capitalized on the success of Chan by introducing another Oriental sleuth — Mr. Moto — with Lorre in the lead. And he proved to be an ideal choice. The combination of light comedy and drama appealed to Lorre, who starred in all eight Mr. Moto films. They were "Think Fast, Mr. Moto" (1937); "Thank You, Mr. Moto" (1937); "Mr. Moto in Danger Island" (1938); "Mr. Moto's Gamble" (1938); "Mr. Moto Takes A Chance" (1938); "The Mysterious Mr. Moto of Devil's Island" (1938); "Mr. Moto's Last Warning" (1939); and "Mr. Moto Takes A Vacation" (1939). Mr. Moto traveled around the world in these films, cracking crimes and defeating adversaries.

In 1965, the character of Mr. Moto was revived in "The Return of Mr. Moto." (Do you have a question about a celebrity? Write Toni D'Amato at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally, but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

CINDY SAYS

Burt's latest fish story; Collins searched by customs

By Cindy Adams

Burt Reynolds installed a two-piece aquarium in his bedroom. Two pieces. A custom-made double-tank, connected by a plastic tunnel so the fishes can get their daily exercise swimming from to to. It cost $30,000 and it's at the foot of his bed. Question: Considering Loni Anderson is sharing that bed, why does he need something to look at? — Eddie Murphy recently had a delayed birthday celebration at Hollywood's Laugh Factory. He arrived with Mike Tyson and Larry Holmes and two bodyguards. Hours later, he left with Mike Tyson and Larry Holmes and two bodyguards — and one beauty named Paula Smith. God only knows what kind of birthday gift she gave him.

Arriving from London, Joan Collins was — pardon the expression — searched. By U.S. customs. Miss Collins, who has experienced the physical sensations before, was not thrilled. Said Joan: "In London I'm treated politely, and I don't pay taxes. Here I pay millions of dollars, and I'm treated like a criminal."

'Molly Dodd' laughs at life's dark side

By Frank Lovece

Jay Tarses and Tom Patchett aren't together any more, but when they were the writer-producers won Emmys for "Carol Burnett," were story editors on "The Bob Newhart Show," and co-created, among other things, the controversial comedy "Buffalo Bill."

Jay Tarses

Patchett wanted to go on and do shows like "ALF." Tarses preferred shows centered on humans — particularly those humans who have learned to laugh at the dark side of life. The central character of his new, highly touted NBC show, "The Days and Nights of Molly Dodd," is a Jay Tarses heroine. She is played by Blair Brown.

Tarses is a former standup comic who never made it, and a TV producer who has and doesn't know why. "I don't know what you mean by successful," he says. "I've never created a hit show. Carol Burnett and the old 'Newhart Show,' we didn't create. Everything else we've done (including 'Buffalo Bill') went on and off the air fast. Maybe it's my manager. Or maybe it's the attrition rate — you stay around long enough and everybody's gonna host 'The Tonight Show' once before they die."

"Molly Dodd" is not, insists Tarses, a "sitcom." It turns out he's right. Call it a character comedy or a drama with laughs or just watch it and don't call it anything. "Molly Dodd" is a wonder, a sort of a weekly Woody Allen movie.

Blair Brown plays an independent, single woman in "The Days and Nights of Molly Dodd." It airs Thursday, May 28 on NBC.

"It's so stupid, the labels you give TV shows," says Tarses. "M*A*S*H was what — a comedy-drama? 'Molly' is a diary, maybe. She's a woman at the age of 35, she's had a doomed love affair, she has no real profession but she's done a lot of things in her life and works when she can. Finally, on her thirty-fifth birthday, she discovers that she's content. She's not a 'success,' but she has friends, family, the basics — an OK life. What it boils down to is that we're gonna be fine, even if we don't have lives like people on TV."

That message is a bit ironic, coming from a producer who, hits or no hits, is still a success. Tarses gives that some thought. "Yeah!" he agrees. "It is ironic. And irony's OK."

SOAP OPERA WEEK

This 'AW' actress has villainous acting past

By Kimberly Redmond

I'm positive that I've seen Philece Sampler, who portrays Donna Hudson on "Another World," somewhere before, but I can't remember where. Has she been on another soap? — J.C., Jamestown, N.Y.

Philece Sampler

If you're a viewer of "Days of Our Lives," you might have seen Sampler during her two-year stint as the conniving Renee DuMonte. Although Donna is pretty tame now, it probably won't be long before she reverts back to her old scheming self, since this is the type of role that Sampler plays best.

Please tell me about James Goodwin, who portrays Johnny Bauer on "Guiding Light." — M.R., Tyler, Texas

Goodwin, an Army brat, attended Oklahoma State University and earned an MFA degree at Southern Methodist University in Dallas. He has done commercials and industrial films. He has been married to a legal assistant for almost four years.

Whatever happened to George Reinhold, the original Steven Frame on "Another World"? — M.D., Frederick Town, Pa.

After seven years as Steven Frame on "AW," Reinhold went on to do a turn as Tony Lord on "One Life to Live." After two years as the conniving Renee DuMonte, Reinhold has performed in a couple of off-Broadway plays since then, but he hasn't been seen on the small screen or on stage for a while.

Counties Share Alcohol, Tobacco Tax Revenue

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported that alcohol and tobacco tax revenues for the first ten months of fiscal year 1987 totaled $72.8 million. That's about one-half of one percent more than the $72.5 million collected for the same period of fiscal year 1986.

"While tax revenue for cigarettes and distilled spirits were down by 2.2% and one-half of one percent, respectively, the revenues for beer and wine showed increases of 7.3% and 9.7%," said Goldstein.

In addition, the comptroller reports that Baltimore City and Maryland's 23 counties received checks totaling $5,171,342 as their share of distilled spirits, beer and cigarette tax revenues for the third quarter of fiscal year 1987.

According to Goldstein, "Maryland's subdivisions have now received $17,859,804 in these revenues for the first three quarters of the current fiscal year, about 1.6% less than the amount returned to them for the same period of the previous year. These figures continue to reflect the relatively flat consumption trends for distilled spirits and cigarettes, in particular."

The $3,279,306 derived from the beer tax increased over the previous year's nine month distribution by 1.4%. The distilled spirits tax distribution of $3,621,925 declined by 3.2%, and the $10,958,573 provided by the tobacco tax showed a decline of 1.9% from the same period of the previous year.

Distribution of cigarette tax revenue is based on a formula returning three cents of the 13¢ per pack to the subdivisions, based on population. About one-third of the $1.50 per gallon distilled spirits tax and approximately one-half of the nine cents per gallon beer tax is returned to the subdivisions, based on deliveries to retail licenses within the subdivision.

Garrett County received $27,638.99 in beer tax revenue for the third quarter, $17,033.58 in tobacco tax revenue, and $3,401.68 in distilled spirits tax revenue.

AURORA-EGILON NEWS

Bicentennial

In June the Aurora Community will observe the 200th anniversary of the founding of the community and the church there with special programs planned for the evenings of June 19 and 20 and a full day of activity on June 21 with the homecoming at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Also in progress that weekend is an art and craft fair at the Cathedral park and celebration of West Virginia Day, plus the Father's Day Smorgasbord at the Aurora Fire Hall on Saturday.

Mother-Daughter Dinner

The annual Mother-Daughter Dinner was held on Friday evening, May 8, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Aurora. Following the dinner, gifts were given to the oldest mother present, Vesta Stemple, and to the youngest daughter, Lauren Roth. Delores Stemple, who had made the table favors, was also recognized with a gift. Door prizes were also awarded.

"Eleven Women Toward the Cross" was a presentation in narrative form which concluded the program.

Those who attended in addition to the above named were: Ernestine Sisler, Phyllis and Laura Vandevender, Linda and Deanne Terrant, Opal Terrant, Sue Sharpless and Renee of Oakland; Dean, Cara and Shauna Sisler, Donetta Nice, Mary Nice of Salt Lick; Maxine Hauser, June and Michelle Sisler, Elizabeth Loughrie, Janice Hanline of Oakland; Georgia Parsons of Belmont; Merriell Parsons of Kingwood; Angela, Rachel and Heidi Bishop and friend of Kingwood; Frances Roth, Avenell Parsons, Olive Beckman, Mary Rembold, Beth Hauser, Debbie, Kimberly and Kaylan Fike, Darla Stemple, Bernadette Arnett, Annette Strawser, Stacy and Courtney Fint, Betty and Sheila Moats, Marie Martin, Pat and Holly Stemple of Oakland; Carol, Kim and Annie Everly of Kingwood; Donna Goff, Gladys Lockhart, Carrie Goff, Cheryl and Missy Skipper, Carol, Chrissy and Randa Forman, Mildred Kovalick, and Rev. Dan and Arlene Nascembeni.

Personal Mention

Talmdge White of Eglon was taken last week to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he remains a patient suffering from an apparent heart attack.

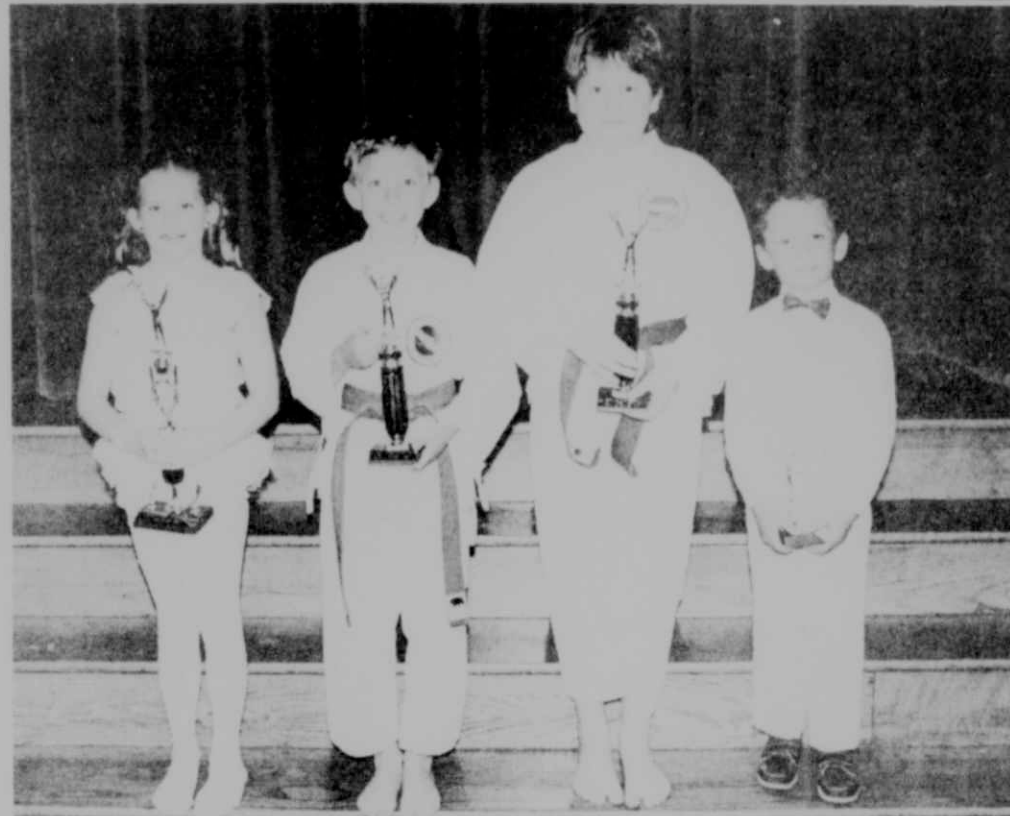

Darwin Snyder of Horse Shoe Run was injured Saturday, May 9, when his arm was lacerated when it came in contact with a bench grinder. He was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Cora Cullers, daughter of Melvin Cullers and Beverly Wiles, was admitted last week to West Virginia University Medical Center where she was treated and returned to the home of her grandparents, Charles and Carolyn Wiles, Aurora, on Wednesday.

Alden Wilt of Eglon was admitted recently to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he remains a patient.

Merrill and Joy Flory of Fairborn, Ohio, visited with Mrs. Flory's father, Arden Harsh, at Eglon.

Mrs. Evelyn Rogers was a recent visitor with Mrs. Nina Bess at Aurora and is now in her mobile home near Red House.

Returning recently to their homes were George Hauser, from WVU Medical Center, and Galen Fike, from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where both had been surgical patients.

Visiting here last week was Donald White of North Carolina and still here this week is his sister, Enid Maniscaro, of Wisconsin. They are visiting their mother, Mrs. Olive White, in Eglon, and their father, Talmdge White, a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Also visiting at the White's is Mrs. White's sister, Ruth.

On Saturday Rhonda Parsons of Hedgesville, George White of Aberdeen and his sister, Penny, stopped for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ron Parsons at Eglon. On Sunday evening the Parsons were accompanied by Mildred Wilt and Olive Beckman on a visit with Eldean and Claud Poling at Stemple Ridge.

Visitors last week of the Galen Fikes were his sister, Mrs. Maye Arnett, of Rowlesburg, Zeld Snyder, Red House, and Harold White, Gortner. Carolyn Wilt and Mildred Wilt of Eglon were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spaid in Aurora.

Lantz Honored

Willie Lantz was honored at the WVU College of Agriculture and Forestry 28th Annual Honors Convocation which was held April 24. He received a certificate for outstanding scholarship and leadership for being named to the President's List for fall 1986 for his 4.0 GPA, and a member of the Mountaineer Collegiate FFA, Alpha Tau Alpha and Phi Kappa Phi.

Lantz was also honored at the Mountaineer Collegiate FFA/ATA Banquet held on April 30 and received a trophy for Outstanding Junior Scholar and was recognized as the recipient of the R.J. Reynolds Scholarship for $1,000. Willie is a reporter for the club and accompanying him to the banquet was his wife, Arlene.

Also recognized at the banquet was Terry Hauser who was recipient of the Vandalia Scholarship for $500. He is the club's treasurer. Terry's parents, Jerry and Barbara Hauser, Eglon, and Rosanna Judy were his guests.

Society Inducts

On Thursday, May 14, the following members of East Preston National Junior Society were present at the Aurora School to induct new members into their society. Those inducted are recognized not only for their academic achievement, but also for their community activities and service. Present from East Preston were Laverne Waybright, Faith Steele, Stacy Ball, Tracey Taylor, Julie Beckman, Julie Lewis, Erica Bowen, Laura Deem, Brian Spiker and Tracy Henline. They were accompanied by their sponsor, Betty White, and her husband.

Those inducted from the Aurora Junior High were the following members of the 7th grade: Tonya Beckman, Tammy Cassidy, Emily Lewis, Sara Payne, Christy Schmidt, Nicole Teets and Renita Whitehair.

VFD Sponsors Portraits

Heritage Studios is again being sponsored in a campaign in these communities by the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department. Persons who receive a call to make an appointment for a July sitting will be told that the Aurora VFD will receive all the $10 fee for the first portrait, which is the contract arrangement. Persons will be offered

Day at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren with the Rev. Earle Fike Sr., of Danville, Va., present to give the morning message at 10:45 a.m. A covered dish luncheon will follow the morning worship and at 1:30 there will be a dedication service for the recent physical improvements to the church. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Mountaineer 4-H Activities

On May 11, the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club opened with singing led by Stephanie Evans, Nicole Teets, Tammy Slabaugh and Matt Utterback.

Elizabeth Whitehair called to order the meeting and talks and demonstrations were given as follows: Patty Mullenax, talk,

Broad Ford Fun Carnival Slated

The annual Broad Ford Elementary School Fun Carnival will be held this Saturday, May 23, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the school.

Activities and games for children of all ages will include a cake walk, fish pond, haunted house, Bingo and others. Refreshments will be available.

A new addition will be an auction. New items that area businesses have donated will be auctioned by local auctioneer, Bob Custer.

The event will be held rain or shine.

Perkins Named To Who's Who

Cheryl E. Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Cosner, Red House, and student at Bluefield State College, has been selected as one of the country's most outstanding campus leaders by the Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges editorial staff.

Her biography will be included in the 1987 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, an annual directory of outstanding students first published in 1934.

A campus nominating committee and editors of the publication have included the name of Ms. Perkins based on her academic achievements, community service, leadership in extra-curricular activities and potential for continued success.

Students are selected from institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Evangelist Messick To Hold Services

Evangelist Steve Messick will be holding special services at 7 p.m. nightly from May 31 to June 6 at the Savage River Full Gospel Church.

Singer, songwriter, and recording artist, Messick has three recordings to his credit, with plans for a fourth in the making. He is also involved in short-term overseas missions crusades as well as conducting revivals and crusades in the states.

A former government employee, he resigned to go into full-time ministry. He is an ordained minister with the Assemblies of God and has been involved in the ministry of evangelism for nine years.

The Rev. George A. Tichinel, pastor of Savage River Full Gospel Church, extends an invitation to the public to attend these services.

Constitution Chronicles

WASHINGTON'S JOURNEY TO PHILADELPHIA — Part I
(This is another in a series of articles on the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution sponsored by the Maryland Bar Association. Part II will appear in next week's issue.)

Two hundred years ago on May 9, 1787, George Washington set out in his coach from Mount Vernon to attend the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia. The entries in his diary for the five-day journey reveal what a difficult undertaking this was:

Wednesday, May 9th — Crossed from Mt. Vernon to Mr. Digges a little after Sunrise & passing the route by the way of Baltimore. Dined at Mr. Richard Henderson's in Bladensburg, and lodged at Major Snowden's where feeling very severely a violent headache & sick stomach I went to bed early.

"Mr. Digges" was George Digges who lived at Warburton Manor in Prince George's County directly across the Potomac from Mount Vernon.

Major Thomas Snowden owned Montpelier, a magnificent mansion with outstanding boxwood gardens near Bowie, Maryland.

Thursday, May 10th — Very great appearances of rain in the morning & a little falling induced me, though well recovered, to wait till about 8 o'clock before I set off. At one o'clock I arrived at Baltimore. Dined at the Fountain Inn & supped & lodged at Doctr. McHenry's. Slow rain in the Evening.

The Fountain Inn was one of the finest inns in the United States and was a great place for social gatherings. It was located on Light Lane between Market Street and Elliott's Wharf. Its proprietor was Daniel Grant, who had been the proprietor of the Indian Queen Hotel, where Washington had stayed on a previous visit to Baltimore.

Dr. McHenry at whose home Washington "supped & lodged", was James McHenry, who had been an aide to Washington during the Revolution. He was a delegate to the Constitutional Convention from Maryland and later served as Secretary of War in Washington's cabinet. His townhouse, where Washington stayed, was at the corner of Baltimore and Fremont Streets.

Friday, May 11th — Set off before breakfast. Rode 12 miles to Skirretts for it. Bated there and proceeded without halting (weather threatening) to the Ferry at Harve de Grace where I dined but could not cross, the wind being turbulent & squally. Lodged here.

Skirretts Tavern was on the old post road, now Route 7, the "Old Philadelphia Road," near the south side of Bird River at White Marsh in Baltimore County. It was referred to at different times as "Cheynes" or "Skerretts" or "Websters", but was in fact the Red Lion Inn. It was a famous hostelry at that period and Washington later stayed there several times after he became President.

A journey that then took four and one-half days can be accomplished today by car in virtually that number of hours.

U.S. Navy Suggests Father's Day Gift

The U.S. Navy Memorial Foundation suggests Father's Day gift shoppers honor fathers who served or serve now in the Navy by enrolling them in the Navy Memorial Log.

The Log will be housed in a Visitors Center to be built next to the U.S. Navy Memorial during Phase II of construction at the Memorial site in Washington, D.C. Phase I, the Memorial itself, will be completed this year and dedicated on the Navy's birthday, October 13. A minimum $25 tax-deductible donation is required to enroll a name in the Log, and the Memorial will acknowledge each enrollment with a special card for presentation to the father being honored.

"This is a special year to honor Navy fathers," says Memorial president Rear Admiral William Thompson, USN Ret. "It's the last chance to honor Dad as what the Navy calls a 'plank owner' in the Memorial, which will be dedicated this October 13."

The U.S. Navy Memorial, authorized by Congress in 1980 and funded solely through private donations, is under construction on Pennsylvania Avenue, halfway between the White House and the Capitol. The Memorial will include a large amphitheater for band concerts, fountains and waterfalls, the statue of The Lone Sailor and, eventually, a sculpture honoring the Navy family.

The Navy Memorial Log is a computerized repository of names which have been entered by individuals themselves, in memory of shipmates or relatives, or as commemorative gifts. The Log will be on public display at the Visitors Center to be constructed next to the Memorial; each entry will show an individual's name, highest rank or rate held, dates of service and date and place of birth. The Log already holds more than 55,000 names.

Specially prepared greeting card acknowledgements and Log registration forms will be sent in time for Father's Day for requests with contributions received by Monday, June 8. Contributions received after that date will be answered as quickly as possible, but delivery by Father's Day, June 21, is not assured.

Donations payable to "U.S. Navy Memorial" should be sent to: U.S. Navy Memorial Foundation, Box 12728, Arlington, Va. 22209-8728.

Persons may send check or money order, or pay by VISA or MASTERCARD by mailing exact name, account number and expiration date appearing on the card.

Contributions to the Memorial, including the $25.00 minimum for enrolling in the Log, are tax-deductible. Additional information may be obtained by calling 1-800-821-8892.

State Receives Top Rating For Finance Reporting

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced that Maryland has been awarded the highest form of recognition in governmental accounting and financial reporting. "This award comes at an important time as Maryland prepares for a bond sale on June 17, when the Board of Public Works will accept bids on $144,860,000 in general obligation bonds," Goldstein said.

Maryland remains one of only five states to hold the covered Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting from the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada. The award was made for the State's Fiscal Year 1986 Comprehensive Annual Financial Report, prepared by the State Comptroller's Office.

"The certificate of achievement is awarded to only a select few government units and only after a rigorous review of their published financial statements. This is the seventh time Maryland has won the award," Goldstein said. "This recognition is the latest in a long sequence of positive events relating to Maryland's credibility and financial reporting which have maintained our prime triple A general obligation bond rating and benefited taxpayers through lowest possible interest costs and tax savings.

In awarding the certificate, the Government Finance Officers group said Maryland's Comprehensive Annual Financial Report, "has been judged by an impartial panel to meet the high standards of the program including demonstrating a constructive spirit of full disclosure."

"Over the past several years, Maryland has been a leader in responding to the rapidly changing demands of the bond market, protecting the triple A credit rating — the best you can get. This has saved our taxpayers millions of dollars in interest costs," Goldstein said.

Maryland was also the first state in the United States to publish an annual financial disclosure statements prior to bond sales and in establishing a Capital Debt Affordability Committee to closely monitor the state debt and make yearly recommendations to the General Assembly. Maryland was also the leading state in converting its accounting procedures to generally accepted accounting principles and obtaining a national accounting firm to make independent audits of the state's books.

"Maryland was also the first state in the United States to publish an annual financial report with the opinion of the independent outside accounting firm included in it," Goldstein said. "This award is an important achievement for all Marylanders, made possible with the cooperation of the governors and legislature of our state."

CRIME SOLVERS

This week Crime Solvers is seeking information leading to the arrest of the person or persons responsible for the breaking and entering and theft that occurred at a residence located on U.S. Rt. 219, just north of Accident.

Entry into a garage there was made by breaking out a window. Numerous items were taken, including a two sets of three-eighth inch drive sockets, three sets of one-half inch drive sockets, one 16 horsepower Briggs and Stratton engine, one air compressor, one battery charger and one NAPA Brand 12-volt battery.

Total loss value amounted to over $1000.

All leads in this case have been exhausted and Crime Solvers is seeking your help. Anyone with information about this crime or any other unsolved crimes is eligible for a cash reward of up to $1000.

The caller may remain anonymous and any information will be kept confidential. Information may be given by calling 334-1975.

Accident Post Slates Service

The Accident American Legion Post 208 will hold a Memorial Day service on Monday, May 25.

The Legion members, along with Northern High School Band, will convene at the north end of town at 9 a.m. At 9:15 the parade will move down Main Street to the Town Park East for the program.

House of Delegates representative, George Edwards, will be the speaker.

Every Day Is Poppy Day For Hospitalized Veterans

For hundreds of long-term disabled veterans in Veterans Administration Hospitals and Domiciliarys and in State Veterans Homes, everyday is VFW Buddy Poppy Day.

These are the men who assemble the Poppies, tie them in bunches of ten and pack them in boxes of 500 or 1,000 for shipment to some 10,000 Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts and Auxiliaries throughout the nation.

Poppy assembly is a year-round project in some 10 veterans facilities and a part-time program in others. Some are under the direction of the VFW organization in the state in which they are located, and others are supervised and directed by the National VFW Buddy Poppy Department.

The assembly procedure varies from facility to facility, depending upon the emphasis given to the various aspects of the program by the project director.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars pays the disabled veteran for his work. In most cases, the money provides extra income for the disabled veteran to pay for the little luxuries which make hospital life tolerable.

Sometimes the Poppy assembly is used as a therapy program, under direct supervision of hospital personnel, to provide exercise for fingers and hands crippled by wounds, disease and the effects of old age.

One of the most successful adaptations of the Buddy Poppy assembly program is its use as a step toward the rehabilitation of psychiatric patients. The experience and training in concentration and supervised work in assembling Poppies has led to more complicated duties and eventual discharge.

From the time it leaves the hospital till it graces the coat lapel or dress front of the individual citizen, the Poppy provides care for the widow and orphans of deceased veterans at the VFW National Home in Eaton Rapids, Michigan; provides funds for veterans rehabilitation services on the State and National level; pays for direct relief to the families of needy and deceased veterans; and serves as a memorial to the dead of all wars of the U.S.

More than 15½ million Buddy Poppies will be assembled this year and will be sold by VFW Posts and Auxiliaries throughout the nation. Each of them will have traveled a long way; and each will have helped to make someone happier.

The annual sale of Buddy Poppies is the only public solicitation conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The sale in the Oakland area will be May 23-30, sponsored by Post 10077, Deer Park.

Workshop On Water, Sewer System Financing Is Scheduled For July

The amendments to the Clean Water Act passed by Congress in January of this year will change, over the next few years, the concept of federal funding for water and sewer systems at the local level. The impact will be to change federal support from grants to loans and phase out the federal input at diminishing levels through 1994.

The amendments authorize capitalization grants to each state for the state to establish a water pollution control revolving fund. The state has to match the federal fund with 20 percent state funds. This total will in turn form the basis for loans to Maryland counties and municipalities — to assure progress toward compliance with enforceable deadlines, goals and requirements of the act. The Clean Water Act as originally passed in 1972 did set wastewater discharge limitations with compliance to be accomplished by July 1988.

To interpret the amendments and the act itself, a workshop, "Financing Community Water and Sewer Systems" will be presented on July 15-16 at the Ramada Inn and Convention Center in Hagerstown. The goals of this workshop are to inform participants about the changes in the Clean Water Act and the action Maryland will be taking to set up and provide for use of the revolving fund.

Local officials will be given ample time to respond to the federal and state presentations. Since state legislation will not be enacted until the 1988 session, local officials may have influence on the formulation of this legislation. The conference will also provide a choice of workshop sessions (small group) on capital budgeting, user charges, the bond market, financing tools and the State Infrastructure program.

The anticipated participants are state, county and municipal officials, environmental managers, public works officers and citizens interested in the topic. A number of Federal Environmental Protection Agency and state agency officials will make presentations. Sponsors include state agencies, office of Environmental Protection/Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Department of Natural Resources, Department of Economic and Community Development, the Maryland Association of Counties, the Howard County Bureau of Utilities, the University of Maryland Institute of Governmental Service and the Cooperative Extension Service with leadership provided by the Water Resources Team. The Water Resources Research Center will provide partial funding.

The workshop will commence with registration at 9:30 a.m. on July 15 and close at noon on July 16. Brochures will be circulated during May and June.

Surgeon General Says Smoking Is "Bad Business"

Smoking is bad business, and executives who aren't helping their employees kick tobacco are overlooking the obvious management improvement, according to coordinators of the local Wellness Together program.

"Any executive who thinks the smoking habits of employees are not a management concern should read the recent Surgeon General's report on smoking and health," advised the coordinators.

"The government has labeled smoking 'Public Health Enemy Number One,' because it annually contributes to 225,000 deaths from cardiovascular disease, over 100,000 deaths from lung and other cancers, and 19,000 deaths from emphysema and other pulmonary diseases," they reported.

"Although smoking is a human tragedy, it can also be viewed in purely economic and business terms," they stated.

The Surgeon General estimates that American industry loses $12 to $18 billion each year from reduced productivity, wages, and absenteeism due to smoking-related illness among the work force. Another $200 million is wasted in repairing smoking-related fire damage.

"Further, smoking accounts for about $5 to $8 billion in direct health care expenses, and most companies pick up the insurance tab for these medical services," he said. "No one can force smokers to quit, but if they want to stop, management can certainly encourage and support them by sponsoring and promoting smoking-cessation programs."

Additional smoking facts are available upon request from Wellness Together. Free introductory classes for the next Smoke Stoppers will be held Sunday, May 24, at 4 p.m. and Monday, May 25, at 6:30 p.m. in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Board Room. To pre-register, persons may call 334-2155.

FINE HEARING AIDS NEED NOT BE SO EXPENSIVE

Of course not! Markups of up to 500% and more are common and not justified in a service business. Many spend hundreds more than is necessary. Before buying any aid from anyone, shop around. You may save up to 50% or more for the same make and model aid. Call us and we'll be happy to give you full pricing information on any aid.

Yough Mtn. Lake Property Owners Association Meets

The Youghiogheny Mountain Lake Property Owners Association held their first business meeting of the year on May 9. Two new officers were elected to fill vacancies. Tom Sampson was elected secretary and John Parker became the fifth member of the board of directors. Both men will hold those positions until the regularly scheduled elections which will be held in the late summer.

All property owners were mailed a copy of the registered letter containing the "Order of Publication" which was ordered to be printed in The Republican for four consecutive weeks by Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer, Garrett County Circuit Court. This notice relates to the class action suit involving Piney Mountain Subdivision, Piney Mountain Corporation stockholders.

The association feels that it has good legal counsel and wants the best for the individual property owners, such as: better roads, realistic property values, enforceable protective covenants and a beautiful resort in which to live and/or vacation. The subject was thoroughly discussed at the business meeting and individual property owner's questions were answered. The "Trail on Merits" has been scheduled for 9:30 a.m., August 24 and 25, in the Garrett County Circuit Court, Judge Thayer presiding. All property owners may attend.

The first social gathering of the season will be held on Saturday, May 23, in the picnic area near the resort club house, beginning at 1 p.m. Sunday.

May 24, is the rain delay date. Attending families are asked to bring a covered dish and a meat of their choice, to be prepared on a grill for their immediate family. Pop and beer will be provided by the association. Suitable games, such as hopscotch, jump rope, tag and dodge ball are planned for the children. There will be a volleyball game for adults at 3 p.m. and bingo at 5 p.m. As usual, members and their minor children may attend free and guests will be charged $1 each for a full afternoon and evening of fun and games.

Gorman was once called Shaefferville.

NO HUNTING OR TRESPASSING

Bausch & Lomb, Inc., will not be responsible for any injuries or liabilities incurred as a result of trespassing on its property. Snowmobiles, trail bikes, motorcycles and hunters are prohibited on the company's property. Trespassing will be prohibited on all of the company's property except those areas considered public access areas.

Bausch & Lomb, Inc.

Food Service Group Schedules Dinner

The Garrett County School Food Service Association is planning a covered dish retirement dinner for June 2, at 6 p.m. in the Southern High School cafeteria.

All food service workers and retired food service personnel are invited to attend according to Mike Harsh, president elect.

Honored On Birthdays

Mrs. Jerry Galinsky, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., hosted a double surprise celebration on May 10, for her mother, Lucille Ball, Brandywine, formerly of Garrett County, and sister Donna Masano, for their birthdays.

Attending were all six of Lucille's children: Barbara Galinsky and her husband, Jerry, and daughters Carol,

Debbie and Bobbie; Donna Masano, husband, John, and daughters Judy and Nancy; Elaine Shepard, husband, Buddy, and daughter Karen;

George Ball; Beverly Sarver and Vicki and Lisa, son Frank and wife, who flew in from Tucson, Ariz. Also attending were Lucille's sister, Dorothy and her husband, Garland, Stansbury; brother Carlton Sembover and his friend, Beulah Sisler; and Kitty Hinkle, sister-in-law of Lucille.

Local Scouts Hold Pinewood Derby

The Deep Creek District Cub Scout Pinewood Derby was held May 9 at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland, with three local packs participating.

Also participating from Pack 49, which is located in the Grantsville area, was Justin Broadwater, Cody Hardesty, of Pack 95, Loch Lynn, and Joel Uphold and Robert Sines of Pack 70, Broad Ford School, also competed.

Paul Johnson, Cumberland, who has been supervising pinewood derbies for the Cub Scouts for the past 15 years, was in charge.

Johnson will also be in charge of the Potomac Council Pinewood Memorial Derby, slated for early June in LaVale. This event is in memory of Willis Smith, a long-time scoutmaster with the Potomac Council.

NHS Students Participate In Science Fair

Nearly 120 students participated in the Northern High School Science Fair May 9-10. Projects were entered in the categories of: Biology, Earth Science, General Science and Health. All students received a certificate of participation for displaying their project. Additionally, those students who were present for judging received a ribbon for their placing.

Judges for the event were Monty Nook, science instructor at Southern High School, and Robert W. Twigg, Cumberland, a retired State Highway Administration engineer. Students who earned ribbons were: blue ribbon, first place, Sheldon Maust; red ribbons, second place, Jodi Broadwater, Kali Fields, Amy Foley, Jodi Herschberger, Lori Minnick, Marvin Murphy, Tom Naylor, Ron Tomlinson, Barbie Umbel and Lyndon Yoder; and white ribbons, third place, Rajja Fisher, Kathy McKenzie and Tarin Towers.

High scoring individuals in each category were: Sheldon Maust, Earth Science, for his computer program on the "Identification of Minerals;" Jodi Broadwater, Biology, for "Biofeedback of the Spine;" and Ron Tomlinson, General Science, for his construction of a solar collector. Each of these students will be recognized at the school's annual awards assembly on May 26, and will be presented a subscription to a science magazine.

The fair was open to the public.

Indoor Plumbing Program Funds Still Available

Low-interest loans for the installation or repair of water and sewage disposal systems are still available to qualified applicants through the Indoor Plumbing Program, according to the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development.

The loans can be used to install or repair septic systems, wells, indoor piping and bathroom fixtures, and to connect existing facilities to community sewer and water systems.

To qualify, properties must be without or have an incomplete or failing indoor plumbing or septic system, and must be structurally sound or in the process of being made structurally sound. When completed, the water and sewer systems must comply with the requirements of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and other appropriate government agencies.

The program serves individuals or families with limited incomes. Income limits are based on household size. Applicants can include owner-occupants of single-family dwellings and owners of rental properties with up to 20 dwelling units. Owner-occupants and at least two-thirds of the tenants in rental properties must earn income within the program's income limits.

Interest rates range from 7.5 percent to zero percent, depending on the income of the owner-occupants or the tenants in a rental property. In certain cases, repayment of the loan or a portion of the loan can be deferred. The maximum loan term is 20 years.

The Indoor Plumbing Program is operated by the Community Development Administration, the state's housing finance agency. CDA is a division of the Department of Economic and Community Development.

For information, or to obtain an application ticket, persons should contact CDA's Rehabilitation and Special Loan Programs office at, toll-free, 1-800-492-7127.

Doris Baker Anxious To Help Others Kick The Smoking Habit

Doris Baker says she is looking forward to the beginning of a new Smoke Stoppers program at the end of May. People interested in learning more about the program, which was developed by the National Center for Health Promotion (NCHP), are welcome to attend one of two free introductory classes at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Board on either Sunday, May 24, at 4 p.m. or Monday, May 25, at 6:30 p.m.

Doris Baker was trained by NCHP to teach the Smoke Stoppers program two years ago and since then has taught four sessions of the program, which meets eight times during each session.

Mrs. Baker, who works at the main desk of the hospital, says she is proud of having spent the past 12 years as an employee of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and having been selected for training in the Smoke Stoppers program. She also noted that no one in her family smokes anymore. Her daughter quit two months ago after making a bargain with Doris: if she would quit, Doris would pay her $100 after she had stayed quit for one month. But if she started smoking again, she would have to pay back the $100.

Doris says she is "happy that all members of her family have chosen to be nonsmokers, which means better health and lifestyles for her grandchildren too. She says that teaching the Smoke Stoppers program has had a positive impact on her.

"Every time I teach the session it further reinforces my decision to never again have another cigarette," she said. "It is true that the longer you stay quit, the more successful you will be as a nonsmoker. You cannot allow yourself to smoke just one after you have quit. That's why quitting smoking cannot be compared with controlling weight. A person can be successful with weight control and still have a piece of high-calorie cake once in a while, but a person who has quit tobacco, either chewing or smoking it, cannot have just a 'taste' once in a while; the nicotine addiction is too strong."

Meeting people in the Smoke Stoppers program has been "a great pleasure," for Doris because she said she might not have had the opportunity to meet them otherwise.

"We get to know each other rather well and the people in each group care about each other succeeding," she said. "I want so much for everyone to be successful and quit tobacco that I get frustrated when some people don't give themselves the chance to succeed — they give in to the urge to smoke too quickly."

Mrs. Baker indicated that the advantage of Smoke Stoppers over other smoking cessation programs is the negative association it attributes to tobacco. She said the program offers a way of looking at tobacco that participants may have never before experienced. The techniques and skills learned for quitting tobacco can also be applied for changing other unhealthy habits.

"I want the people who participate in Smoke Stoppers to discover the joy of feeling good without relying on tobacco. Life can be great without it," she adds.

People interested in quitting smoking may call 334-2155 to pre-register for the free introductory classes. Next week, "Wellness Together," will introduce Doris Baker's teaching partner, Bernie Simmons, RN, MS.

Jobless Rates Take Expected Drop In March

Improving weather conditions contributed to a decrease in Maryland's estimated unemployment rate in March to 5.0 percent, down from 5.4 percent in February.

Garrett County's jobless rate also decreased, from 14.1 percent in February to 13.5 percent in March. The March 1986 rate was 13.4 percent.

According to the Department of Employment and Training, the decline in the state figure is identical to that of last year. The drop in the jobless rate was consistent with the national forecast which showed unemployment declining from 7.2 percent in February to 6.9 percent in March.

After two months of seasonal declines, the statewide labor force increased by more than 29,000 persons to total 2,392,869. Seasonal hiring activity contributed to employment gains of 38,371 persons and reduced Maryland's jobless rolls by 9,184 persons.

The labor force in Garrett County increased from 12,049 in February to 12,250 in March. Of the February labor force, 1,701 were unemployed, while 1,656 of the March labor force were without jobs.

Maryland's industrial payrolls increased by 22,000 jobs through March. Construction rebounded from its cold weather slump, with seasonal recalls prompting gains of an estimated 4,600 jobs. Seasonal hiring activity was also strong in eating/drinking places, hotels and lodging places, amusement and recreation services, and agribusiness. Payrolls in city and county government and public education also increased noticeably.

Regional unemployment trends mirrored those statewide. At 9.6 percent in March, Western Maryland had the highest unemployment of the state's four areas. However, its rate did drop significantly from February's estimate of 10.6 percent. Unemployment in the balance of state area receded from 9.2 percent in February to 8.1 percent in March. Scattered recalls in manufacturing and seasonal hiring in construction and services contributed to this decline in the region's jobless rate.

In the Baltimore metro area, an increase of more than 10,000 jobs on the region's industrial payrolls helped to reduce the area's jobless rate from 5.9 percent in February to 5.4 percent in March. The stable economic conditions for the Maryland portion of the D.C. suburbs resulted in a decline in the area's jobless rate from 3.6 percent in February to 3.3 percent in March.

Jobless rates, which declined in all of Maryland's subdivisions, ranged from a low of 2.5 percent in Howard County to a high of 15.3 percent in Somerset County.

Real Estate

PLEASE — SIGN IN!

When driving into a neighborhood subdivision to visit a friend, do you ever see a "For Sale" sign and comment "I wonder how much they're asking?" or "I'd like to own a home like that!" And, when you pass homes with no sign, how often do you even think of making such a comment?

Interesting, isn't it, that even though you have no plans to buy or sell a home, your attention is attracted by a "For Sale" sign? Actually, there's a lesson to be learned here.

It is quite common for homeowners to tell their real estate agent "We don't want a sign in our yard. We don't want the neighbors to know we're moving." Or, perhaps, "We don't want to have a sign because we haven't yet told our family we're moving yet." Those reasons are certainly logical, yet they may stand in the way of a fast sale to a qualified buyer. Here's why.

Put yourself in the buyers seat for a moment. One of the first things you may do once you've decided to buy a home is "drive around." Driving through numerous neighborhoods to see what types of property are available before calling an agent, you'll probably jot down the addresses of the ones you like. Then you'll call the agent handling the property. Right? No more need be said.

A very high percentage of home sales begin with a sign in the yard. Yours could also.

If you're planning to sell your home soon and would like information on its current value, give us a call at 387-5303 or come by our office located at McHenry Plaza.

WVU Official Emphasizes Desperate Need For Pediatric Donor Organs

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — The death last month of seven-year-old Ronnie DeSillers in a Pittsburgh hospital as he awaited a donated liver for transplant focused national attention on the desperate need for donor organs.

"The need is tremendous, yet currently few such organs become available," said Howard Kaufman, chair of the neurosurgery department at the West Virginia University Medical Center.

Dr. Kaufman organized a recent conference on pediatric brain death and tissue and organ donation, the first public discussion of the topic. The conference, held in Washington, D.C., brought together not only medical specialists in such areas as pediatric neurosurgery, neurology, intensive care and transplant surgery but also theologians, lawyers, ethicists, economists and government officials to discuss this complex and difficult subject.

"Over the past 20 years the subject of brain death has assumed increased importance — a person may have died and yet modern technology can support the heartbeat for long periods," Kaufman said. "The brain dies but other organs can continue to function. Such organs are well-suited for transplantation because they can be removed and transported under optimum conditions."

While studies of brain death have led to a search for better criteria for diagnosing death in adults, the subject as it applies to children has been addressed only in the last few years, he added.

The number of children who suffer brain death each year also is not known, but the total number including both adults and children is approximately 20,000. The majority result from accidents, strokes, and anoxia caused by cardiac arrest.

While the number of donated organs has been increasing, it has not kept pace with the number of transplants medical progress has made possible.

"It's been estimated that 3,000 children under the age of one die each year of congenital diseases of the heart and liver. A great number of these children — and other children with serious diseases — could be saved, but small organs from children who suffer brain death are required," he said.

A major reason for the shortage of donated children's organs has been the reluctance of physicians to approach grieving parents with the proposal that they donate the organs of their child. Kaufman said such reluctance is not well-founded.

"Doctors worry about disturbing a family which has just lost a child, but the fact is that most families are helped by donating," he said.

Another reason for a lack of donated organs has been some physicians' worry about legal problems.

"Doctors really don't need to worry much about legal complications in these matters," Kaufman said. "The law is clear — and in fact the law has been very supportive."

He added that from the standpoint of Judeo-Christian ethics, the principles of beneficence and charity make proposing organ donations virtually mandatory, since so much good can come of it.

In the past when transplants were rare, physicians may have feared to approach parents with a suggestion they might find distressing and even macabre. But public understanding has matured, in part due to cases like that of Ronnie DeSillers, and for most people, the option of organ donation is no longer novel.

Now, Kaufman said, more needs to be done to educate doctors, nurses, respiratory therapists, hospital administrators and social workers, those who must create an effective system for transplants and make it work.

Masons Set Past Masters' Night

Oakland Lodge No. 192, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons will have Past Masters' Night on Tuesday, May 26, in the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple, 3 South Wilson St.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., after which the Past Masters will confer the Third Degree on an eligible Fellow Craft Mason. Worshipful Master James Wm. Nelson invites all Master Masons to attend. Dinner reservations can be made by calling 334-1770 by Saturday, May 23.

Tax Rates Set At Grantsville Council Meeting

During the regular monthly meeting of the Grantsville Town Council held Monday evening, it was announced that the real estate tax rate was set at 70 cents per $100 of assessed property which is in compliance with the constant yield tax rate. The ad valorem tax rate will remain the same at 45 cents per $100 of assessed property.

In other council news, it was announced that a clean-up day will be held Saturday, May 23. County trucks will be at the dumpster site from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. to pick up large items. Anyone needing assistance or information is asked to call 895-5208 and a member of the local Lion's Club will assist.

The council also met with Garrett County Commissioners Monday to discuss the tax differential and the coal-haul tax. According to Gloria Martin, town clerk, no definite decisions have been made concerning the taxes.

The town is working with the state to alleviate the gas odor within several buildings and storm sewers. Some of the storm sewers were replaced yesterday by the town.

The Mayor and Town Council will hold an open house for town residents at the new town meeting building located at the intersection of Hershberger Lane and Hill Street.

The open house will be held June 14 from 2 to 4 p.m. and everyone is welcome to attend.

The council reminds everyone that the new tax year is coming up and that anyone who has not yet paid this year's taxes should do so immediately.

SUNNYWIDE- UNDERWOOD

The "Helping Hands" group met on Friday evening in the home of Bessie Canan. The meeting was under the direction of Hazel Uple.

The Scripture lesson for the meeting was by Rebecca Cummings, using the 28th Psalm. Carolyn Foster gave the treasurer's report and Elaine Cummings the meeting report. The next meeting will be at the Underwood pavilion on June 12 in the evening.

The "Helping Hands" yard and bake sale will be this Friday, May 22, on the lawn in front of Gene Matthews' feed store in Oakland.

The Bible study group met on Thursday afternoon in the home of Wilma Waybright. Opening prayer was by Mrs. Waybright and the lesson was taught by Jane Kope. The closing prayer was by Bessie Canan. Refreshments were also served to Elaine Beckman and daughter, Amanda.

Noah, Delbert and Wilma Waybright spent a Sunday recently in Sugarlands where Wilma had preaching appointments. After services they visited Earl Knotts, who was able to return home from an Elkins, W.Va., hospital where he had been a patient for some time. They also visited Florence Harsh and Colene Shaffer at Cortland Acres near Thomas before arriving at Brookside Fire Hall for the annual Mother's Day dinner there.

Marian Friend is spending several days this week visiting her sister, Mrs. Irene Hartman, at Martinsburg, W.Va.

Mildred Peterson will return one day this week from her senior citizen trip to Michigan.

Elaine Beckman and daughters, Amanda and Vicki, were assisting Bessie Canan on Saturday afternoon.

David Tracey visited Larry Canan this week.

IS THERE LIFE AFTER CIGARETTES?

There are times when a cigarette tastes great. Like after a good meal. Or with your first cup of coffee in the morning. Or with quiet and spirited conversation. Or on any of a dozen other occasions.

It's those times — the times you most enjoy smoking — that make the prospect of quitting seem so difficult. How can you conquer those moments of pleasure and break your habit?

The answer may be:

America's most successful stop smoking program — Smoke Stoppers. It works because it deals with more than the habit of smoking. It deals with the attitudes, behavior, and patterns of smoking.

Smoke Stoppers is a program designed and conducted by former smokers who know what it takes to quit and respect your courage to do the same. From the beginning, the goal of quitting remains your choice. Helping you fulfill your goal is ours. The program is always low-key, friendly, and positively supportive. Before long, the hard part will be over and you'll be ready to join the thousands of Smoke Stoppers graduates who haven't smoked in a year or more.

Does life go on after cigarettes? It may seem to require a courageous effort to know, but Smoke Stoppers could well be just the tool to help you find the answer.

You're invited to an introductory session. It's free and without obligation, so please come.

Smoke Stoppers

Free introductory sessions:

Sunday, May 24, 4:00 p.m.; Monday, May 25, 6:30 p.m.

Something To Think About

R. Mark Durst

DIRECTOR

EXPRESSIONS OF SYMPATHY

Many people desire to express their sympathy by sending flowers or some other memorial in addition to extending their condolences in person. Others do this because they cannot attend either the visitation or the service.

For the most part, those who wish to demonstrate their feelings should be able to do so, in the way they prefer and which is most natural for them. Flowers, for example, have a message all their own — one which is universal. They also add beauty to the casket setting and to the funeral service.

While it is considered proper for the family to suggest a certain memorial (such as a donation to a particular charity), this should not be done in such a manner as to exclude alternate expressions of sympathy. It should also be presented in such a way so as not to be construed as a tangible solicitation of sympathy. The funeral director can advise on these and similar matters.

Appointments Announced By GNB

J. Robert Frazee

David M. Nordeck

The Board of Directors of Garrett National Bank recently announced appointments of two executive officers.

J. Robert Frazee joined the staff of Garrett National as vice president of the Loan Administration Division. In this position he will be responsible for the overall management of the bank's loan department and the total loan portfolio.

Prior to joining Garrett National, Frazee spent ten years with the Farm Credit System in the Baltimore Farm Credit District which is comprised of the States of Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. While employed by the Farm Credit System he held numerous positions, including field representative, senior credit analyst and senior credit officer. In 1980 he was named assistant vice president, Credit Administration, and was responsible for organization and approval of loans to farmers, agribusinesses and farmer cooperatives. In 1984 Frazee was named regional vice president, Association Supervision Department, and was responsible for the supervision of operations of six Farm Credit Associations in Maryland, Delaware and Virginia.

Frazee is a native of Garrett County and a graduate of Northern High School. He received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Maryland at College Park and is currently working toward a master's of administrative science degree at the Johns Hopkins University. He serves on the Board of Trustees of the Maryland FFA Foundation, is a director of the University of Maryland College of Agriculture Alumni Chapter, a member of the University of Maryland Institute of Applied Agriculture Advisory Board and a member of Toastmasters International. In addition, he has received the American Farmer Degree from Future Farmers of America, the Honorary State Agriculturist Degree from the Maryland FFA Association and the Distinguished Service Award, Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore.

Frazee resides in Friendsville with his wife, Lisa Bartley Frazee, and two children, Erin and Ryan.

David M. Nordeck was appointed vice president and trust officer for the bank. In this position, he will be totally responsible for the bank's Trust Department.

Nordeck has been with Garrett National for 17 years, starting his banking career in 1970 as a management trainee. He was appointed branch manager of the LaVale Branch office in 1971 and held that position until 1976 when he was named assistant vice president of the Loan Department. In 1982 he was named vice president of the Loan Administration Department and supervised the bank's total lending operations until this recent appointment.

Nordeck is also a native of Garrett County and a graduate of Southern High School. He attended Potomac State College, and University of North Dakota, majoring in business. He is a graduate of the Graduate School of Consumer Banking and the National Installment Credit School. He has taken numerous courses in management and banking through the American Institute of Banking. He is a four-year veteran of the United States Air Force, where he served as an inventory management specialist.

Nordeck is treasurer and past secretary of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, past president of the Cumberland Chapter of the Bank Administration Institute and a member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church.

He resides in the Loch Lynn area and is the father of two sons, Darren and Dan.

Maryland Ag Commission Meets With Garrett County Ag Reps

The Wisp Resort was the site of the May 14 meeting of the Maryland Agricultural Commission, with 14 members of the Commission traveling to Garrett County to take part in the open meeting Thursday night and a tour of the area on Friday.

The Maryland Ag Commission acts as an advisory body to the Secretary of Agriculture on matters pertaining to agriculture. The commission has 17 members, 16 of whom are appointed by the governor. One member, Dr. Ray J. Miller, University of Maryland, is ex officio. The 16 appointments are from a wide representation of Maryland's agriculture, with two representing the dairy industry; two representing the poultry industry; one representing the livestock industry; one from the tobacco industry; one from the nursery industry; one from the horticulture industry; one representing the field crops industry; one representing the vegetable industry; one from the veterinary profession; one from the Maryland State Grange; and one from the Maryland Farm Bureau. There are also three appointed at large from services related to agriculture. Currently those at large members represent the horse industry; the canning industry; and the turf industry.

The Garrett County visit was a part of Governor William Donald Schaefer's outreach program and Agriculture Secretary Wayne Cawley's emphasis on receiving input from farmers in all parts of the state. Comments from Garrett County's ag community were provided by representatives from the Soil Conservation Service, ASCS, Extension Service, the Ag Land Preservation Board, Economic and Community Development, and the Farm Bureau.

Each commission member introduced himself and gave a description of the arm of agriculture he represents. Some of the reports showed positive growth, while others showed loss of market and falling revenues.

Turf industry representative John Strickland said the turf industry encompasses all of us. "Everyone has grass in their front yard," he explained. He said that the one-half billion dollar industry is one of the most growing ag businesses in the state.

Livestock representative Franklin Feeser spoke of livestock promotion through the beef check off. Dairy representatives told the group they expect dairy prices to continue through the year at the current level, and maybe even rise a little. The current health food fad has caused a rapid expansion of poultry in fast-food restaurants, poultry representatives said. "Poultry has been a very good business the last couple of years," they noted.

Some areas of agriculture that are not doing quite as well were described as the canning/food processing industry and the tobacco industry. Thomas G. Mason, representing the canning industry, said the industry is vast and includes all kinds of preservation of food. "The industry is not as healthy as it once was," Mason said, but stated that the freezing industry has grown in the last few years. Roland Darcey of the tobacco industry said that industry is also on a decline.

Edward Allen, Maryland Farm Bureau representative, explained that one of Farm Bureau's main goals is to promote legislative involvement, and noted that "Maryland Farm Bureau has possibly the most active National Affairs Program in the United States."

The commission members agreed that they represent quite a diverse industry — agriculture. And although diverse, they have many things in common and are all part of the ag program in the state. "Although farmers are not many in numbers, we have to stick together and work together as part of our ag society," one commission member said.

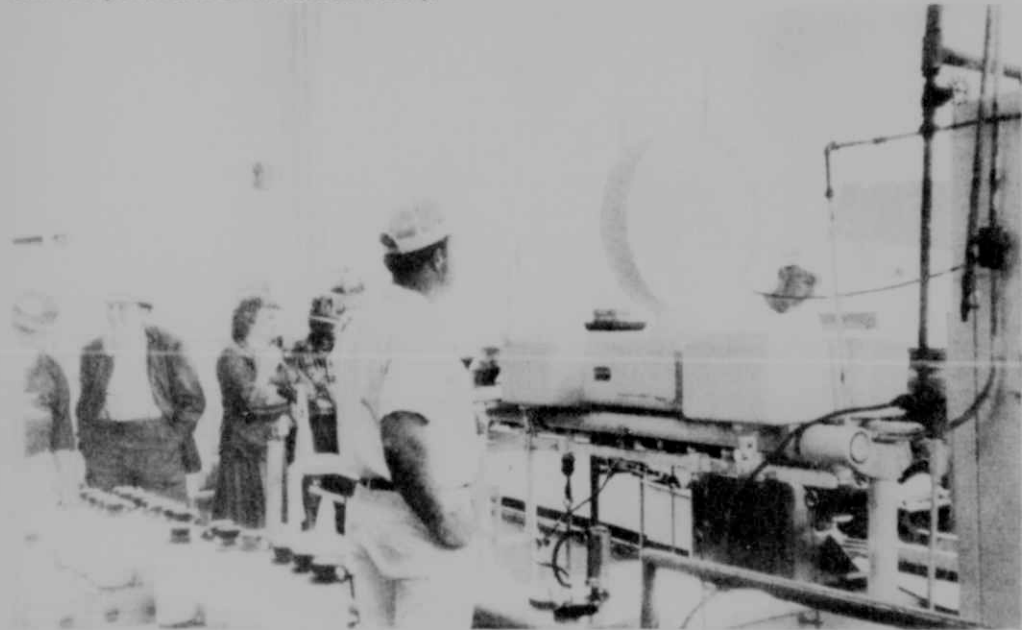

An open discussion followed with questions and comments flowing between commission members and the Garrett countians present. "Where does the Ag Commission stand on reorganization of the University of Maryland?" was a question that led a lively discussion, with

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

very successful in the county and was a good cash crop. "The main problem here is no market," Kolb said.

County Extension Agent Jim Simms joined in to explain that the climate here is very good for vegetable production and in the 1960s large amounts of cauliflower, acres and acres of snap beans, all cold weather crops, were raised and did extremely well here. About four years ago, the Department of Agriculture came to Garrett County to explore the fresh vegetable market situation, Simms said, without much encouragement, he added.

The commission's executive secretary, Lynne Hoot, said that marketing is a problem, but that is no excuse not to try to promote a product. She promised to bring the problem to the attention of Henry Schmidt, the new director of marketing for the Department of Agriculture beginning June 1.

Hoot also explained that Gov. Schaefer has adopted a logo, "Maryland — With Pride," to be used in promoting all things grown, processed, or made in Maryland, and expects that to be a big promotion tool. "We have a new governor with a new emphasis," she said. "He has faith in marketing; he's very supportive."

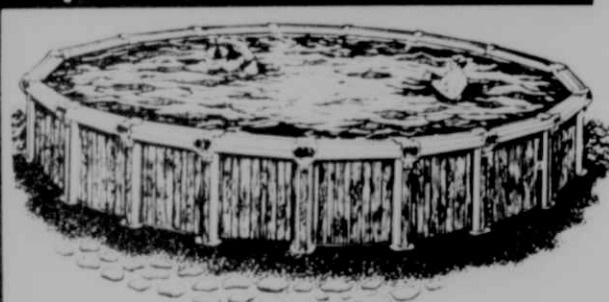

Other topics discussed by the commission included ag land preservation, how agriculture can work hand-in-hand with economic development, the RAMP Program, and expansion of the sheep and poultry industry.

Local ag representatives attending the meeting included: Carolyn Ganoie, Ag Land Preservation Board; G.P. Halterman, ASCS; Leslie Guard, ASCS Committee; Jim Schlossnagle, District Conservationist; Brooks Hamilton, livestock producer; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Kolb, Garrett County Farm Bureau and Farm Bureau Women's Committee; Tom Jones, Garrett County Economic and Community Development Committee; Ted Sprangel and Jim Simms, Garrett County Extension agents; Bernice Kepple, farm editor, The Republican; and Criss Kepple, student of ag economics at the University of Maryland and tour organizer.

On Friday, the commission toured the Oakland flood control facilities, the historic train station in Oakland and other points of interest on the way to Tablelands Milk Producers.

FFA GREENHANDS AND CHAPTER FARMERS — Recognized by the North Garrett FFA Chapter for completing one year of FFA were "Greenhands", left to right: Dayton McKenzie, Paul Miller, Ron Rounds, Tony Georg, Randy Buckel and Steve Bittinger. The "Chapter Farmer Degree" is conferred on members who have met the qualifications, received the Greenhand Degree, and have completed one semester of instruction in vocational agriculture. Furthermore, the member must be operating a project, earned $50 or worked 50 hours under direction, and demonstrated adequate leadership and scholarship. Chapter Farmers, pictured below, left to right, are: Darla Broadwater, Donn Upole, Edward Schmidt, and Jennifer Birkby. Not present were Terry Bittinger, Steve Brenneman, Gerald Durst, Jamie Uphold, and Mike Warnick.

North Garrett FFA Holds Awards Banquet

The North Garrett FFA held its annual awards banquet at Northern High School on Saturday, May 16, with 75 members, alumni, family and friends attending.

FFA Chapter President John Miller gave the call to order and NHS Principal Ed Green welcomed those present at the event. Principal Green told the students that it was an "important role they were playing in the banquet and its organization, and that the FFA program was one of the most important programs in the school." Green continued, "Students coming out of the (FFA) program are some of the finest in the school, and we are very, very proud of them."

Special guests for the evening were State FFA President Mark Hooper and State FFA Secretary Buck Cessna.

The group recognized the cafeteria staff of Northern High School for the fine banquet they had prepared. Recognized were Mrs. Ruth Georg, Mrs. Beverly Frazee and Mrs. Mary Frantz.

A slide show was presented, giving an overview of activities the members took part in during the year.

The awards program began with an Honorary Member Initiation. Those being named honorary members were: George Wassel, Donna Knox, Debbie Stemple and Patty Lowdermilk.

Greenhand Presentations were made to students completing their first year in FFA. Presentations were made to Steve Bittinger, David Burow, Tony Georg, Dale House, Peter House, Dayton McKenzie, Paul Miller, Beverly Miner and Ron Rounds.

Chapter Farmer awards were given to: Jennifer Birkby, Terry Bittinger, Steve Brenneman, Darla Broadwater, Gerald Durst, Edward Schmidt, Jamie Uphold, Donn Upole and Mike Warnick.

A Special Service Award was presented to Donetta Nice, a teacher at NHS, for her help with FFA projects.

FFA Foundation Awards were presented by alumni members to students proving proficiency in their chosen Supervised Occupational Experience Program (SOEP). Proficiency awards were given to Kim Burow, poultry; Jennifer Birkby, beef; Darla Broadwater, diversified livestock; Kevin Wassel, farm and home improvement; John Miller, ag mechanics; Ron Rounds, swine; Steve Brenneman, horses; and John Miller, extemporaneous speaking.

Record Book Awards were presented to Kim Burow and Darla Broadwater. Darla Broadwater, the chapter's Sweetheart Queen, received her white FFA Sweetheart Jacket during the ceremony.

Outstanding chapter members, Paul Miller, Darla Broadwater and John Miller, received the Star Greenhand Award, Star Farmer Award and the Outstanding Senior DeKalb Award, respectively. Photos of Farm Truck Tag Mistakes Should Be Reported

"We're not in the trucking business, but our business requires trucking." This was a statement used by Farm Bureau Lobbyist Jack Miller to describe the need for continuation of special reduced rates for farm truck license tags. The topic came up during this year's General Assembly when it was suggested that farm truck tag rates be made the same as commercial truck tag rates.

Aside from being exempt from certain regulations, farm truck tags cost approximately 25 percent of the commercial truck tag rate. Miller justifies this by explaining that most farm trucks are used seasonally and may only travel short distances from the farm or only be used on the farm itself. He also explained that in neighboring states, Pennsylvania for instance, special axle taxes are charged trucks entering the state. Trucks with Maryland farm tags are exempt from this charge also.

With the truck tags marked "farm", the State Police are aware of the exemptions and will not stop the truck for regulation exemptions, as they would if there was no visible farm tag. This prevents a waste of time and money for all involved, Miller says.

With the expected change defeated, however, a new problem surfaced. Because of a computer "mix up" at the state level, some farmers, who were charged and paid a farm tag rate, mistakenly received commercial truck tags. Farm tags have five numbers, instead of six, and the letters "F" and "T" on the far right-hand side. The word "FARM" is printed across the bottom.

Any farmer who was issued regular license tags for a farm truck, should contact Rita McMahon at the MVA's Division of Vehicle Registration, (301) 787-2983. The current tags will be exchanged for farm tags as quickly as possible.

LIFE INSURANCE - ANNUITIES

DISABILITY - HOSPITALIZATION

SERVICE IS OUR TRADITION

Life insurance needs change. Young families need more protection than those in which the children have grown and moved away from home. Middle-aged people need retirement plans if they do not set them up at an earlier age. Elderly people want help in obtaining benefits, changing beneficiaries, or in securing protection for grandchildren.

We are pointing these things out because some insurance organizations are only interested in making initial sales. Their representatives are not around when you need help most.

When you join the Woodmen, you become a member of a long established Society which will always assign a field representative to serve you.

Throughout America are four- and five- generation Woodmen families who know we do our best to serve them best both during and after the initial sale. In fact, we're known as "The Family Fraternity."

The "Woodmen Do Care."

The Woodmen is represented in Garrett County by FRANK MATTINGLY, Field Rep. 334-4468

Maryland Task Force Named

The Maryland State Board of Higher Education has established a task force to study Maryland's future requirements in veterinary education.

Comprised of Dr. Raymond Miller, vice president for agriculture at the University of Maryland; Dr. Sashi Mohanty, associate dean for the Virginia-Maryland College of Veterinary Medicine; two members of the Maryland Veterinary Medical Association; and various representatives from animal producer groups and Maryland's state Board of Higher Education, the group is expected to analyze Maryland's future requirements in veterinary education. The task force concluded its study and filed a report in April.

Donetta Nice, pictured below, was presented an Outstanding Service Award for her service to the FFA Chapter.

Good Weather Keeps Fieldwork On Schedule

The week ended May 10 was the second consecutive week of good weather for spring work. An average of 5.8 days were suitable for spring work, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Eighty percent of the acreage had been prepared for planting of spring crops; equal to the normal pace. Topsoil and subsoil moisture were still both adequate throughout the state. Wheat, barley and oats were in good condition. Cool, wet weather has adversely affected some of the small grains. Powdery mildew infestation was light overall, but concentrations vary. Rye was 90 percent headed, five percent ahead of average. Ten percent of the wheat had headed by the end of the week.

Farmers had planted 55 percent of the corn, five percent behind the average pace. Soybeans were five percent planted, near normal progress. Oats were 95 percent planted, equal to the average pace. Farmers had begun to transplant tobacco. Sweet corn was 45 percent planted, 15 percent behind average. All the apple trees were in bloom or had bloomed. Strawberries were 85 percent in bloom. The first cutting of alfalfa hay was five percent completed. Producers had cut three percent of the clover and other hays. Alfalfa weevil was still present in varying concentrations.

Weather

The week ended May 8 was cool and wet. Temperatures average nearly two degrees below the normal degrees. Low temperatures were mostly in the upper 30s to low 40s except in extreme Western Maryland where lows dipped into the high 20s.

High temperatures for the week reached the high 70s to low 80s with highs only in the low 70s in extreme Western Maryland. Precipitation for the week averaged 1.32 inches with a range of 0.88 inches at Oakland to 2.24 inches at the Patuxent Naval Air Station.

Chesapeake Bay Cleanup Concerns State Agencies

"Maryland agriculture is doing its part to clean up the waters of the state and reduce nonpoint source pollution to Chesapeake Bay," said Wayne A. Cawley Jr., secretary of the Maryland Department of Agriculture, following the announcement of settlement of the Tenny Farm case.

Tenny Farm, located in Anne Arundel County, is owned by Stonepath Corporation, a developer, and rented by Thomas and Maxine Tenny for use as a horse riding stable and farm operation where cattle, pigs, and other animals are raised and housed.

Because of the large amount of soil and animal waste being carried into waters adjacent to the farm, Tar Cove and White's Cove, and the refusal of Stonepath and the Tenny's to take any remedial action despite repeated offers of help from the Anne Arundel Soil Conservation District, the Department of Agriculture joined with the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene in bringing suit in the circuit court of Anne Arundel County on the grounds that this operation was improper and unwise use of the land and was "polluting the waters of the state."

The Tenny Farm case was settled out of court, and a Final Judgment and Consent Decree, signed on April 22 by Judge Eugene M. Lerner, requires the defendant, Stonepath, to implement a farm management plan developed by Anne Arundel Soil Conservation District and approved by the Maryland Department of Agriculture. In addition, Stonepath must pay a total of $35,000 towards the dredging of sediment from Tar Cove and White's Cove. The Tennys shall pay $1,000 to the Maryland Clean Water Fund.

Although the Maryland Department of Agriculture has historically encouraged farmers to participate in the voluntary federal and state assistance programs made available through the soil conservation districts, Secretary Cawley has set a goal of substantially reducing agricultural runoff by having a farm plan on every farm in Maryland within the next 10 years.

"Agriculture must be responsible for cleaning up its act," said Cawley. "We have an excellent voluntary assistance program, but some farmers need more convincing than others to use it," he went on. "We will continue to work closely with DHMH's Office of Environmental Programs to resolve these problems without resorting to court action."

Wool Pool Planned

The West Virginia Wool Pool and Field Day will be held Saturday, June 13, beginning at 8:30 a.m. at Crites Terra Alta Livestock Market, Inc. in Terra Alta, W. Va.

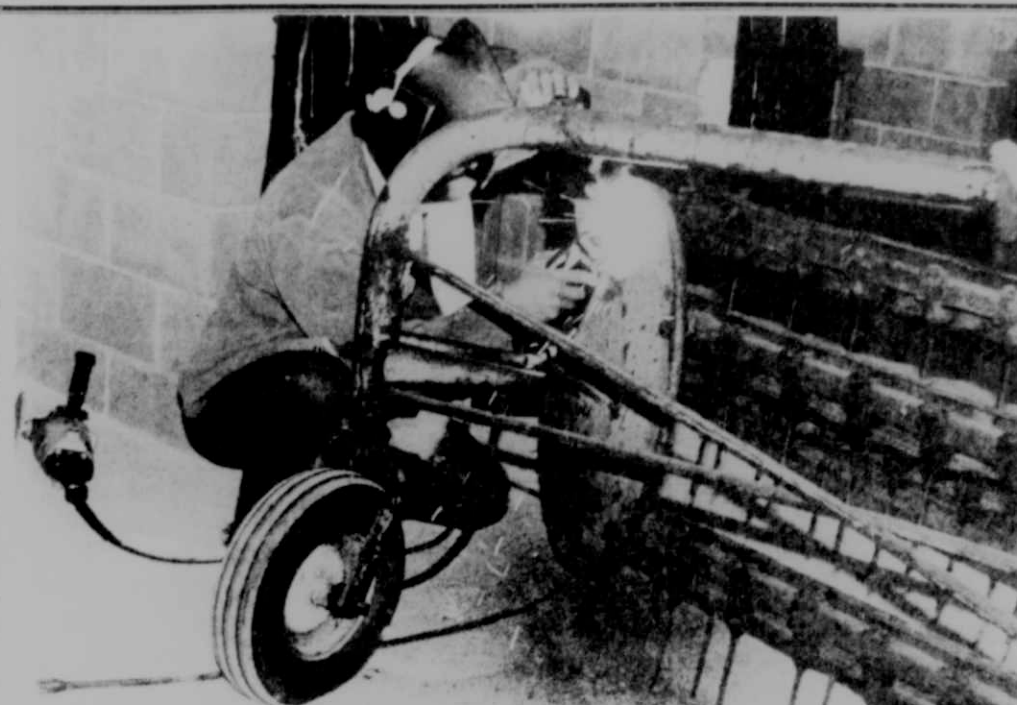

Preston County Extension Agent Thomas R. McConnell reminds wool producers to keep their wool quality up, and gives these hints for packaging wool.

1. Fleeces don't have to be tied unless the number does not fill a bag. Remember only paper twine should be used.
2. Do not use any sisal, baler, binder, or plastic twine on wool or wool bags. Wool in plastic bags will not be accepted.
3. Keep wool clean while shearing and handling.
4. Keep black, lamb, cotted, burry fleeces and tags separate from good wool. There will be a special market for black wool.
5. Pack good wool as tight as possible in the wool bag.
6. Bring wool to the pool early. All wool should be at the pool before 11 a.m.

Market Sheep, Hogs To Be Listed By June 1

Garrett County 4-H and FFA members wishing to raise and market sheep or hogs as a 4-H or FFA project this year are reminded that market sheep and swine must be listed by June 1. Sheep and Swine projects for 4-H members must be listed with the Garrett County Extension Office, while FFA members must list their sheep and swine with their FFA advisor.

Farm visits will be made to all beef, sheep and swine in June, except those steers attending Steer Camp.

THERE WAS A TIME when Northern High School had not only a barn for livestock, but also farmed nearly 100 acres of ground, which was an excellent learning experience for FFA students and also helped raise money to support the Northern FFA Chapter. The construction of Northern Middle School eliminated the barn and much of the farmland, however Northern students still harvest hay on the acreage right around the school. Above, Kevin Wassell does some repair work on the hay rake that is owned by the school and used for haymaking.

Change In Beef Grade Names Being Proposed

The American Cancer Society, the American Heart Association and the Voice for Food and Health Policy have petitioned the U.S. Department of Agriculture to change the name of U.S. "Good" retail cuts of beef to "Select".

Advocates of the change contend that Good grades of meat are leaner than Prime or Choice, but the term "Good" indicates an inferior cut of meat. They say changing the name from Good to Select will be less misleading to consumers who put an emphasis on nutrition and lower fat content in meat.

Angus Auxiliary Offers Scholarships

College scholarships totaling $7,200 will be awarded this year from the American Angus Auxiliary to 10 graduating high school seniors. Five girl and five boy winners active in Angus projects, school, community and church activities, will be selected from state applications.

Scholarship money in each group will be $1,200 for first place, $900 for second place, $700 for third place, $500 for fourth place and $300 for fifth place.

The top five girl applicants will be invited to the national Angus meeting at the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, Kentucky, November 15-17, to compete in the Miss American Angus contest. Those choosing to participate will be interviewed, and Miss American Angus will be named during the show. Scholarship winners and queen candidates will be announced at the All-American Angus Breeders' Futurity in Louisville August 2-4.

Applications for scholarships may be made through state or regional Angus Auxiliary Scholarship Chairpersons, R.R. 1, Box 20 Joliet, MT 59041.

New Product Update

Terminator (TM) Fly Tags — New from Fermenta Animal Health, this non-pyrethroid insecticide ear tag offers up to four months of fly control for beef cattle. Research trials conducted at five university stations indicate a range in horn fly control from 82.3 percent to 98.3 percent (average seasonal control). The availability of a new and distinct chemical insecticide should prove effective in dealing with pyrethroid-resistant horn fly populations.

Rumensin-MGA Combination Approved — MGA, a feed additive for feedlot heifers, has received FDA clearance for combined use with Rumensin. The daily feeding of 0.4 milligrams of MGA per head and 30 grams of Rumensin per ton of feed has been shown to significantly increase both average daily gain and feed efficiency. Remember that any feed containing MGA must be withdrawn for 48 hours prior to slaughter.

Pneumonia Vaccine — Bovicon-PM (TM), a live vaccine for the prevention of shipping fever pneumonia in beef cattle, is now available through veterinarians. This vaccine is produced by A.H. Robbins Company and protects against Pasteurella Multocida, one of the two principal bacterial agents causing shipping fever pneumonia. A second vaccine, Precon-PH (TM), is also available to aid in the prevention of shipping fever. Precon-PH (TM) provides protection against the pasteurized haemolytica bacteria.

Both vaccines should be administered at the same time, at different sites, a minimum of 7 to 10 days prior to stressing the animals.

Synovex-C for Replacement Heifers — Synovex-C, a growth implant available for use in beef calves up to 400 pounds in bodyweight, has recently gained clearance for use in heifer calves that may be used for breeding later. Previously, this growth implant was cleared by FDA only for use in steer calves.

Long-Acting Wormer Approved — Paratect (TM), a new anthelmintic delivery system for cattle, is currently being marketed nationally through veterinarians. Paratect (TM) can be administered to weaned calves, including dairy replacement heifers, weighing at least 200 pounds, or to yearlings when they are turned out to pasture. A stainless steel cartridge, covered with polylofin and filled with the drug morantel tartrate, is administered orally with a specially-designed dosing gun. A continuous release of the active ingredient should allow for extended parasite protection. Research results indicate a decreased reinfection rate over the course of the grazing season as well. Cattle wormers which provide continuous protection against gastrointestinal parasites should also prove effective in interrupting the pasture contamination — cattle reinfection cycle often seen under typical cattle grazing conditions.

and Billy Day, reproductive physiologist at the University of Missouri-Columbia. Joe Harper, sheep producer at Mouth of Seneca, W.Va., and Sam Tuckwiller, beef producer at Lewisburg, W.Va., will speak tomorrow, May 22.

Dr. Day, born at Arthur, Grant County, W.Va., is a WVU graduate and has been on the faculty of the University of Missouri since 1958. He has been a pioneer in both basic and applied research in the reproductive physiology and artificial insemination of swine.

The program began today at 1 p.m. and will continue into the evening. The May 22 session begins at 8:30 a.m. and ends at 3:30 p.m. All sessions are free.

Inc. At Tablelands they were met by General Manager and Board President Eugene Matthews, and Directors John C. Yoder, Blanche Snyder, and Foster Huffman. The group toured the facility and asked many questions.

Matthews told the group that volume wise the dairy handles three-quarters of a million pounds of milk a month, and expects that to go to one and a half million pounds this summer. He said the dairy, which is a Class Two or Grade B dairy, currently has only 75 percent of the shippers it once had. Those, however, are larger, use better management, and produce more milk.

The group then moved to the Table Rock area and Buffalo Coal Company's Turney Job, where Steve Shaffer, vice president of engineering, showed the group how a strip mine operates from the time ground is broken to extract the coal until it is backfilled and new vegetation is established.

5. Briefly, Plaintiff alleges that uncertainty and potential controversy surround the payment and/or distribution of the Proceeds and that the respective members of the Common Class, the Preferred Class, and the Producer Class have conflicting actual or potential claims to the Proceeds. Each Defendant individually and in behalf of the class he represents has asserted claims to the Proceeds and defenses to the claims of the other Defendants and their respective classes. The description of this Action, general and does not purport to cover all of the claims, defenses, and contentions of the parties. For a more detailed statement of the matters involved in this Action, please refer to the pleadings and other papers filed in Civil Action No. 1831, which may be inspected at the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Prospect Square, Cumberland, Maryland 21502.

Class Action Determination and Rights of the Members of the Classes.

6. By order dated March 18, 1987, and pursuant to Maryland Rule 231, the Court has determined that this Action may be maintained as a class action against and in behalf of the following classes:

(a) The Common Class which comprises the one hundred and twenty-eight (128) or more owners of the one hundred eleven (111) shares of the common stock of the Corporation;

(b) The Preferred Class which comprises the one hundred forty-two (142) or more owners of three thousand (3,000) shares of the preferred stock of the Corporation; and

(c) The Producer Class which comprises the one hundred twenty-six (126) or more producers who remain unpaid for milk marketed through the Corporation during the period from April 1, 1974 through May 17, 1974.

7. If you are a common shareholder of the Corporation, a preferred shareholder of the Corporation, or a producer who remains unpaid for milk marketed through the Corporation during the period from April 1, 1974 through May 17, 1974, you will be deemed to be a member of the appropriate class unless you request to be excluded. If you wish to be excluded from the class or classes, you will be deemed to be a member of each appropriate class unless you request to be excluded. You may request that the Court exclude you from the class or classes, which pertain to you by filing out the enclosed Request for Exclusion and mailing it to the Clerk of the Court at the address given in the Request for Exclusion form. To be effective, a Request for Exclusion must be postmarked on or before midnight, July 10, 1987. If you request exclusion, you will not be entitled to share in the benefits of any judgment favorable to the class from which you have been excluded, nor will you be bound by any judgment adverse to the class from which you have been excluded.

8. If you do not request exclusion, you will be bound by any judgment rendered in this Action, whether favorable or unfavorable to the class or classes which pertain to you. Thus, if you wish to remain in the class or classes which pertain to you and to participate in any settlement or judgment, you need not do anything.

9. If you do not request exclusion from the class or classes which pertain to you, you may, if you so desire, enter an appearance through legal counsel of your choice. Any such appearance must be filed with the Court on or before July 10, 1987.

10. If you do not exclude yourself as described in paragraph 9, above, and do not appear through your own counsel, in respect of each class which pertains to you, you will be represented by the Defendant and counsel set forth below.

COMMON CLASS:
Defendant — Philip Bender, Route 1, Grantsville, Maryland 21536

Counsel — Michael W. Shay, Esquire, Shay & Snyder, 37 Greene Street, Cumberland, Maryland 21502

PREFERRED CLASS:
Defendant — Clarence U. McKenzie, 804 White Avenue, Cumberland, Maryland 21502

Counsel — G. Douglas Reinhardt, Esquire, Walsh & Reinhardt, Liberty Trust Building, Cumberland, Maryland 21502

PRODUCER CLASS:
Defendant — J. Granville Shumaker, Route 6, Box 197, Cumberland, Maryland 21502

Counsel — Stephen C. Wilkin, Esquire, Wilkin & Wilkin, 100 South Liberty Street, Cumberland, Maryland 21502

11. If you remain in the classes which pertain to you, you will not have to pay any of the costs of litigation, except, to the extent that any recovery is obtained in behalf of any one or more of the classes which pertain to you, your share of the recovery will be assessed on a pro rata basis to cover the necessary and reasonable costs of this Action, including such counsel fees as may be approved by the Court. If there is a recovery by and in behalf of any one or more of the classes which pertain to you, you will be required to establish a membership in each such class and the amount of your damages (that is, your share of the recovery) in such manner as the Court may direct.

Further Inquiries
12. All inquiries (other than requests for exclusion from the Action) should be addressed, in writing, to the attorneys identified above who represent the class or classes about which you have inquired.

13. In addition, general information may be obtained from W. Stevens Hidey, Esquire, Hidey, Coyle & Getty, who are counsel to the Receiver.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Concerning the Program Design and Method of Fund Distribution of the Maryland Small Cities CDBG Program.

Notice is hereby given that the Division of Local Government Assistance (DLGA), a unit of the Department of Economic and Community Development, will conduct a public hearing at Allegany Community College, College Center theatre, Willow Brook Road, Cumberland, MD, Tuesday, June 2, 1987, at 7:30 p.m. for the purpose of providing an opportunity for interested persons to express their views, both orally and in writing, on the proposed program design and method of distributing funds of the Maryland Small Cities CDBG Program.

The Maryland General Assembly of 1987 has approved the State's assumption of the administration of the Small Cities CDBG Program formerly administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Maryland's 1987 allocation of program funds is approximately $7 million. Only non-entitlement jurisdictions are eligible to apply for funds under this program.

All interested parties are invited to submit written comments and/or present oral comments at the public hearing regarding the proposed program design and method of distributing funds of the Maryland Small Cities CDBG Program. Written comments should be received by DLGA on or before Tuesday, May 26, 1987. Any person desiring to present oral comments should notify DLGA at 45 Calvert Street, Annapolis, Maryland 21401. Attention: Fred Arend, Chief, Office of Local Government Technical Assistance, on or before Tuesday, May 26, 1987. Oral comments will be limited to presentations of no more than ten minutes per person.

Any person may obtain draft copies of the proposed program design and fund distribution method by contacting Fred Arend at the above address or by calling 974-3308.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

Class Trip
The third grade classes of Terra Alta Elementary School went to Carnegie Museum of Natural History in Pittsburgh on May 8. The children saw the natural habits of many cultures and animals. The students were accompanied by Mrs. McConnell, Ms. Speelman, Mrs. Pritt, Mr. McCrum and several parent chaperones.

Personal Mention
Mrs. Charles Stemple and daughters visited on Sunday afternoon with Mrs. George Sisler and children.

Homemakers Meet
Wilma Friend was hostess for the Terra Alta Homemakers' meeting held on May 21. Edna Gibson had devotions. Mary Messenger presented the lesson "Today's Fibers." Lucy Kelly brought to the meeting a piece of material made of flax. The business session was conducted by Edna Gibson.

A work meeting was held recently at the home of Beatrice Kelly with three members and one guest present.

Posters were made and an ad placed in the Preston County

News about drunk driving. The message was sponsored by the Terra Alta Homemakers. Posters were placed in the Library and various Business Establishments.

Wilma Friend reported on the County Council meeting.

The special feature was an applied quilt and several pot holders.

Those attending the meeting were Ruth White, Mary Messenger, Lucy Kelly, Hazel Frankhouser, Dollie Metheny, Marie Metheny and the hostess Wilma Friend.

It was noted that the kit on smokeless tobacco is now finished.

PTO News
The Spring Carnival was termed "a great success." The Campbell's label which will win extra points this month needs to be in as soon as possible. All Prego labels, especially Alfresco and soup labels including Chicken Noodle, Chicken Noodle-O's, Chicken with Stars, Chicken with Curly Noodles, Chicken Alphabet and Meatball Alphabet, are needed.

Army Training Discussed

The program for the Terra Alta Rotary Club on May 7 was a discussion of army training. The presentation was conducted by Major Colonel Baber who alerted the population of Preston and Tucker counties that, during July, about 3,200 men will be in the area for intensive military training. They will employ an innovative concept of fighting. The training will be composed by the National Guard and belong to the 29th Light Infantry. This military division was prominent during World War II and the Korean War. With modern and sophisticated military technology of present advancement, the accomplishment achieved during the past wars with about 60,000 men can be done today more effectively with only 10,000, Baber said. It is expected that, by 1990, the number of National Guard members may exceed the number of the present regular army personnel.

Other guests for the evening were Lt. Ronald Gaston and Col. Kenneth Shaw from the WV National Guard at Camp Dawson. The mayor of Davis, W. Va., Mrs. Doris Cousins, could not attend the dinner, but she was represented by Mrs. Alice Flesherman, Mr. and Mrs. M.C. Dearborn, Ron Stuart, David Harkins, all business people from Davis, and also from Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Copen, who were guests of Duane Kelley. Visiting Rotarians from Kingwood were Frank Everhart and Charles Brown. Everhart had Dr. John Trenton as his guest.

On May 21 the Rotarians will visit Hopemont Hospital and on May 28, East Preston High School will be invited for the annual achievement banquet.

Kindergarten Trip
Sixty-two kindergarten students from the Corinth Building took a field trip April 24.

The first stop was a brief visit at Tatham Garden Center in Kingwood. The children were guided through various buildings to view growing stages of the plants. The children participated in a group discussion on plant care. They also saw a demonstration on commercial seeding.

The next stop was a lunch break at Chestnut Ridge Hardees in Morgantown. Lunch was followed by a bathroom and drink break at WVU Coliseum.

The students toured the WVU farms, where the annual Kiddie Farm days was presented. They saw chickens with eggs hatching, rabbits and ewes with young sheep, swine, dairy and beef cattle.

The last stop was a Morgantown park for juice and cookies. The children arrived back at the Elementary School for regular school dismissal.

Pleasant View Revival Services To Begin Sunday

Revival services will be held at the Pleasant Baptist Church beginning this Sunday evening, May 24, and continuing through Wednesday, May 27. All services will begin at 7 p.m.

Former local pastor, Iven Martin, will be the guest minister. Pastor Martin served as Pleasant View several years ago.

Everyone is invited to attend. Pleasant View is located two miles south of Oakland along U.S. Route 219.

Bar Association Pamphlet Provides Arrest Information

Can you be arrested without a warrant? Can you be arrested by a private citizen? What are your rights if you are arrested?

The Maryland State Bar Association answers these questions in a new publication entitled, "Your Legal Rights If Arrested." The publication also explains what constitutes an arrest, whether one can be arrested without a warrant, and what will happen once one has been arrested.

This latest publication is one of 11 brochures published by the Maryland State Bar Association to enhance the public's understanding of the legal system. Other titles include: "What To Do In Case Of An Auto Accident," "So, You've Received A Traffic Ticket," "Being A Witness," "Juvenile Court," "Rights of Landlords and Tenants," "Wills and Estates," "Responsibilities of a Guardian," "Divorce and Separation," "When You Need a Lawyer" and "Lawyers and Legal Fees."

For free copies of these informational brochures, persons should send a self-addressed stamped (56¢) envelope to: Brochures, Maryland State Bar Association, 520 West Fayette Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

Many Memorial Day Travelers Visit County

Garrett County thrived this Memorial Day weekend with holiday travelers in search of clean skies, warm weather, and relaxation.

According to the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, the staff at the Information Booth on Rt. 219 greeted 384 travelers over the weekend, an increase of 67% over the 1986 Memorial Day weekend. The Youghiogheny Overlook Information Center on Rt. 48 also experienced a significant increase in tourists seeking information on the State of Maryland. Approximately 2,476 tourists stopped by the center throughout the weekend.

While the Information Center is open year-round, the Information Booth on the shores of Deep Creek Lake is operated Memorial Day through Labor Day. Both are open seven days a week and are managed by the Promotion Council.

County Agencies Combine Efforts To Avert Tragedy

A search for an unidentified female, who had been accidentally sold gasoline instead of kerosene, ended successfully last week.

According to reports, the woman intended to purchase kerosene at a Swanton grocery store but the attendant inadvertently filled the container with gasoline. The attendant realized his mistake after the woman was gone, and called Garrett County Emergency Management who, in turn, began notifying emergency personnel to attempt to locate the woman. Local radio stations were also notified and carried broadcasts throughout the day.

The search was ended when the woman happened to be listening to WJIE and heard the announcement.

In the winter of 1985, a local resident accidentally purchased gasoline instead of kerosene and used it in his kerosene heater. The resulting blaze destroyed his mobile home.

Carola reminds everyone to use only marked and approved containers to purchase gasoline and kerosene and cautions that all service stations adhere to the laws concerning dispensing of these liquids.

He noted that all service stations must have conspicuously posted signs warning the public of steps to follow before dispensing and added that he would be conducting inspections of the service stations to make certain these laws are enforced. Anyone needing more information concerning the

MAESA Designates Albert Ringer One of State's Outstanding Educators

Albert R. Ringer, assistant superintendent of instruction, Garrett County Schools, was recently recognized by the Maryland Association of Elementary School Administrators as one of the state's outstanding educators. Awarded to individuals who have contributed greatly to the improvement of education in the state, Ringer was one of three persons presented a certificate at MAESA's annual conference in Ocean City on May 9.

On behalf of Garrett County principals who nominated Ringer for this honor, Dr. Charleen Evans-Thomas, director of elementary education, made the presentation. In highlighting Ringer's background, she pointed out that he is a native West Virginian, was valedictorian of his Bruceton High School class, is a magna cum laude graduate of Fairmont State College, and was a translator and interpreter in Russian, Slavic languages, and German for the U.S. Army from 1951-54. He married Juanita R. Fike of Hazelton, W. Va., and continued his education at West Virginia University, Columbia University, and has conducted studies abroad for the U.S. Office of Education.

Dr. Evans-Thomas spoke of Ringer's service to the local school system as principal of Deer Park School, teacher of math and core at Northern and Southern high schools, director of instruction and supervisor of high schools, director of curriculum and instruction, and assistant superintendent of instruction. In 1969 Ringer served as acting superintendent while Dr. Raymond McCullough recuperated from a heart attack; at present he is acting superintendent of schools during Dr. Jerome Ryscavage's recovery period following a heart attack. Additionally, Ringer teaches evening classes at Garrett Community College.

Dr. Evans-Thomas expressed her gratitude to Mr. Ringer for being a "fatherlike person" and "one whom administrators and staff can call upon for assistance to get out of a jam." She spoke of him as "an energy force that allows administrators to grow and to do their jobs effectively."

Clark Sharpless, Dennett Road principal and chairperson of MAESA's Award Committee, noted Ringer's influence on him. Sharpless was a student of Ringer's in high school and college and has worked with him professionally as teacher and principal.

Ringer thanked MAESA for the recognition "not for myself but for all teachers, aides, administrators, and others in Garrett County who, through their efforts, have made me look good."

"Good Samaritan" Beaten Twice; Assaults Sought By State Police

A Salisbury, Pa. man was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital as a result of head injuries received after he was robbed and beaten by one or more unidentified persons early Monday morning.

Robert F. Beal Jr. has since been released from the hospital. According to Maryland State Police reports, at approximately 2:30 a.m., Beal stopped along eastbound Rt. 48 near Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop to assist a disabled vehicle.

Beal was then confronted at knife point, led down over an embankment and beaten on the head with a blunt object. The suspects then fled in Beal's 1980 AMC Eagle, leaving their vehicle behind.

A short time later, Beal climbed up the embankment onto the roadway and observed a vehicle approaching. Thinking it might be the police, he flagged down the vehicle.

As it happened, the suspects were returning to their vehicle and, again, led Beal over the embankment, beat him once more with a blunt object and again left the scene in Beal's vehicle.

The suspects took the registration plates and the key from the vehicle before leaving.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney, over an hour earlier, had spotted the suspects' 1981 Chevrolet Chevette disabled along the highway and stopped to investigate.

He was told by the three occupants, two males and one female, that their car had stopped running and they didn't have the money to have it towed. They then advised Chaney that they would just stay there until morning and call for help.

At one point during his investigation, Tfc. Chaney requested and received the driver's registration and license indicating a Delaware address.

Chaney was unable to see any of the suspects clearly because of the darkness but described them as being two white males, each 20 to 25 years of age, with dark hair. One suspect was about five feet, nine inches tall with a slender build. The other male was about five feet, seven inches tall with a medium to muscular build.

The white female had dark shoulder-length to short hair, a medium to slightly heavy build and was in her late teens to early twenties.

Chaney also stated that the three appeared polite and were cooperative and orderly.

Police request anyone with information about the suspects to call the detachment at 387-5511.

Autumn Glory Brochure Now Being Compiled

Information is now being compiled for the 20th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Schedule of events brochure, according to the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council. The festival will be held Thursday, October 8, through Sunday, October 11.

Any group or organization wishing to sponsor an event during the festival should contact the Promotion Council, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550, (301) 334-1948, no later than Friday, June 12, in order to have the event listed in the brochure.

Lake Clean-Up Deemed Success By Lake Manager

The semi-annual Deep Creek Lake Clean-Up was held last weekend and assorted debris and an estimated 600 barrels were hauled to the county landfill, according to Eric Schwaab, lake manager.

Landowners around the lake worked on Saturday to clean-up trash and debris from the lake shoreline. Those that were unable to transport debris to the landfill placed it along designated roads where it was picked up by volunteers and Department of Natural Resources personnel. Garrett County Roads Department personnel were on hand to compact the barrels and transport them to the landfill. Once again, Milford Beckman and the Garrett National Bank provided the use of bank property as the central collection point.

Members of the Deep Creek Lake Management Office, along with the Property Owners' Association and the Businessman's Association noted their appreciation to all those who participated in the clean-up. "This continues to be a great effort where the whole community pitches in to retain the natural beauty of Deep Creek Lake," Schwaab said. "Only a combined effort of all those involved could accomplish the overall task. Numerous people have commented on the improvement to the visual beauty of Deep Creek Lake and the Penelce buffer strip as a result of these efforts."

County Tax Rate May Top CYR, Commissioners Sate Public Hearing

For the first time in over five years, the county tax rate may exceed the constant yield rate, according to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

Although the commissioners are hopeful that the actual tax rate will be equal to or lower than last year's rate, federal and state cuts will most certainly bump the local tax rate higher than the constant yield rate of $2.24.

In compliance with the property tax article in the Annotated Code of Maryland, the commissioners have scheduled a public hearing on their intention to raise the property tax rate above the constant yield rate. The hearing will be held Tuesday, June 9, at 11 a.m. in the commissioners meeting room of the Garrett County Court House.

At that time, the commissioners will hear comments regarding any tax rate increase and explain the reasons for any proposed increase.

"All county residents are encouraged to attend the hearing and present their views," said Robert Fousek, county administrator.

Fousek indicated that the commissioners are still working on the budget and meeting with various department heads on individual budgets. "If the commissioners determine that the rate will not be increased, the public hearing will be cancelled, but, by law, we had to schedule one in the event of an increase," said Fousek.

Last year's tax rate was set at $2.31 per $100 assessed property value, plus $.05 tax for fire and rescue — a total of $2.36.

A breakdown of each county agency's budget request for the coming fiscal year will soon be compiled and will appear in next week's edition of The Republican.

Education Board Approves Over $6.6 Million Budget, Contracts Ratified

At a special public meeting held last Thursday, the Garrett County Board of Education approved a budget request of over $6.6 million.

The request, a $663,701 increase over last year's budget, will now go before the Garrett County Commissioners for approval. With $309,000 carried over from this year's budget, the total would amount to nearly $7 million.

The total budget from the state would amount to $9,489,860, which would bring the total (including local revenues) to $16,772,561.

Of that amount, the breakdown of allocations both from local and state sources would be as follows:

- Instructional salaries: 50.87%
- Pupil transportation: 11.28%
- Fixed charges: 9.68%
- Operations: 8.64%
- Special education: 6.64%
- Other instructional costs: 4.76%
- Administration: 3.96%
- Maintenance: 2.57%
- Capital outlay: 0.83%
- Pupil personnel: 0.73%
- Food service: 0.04%
- Health services: 0.01%

Also at the meeting, contracts were ratified with the three employee groups, the Garrett County Teachers' Association (GCTA), the Garrett County Federation of Teachers

Garrett County Museum To Open

The Garrett County Historical Museum, located on Center Street in Oakland, will open for the summer season this Monday, June 1. The museum has a large and growing collection of artifacts representing the progression of Garrett County through the years. Recently renovated and redecorated, the museum offers numerous glimpses of Garrett County's past.

The museum is now in the process of developing a genealogical research area to help trace the historical roots of Garrett County residents. Anyone with information on family histories or who is able to donate research materials is asked to contact the museum.

Open Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., the museum staff is able to arrange special tours. During the 20th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, October 8-11, the museum will offer extended hours from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Additional information on tours or the genealogical research area can be obtained from Mrs. Beth Friend, museum curator, at (301) 334-3403, or persons may call the museum at (301) 334-3226.

A SHOW OF PATRIOTISM was presented by the kindergarten classes of Broad Ford Elementary School this week in observance of Memorial Day. Garrett County and the rest of the state will observe the holiday tomorrow with parades and solemn ceremonies at various locations.

Oakland Man Arrested On Assault Charges

An Oakland man was arrested recently by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and charged with assault with intent to murder, assault and battery and malicious destruction of property.

Michael G. Beale, 39, was arrested by Deputy C.P. Nolan following a May 16 incident at the residence of Sandra J. Sisler, Oakland, who filed the charges after she reported that Beale slashed the tires of a truck belonging to her and shot at her three or four times.

Beale was being held in the Garrett County Jail and has since been released on a $5000 bond.

Another Oakland man, Gregory A. Schrock, 19, was arrested and charged with two counts of assault and battery following incidents last Friday and Saturday.

The charges were filed by Carol A. Schrock, Oakland.

Gregory Schrock was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail after Deputy W.C. Thomas made the arrest.

Also arrested was Scott Cardinell, 23, Mtn. Lake Park, who was charged with trespass-sing and disorderly conduct. The charges stem from a May 16 incident in Mtn. Lake Park when Cardinell reportedly entered the residence of the complainant, Laura Stottmeyer, refusing to leave and acting in a disorderly manner.

A criminal summons was served on Dale Swauger, 46, Salisbury, Pa., charging him with auto theft.

According to complainant, Leo C. Coddington, Grantsville, Swauger stole a 1968 Nash Rambler, valued at less than $300, from Coddington's residence in August of last year. The theft was reported May 5.

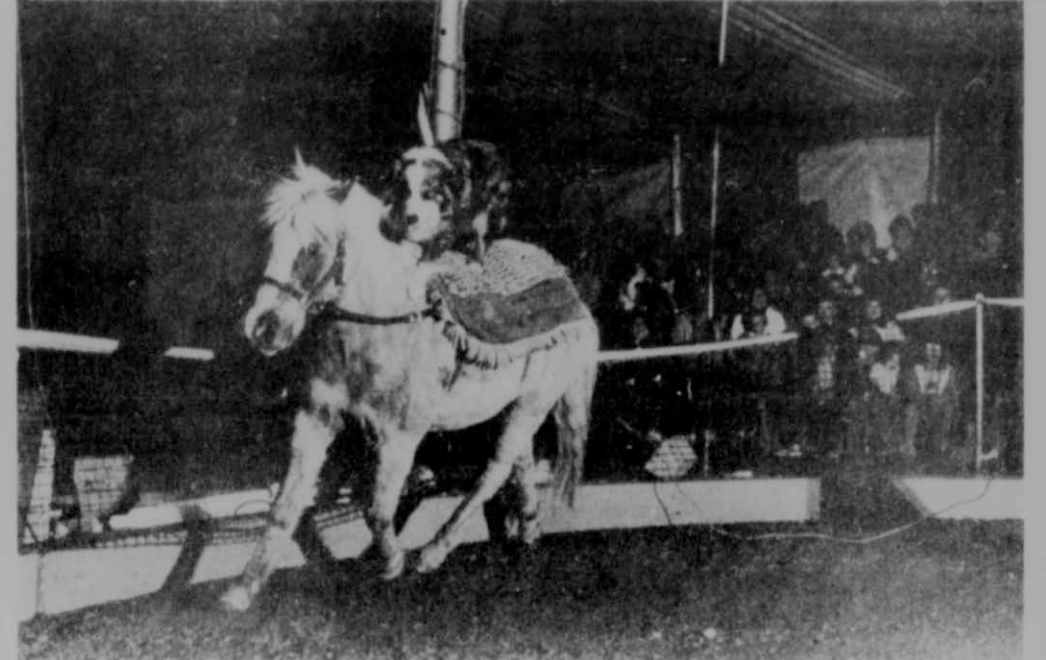

Todd W. Sisler, Oakland, was served a criminal summons charging him with battery following a May 16 incident at the Heck's Department Store parking lot, Oakland, when he reportedly assaulted and battered a juvenile. The charge was filed by the juvenile.

Deputy Russell Drenning served the summons.

Drenning also served two criminal summonses to Lisa R. Paugh, Swanton, one charging her with battery that was filed by Richard W. Paugh and one charging her with assault, filed by Ronald E. Davis, Swanton.

The incidents occurred on May 16.

A criminal summons was then served on Richard Paugh, Swanton, filed by Lisa Paugh.

ALL THE MAGIC OF THE CIRCUS remembered as a youngster can be re-captured when the Roberts Brothers Three Ring Circus comes to Friendsville Elementary School for two performances Friday, June 5. Sponsored by the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department and Lions Club, the Roberts Brothers Circus includes a variety of acts and performing animals. Shown at right is ringmaster, fire-eater and magician, Brian LaPalme, who will present the acts during the two shows, at 6 and 8 p.m. Tickets for the shows are available at Wall's Amoco, Yough Motor, Old Mill Grill, S&S Market, Maxco and Friendsville Pharmacy. According to Friendsville Mayor, Spencer R. Schlossnagle, tickets purchased before circus day, help the fire company and Lions Club. He added that a community-wide sale will be held before the event.

B & E's, Thefts Investigated By Sheriff's Dept.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department recently investigated several breakings and enterings and thefts in the area. A breaking and entering and theft was reported by Michael W. Burke that occurred sometime between February 17 and April 18 at his residence on Stockslager Road.

According to Burke, two pairs of Rossignol snow skis and ski poles, two pairs of Solomon ski boots, one pair of water skis, and a fishing rod and reel, along with several other items were taken from his summer residence.

Total value of the items was estimated at approximately $600.

The theft is being investigated by Deputy David M. Stoner.

Another breaking and entering and theft was reported to the department that occurred at Custom Blend Feeds, Rt. 495, Grantsville, sometime between last Wednesday and Thursday.

According to police reports, someone entered the business and removed approximately $400 in cash.

The investigation is being conducted by Deputy P.J. Pratt.

A theft was reported by Brian L. Glatfelter, McHenry, that occurred in Zump's parking lot, McHenry, on May 16.

Bloodmobile Nets 167 Pints At Oakland Visit

The Red Cross Bloodmobile collected a total of 167 pints of blood during its regular visit to Oakland Friday at the National Guard Armory. Twenty of those who gave blood were first-time donors and 26 of the 193 persons who presented themselves were deferred for various reasons.

Becoming one-gallon donors with this visit were Patty Flanagan and Cheryl Rexrode, while Kathy Strawser and Sharon Evered became two-gallon donors, Rayetta E. Beitzel, a three-gallon donor, and Donald W. Sincell, a four-gallon donor. All reside in the Oakland area.

Volunteer nurses assisting with the visit were Dorothy Rudy, Mary F. Paige, Helen Baumgartner, Ruth Beckman, Reba Rush, Catherine Speicher, Rhoda Miller, Lois Cuppett, Lucy Burnett, and Norma Hesen. Registration volunteers were Sara Gonder, Berylde Stanton, Lorraine Ledden, Kathryn Helbig, Dorothy Frame, Ruth Porter, Mary Jane DeWitt, Virginia Edwards, and Eva May Wise.

Taking temperatures and pulses were Helen Kahl, Kim Rush, Clara Fitzwater, and Dawn Knight.

Conducting hemoglobin tests were Beth Friend, Jacquelyn Shirer, Judy Umstot, and Susan Plank.

Canteen workers included Lois Mechem, Grayce Quinet, Violet Bowser, Paula Upole, Freda Austin, C. Louise Beckman, Lorraine Mason, Mabel Hauser, Helen Henline, Josie Tenney, and Bev Sisler.

Members of Boy Scout Troop 31 who assisted were Jarrod Hauser, Jamie Hauser, Jason Groves, Jeremy Groves, Mike Romie, B.J. Romie, Brian Tusling, David Wildesen, and Larry Lucas, leader.

Unloading equipment were the Oakland Town employees. Arleigh Hauser prepared certificates, Dorothy Cathell handled replacements, Carolyn Updyke took care of donor cards, Jackie Kenner served as typist and assisted with mailing, and record-keeping was conducted by Eve and Hoover Pelton.

Other contributing in various ways to the success of the visit were the kitchen staff of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Central Coca-Cola Bottling Co., The Republican Newspaper, WMSG and WXIE Radio, the Armory staff, and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

The next visit to Garrett County by the Bloodmobile will be June 12 at the Friendsville Fire Hall from 1 to 7 p.m.

Pre-Sentence Investigations Ordered By Turney

Pre-sentence investigations were ordered in two cases heard last week in Garrett County District Court by Judge Jack R. Turney.

David E. Liller, 25, Corinth, W.Va., was found guilty of malicious destruction of property of another. The charge was filed by Tfc. Randy C. Resh, Maryland State Police, following an April 14 incident at Fox's Pizza Den in Oakland.

According to police reports, Liller damaged a front door grill there, valued at approximately $100.

John R. Toston, public defender, represented Liller.

Doris M. Graham, 25, Oakland, was found guilty of theft following a February 3 incident in Oakland when she stole the registration tag from an automobile owned by Peggy L. Everly, Oakland.

The complainant in the case was Tfc. R.M. Herschberger. David Troshack, 29, Deer Park, was found not guilty after he had been charged with theft by Janice K. Welch, Mtn. Lake Park, when Troshack allegedly stole a guitar from Welch.

Francis G. Niner, 43, Oakland, was found not guilty of alcohol beverage intoxication after the charge was filed by Sgt. Roger Lewis of the Oakland City Police Department.

The charge stemmed from an April 4 incident near Oakview Motors, Oakland, when Niner was allegedly found intoxicated in a public place.

Stet Docket Cases

Timothy D. Wilt, 22, Grantsville, was charged with disorderly conduct, assault and battery by Deputy David L. Crossland.

The charges were filed after Wilt reportedly entered the property of Charles Wilt, Jennings, and acted in a disorderly manner and assaulted and battered Charles Wilt.

Dwayne F. Danks, 46, Maysville, W.Va., was charged with assault and three counts of malicious destruction of property following an April 22 incident in which he reportedly slashed the tires of a motor vehicle and damaged other items belonging to Barbara Dixon, Swanton.

Dixon did not wish to testify. Mark Fazanbaker, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, was charged with battery by LuAnn Fazanbaker, also of Mtn. Lake Park, following an April 21 incident there.

Richard J. McKenzie, 41, Grantsville, was charged with battery by Marsha A. McKenzie, also of Grantsville, after an April incident there.

The complainant did not wish to testify.

William H. Wilt, 29, Grantsville, was charged with two counts of battery by Lucinda M. Wilt, also of Grantsville, following an April 18 incident on Bear Hill Road.

Carlton L. Stahl Jr., 26, Bayard, W.Va., was charged with writing a bad check by Susan M. Livengood, vice president, Total Discount Foods, following a February 17 incident in which Stahl reportedly wrote a check in the amount of $164 for merchandise at Ralph's Richford, Mtn. Lake Park.

Stahl has since reimbursed the store for the merchandise.

Two charges against Michael E. Lawson, 29, Friendsville, were not prosecuted because the complainant, Marlin R. Lawson, also of Friendsville, did not wish to testify.

The charges, battery and alcohol beverage intoxication, were filed following an April 12 incident in Friendsville.

A charge of littering filed against Thomas M. Mason, 50, Friendsville, was not prosecuted because the complainant did not wish to pursue the charge.

The charge was filed by Judy Friend, also of Friendsville, after Mason reportedly dumped refuse on her property.

Baldwin Men In "Stable" Condition Following Mishap

A Baldwin man is listed in "stable" condition at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was taken after being seriously injured Sunday in a one-car accident on Rt. 48.

A passenger in the car, Donald B. Rogers III, 23, Fallston, was also admitted for treatment and has since been released.

The 1:15 p.m. accident occurred when Wagner was operating a 1985 Chevrolet Silverado near the W.Va. state line and lost control of the vehicle, causing him to go off the left roadside and strike a guardrail.

The vehicle then re-entered the roadway and overturned, throwing the driver out through the windshield and down over an embankment.

Wagner was transported to Memorial Hospital by a State Police Medevac helicopter.

Tfc. D.G. Ringleman investigated the accident.

An Oakland youth is also listed in "stable" condition at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, in the medical surgical unit following an accident Monday in which he and his passenger were both injured.

The passenger, Susan M. Goad, 14, also of Oakland, was taken to Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

Richard E. Goad, 17, was the driver of a 1987 Chevrolet Camaro traveling eastbound on Rt. 135 near Bloomington Hill Road when he lost control of the vehicle and ran off the left roadside.

The car then continued for about 150 feet before striking a culvert and overturning. It finally came to rest on the left roadside.

A young Friendsville woman was also injured in an accident that occurred Friday at approximately 1:45 a.m. along Bumble Bee Road, Accident.

Jana M. Harshman, 22, was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she was admitted as a patient. She has since been released.

According to reports, Harshman was operating a 1985 Ford Mustang northbound near Kelso Road and, as she approached a left hand turn, lost control of the vehicle, running off the right roadside, through a yard and striking a 1984 Chevrolet truck, owned by Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, which, in turn, was pushed into a 1986 Dodge Rambler also parked there.

The Rambler is owned by William S. Hull, Accident.

Investigating officer, Tfc. R.M. Herschberger, charged Harshman with driving while intoxicated, failure to use a seatbelt and failure to drive in a single lane.

A Terra Alta, W.Va. man was treated and released at Garrett Memorial Hospital as a result of injuries received in a two-car accident Friday at 10:55 a.m.

Donald R. Miller, 35, was the operator of a 1985 Dodge Omni and was stopped on Rt. 39 waiting to make a left-hand turn into a private driveway when a 1986 Chevrolet Nova, operated by William E. Anderson, 55, Mt. Storm, W.Va., approached and struck the Miller car in the right rear.

Passengers in the Miller vehicle, Sandra Miller, 31, and Ashley Miller, two, both of Terra Alta, were not injured.

Anderson was charged with failure to control speed by Tfc. D.G. Ringleman.

Cpl. Randy L. Sines was the investigating officer.

In other Oakland City Police news, a theft that occurred during the last two or three weeks at a warehouse on Eighth Street, was reported.

Reportedly, someone removed a set of tools, valued at $100, there. The warehouse is the property of the Garrett County Board of Education.

Cpl. Randy Sines is investigating.

The theft of a $100 bill was reported by Phillip A. Jarusek, Oakland, that occurred May 19 from the cab of his 1987 Ford Ranger truck.

The vehicle was parked in front of Proudfoot's Pharmacy on Second Street at the time of the theft and was unlocked.

Chief John K. Sines is investigating the incident.

A destruction of property was reported to the police that occurred at the Oakland Motel, Third Street sometime between May 15 and 18.

According to reports, a lamp in one of the motel units, valued at $100, was destroyed.

Pfc. E.L. Alexander was the investigating officer.

charges following incidents that occurred in January of last year in Friendsville.

According to the complainant, L. E. Gnegy, deputy, Garrett County Sheriff's Department, Drake had, on several occasions, engaged in sexual acts with a female under the age of 14.

The charges were entered into Circuit Court after Drake prayed a jury trial.

An examination at Clifton T. Perkins Hospital Center, Jessup, revealed that Drake was aware of the criminality of his acts at the time of the incidents.

John R. Toston, public defender, represented Drake.

Time To Consider Zoning?

Zoning is a word that often makes people cringe, not only members of the general public, but especially our elected officials. Zoning is considered by many as a threat to or violation of an individual's rights as a property owner. The feeling is that the person who owns a particular piece of property should be allowed to construct whatever he wants on that property.

On the other hand, zoning can at times be a real blessing and a form of protection for people. It prevents a bar or a junkyard or a service station from being constructed right next door to one's home or property, a situation that would probably not only devalue the homeowner's property, but also suddenly make living there unpleasant.

Garrett County presently has a number of areas with zoning laws, such as most municipalities and at Deep Creek Lake. We wonder if the time has come for some serious consideration of a county-wide zoning plan. Such a proposal was made several years ago, spearheaded by then-county commissioner Wayne Hamilton, but it was tabled because of public resistance.

Garrett County is on the threshold of the most rapid, most extensive development it has ever experienced. All of the proposed development will not take place in those areas already zoned. Persons residing outside of the now-zoned regions have no protection against undesirable development immediately adjacent to their property. While we believe great care must be taken to not make zoning laws too rigid, we sense that at least moderate restrictions are necessary.

Just as a person has no right to come upon private property and cause actual material destruction, or pollute the water that ultimately runs onto private property, we believe that one's view, comfortable environment, peace and quiet, and property value are also prized possessions that no one should be allowed to damage or destroy.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Babysitters in Garrett County, you may be breaking the law. If you babysit the same child in your home for 20 hours or more a month and you are not related to that child, you must be registered by the Social Services Administration.

Mothers, you may be subjecting your babysitter to a fine. If your child is at the same babysitter's home 20 hours or more per month, and the sitter is not a relative, according to the State of Maryland, she must be registered.

Does this make you angry? I hope so! Imagine a woman who has successfully raised her own children, provided care for children of friends and neighbors as a babysitter for years. This woman can furnish any mother verbal and/or written references that a mother needs when seeking a qualified sitter. She even provides care for the child in the manner which the mother requests in her absence. She teaches the child, disciplines the child, all according to the mother's wishes and has done so for years. She is, of course, paid for doing so. One day Social Services shows upon her doorstep, tells her to register or stop providing family day care.

You see, what we call babysitting, the State calls family day care and defines it as care given instead of parental care to a child in a residence other than the child's for less than 24 hours and for which money is paid.

Social services family day care means all children must be in licensed family day care homes, not just those whose families are on welfare or other State-subsidized programs. I was not aware of this, nor was my sister, who's not in the so-called "babysitting" or "Family Day Care Business." She had been watching my child, at my request, and was naturally appalled at the nerve of this stranger questioning her abilities to care for children. She was also very angry at being told what she could and could not do in her own home.

The process for registering and operating a family day care home is not an easy one. It includes physicals for all household members, water testing, inspection at the premises, you must keep records for Social Services purposes, etc. Needless to say my sister refused to register.

I, as a mother, am extremely angry. I screened this woman, I selected this woman, I briefed her on how to care for my child in my absence and gave her authority to do so. What gives any agency or state the right to say I don't know what's good for my child? Their definition of qualified is not my definition of qualified, and if my sister does not wish to register, she should not be forced to do so by anyone's ultimatum.

Part of the purpose of this law is to protect the health, safety and welfare of children and to provide technical assistance and child care information. I do not need Social Services to provide me with such assistance and/or information. And as far as protection, TV explodes with horror stories concerning children who were sexually and/or physically abused by registered day-care providers.

This law serves no real purpose. We, as parents, must protect our children. This law does not. It does not relieve us of any screening responsibilities. There should be a law mandating family day care homes provide care for children of subsidized families only. Then this law could serve its purpose. In addition, the law would be helping the state fulfill its obligation to see that our tax dollars are spent wisely.

So those of you advertising to babysit, be aware; it's against the law. It's also a violation of your rights! Get angry!

Currently licensed day care homes, were you forced to license? I'm sure you are good at your job, but you are not unique. There are many good unlicensed homes. If you think this law protects you from a lawsuit, it does not. There is no reason for people to be inspecting your home. It's up to you and the parents to decide what is proper for the child, not State of Maryland. So get angry. Write the senator, write the delegate. This law must be changed.

Darlene Treasler

To the Editor:

Since May is Older Americans Month, I wrote recently to the seniors who serve as volunteers through ACTION's Older American Volunteer Programs, thanking them for all they do to make this country and this world a better place for countless human beings. It is a message that I also would like to share with your readers.

As a nation, we cannot afford to ignore the fact that older volunteers are a primary resource for meeting the complex challenges of future generations, nor can we fail to create opportunities for seniors to extend the tradition of service and heritage of strength they have given our country. Whoever coined the phrase "old age" obviously never witnessed the very intense love of life and active involvement of seniors who volunteer.

Through their hard work and the morals and values they have instilled in their families, older Americans have made this country the world's strongest symbol of freedom and democracy. And still they continue to give their time and talent, their experience and love. As President Reagan has said, "Personal, private charity humanizes a society. It makes us more aware of each other, of our hopes and needs, and of our sorrows and joys, and it makes us all more compassionate."

Over 300,000 older volunteers share "the experience of a lifetime" through ACTION's Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), Senior Companion Program, and Foster Grandparent Program. Many other seniors volunteer through local United Way programs, the Red Cross volunteer centers and numerous civic organizations. Their involvement and service continue to strengthen America's social fabric.

Older Americans Month offers the opportunity to salute senior volunteers for their great contributions. In our schools and churches, through our clubs and businesses, on campuses, in our homes and in every sector of society, we resolve to contribute to the efforts of older volunteers, and enhance their ability to stay involved in building America's future.

To the Editor:

What ever happened to the Good Old Memorial Days when it was a holiday for everyone?

Most people were off work, the children were off school, and by 11 a.m. the streets were lined with people of all ages and sizes waiting excitedly for a large parade that took hours of preparations. Everyone was celebrating and paying their respects to lost loved ones.

Times certainly have changed from the 60's to the 80's. Now the streets look bare.

The parade consists of Honor Guards and few small groups while the children are in school.

Everyone celebrates on Monday while the children aren't off until the end of the week when things are over and everyone is back to work. The children are no longer a part of the celebrations and aren't taught what it's all about or to show their respect.

Memorial Day was always a big day in our small town when I was growing up and it's sad that our children are missing out on such a memorable occasion. I realize there's a generation gap... but I realized which generation is causing it. A thing of the past!

Thank you,
Mrs. Sheila Will

Dear Mrs. Will,

During the 1987 session of the Maryland legislature, a law was passed which will make the Maryland observance of Memorial Day the same day as the federal observance (the Monday immediately preceding May 31), effective next year. Perhaps this will address your concern and make the observance of Memorial Day more like it was "in the good old days."

To the Editor:

This letter is an open appeal to all area actors, actresses, and theatre technicians to become involved in the upcoming Garrett Lakes Arts Festival production of "Harvey." This wonderful, popular play has need of 12 on-stage performers, six men and six women. Auditions are scheduled for June 1 and 2 from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. at the Garrett Community College Auditorium with individual auditions lasting about 30 minutes.

The production is under the direction of Jane Avery and myself. We welcome everyone: local residents, summer residents, experienced performers, beginners, designers, technicians, senior citizens, high school students and everyone in between! The goal is for an amateur production with professional quality, something which has been achieved many times in recent Garrett County history.

So, come to the college and "try out" and be a part of a great theatrical experience. Individuals interested only in the technical aspects of the production should either come to the auditions or call me at 334-2878. Thank you!

Sincerely,
Ben Sincell

To the Editor:

The week of May 3-9 was Teacher Appreciation Week, a time set aside to recognize educators locally and nationally. Here in Garrett County, some thoughtful, and much appreciated, events occurred.

On behalf of the Garrett County teachers, we would like to publicly thank the county commissioners, The Republican Newspaper, and WXIE/WMSG Radio for their public recognition of teachers; the businesses that distributed pamphlets and posted complimentary messages on their marquees; Dusty Stanton for the newspaper photos; and the Board of Education members, supervisors and administrators, PTAs, parents, students and other friends of education who provided breakfasts, luncheons and other treats, certificates, letters, positive and supportive words, flowers and numerous items of appreciation.

To all those who in any way "thanked a teacher," the teachers say "Thank you!"

To the Editor:

The members and Parish Council of St. Peter's Catholic Church wish to express their sincere appreciation to Mr. Bob Quick and the Wood Shop students at Southern High School. They did an outstanding job constructing new hymnal racks for our church.

The parish appreciates the efforts of Mr. Quick and these young people. While gaining experience in woodworking, they also provided us with much needed, attractive hymnal racks.

Again, thank you!

Sincerely,
Parishioners of St. Peter's,
Parish Council

Lake Clean-Up

missioners and Paul Shockey and Terry Spear of the Garrett County Roads Department were "instrumental" in the effort, Schwaab said. From the central collection point, county roads personnel crushed barrels and hauled over a dozen loads to the landfill on Sunday. Roads Department employees involved included Gary Friend, Doug King, Larry Cosner, Joe Tichnell, Ron Bray, and Jeff Friend. The county landfill aided the effort by extending weekend hours and making special arrangements for receiving barrels on Saturday and Sunday. Volunteers who donated their time and truck for the Sunday pickup included Ed King, Del Carpenter, Bill Walton, Chuck McCrobie and Fred Trout.

Deep Creek Lake State Park and the Lake Management Office also provided two dump trucks for hauling. Several loads of barrels were also picked up from the water with the Lake Management work boat. Department of Natural Resources employees who participated included Dave Beckman, Dave Ritchie, George Wilt, Cecil Friend, Clarence Stemple, Wilfred Perando Jr., and Schwaab.

Plans are being made for a similar clean-up in September. The Lake Management Office will be accepting names of any parties interested in donating equipment or help for the Fall Clean-Up. Persons may contact the office at 387-4111 for more information.

Hearings Slated For Community Grant Program

The Division of Local Government Assistance of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development has scheduled four hearings to allow public comment on the proposed program design and method of distribution of funds of the Maryland Small Cities Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program. Funds are awarded to assist eligible jurisdictions with a variety of projects in housing, community facilities, economic development, and commercial revitalization.

The 1987 General Assembly approved the state's assumption of administration of the program. Maryland's 1987 allocation for this program is approximately $7 million. Only non-entitlement jurisdictions are eligible to apply for funds under the Maryland Small Cities CDBG program. In general, non-entitlement jurisdictions are non-urban counties of 200,000 population or less or small cities of 50,000 population or less.

The hearings scheduled closest to Garrett County will be held at Allegany Community College, Cumberland, on Tuesday, June 2, at 7:30 p.m. It will be held in the College Center Theatre.

Our Turn

Opportunity "Knocks"

by Susan Alvarez

We must all cope with small annoyances in our daily lives. However, kids seem to have special, built-in radar clock systems that automatically allow them to spring annoying news on you at a time when it will instill the most panic and dread. For example:

— Ten minutes before a dinner party, "Mom, Tommy's turned the hamsters loose and I can't find them!"

— At 5:30 a.m., "Lady's had so many puppies I can't even count them all!"

— The exact minute your favorite T.V. show of the week comes on, "Sally's stopped up the sink and now the whole bathroom's flooded."

— At 10:20 p.m., "But Mom, I need poster board, markers and a library book for school tomorrow."

— Five minutes before time to get the kids ready for school, "Mom, you forgot to switch all the clothes from the washer to the dryer last night."

— The second you jump in the car, late for an appointment, "Oh, I forgot to tell you the car needs gas."

— Ten minutes before church, "I left my good shoes at Mary's house."

Of course there are other times when a kid's built-in radar clock tells them that no response whatsoever to your requests will annoy you the most. In fact, there are times when parents are tempted to take their offspring to a specialist to get their hearing checked. For example:

— Twenty minutes before a dinner party, "Tommy, go get ready for bed now."

— Two months before puppies arrive, "Now remember, don't turn Lady loose."

— Ten minutes before your favorite show of the week comes on, "Why don't you take your bath now?"

— 4 p.m. at the store near the library, "Can you think of anything you need while we're still in town?"

— Any evening before a school day, "Will someone please switch the clothes from the washer to the dryer?"

— The day before your important appointment, "Bill, could you please go fill up the car with gas for me without cruising around?"

— Friday night, "Don't take your good shoes to Mary's house. Just wear your tennis shoes."

Local Health Department Designated Anonymous HIV Testing Site

The Garrett County Health Department has been designated by the state of Maryland as an anonymous testing site for Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) — Antibody Testing and Counseling sessions. The person wanting testing after counseling does not give his/her name and everything is reported by identification numbers, according to a Department release.

The test detects antibodies to the AIDS virus that causes the disease. The body produces antibodies that try to get rid of bacteria, viruses, or anything else that is not supposed to be in the bloodstream. "The results from the AIDS blood test cannot tell if someone has AIDS. The test tells if someone has been infected with the AIDS virus; it does not tell who will develop AIDS," a health official said.

Other testing sites in the State are not anonymous, which means that names and addresses are given. Test results are still confidential and cannot be released to anyone without the patient's written permission or a court order.

Other Anonymous Testing Sites in Maryland are the Washington County Health Department (791-3231) and Frederick County Health Department (694-1738). A Non-Anonymous Testing Site in Maryland is the Allegany County Health Department (777-5666).

All sites will offer the same counseling. "The counselors are trained professionals and understand the special needs and concern of the participants," the official said.

The advantage of not giving one's name is it is not possible to link the test results or personal history to one's name or medical record. This assures that there will be no written record linking test results to one's name and that insurance companies, employers and others will not be able to obtain test results. This minimizes the risk of discrimination in a person's ability to obtain health and life insurance, employment, housing, etc.

The disadvantages are: it is not possible to contact persons who were tested to inform them in the event of a laboratory mistake or if there is a problem regarding the test; it is not possible to send copies of test results to a doctor or other medical care provider; and it would not be possible to notify participants if there were further developments about which they should be informed.

Whichever type of alternate testing site a person chooses, the person will receive information regarding what the test for antibody to HIV virus is and what it means. The person will be given ample time to ask questions about the test and discuss the pros and cons of having the test done. The person must make the decision about whether or not to be tested.

To obtain the services locally or for more information, persons may call Garrett County Health Department at 334-6111 or 895-3111.

Local Heroes Remembered

Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of accounts of local war heroes, written by Ron Friend, Garrett County commander of the American Legion, which will appear this month leading up to Memorial Day, May 30.

Lt. Carroll W. Casteel, Boy Scout, Businessman, Hero

Lt. Carroll W. "Sparky" Casteel was active in the Boy Scouts as a boy living in Oakland. He was always a patriot at heart, and loved scouting and the principles scouting stands for. Sparky graduated from Oakland High School, applied, and was accepted to Chester College, graduating with honors. At the onset of hostilities, he was working as managing editor of the Dorchester News at Hurluck. When war was imminent, he applied and was accepted as an aviator cadet. He completed his flight training at Coral Gables, Florida, and received his commission December 3, 1941 — three days prior to the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Upon completion of flight training, he was sent to Hickam Field, Hawaii. Lt. Sparky Casteel was actively involved in the war from the day he landed at Hickam until he was reported missing in action in May 1942.

He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary achievement while participating in an aerial flight over Rabaul, New Britain, on April 6, 1942, four months before he was reported missing in action. At the time, Lt. Casteel was a member of a bombardment squadron. News of the award was received by his mother, Mrs. Margaret E. Casteel, of Oakland.

The citation reads, "For extraordinary achievement while participating in an aerial flight over Rabaul, New Britain, on April 6, 1942. This B-26 type aircraft was one of a formation which participated in the first bombardment mission ever performed in this type aircraft. The plane took off in the early morning from an advanced airbase which was, even under the most favorable conditions, a dangerous field on which to operate a B-26."

"In darkness and heavy rain, with low ceiling, the eight aircraft attempted to complete their formation. Two aircraft turned back, but the remaining six planes proceeded through the treacherous Owen Stanley Mountain Range. After flying by instruments halfway to Rabaul, the weather cleared and the approach to the target was made with good visibility."

"In the face of an exceedingly heavy anti-aircraft barrage and danger of attack by three enemy Zeros, which were seen taking off in an attempt to intercept the formation, three bombing runs were made on enemy ships in the harbor. One cargo vessel was sunk and two others were seriously damaged. Two of the planes of the formation were struck by anti-aircraft fire, one of them being forced down in the water on the return trip."

"The remaining crews dropped life rafts to the stricken crew and then proceeded back to base where the B-26s were landed with an average of ten minutes of fuel left in their tanks. The ability, courage and eagerness to carry the attack to the enemy despite great odds, as displayed by these combat crew members are in keeping with the finest traditions of the service."

Remember our Garrett County veterans this Memorial Day who gave their all that we may enjoy life, liberty, freedom of religion and all that makes our country the greatest on earth.

A Memorial Service will be held at the "tomb of the unknown soldier" at the Oakland Cemetery on May 29 at 11 a.m., following the parade.

FIRST TO CROSS — Vincent Upole, driver, and Lee Pickrel, passenger, were the first county residents to cross the new Deep Creek Lake bridge at the ribbon-cutting ceremonies held Monday, May 25. They reportedly felt very secure on the new bridge, although Lee seemed to think the rain and fog were a bit unpleasant.

B&E. Theft Investigated By State Police

The Maryland State Police this week investigated several crimes, two of which resulted in significant loss or damage.

A breaking and entering and theft was reported by Cecil L. Schaffer, Grantsville, that occurred Saturday at his residence.

According to Schaffer, someone entered the residence through a rear window and removed a Colt automatic pistol, military model, valued at $350. Tfc. C.R. Smith is investigating the theft.

A destruction of property was reported by William R. Bishop Jr., Bethel Park, Pa., that occurred on Deep Creek Drive, McHenry, sometime between Sunday and Monday.

According to reports, someone shot at Bishop's 1986 Jeep Cherokee, damaging both a rear window and the windshield. Damage was estimated at $250.

Tfc. D.G. Riggelman is investigating the incident.

available for $8 and $4.50, respectively, by mail order from Bittinger or at local book stores.

"Oakland Centennial History 1849-1949" is by Thekla Funderberg Weeks and was first published in 1949 by the Oakland Centennial Commission, Inc. The book is the official history of Oakland, the county seat of Garrett County. It begins with an overview of Garrett County's colorful past: the early settlers, the journeys of Washington, the B&O Railroad, Civil War days, the founding of the county, the C&O Canal and other historical topics.

The history of Oakland reaches back to the first settler, who arrived in 1807. The area's pioneers and early land surveys are described in detail. The beginning of the actual town in 1849 is also given careful consideration.

Filling out the author's classic description of Oakland's century of growth are descriptions of: Confederate General Jones's Civil War raid, horse and buggy days, mills and tanneries, merchants, doctors, churches and schools, newspapers, farm and dairy and more.

"Pioneer Life In The Yough Region" is by J.O. Arnold. The first date of publication was 1908 with only 350 copies printed. Dr. Jesse Oglevee Arnold's description of pioneer life in the Yough Region of Fayette County, Pennsylvania, was published as part of the "History of the Galley Family." Bittinger's purpose in publishing the present volume is to bring Dr. Arnold's old-time sketches to light again.

"Pioneer Life in the Yough Region" gives the modern reader a glimpse of the folkways and folklore that were fast becoming vanishing memories in Dr. Arnold's time. Some of his information was quoted from earlier histories, including Joseph Doddridge's "Notes on the Settlement and Indian Wars;" most of the information was gathered through interviews with Dr. Arnold's family and friends.

Log cabins, candle making, folk medicine, making cloth from wool and flax, the true meaning of "Indian Summer," squirrel hunting and witchcraft are just some of the subjects covered in this history.

Both are soft-cover books, and are available by sending check or money order to: Wayne Bittinger, P.O. Box 220, Parsons, W.Va. 26287.

Bittinger, who was born in Loch Lynn and now resides in Parsons, W.Va., is the author of his own family history, "The Bittinger, Bittner, Biddinger, and Biding Families — and Their Kin — of Garrett County, Maryland."

State Police Charge Youths With Escape

Two Baltimore youths, 16 and 17 years of age, were charged with escape by Maryland State Police after they escaped from the Backbone Mtn. Youth Center, Swanton.

The two males, according to arresting officer, Tfc. G.R. Chaney, then later returned to the center where they had previously been committed by court authority.

In other police news, a criminal summons was served to Brian R. Smith, 20, Oakland, charging him with one count each of assault and battery.

The charges were filed by Michael A. DeWitt, Friendsville, following incidents on May 13 and 19 when Smith allegedly assaulted and battered DeWitt.

Tfc. R.J. Resh served the summons.

SHS Students, Faculty Give 95 Pints Of Blood

The Red Cross Bloodmobile recently visited Southern High School and collected 95 pints of blood from students and faculty members. The visit was sponsored by the Southern Student Council and the Allied Health Club.

Southern's vice principal, Miss Henrietta Lease, and Student Council advisor, David Mayfield, served as group advisors for the steering committee. The committee included the following students: Stacy Bowser, Rebecca DeWitt, Michelle Edgar, Joelle Plauger, Lesa Schmidt, Christina Schrock, and Kendra Stemple.

Several Allied Health members and Student Council representatives helped with the set-up and at stations in the preparation line. Food for the canteen area was purchased with money from the Student Council treasury.

In preparation for the visit, a goal of 90 pints of blood was set in response to a challenge by Northern High School students who had earlier donated 81 pints.

All those donating had to be at least 17-years-old, weigh at least 110 pounds, and be in generally good health.

Evans Attends Training Program

Sheriff M. Van Evans recently attended a two-day sheriff's training program in Frederick sponsored by the Attorney General's office.

During the sessions, Emory Platt, representative from the office, led discussions of the law regarding Maryland sheriffs, including merit system issues, the relationship with county governments, and budget and personnel issues.

Also discussed at the meetings were use of drug testing, jail sentencing and prisoner issues, use of force and representation and indemnity issues.

NHS Students Of The Month Named

School activities of Sonya Yelovich, daughter of Rev. Stephen Yelovich, Accident, include volleyball, chorus, and participation in the talent show. She is a member of the National Honor Society. She performs music in various community events and is a distance runner. Her ambition is to run a couple of marathons, to earn a degree in physical education and sports medicine, and eventually to become a running coach and trainer.

Suzanne Bowser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bowser, Grantsville, is a member of the softball team and Girls Varsity Club. She has been listed several times on the honor roll and distinguished honor roll. She is the vice president of the Oak Grove Youth Group and her special interests include ice skating, swimming, and most other sports. She plans to attend college.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Thomas, Accident, Amy Thomas is a member of the ski club and the yearbook staff. She has received the Woodmen of the World Award in history and a Who's Who Achievement Award. She is an active participant in volunteer Bible work and her special interests include skiing and swimming.

Eugene VanSickle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rick VanSickle, Friendsville. His school activities include weightlifting and football and his special interests include working on automobiles and riding three-wheelers. He plans to attend college.

The births of six infants this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were announced this morning by a hospital spokesman.

A daughter was born May 22 to William Henry and Karen Lyn Fike Cogley, Oakland.

A son was born May 24 to Dan Richard and Rita Pauline Kirk Peters, Terra Alta, W.Va.

A daughter was born May 24 to James Carl and Lisa Suzanne Evans Brenneman, Oakland.

A son was born May 24 to John Troy and Lisa Gail Proulx Graham, Oakland.

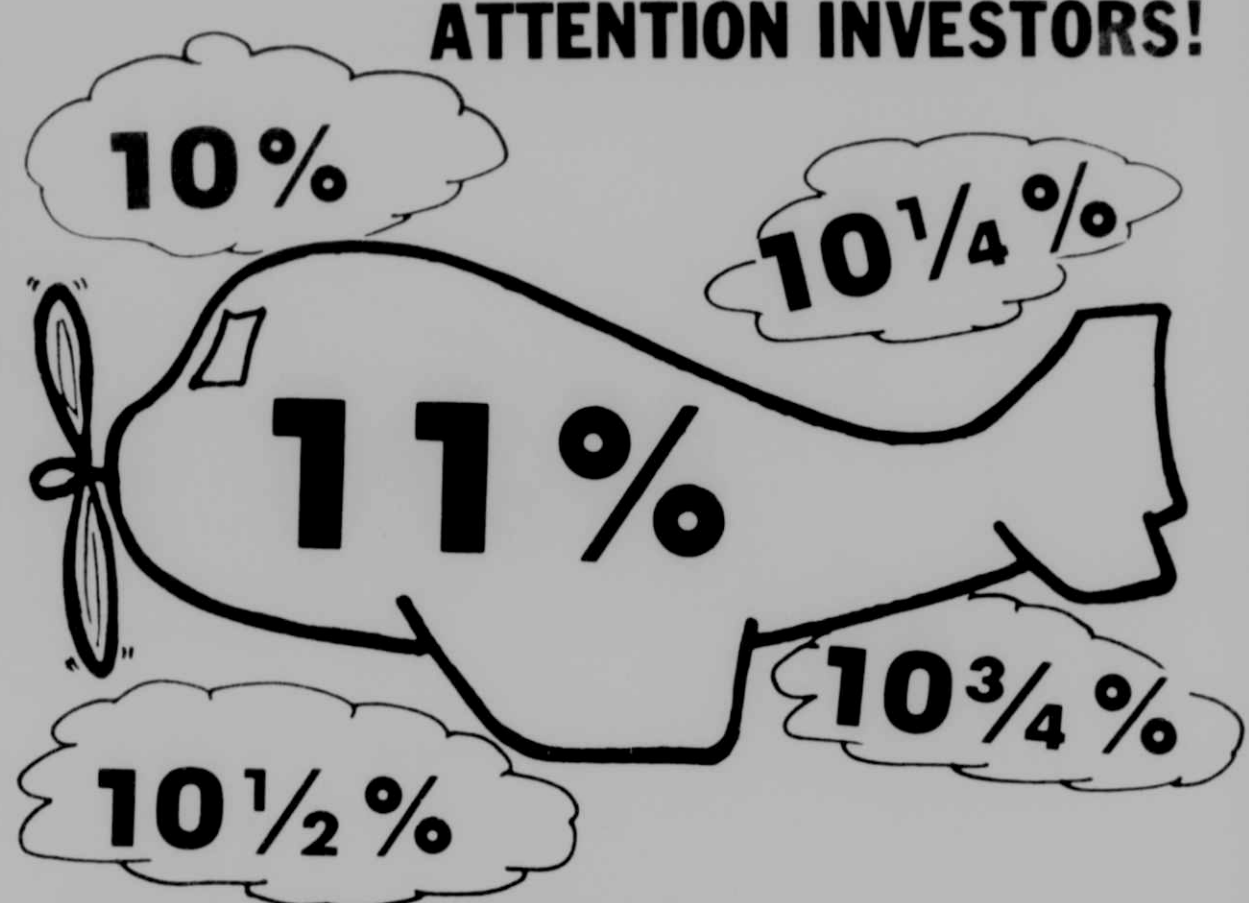

A son was born May 25 to Ronel Ray and Sally Ann Klotz Williams, Swanton.

A son was born May 27 to John Robert and Pamela Raye Workman Turner, Markleysburg, Pa.

Admissions were listed at 77 with 90 discharges. This morning's census shows 51 patients.

ATTENTION INVESTORS!

Have you been offered

“SKY-HIGH” RATES

on non-bank investments?

If so, we suggest you consider these facts before you invest:

Fact #1: Fees

Almost all non-bank investments have charges associated with them. Some of these charges might include: Load fees, Management fees, Sales commissions, Middleman fees, etc.

When you deduct these fees from your rate of return, you may discover your net yield to be much lower than the “sky-high” rate first offered.

Fact #2: Risk

Many non-bank investments can go down in value if interest rates go up, resulting in losing a part of your investment principal. Yields on non-bank investments are generally stated in the past-tense, and have little bearing on future yields.

Tree Farm Committee Holds Second Annual Awards Banquet

The Maryland Tree Farm Committee held its Second Annual Western Region Awards Banquet Thursday, May 21, at the Comfort Inn in Frostburg.

The banquet was an opportunity for area tree farmers to meet and to honor the Outstanding Tree Farmers from the region.

The Outstanding Tree Farmers from each of the four counties in the western region were honored. These winners were selected by their county project forester based on the quality forest management work they have performed over the past year. Each of the project foresters from the Maryland Forest Park and Wildlife Service (F.P.W.S.) presented their Outstanding Tree Farmers with a plaque. The county Outstanding Tree Farmers for 1987 are: Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell K. Stanley, Frederick County; Mr. and Mrs. H. Gerald Smith, Washington County; Mr. and Mrs. Don Starr, Allegany County; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles "Sonny" Newhall, Garrett County.

Jeff Bracken, Chairman of the Maryland Tree Farm Committee recognized Mr. and Mrs. Newhall as Maryland's 1987 Outstanding Tree Farmers. The Newhalls were chosen from a group of 11 County Outstanding Tree Farmers from across the state. Sonny had previously been honored by Governor Wil-

AN OPPORTUNITY TO TEACH, to be on the other side, so to speak, was afforded nearly three dozen seniors at Southern High School recently, a project that was coordinated by the Southern High Chapter of the Honor Society. The cooperating teacher for Senior Teacher Day was Lowell Leitzel. Most of the students were grouped into teams of two and taught underclassmen throughout the day. Above right, Jim Butscher returns papers to the students in Barry Shaffer's English class. In the background is student teacher Alex Flanigan. Below, Danny Moon, standing left, and Gary Dodge, standing right, instruct Don Lipscomb's math class. In the photo directly above are all of the student teachers. Pictured left to right, seated, front row, are Hernan Pena, Richie Kitzmiller, Missy Riley, Leslie Moon and Marti Vance. Seated in the second row, same order, are Richard Goad, Tamra Kelley, Tammy Wolford, Cathie Werdebaugh, and Candy Carotenuto. Standing, third row, same order, are Shawn Nascomb, Renee Helmick, Gary Dodge, Kelley Evans, Jim Butscher, Sam Moon, Dwayne Liller, Alex Flanigan, Patti Giottolety, and Julie Wagner. In the back row, same order, are Paul Browning, Stacy Sines, Danny Moon, Chester Friend, Loren Bowser, Steve Friend, Richard Kline, Rick Layton, Chris Durbin, Leigh Knotts, and Kimberly Rosenberry. Not present for the photo was Debbie Riggs. "I learned the meaning of the words bafflement, anxiety, frustration and patience," stated Kimberly Rosenberry, who taught a German class of Joan Lambert's. "I also learned that teachers are not paid enough for the job they do," she said. "I learned that I needed to be friendly, understanding, and well-prepared to teach successfully," said Paul Browning, who taught David Mayfield's physics class. "I think the experience helped me to really want to become a teacher," stated Chris Durbin, who also taught physics. "It gave me good insight on teaching and increased my appreciation for teachers," said Renee Helmick, who taught Robert Boal's U.S. history class. "Teaching isn't as easy as it looks," she concluded.

International Mining Conference To Be Held In Morgantown

MORGANTOWN, W. VA. — Mining experts from across the U.S. and foreign countries including France, Canada, China and Chile will be in Morgantown June 9-11 for its Sixth International Conference on Ground Control in Mining.

The conference is sponsored by West Virginia University, the U.S. Bureau of Mines and the U.S. Mine Safety and Health Administration.

According to WVU professor Syd Peng, conference chairman, the purpose of the three-day conference is to promote closer communication among researchers, manufacturers, mine operators and consultants. The program is oriented toward problem solving in mines and covers mine design, ground support, roof control, longwall mining, subsidence, and coal bumps and rock bursts.

Thomas J. Shepich, deputy assistant secretary for mine safety and health with the Mine Safety and Health Administration, will be the banquet speaker on June 9. He will speak on "Safety, Technology, and Change in the Mining Industry."

According to Shepich, advances in technology are in-keep pace with changing technological capabilities.

Shepich has been in his present position since 1981 and previously served as administrator for metal and nonmetal mine safety and health with the MSHA. Prior to entering service with the federal government, he held positions as mine supervisor and plant safety engineer in New Mexico and Utah. In 1983 he received the Department of Labor's Distinguished Career Service Award.

The conference will be held at the Sheraton Lakeview Resort and Conference Center near Morgantown. Participants should make room reservations directly with the Sheraton Lakeview.

Conference fee is $100 for those registering before May 30 and $110 after May 30.

For more information contact the Department of Mining Engineering, West Virginia University, P.O. Box 6070, Morgantown, WV 26506-6070, phone (304) 293-5695.

SUNNYWIDE-UNDERWOOD

The Ladies Bible study group met Thursday afternoon in the home of Bessie Canan. Opening prayer was by Sybil Merrill. The lesson from the Book of Ruth was taught by Jane Kope. The closing prayer was by Ann Cannon and table grace was by Florence Hamill.

Others attending were Elaine Beckman and daughter, Amanda.

The next meeting will be in the home of Ann Cannon. Talmadge White, who had suffered a heart attack while working in his garden and was taken to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, was seemingly recovering and was able to leave the intensive unit for a few days. His son, Donald, had just returned to his home in North Carolina, when the entire family was recalled this weekend when Mr. White had another serious attack and was back in intensive care.

Milton Canan and most of his family and Eric Paugh were recent dinner guests of his mother, Bessie Canan. They accompanied her to Location in the afternoon to visit Mrs. Canan's sister, Mrs. Vernon Lantz. Another sister, Nelle Lee, and her niece, Mary Mayle, were also there.

Visitors in the home of Noah,

Wilma and Delbert Waybright of Brookside, over the weekend were Mrs. Ernest Greathouse and her two sisters of Baltimore. Ernest Greathouse was a foster child who stayed in the Waybright home. Glenn and Carol Waybright from Trumbull, Conn., were visiting Noah, Wilma and son, Delbert Waybright, Brookside, on the Sunny-side Road this week. On Saturday they were joined by Stanley, June and Laverne Waybright, and Orval and Janet DeWitt of Oakland, for a birthday dinner with Noah, Glenn, Stanley and Janet as the honorees, who all have their birthdays in May.

The wedding of Lori Watson and Michael which took place in the United Brethren Church in Crellin on Saturday afternoon was attended by Ivaldine, Elaine and Becky Cummings, Mildred Peterson, Hazel White, Arzola Foster, Ruby Slaubaugh and daughters, James, Matthews and Bessie Canan from the Underwood Community. Bessie Canan also visited with Alma Burns, whose husband, John Burns, died recently. Mrs. Canan then joined Marie and Delmer Knotts for supper at Silver Lake, W. Va.

The town of Swanton was named for Thomas Swann, president of the B and O Railroad from 1849-53 and also the mayor of Baltimore.

Track And Field Event Set For Elementary Youth

Elementary school physical education teachers in the southern portion of Garrett County have scheduled the first Fourth and Fifth Grade Track and Field Day for Monday, June 1, at the Southern High School track.

Students from Loch Lynn, Crellin, Red House, Kitzmiller, Broad Ford, and Dennett Road elementary schools have been invited to participate and may sign up for any number of eight different events: 50-, 100-, and 400-meter dash, shot put, discus, high jump, long jump, and triple jump.

According to Tom Bosley, traveling PE instructor, heat races will be held during the morning hours and finals will be held in the afternoon. Transportation arrangements have been completed.

Bosley said that records will be established for girls and boys in all events, in both grades. He emphasized that the purpose of the activity is to introduce all fourth and fifth grade students to track and field events and that it is not an inter-school competition.

Coordinating the track and field day with Bosley are Bill Lovett, Dennett Road teacher; Oren Yoder, Broad Ford teacher; and Bob Quick and Bill Freyman, coaches of the Southern High track teams. Also assisting with the day's events will be members of the Southern track teams.

Fall Guys End Two-Year Slump

The Sheriff's Fall Guys, of the Mt. Top Oldtimers Softball League, ended a two-year losing drought on Sunday by winning a doubleheader over J&J Ford by scores of 8-7 and 12-11. The game was played at the Crellin field.

The Fall Guys are coached by Sheriff Van Evans who related this success to a simple equation: "All our guys showed up."

Both games featured home runs by Bill Reams of the Fall Guys and Roger Fisher and J&J Ford.

Rams Defeated By Middletown In Playoffs, But Finish Number One

The 1987 baseball season of the Southern High Rams came to an end on both a sour and a sweet note for Southern fans this past week, as the Rams lost to Middletown High School, 8-2, on Saturday in the Region I Class B semi-finals. The game was played on Southern's field since the Rams were seeded number two in the playoffs and the Knights were seeded third.

The good news for Coach Jim Bosley and his team came a few days later when they learned that, despite the tournament loss, they were nonetheless ranked the number one team in final area high school baseball standings by the Cumberland Times-News Newspaper poll. The poll is determined by several area coaches.

The loss to Middletown was only the third of the season for the Rams, the defending Class B regional champions, who recorded 16 wins. Middletown improved to 13-4 with the victory.

The Rams never led in the contest against Middletown and seemed to be rather flat against the Knights, who scored all of their runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings. Southern, who entered the contest with seven batters hitting over .300, connected for only six hits, four of which came in the fourth resulting in the Rams' two runs.

The Southern batters connected with the ball all afternoon, however most were long flies that were caught by the Knight outfield, while others were smashes that were handled well by the Middletown infield. Brooks Ahalt, the Middletown third baseman, made two exceptional grabs to halt the Rams' scoring effort, while Knight pitcher Bob Keller ran his personal record to 7-0 on the season. Keller, a first-team All-Monacacy League All-Star, yielded only one walk and needed only 85 pitches in going the distance over the Rams.

Southern's Bo Butler, who entered the game on the mound with a 3-1 record and a 1.87 ERA, retired the first six batters, but began having control problems in the third inning. Butler walked the first three batters in that frame and Eric Zobist opened Middletown's scoring with a sacrifice fly. Brian Boroski then connected for a single to give the Knights a 2-0 lead.

The Knights added three more runs in the fourth inning behind a two-run single by Ahalt to give them a 5-0 advantage.

The Rams began to connect off Keller in the fourth frame, as J.R. Bosley and Tim Chapman each hit singles up the middle, followed by a hit by Donnie Horner that bounced off the left field fence. Quick action by the Middletown outfield prevented any runs from scoring on Horner's hit, however the bases were loaded when Butler stepped up and ripped a two-run single past the Middletown shortstop. The Ram effort was halted when Max Hill lined out to Boroski in left field and Jamie Colaw's smash was grabbed by Ahalt at third.

Scott Lohr came in to relieve Butler in the fifth frame and retired the first two Middletown batters, but the Knights followed with three hits and a walk to add their final three runs. Rob Ambrose and Mike Butler recorded singles and Dave Lett walked to load the bases. Ahalt then smacked a triple in the gap between right and center fields to send home the three runs and give the Knights their 8-2 win. Middletown finished with nine hits, compared to six for the Rams.

Ahalt led the winners in hitting with his two-run single and three-run triple, while Bosley paced Southern with a double and a single. Butler, Horner, Rich Goad, and Chapman accounted for the Rams' other four hits, all singles.

Coach Bosley said that he believed his team hit the ball well enough to win the game, but noted the strong defensive effort by Middletown.

Middletown 807 336 0-4 1-0
Southern 900 200 0-2 1-2
Bob Keller and David Lett, Bo Butler, Scott Lohr (4) and Brian Glass.

As for the Rams' first place finish in the Time-News poll, Bosley was elated. "After losing five seniors from last year's team and knowing that area baseball was going to be stronger this year, I wondered if we would be able to match last year's record," he said. "I am really pleased to finish 16-3 and number one."

The Rams will lose six more starting seniors this year, but the Southern jayvee team recorded a 10-2 record under Coach Ed Wildesen this season, so Bosley expects a big boost from six sophomores who will move up.

This is the first time any Southern team has been ranked number one in this poll, let alone in the final season standings. Southern has a two-year record of 34-8 and Bosley recorded his 100th victory this year, another first for any Southern coach. His career record at Southern is 100-48.

Southern combined a strong hitting attack with a pitching staff bolstered by junior left-hander Bo Butler to make up for the five seniors lost from last year's 18-5 team. Seven players hit over .300, and the team batting average was a lofty .339, both school records, according to Bosley.

Senior designated hitter Rich Goad led all hitters with a .444 average, and Tim Chapman, a four-year starter at third base, hit .439. Butler finished at .425. J.R. Bosley led in homers (4) and RBI (21) and hit .344. Max Hill hit .340, Donnie Horner .339 and Scott Lohr .327. Bruce Bosley finished at .296 and Max Hill .294.

Butler was 3-1 with a 1.87 earned run average to lead the pitchers and struck out 63 in only 41 innings. He fanned 13 and walked only one as the Rams beat Allegany 2-1 to nail down the second seed in the Class B playoffs. Butler had 15 strikeouts and got two or more K's in all but one inning of an eight-inning 6-5 win over Valley. In that game he also doubled and singled twice at the plate.

Dale Bittinger ended with a 4-0 record. Horner was 3-0, Scott Lohr 3-1 and Jason Park 2-0. The pitching staff combined on four shutouts, and allowed only 49 runs in 19 games.

Members of the team are Butler, Goad, Chapman, J.R. and Bruce Bosley, Horner, Hill, Lohr, Bittinger, Park, Doug Nesselrodt, Brian Glass, Scott Damon, Jamie Colaw, Zack Gibson, Shaun Craver, Mike Householder, Bobby Horner and Bobby Bernard. Bosley is assisted by Wildesen.

Ms. VanSickle Second In State Bowling Event

Michelle VanSickle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen VanSickle, Grantsville traveled to Terrace Lanes in Frederick, on Sunday to participate in the Maryland State Coca-Cola Finalist Bowling tournament, where she placed second in the Junior Girls Division with a game of 152. She was awarded a trophy.

To be a finalist for the state tournament, Michelle had previously won in her division at North Garrett Lanes in Grantsville and went on to win the regionals at The Bowler in LaVale.

Michelle is a seventh grade student at Northern Middle School.

Fishing Contest Winners Named

Weekly fishing contest winners for the week ending May 24 were announced by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council and area as follows:

Largemouth bass (caught at Broadford Lake), 3 pounds, 1 oz., 19 1/4 inches, caught by Tom Meadows, Oakland.

Chain Pickerel, 3 pounds, 10 oz., 25 inches, caught by Kenneth Stair, Greenbelt.
Walleye, 4 pounds, 1 oz., 24 1/4 inches, caught by John Smith, Westminster.

Yellow perch, 1 pound, 4 oz., 14 inches, caught by Ed Bandish, Rices Landing, Pa.
Northern pike, 8 pounds, 9 oz., 36 inches, caught by Albert Berta, West Mifflin, Pa.

Rainbow trout, 3 pounds, 2 oz., 19 inches, caught by Carl Wright, Silver Spring.
Bluegill, 11 oz., 11 1/4 inches, caught by Melanie Stumm, Broadford Woods, Pa.

Bill Walsh, Accident, hooked a 32 1/2-inch tiger muskie weighing nine pounds, eight ounces at Broadford Lake this past week.

According to Johnny's Bait House, this is possibly the only tiger muskie caught in this area large enough to keep. Tiger muskies are a cross between a muskie and northern pike, a species of fish unable to reproduce itself.

Winners of the contest are named weekly and each receives a citation and patch. The fishing contest is sponsored by Johnny's Bait House and the Promotion Council. It began May 1 and will end September 30. All fish must be registered at Johnny's Bait House along U.S. Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake.

GEORGE CLARENCE PARKER

George Clarence Parker, 81, Short Gap, W.Va., formerly of Cumberland and Garrett County, died Saturday, May 23, at his residence.

Born in Cumberland May 18, 1906, he was the son of the late George Edwin and Ada (Clites) Parker. He was preceded in death by his first wife, May Hoffman Parker.

Mr. Parker owned and operated Tri-State Oxygen Company until his retirement in 1970, when he moved to Garrett County. He then moved to Short Gap in 1982. A 64-year member of Woodmen of the World, Lodge 6, Cumberland, he served many years as a past jurisdiction president for WOW of Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia. He was also a member of Wesley Chapel United Methodist Church, Ohr Lodge 131, AF & AM, Ali Ghan Shrine Club, FO Eagles, Aerie 245; Allegany Beagle Club, Short Gap Lions Club and Short Gap Senior Citizens.

Surviving are his wife, Helen P. Parker; one daughter, Mrs. Nancy P. Frank, Accident; one stepson, the Rev. Richard L. Longbon, Petersburg, W.Va.; three grandchildren and two step-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the George-Upchurch Funeral Home where a service was conducted Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. William Hart. Interment was in Sunset Memorial Park.

Ohr Lodge 131, AF & FM, held a memorial service at the funeral home on Monday evening. The family requests memorials take the form of contributions to the Burlington Children's Home or Wesley Chapel United Methodist Church.

IVAN ALLEN DeWITT

Ivan Allen DeWitt, 77, Corinth, W.Va., died Tuesday, May 25, in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born in Terra Alta, W.Va., September 20, 1909, he was the son of the late Silas and Lula (Bucklew) DeWitt.

Mr. DeWitt was a retired sawmill edgeman. Surviving are his wife, Beulah (Dawson) DeWitt; three sons, Ivy A. DeWitt Jr., and Larry C. DeWitt, both of Baltimore, and James A. DeWitt, Corinth; two daughters, Mrs. Ruby D. Ringer, Terra Alta, and Mrs. Patricia M. Giotfelty, Baltimore; one brother, Willie H. DeWitt, Manoa, Pa.; 18 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received in the Arthur H. Wright Funeral Home, Terra Alta, where a service will be conducted today at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Elmer Elliott. Interment will be in the Oak Grove Cemetery, Terra Alta.

MRS. ALYCE ELIZABETH IMAN

Mrs. Alyce Elizabeth Iman, 77, Kitzmiller, died Monday, May 25, in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Born in Kitzmiller, May 30, 1909, she was the daughter of the late Jesse Hartley and Hallie (Thrasher) Hartley Pritts. She was preceded in death also by her stepfather, Milton Pritts.

She retired after 37 years as a Garrett County school teacher. She was a member of the American Association of University Women, Maryland Retired Teachers Association and Mount Bethel United Methodist Church, Kitzmiller.

Surviving are her husband, Gerald R. Iman; one sister, Mrs. Lois Pritts Anderson, Chevy Chase, and several nieces and nephews.

Friends were received in the David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Kitzmiller, where a service will be held today at 1 p.m. with the Rev. Joseph Phillips and the Rev. Richard Ogden officiating. Interment will be in Garrett County Memorial Gardens, Oakland.

The family requests memorials take the form of contributions to the Elk District Ambulance Service and the American Cancer Society.

HIKERS, BEWARE! Work came to a halt for a few anxious moments for the employees of the Tree Preservation Company when they came upon this 54-inch timber rattlesnake last Thursday afternoon. The men were trimming trees for Potomac Edison Company in the New Germany area just off Fairview Road when they suddenly came upon the unwelcome reptile, which had 11 rattles plus a bluff. Bill Cline, left, killed the snake with a stick. Holding the rattler in the above photo is Jerry Friend.

E. Friend, all of Oakland, and Mrs. Cleda Albert, Kitzmiller; three brothers, C. William Welch and Burl L. Welch, both of Oakland, and Lester R. Welch, Augusta, W.Va.; six half-brothers, Ernest R. Welch, Russell L. Welch, Olen R. Welch, Carl L. Welch, Clyde K. Welch and Denver C. Welch, all of Oakland, and four grandchildren.

A service was conducted in the Stewart Funeral Home Wednesday by the Rev. Robert Fletcher. Interment was in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

CHILD SAFETY TOPICS were presented in the form of puppet shows given throughout the school year at all elementary schools in Garrett County. The shows, designed to correspond with materials from the National Child Safety Council, were sponsored by local businesses and coordinated by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Topics presented in the shows were: good and bad touching, talking with strangers, bike safety, poisons and drugs and who to call in an emergency. On hand to contribute to the effort was, Chief Deputy Harland Tichnell, coordinator; Thomas Gearhart, personnel director at Mettiki Coal Company and puppeteer for the shows, Assistant Chief Deputy, Paul J. Pratt, who played the officer in the shows, Cpl. Randy Sines, Oakland City Police, who portrayed "Safety Dog," Cathy Hinebaugh, Garrett County Memorial Hospital R.N., Brad Frantz, director of Garrett County Emergency Management, and Don Quinn, Larry Burke and Nancy Stakem, Garrett County Social Services Department. Sheriff M. Van Evans stated that the shows reflected the community's concern for child safety, and noted his appreciation for all those who took part in or supported the shows. He added that donations to continue the program would be greatly appreciated. Shown above is "Safety Dog," Deputy Pratt and two of the performing puppets.

and June Waybright; Chris is the son of Charles and Connie Grove.

Among the Memorial weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Drew Wolfe at Egdon were Mrs. Wolfe's parents, Mabel and Russell Wolfe, Bristolville, Ohio.

Members of the family of the late Carl and Ruth Shaffer met May 23 at the Egdon Memorial Building for a reunion.

William Jamison of Youghiogheny was a recent surgical patient in Monongalia General Hospital, Morgantown.

Water Conservation Studied "Water Conservation Checklist for Your Home" was the study topic presented by Dean Sisler when the Aurora Extension Homemakers met in the home of Mary Jane Hanline on May 18.

Mrs. Sisler spoke of water as being a limited resource and mentioned ways in which it may be saved. She distributed a booklet, "Water Conservation, Checklist for the Home" which members may use to find ways of conserving their water source.

Devotions opening the meeting were provided by the hosts.

The business session was conducted by president Martha Bolyard. Bonnylin Lantz reported that plans were nearly complete for serving the Class of '67 reunion. Martha Bolyard called attention to the half-page ad in the Penny Saver which the Extension Homemakers had placed there in observance of National Extension Homemakers Week 3-9. Opal Myers reported a letter from Conrad Arnold stating some of the 4-H Camp acquisitions and it was decided to give a donation to the Preston County 4-H Clubs.

NOT JUST TREES! — Sonny Newhall, pictured below, cares for more than just trees on his "Brittany's and Birds" tree farm near Oakland. Since he enjoys hunting and training bird dogs, he wanted to increase the amount of wildlife on the property. It didn't take long for Sonny to realize that he couldn't have abundant wildlife if he didn't practice good forestry and establish good wildlife habitats. In the past five years he has planted old fields with buckwheat, millet, and clover, and established small clearcuts in poor quality stands of timber, carried out timber stand improvement cuttings, and provided nesting cavities for squirrels (like the one pictured below) and birds. The quail above are just another part of this diversified, regional award-winning tree farm. Judging for the national contest will be done by a panel of 25 forestry experts chosen from the American Tree Farm Advisory Committee, with the winner announced in August or September.

Ms. Bolyard announced that state dues have increased by $1.00. Dean Sisler asked for suggestions for the open meeting in July. A date will be set for the flower bed at Trotter Park to be planted and the sign to be repainted. The committee in charge of this includes Martha Bolyard, Mary Jane Hanline and Vesta Stemple.

Chairpersons named for county committees who will meet June 4 in Kingwood are: Health, Martha Bolyard; Citizenship and Community Outreach, Bonnylin Lantz; and Public Relations and Membership, Virginia Martin.

The president reported on the trip and activities of President's Day, May 6.

Mrs. Hanline showed a jacket and trousers her husband had sent when he was in Japan and a fan pattern Friendship quilt made and quilted by the Stemple Ridge Ladies Aid. She also gave each member hand-made magnet for the refrigerator. The pig-in-the-poke went to Opal Myers.

There were 15 members present including one new one, Annabelle Childers.

On June 16 the Aurora Extension Homemakers will meet at noon in the home of Betty Fint. Mrs. Fint is program leader for "Sensational Summer Salads" and has requested each member to bring a favorite summer salad (and the recipe) for a luncheon.

Egdon Homemakers
Egdon Homemakers are reminded that, because of a conflicting county event, the date of the June meeting has been changed to June 9.

liam Donald Schaefer in Annapolis on Arbor Day.

It was also announced at the banquet that Mr. and Mrs. Newhall had just been chosen as the Mid Atlantic Regional Outstanding Tree Farmers for 1987. The Newhalls were chosen from 4,800 tree farmers in the six-state Mid Atlantic Region which includes New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia.

Jeff Bracken also recognized Paul Mateer, a retired forester from Maryland F.P.W.S., for certifying 25 tree farmers in his career. Paul was presented with a bronze hard hat as a symbol of his outstanding work and dedication to the tree farm program.

The guest speaker at the banquet was Al Bourgeois, District Wildlife Manager for Maryland F.P.W.S. Al presented a talk and slide show on "Wildlife Habitats in Western Maryland."

This banquet is only one of several yearly activities conducted by the Tree Farm Committee to help promote good management of Maryland's limited forest resources.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

Summer Reading Program
The Terra Alta Public Library will have a summer reading program from June 2 to August 4, when students may earn a specially designed T-shirt, imprinted with Pegasus, the winged horse.

To earn this shirt, students must read and report on 20 books. Short book reports must be written and turned in to the librarian. Parents need to sign these reports. Several reports may be turned in at one time.

Any student, now in the 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, or 8th grade, may join the program.

The library has a collection of new books for this program. These books have not been on the shelves and will be used for the first time for the program.

An extra prize will be given to the students who read and report on the most books. Certificates of achievement will be given to all participants.

T-shirts and awards will be given on August 6 at 1 p.m. at the Terra Alta Public Library.

A movie will be shown and refreshments will be served.

Applications are now available at the library. For more information persons may call the library at 789-2724.

NEW MISSIONARIES for the Deep Creek Branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints were recently called to the area. The church is located on John Drive in Oakland. Elder Eric Gregory, left, and Elder Jason Bohne are the new missionaries spending their days and evenings preaching the message of Jesus Christ. The church of Jesus Christ was restored through Joseph Smith, the prophet, in 1830. Many people believe the church worships Joseph Smith, but a spokesman from the church refutes that belief. "It is the church of Jesus Christ, not the church of Joseph Smith," said the spokesman. After the church was organized in the early 1800's, angry mobs drove the members through many states to the west. They eventually settled in Utah in 1847, under the leadership of Brigham Young. The church now has over six million members worldwide and is led by Ezra Taft Benson. The church no longer practices polygamy and they use the King James version of The Bible as well as the "Book of Mormon." Persons desiring more information about the church may call 334-8648 or 334-9131.

Mrs. Kenneth Whitehair and son visited one day recently with Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Sisler.

Library Donations
A copy of To Love A Child by Nancy Reagan was given to the Terra Alta Public Library in memory of Olive Fike by Mr. and Mrs. Lynn W. Kling.

PTO News
The Terra Alta PTO has announced winners of the annual Spring Carnival. The winner of the kindergarten quilt was Edna Falkner of Terra Alta. It was noted that she has a child in kindergarten. The four food baskets were won by Wanda Hardesty, Tina Thomas and Barb DeWitt, all of Terra Alta and Lucille Crocco of Oakland. The ham was won by Doris Hardesty, Terra Alta.

DEER PARK
The Deer Park Homemakers will hold their annual Memorial Day program on Saturday, May 30, at the Deer Park Cemetery at 2 p.m. The speaker will be Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey. In the event of rain, the program will be held at the Deer Park United Methodist Church.

GRANTSVILLE
St. John's United Church of Christ held its annual Mother and Daughter Banquet at the Bittinger Fire Hall on May 13.

Frances Michael was the mistress of ceremonies. Esther Durst gave the invocation for the meal and Betty Jo Swauger, president, gave a welcome.

A "Litany for Peace and Justice" was read and then Sue Beachy led the group singing. "Do Re Me" was sung by Amy Carey, Emily Carey, Jamie Jo Vent, Brooke Brenneman and Kerry Murray. "The Rose" was sung by Amy Carey, followed by a piano solo, "The Greatest Love of All" by Tracy Murray.

The younger girls modeled the outfits they wore and Annabelle Folk, Margie Menges, Doris Daymude and Betty Jo Swauger modeled old-fashioned outfits.

"The Best Things in Life are Free" was read by Margie Menges and Betty Jo Swauger. "You're Never Fully Dressed Without a Smile" was sung by Kerry Murray.

A gift was presented to the past president. The youngest mother, the oldest mother and the youngest grandmother were honored with a vase of silk flowers.

Claude (Jack) Durst is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gearhart spent last weekend with her sister and brother-in-law at Riverdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bender and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younkin attended the annual Heart Awards drive at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bittinger recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hendershot at Hancock, and all their children and grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Day, Seminole, Fla., have arrived to spend a vacation with her mother, Mrs. Clyde Smith, and Ruth and Everett Duckworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Beachy are the parents of a daughter, Stephanie Nicole, born May 20 at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland. She weighed 8 lbs., 6 ozs.

Mrs. Beachy is the former Jennie Gidds. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Beachy are the paternal grandparents.

Mrs. Peggy (Durst) Cockran is spending some time with her mother and visiting her father, Claude (Jack) Durst.

Rev. Allen Younkin recently visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Younkin, and his grandfather, George Teets, at the Goodwill Home.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

INTENTION TO INCREASE TAX RATE ABOVE CONSTANT YIELD TAX RATE

In compliance with and pursuant to the provisions of Title 6-308 of the Property Tax Article, Annotated Code of Maryland.

The County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a public hearing of their intention to increase the property tax rate for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1987, above the constant yield tax rate. The constant yield rate is designed to produce for a local government the same amount of property tax revenues as in the previous tax year.

The hearing will take place at:

11:00 A.M.

Tuesday, June 9, 1987

County Commissioners' Meeting Room, Oakland, Maryland

At that time, the County Commissioners of Garrett will hear comments regarding any tax rate increase and explain the reasons for any proposed increase.

All interested persons are encouraged to attend the hearing and present their views.

Westvaco Reports Record Sales, Higher Earnings

Westvaco Corporation, a major producer of paper, packaging, and specialty chemicals, has reported record second quarter and six-month sales and a 30 percent increase in earnings in the second quarter which ended April 30. Westvaco's dividends in the first two quarters of this fiscal year were nearly 14 percent above the comparable rate paid the same periods last year.

Second quarter sales of $461,145,000 reached a record level and exceeded sales of $435,747,000 for last year by 5.8 percent. Six-month sales of $902,065,000 were also at a record level for the period and exceeded sales of $852,187,000 for the same period last year. During the second quarter, earnings of $24,299,000, or 56 cents per share of common stock, exceeded earnings of $18,647,000 or 43 cents per share, in the same period last year by 30 percent. Six-month earnings of $43,794,000, or $1.01 per share, exceeded those of $38,910,000, or 90 cents per share, in the same period last year.

AND THE WINNER IS... Bob Shifty of the Sunnyside Road, Oakland. Bob won the first $50/50 drawing, sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association, to raise money for sorely needed Christmas decorations for the town of Oakland. Santa (alias Lou Stouffer) came to town to assist in the drawing and is shown handing the winning ticket drawn on May 15 to Nancy Helbig, chairman of the drawing. Looking on, happy as an elf, is Jack Jones, president of GOBA. The drawings will continue through September and $1 tickets are available at Oakland area businesses.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News

Vacation Bible School will be held at Emmanuel Church, Bittering Parish, June 15-19 from 6:30 to 8:45 p.m. There will be classes for all ages up to high school.

The Constitution Convention of the W.Va. Synod will convene at Alderson-Broaddus College in Philippi, W.Va., May 29-31. Delegates will attend from all three churches, as will Pastor Louise Knotts. A seminary student will lead the worship services in all churches on Sunday, May 31.

Sunday's loose offering was given to the World Hunger Appeal.

Lot Owners Meet

On Monday morning, there was a meeting of the lot owners of the Bittering Cemetery at the fire hall for the purpose of electing members to the board of directors and transacting other business. Present were: Ralph Buckel, Audrey Brenneman, Donald Sealing, Ida Reckner, Rose Buckel, Lottie Brenneman, Dale Glatfely, Martha Glatfely and Lester Bittering. There was a general discussion of how to keep the cemetery in a good and neat condition, and plans were made for some large-scale brush cleaning at the lower end of the cemetery. A work day was set for June 6. It was suggested that the local youth groups of the church help on this day.

Audrey Brenneman conducted the business meeting. Owen Stanton and Martha Glatfely were elected to serve another term on the board of directors. The board officers are Audrey Brenneman, president; Donald Sealing, vice president; Ralph Buckel, secretary-treasurer. Audrey and Martha audited the treasurer's books.

Bittinger Joins First United Nat. Bank As Intern

Richard G. Stanton, president, First United National Bank & Trust, recently announced that Randall P. Bittinger has joined the staff as an intern for the summer.

Bittinger, a senior at Frostburg State College, is an accounting major. The purpose of his internship is to gain an introduction into the various phases of the banking industry.

Bittinger is president of the Frostburg State College Accounting Association, and a member of the National Honor Society. In addition, he has served as an academic student tutor. He is the 1984

Salutatorian of Valley High School, where he was business manager for the "Shield," treasurer of the National Honor Society, and president of the band.

A resident of Barton, Bittinger is the son of Pauline L. Bittinger. He is the grandson of Carroll and Huldah DeWitt, Accident.

Theatre Tryouts Scheduled For The Blue Barn

Producer/Director Michael Hartman and his company, Cumberland Art Theatre, will be presenting summer stock theatre this season at the Blue Barn on Beckman's Peninsula.

Local actors and singers may try out for the summer season this Friday, May 29, at the Blue Barn. Tryouts will begin at 7 p.m. Those interested in a singing part should come prepared to sing either from their own music or music provided by the company. Accompaniment will be provided.

Productions to be presented this summer are: "See How They Run," "Once Upon A Mattress," "The Importance of Being Earnest," a cabaret of great songs from the 1930s and '40s, along with comedy sketches, "The Red Shoes," "The Bad Seed," and "Habeas

The season will start on July 8 and continue through August 26.

Parenting Group To Meet During Month Of June

A Parenting Skills Group will meet to enhance the understanding of the parenting role and to expand the skills of parenting through teaching and discussion. All parents of children from newborn to six years old are invited to attend these group meetings led by Penny Kostka, mental health counselor at the Garrett County Mental Health Center.

The meetings will be held on the second floor of the Mental Health Center each Wednesday in June from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. The classes are free of charge. No child care will be available, however. The group is for adults only.

Setting a good parent-child foundation is vital throughout the lives of each (parent and child), according to Kostka. If the group is successful, groups for parents of older children will be considered.

Registration is necessary in order for the health center to anticipate the number of parents who will be attending. Register by calling Gina at 334-8111 and leave the parent's name and ages of the children.

For more information, call Penny Kostka at 334-8111 or (304) 292-0610.

GOH Accepting Applications For Leuba Scholarship

The Garrett Organization for the Handicapped (GOH) announced today that applications are currently being accepted for the Dorothy R. Leuba Scholarship. Each year, GOH awards scholarships to handicapped individuals desiring to further their education.

The scholarships must be used toward the payment of tuition and fees, not to exceed $1,000 per school year. Recipients must be residents of Garrett County, and may attend the accredited school of their choice (i.e., vocational, business, two- or four-year college). They must maintain a grade point average of 2.5 or better and must reapply annually to renew the scholarship.

Applications are available at both county high schools and at most area colleges. For further information persons may write: Scholarship Committee, GOH, Box 277, Mt. Lake Park, MD 21550. All information submitted by scholarship applicants will be kept strictly confidential.

and how to prepare it!

For the Working Woman...

Preparing your evening meal need not require a lot of time. By planning ahead, you can have a casserole prepared in advance. Try some of these recipes and you may find you're spending less time in the kitchen.

June is Dairy Month. In celebration, next week we will present a variety of ways to use cheese.

BROCCOLI CASSEROLE

Janet Driscoll
Connellsville, Pa.

- 1 9-oz. package chopped broccoli
- $\frac{1}{2}$ stick oleo
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup minced onion
- Cook all together until tender.
- 1 can cream mushroom soup
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk
- 1 small jar Cheez Whiz
- 1 can mushrooms (optional)
- Bring soup, milk, Cheez Whiz and mushrooms to boil. Add to 2 cups cooked rice and mix with broccoli and put in 9x9" greased baking dish. Cover with grated cheese and bake at 350° for 30 minutes.

CHICKEN SALAD WITH A TWIST

Norma Bowley
Bayard, W.Va.

- 1 8-oz. package corkscrew macaroni
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup mayonnaise
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup commercial Italian salad dressing
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
- 3 cups chopped cooked chicken
- 1 cup chopped cucumbers
- 1 cup chopped celery
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sliced olives
- 1 medium onion (chopped)
- Leafy lettuce (optional)
- Cook macaroni according to package directions; drain and cool. Combine next 6 ingredients; stir until blended. Add to macaroni stirring well. Stir in chicken, cucumber, celery, olives and onion. Chill at least 2 hours. Serve salad in a lettuce lined bowl, if desired. Yield: About 8 servings.

TURKEY-RICE CASSEROLE

Oma Beachy
DeLand, Fla.

- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 cup cream of celery or mushroom soup, undiluted.
- 1 tablespoon mayonnaise
- 1 8 oz. can peas, drained
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped pimientos
- 1 teaspoon salt
- $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon pepper
- 4 cups cooked turkey
- Place rice in a greased 2 quart casserole. Combine soup, mayonnaise, peas, pimiento, salt, pepper and turkey. Pour over rice. Bake at 350° about 20 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Yield: 6 servings. Can use chicken.

SWEDISH MEAT BALLS

Janet Driscoll
Connellsville, Pa.

- 1 pound ground beef
- $\frac{1}{2}$ pound ground pork
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup onions, minced
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 Tbsp. fresh parsley, minced
- 2 tsp. salt
- $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 1 egg
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk
- Combine meats, onion, crumbs, parsley, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, egg and milk. Shape into balls.
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup cooking oil
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup flour
- 2 cups boiling water
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sour cream
- Brown balls in hot oil. Add remaining ingredients to fat; stir until thick. Return meat and cook 20-30 minutes or until done. Yield: 6-8 servings.

SQUASH CASSEROLE

Jessie Bachtel
Eglen W.Va.

- 1 quart cooked yellow squash (drained)
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 can cream chicken soup (undiluted)
- 1 chopped onion
- Salt and pepper to taste
- $\frac{1}{2}$ pkg. herb seasoned crumbs
- $\frac{1}{2}$ stick butter
- 1 cup grated cheese
- Mash squash, add sour cream, onion, cheese, soup, salt and pepper. Sprinkle a layer of crumbs in casserole dish. Put squash mixture over crumbs. Then cover with additional crumbs. Dot with butter. Bake at 350° 40 to 50 minutes.

BEEF STROGANOFF

Mrs. John (Nancy) Ruff
Oakland

- 2 pounds round steak
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup salad oil
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped onion
- 1 can consommé
- $\frac{1}{2}$ can water
- 1 bay leaf
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon thyme
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon oregano
- 1 can (3 oz.) mushroom caps
- 2 tablespoons sherry (if desired)
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- Remove all gristle and fat from meat and cut into bite size pieces. Shake in sack with flour salt, paprika, then brown in hot oil. Add onion and cook until just tender. Add consommé, water and herbs. Cover and simmer 45 minutes to an hour, or until meat is tender. Add a little more water if necessary. Just before serving, stir in mushrooms (drained), sherry and sour cream. Serve over hot rice. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

TUNA ASPARAGUS BAKE

Mae Nicholson
(formerly of Steyer, Md.)

- 1 package of frozen asparagus (or 1 lb. fresh asparagus)
- 1 can tuna
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons oil
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- Cook asparagus until done, drain and place in 7x10" casserole. Place tuna on top, saute onions in oil, blend in flour and milk until thick, pour over tuna. Sprinkle on cheese. Bake 325° 15 minutes. Serves four.

HE-MAN CASSEROLE

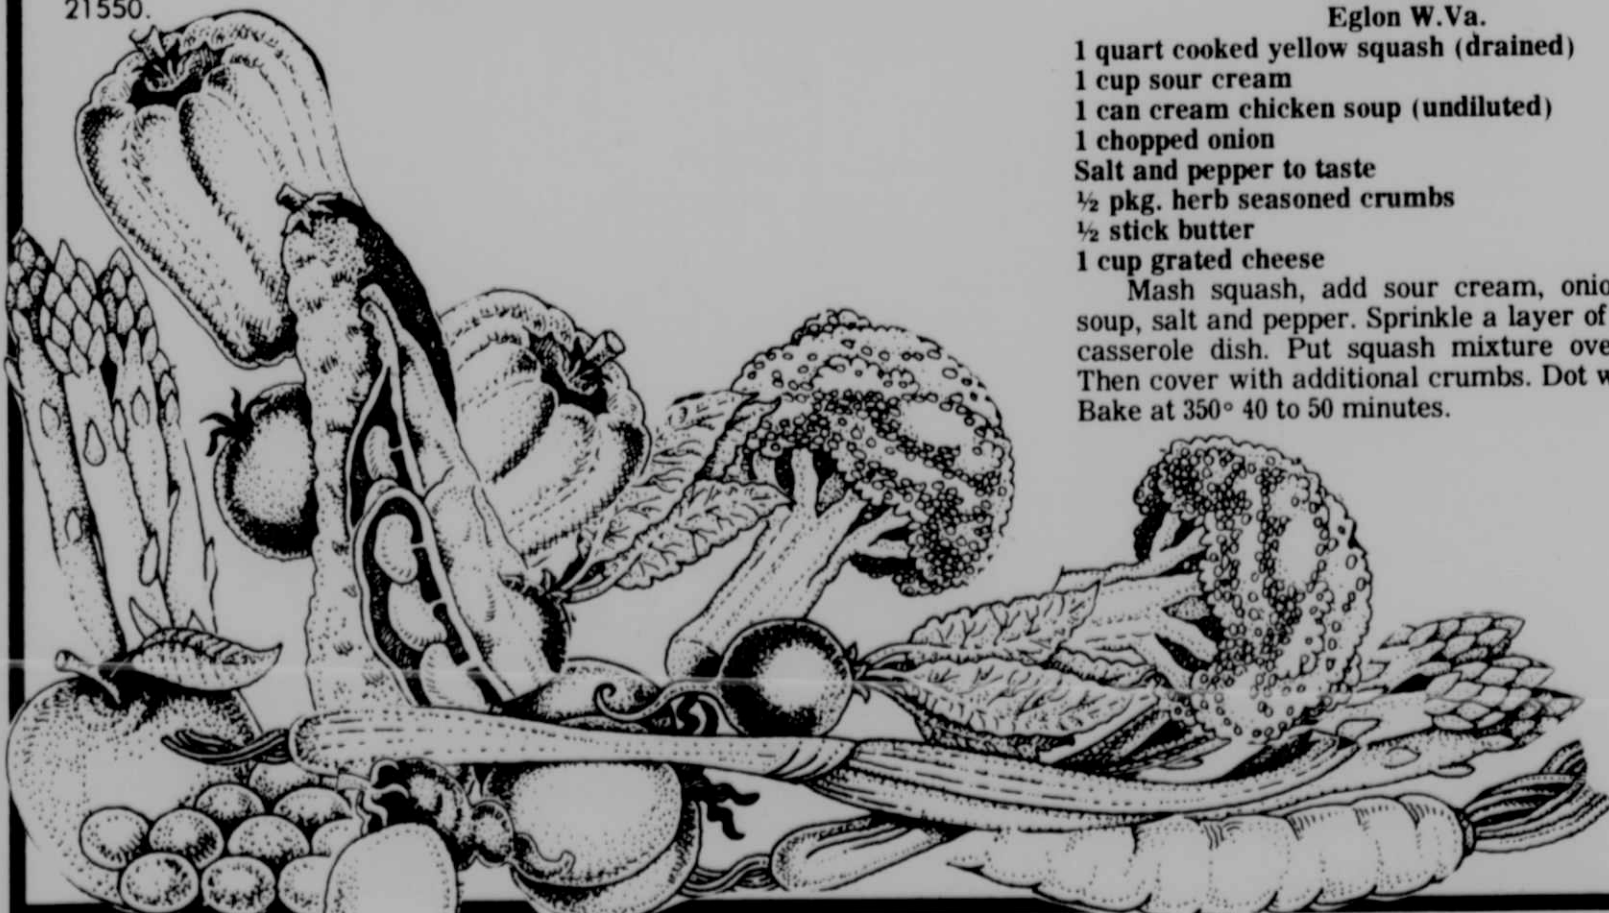

Carol Bell

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 3 med. onions, chopped
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 1 can tomato paste
- 1 can water
- 1 can cream-style corn
- $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. cooked elbow macaroni
- 1 can pitted ripe olives, chopped, juice
- 1 lb. sharp cheese, diced
- 1 Tbsp. chili powder
- 2 tsp. sugar
- Brown meat; add onions and green pepper; cook until tender. Add remaining ingredients for sauce and cook about 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Combine with macaroni, pour into greased casserole, top with slices of sharp cheese. Bake at 350° until bubbly.

MAY IS OLDER AMERICANS MONTH

Area Agency On Aging Offers Numerous Services To Local Seniors

May has been proclaimed Older Americans Month and, in observance of this, the following article was prepared by the staff of the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging.

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging: What is it? Who is it for? What does it offer? What can it do for you?

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging is the State-designated agency which plans, coordinates, and advocates for the development of a comprehensive service delivery system at the local level to meet short and long-term needs of older persons in its geographic planning and service area. The Agency operates under the auspices of the Garrett County Community Action Committee and works with federal, state, and local officials; elderly constituents; service providers and the private sector to coordinate existing services and stimulate new ones. The Agency is funded primarily by the State Office on Aging.

Each Agency prepares a multi-year plan which identifies the needs of older persons, existing services and gaps between needs and services. In addition, the Agency plan sets objectives and priorities and specifies which service will be provided to meet those needs. The plan also projects the use of Older American Act funds from federal, state and local sources.

The majority of services provided by the Area Agency on Aging are available to persons age 60 and older, although a few services or programs have a higher age requirement of 62 or 65. The services range from congregational and home-delivered meals and social/recreational opportunities to health care services. Some services are contracted from local provider agencies.

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging currently administers nine programs for elderly residents and continues to seek ways to improve existing programs and expand services as well as introducing new programs to the county.

Life Support — This program provides visitation to nursing home residents who have little or no regular visitors. The program relies solely on volunteers who are willing to share some of their time with an elderly person. It is extremely important for nursing home residents to continue to feel they are an important and needed part of the community. Volunteers are desperately needed for this program. If you would like to share some of your valuable time to brighten the day of a few elderly nursing home residents, contact the Area Agency on Aging.

Gateway I — This is a state-funded program designed to provide information and referral services for senior citizens. It enables them to have one location at which they can obtain information about what services are available to them through the Area Agency on Aging as well as the Health Department, Social Services, Community Action, and other public programs. Staff persons are available to assist them with locating appropriate services to meet their needs, to assist in the completion of forms for services, and if necessary, arrange appointments and transportation to obtain the services.

Gateway II — The Gateway II program, which is state-funded, was designed to help fragile health-impaired seniors continue to live in the community by offering skilled personal care and housekeeping services. This program attempts to meet all the needs of individuals by working closely with the Health Department, Department of Social Services, and other organizations.

To be eligible for Gateway II, a person must be 65 years of age or older, need assistance with daily activities and be at the risk of institutionalization.

As the lead agency for this program, the Area Agency on Aging has developed a loan closet of health care items including walkers, bath chairs, quad-canes, and a number of other items to assist homebound frail elderly who need either temporary or long-term aid.

Sheltered Housing — Sheltered Housing provides minimal care for seniors in a home-like setting. There are two such homes in Garrett County: Totten View and Truesdell. These homes are certified by the Maryland State Office on Aging for seniors 62 years of age and their accompanying spouses 55 years and older.

A caregiver is present 24 hours a day with meals and personal care being provided. Residents are encouraged to participate in daily activities.

To be eligible for sheltered housing a person must be ambulatory, age-eligible, and willing to share living quarters with other seniors.

Truesdell is operated by the Area Agency on Aging under the direction of the Community Action Committee and has the capacity to care for six residents.

Totten View is a privately-owned sheltered home which is monitored by the Agency on a quarterly basis and re-certified annually by the State Office on Aging.

Ombudsman Program — The Ombudsman Program receives, investigates, and resolves complaints (reported from any source) involving possible violation of the Patient's Bill of Rights. This program covers all long-term care facilities which include any category of institutions, foster homes, or group living arrangements.

The Ombudsman role includes, but is not limited to, investigating and resolving complaints; compiling and analyzing complaint information; monitoring and analyzing long-term care related laws, regulations, and policies; promoting citizens' organizations and providing education to volunteers.

Two Gateway I offices are available in the county. They are:

Gateway I South, 104 E. Center Street, Oakland, (334-1330), Coordinator, Marie Skipper; and Gateway I North, Jennings Community Building, Jennings, (245-4204 and 895-5498), Coordinator, Carol Schrock.

Senior Citizen Center — Currently the Agency maintains one center open Monday, Wednesday and Friday, which is located in Oakland. The center provides a place for senior citizens to meet and share common interests. Activities are planned by a site manager which include movies, Bingo, cards, crafts, and educational opportunities. Guest speakers are frequently asked to visit the center to address topics of interest to the participants.

A second Senior Center is to be opened in the near future in Accident. The residents of the northern end of the county have long awaited a center which would be more easily accessible.

County-wide functions such as trips and picnics are arranged by Agency staff and made available to any senior resident of the county regardless of their affiliation with an "Eating Together" site or the Senior Center.

Newcomers are always welcome and encouraged to attend the sites and the Center. Remember, these programs belong to the senior citizens of the county and their input is welcome. Why not call today and ask what the activity schedule is and plan to join the fun. The site manager at the Oakland Senior Center is Mary Browning, 334-3399.

Home Delivered Meals — These meals are provided to homebound elderly who are physically or mentally impaired and unable to prepare well-balanced meals for themselves. Unfortunately, due to budgetary constraints and a lack of resources, the Agency is unable to provide a hot meal delivery on a daily basis, (currently 2-3 days); however, plans are currently underway to provide either nutritious frozen or shelf-stable foods which can be easily prepared on those days when hot meals are unavailable.

These meals are of great importance to the frail homebound elderly, as it enables them to maintain their independence and remain in their own home for a longer period of time.

Meals are not provided on a regular basis in some areas of the county due to a lack of delivery services. Emergency situations are dealt with on a temporary basis at sites that do not have regular deliveries. Volunteers are needed in many areas to deliver meals to the homebound.

The Agency currently provides 5,000 meals annually to approximately 150 senior citizens.

Congregate Meals — The Agency operates 11 "Eating Together" sites strategically located throughout the county in community buildings, fire halls, and restaurants. Meals are served two or three days per week to any senior citizen 60+ years of age and their spouses regardless of their age. A contribution of $1.00 is suggested for each meal; however, individuals may contribute any amount they can afford. The Agency provides 25,000 meals annually to approximately 800 senior citizens.

Often seniors do not eat properly when they are alone and sites such as these have assisted many seniors in maintaining their independence for a longer period of time.

Senior citizens are encouraged to take advantage of the nutrition "Eating Together" sites as they offer the opportunity to develop new friendships and rekindle old ones as well as offering a nutritious meal in the company of others.

Recreational opportunities are available at many of the sites, such as Bingo, cards and crafts.

Reservations are requested and can be made by contacting the site managers or the sites a day in advance. Persons are invited to contact the Area Agency on Aging at 334-9431 to find out the nearest meal site and its schedule.

BEHIND THE SCENES

'Tracey Ullman' producer breaking new TV ground

By Frank Lovece

Neither fish nor fowl, "The Tracey Ullman Show" (Fox, Sunday nights) is something different. Just ask the Writers Guild and the Directors Guild, the major collective bargaining organizations for TV and film.

Tracey Ullman

"We had to negotiate specific 'Tracey Ullman' agreements," says producer Richard Sakai. "The show doesn't fit any descriptions they have in the contracts. Variety shows, of which 'Ullman' is one kind of, have a different pay scale and fee arrangement than do half-hour sitcoms, of which 'Ullman' is one kind of. 'It's an original, weird format," Sakai adds.

The show mixes character sketches with animated sequences and comic songs. So did "Monty Python's Flying Circus," though "Ullman" seems closer in spirit to "The Carol Burnett Show." Sakai points out, however, that "the comedy isn't as broad. There are no parodies, no slapstick. I hate to say it's like theater, since that sounds so pretentious, but it sure isn't like television, either."

Sakai knows whereof he speaks — his background includes five years as every thing from gofer to producer of "Taxi," which more often resembled a one-act play than a sitcom. "That was an incredible time — working with (executive producers) Jim Brooks and Ed Weinberger. How do you get any better?" Good question — Brooks, after all, took an Oscar for "Terms of Endearment." Weinberger helped create "The Cosby Show."

Despite such success for a 33-year-old, Sakai remains unaffected. He still seems to see himself as the UCLA cinema grad who took a minimum-wage gofer job right out of college, driving his own car some 250 miles a day to do errands for producers. Even now that he's a producer himself, the magic, he says, is still there, along with certain sacrifices.

"I don't see my kids much," he laments. "People talk about the money and prestige in television, but the hours are incredible."

"Once you're in the business awhile, there are certain things you want to stand for," says Sakai, "especially when you're working with people as talented as Tracey. I'm not sure my personal life is secondary to the business, but for now, everything else is."

Did Tyrone Power have the luck of the Irish?

By Toni D'Amato

Was Tyrone Power from Ireland? I seem to remember that he was. — P.V., Providence, R.I. This heartthrob of the silver screen's golden era was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, on May 5, 1913. You may be associating him with Ireland because of his starring role in the film "The Luck of the Irish" (1948), which is traditionally aired on St. Patrick's Day.

My husband and I are having an argument about "Brideshead Revisited." I say it was made in Europe and was very long and drawn out. He says it was an American production and ran for only a few episodes. Can you help? — M.T., Winthrop, Minn.

"Brideshead Revisited" was a $13 million production created by Granada Television International in Great Britain. Based on the Evelyn Waugh novel, it consisted of 11 episodes of 12½ hours of film. The series made its American debut on PBS's "Masterpiece Theatre" in 1982. It featured Jeremy Irons, Anthony Andrews, Laurence Olivier and Claire Bloom. The production was filmed in England, Venice and Malta.

What was the name of the show that starred Roy Rogers as a cowboy? In it, he and Dale sang "Happy Trails." — S.K., Canton, Maine.

Roy Rogers really was a cowboy, and any time he performed, he was dressed as such, from his hat to his spurs. The show you're talking about was "The Roy Rogers Show," a Western that aired on NBC from 1951 to 1957. It featured Rogers' wife, Dale Evans, his sidekick Pat Brady and some four-legged stars. Roy's horse Trigger, Dale's horse Buttermilk and a dog named Bullet.

Rogers and Evans also starred in their own musical-variety show, "The Roy Rogers and Dale Evans Show." The short-lived series (it aired from September, December, 1962) also featured Pat Brady, the Sons of the Pioneers and Cliff Arquette.

HBO's 'Drunk and Deadly' paints sobering picture

By Connie Passalacqua

The latest documentary on the HBO series "America Undercover," "Drunk and Deadly" (airing this week on May 29 and June 2), focuses on the 81 deaths that were credited to drunk driving on a single day. The statistics are enough to make you stop and think. The episode consecutively ticks off the names of the 81 victims who were killed over a 24-hour period across the country on Saturday, May 18, 1986. The sheer power of the listed names is akin to the mounting sensation of horror one feels when viewing the names of the 56,000 soldiers engraved in chronological order on the walls of the Vietnam memorial in Washington, D.C.

Mike Miles

But as in other episodes of "America Undercover," the aim is to bring the experience of all involved directly home. Five cases of death are spotlighted in interviews with survivors, relatives, judges and jailers. There's also lots of documentary, including melodramatic re-creations of the accidents, featuring the real survivors and staged tearful visits to the graves of victims.

Not surprisingly, four out of the five spotlighted cases involve innocent victims. In Lexington, Ky., Linda Davis, 30, and her 12-year-old son Chad were killed when a drunk 23-year-old named Jimmy Grey slammed head-on into their car.

"He killed them just as sure as if he had gotten out a gun and shot them," says the prosecutor who succeeded in putting Grey away for 17 years. Davis' grieving husband, who was subsequently hospitalized for depression, is shown trying desperately to help his surviving 8-year-old set the table for dinner.

Other drunk drivers get off fairly easily. Mike Miles escaped a prison sentence and had to serve 400 hours of community service.

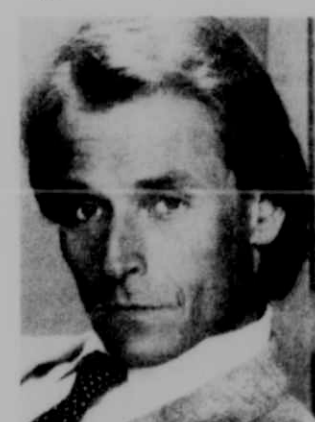

Of course, this is the ultimate in real-life drama, and probably the best cautionary tale around about the gory, life-bending, and ending — consequences of drunk driving. But the "Twilight Zone"-esque music and the bone-chilling tone of the narrator (Russell Johnson — best known as the Professor on "Gilligan's Island") is a bit much. After all, the statistics are grim enough to speak for themselves.

CINDY SAYS

TV star's meaty past; Star-studded birthday

By Cindy Adams

Corbin Bernsen ("L.A. Law") was filming the movie "Hello Again" on the streets of New York. "People see me and shout, 'L.A. Law,'" said Corbin. "I'm not that big a star that I'm unpleasant about it. I remember when nobody recognized me in this town. I made money by building rooftop decks. I did some beautiful roofs. Once I was down to $12 in quarters, dimes and nickels. I had a two-bedroom apartment with a huge living room and kitchen for $400 a month. Boy, do I wish I'd kept it. It was in the meatpacker's area. I'd come home at 4 a.m. and they'd be unloading meat. It was sort of symbolic." "Hello Again," co-starring Shelley Long, is a happy comedy. "I don't want any reputation for being difficult," said Corbin.

Corbin Bernsen

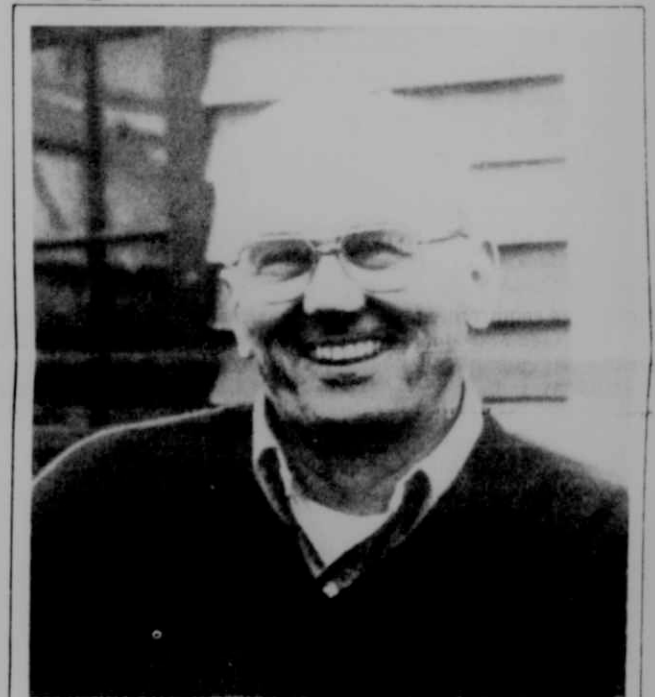

Some highlights of my recent birthday party. Eddie Fisher, one of Elizabeth Taylor's husbands, met Maria Burton, one of Elizabeth Taylor's children, for the first time. I learned that Danny Aiello has four movies coming out, including "Moonstruck" with Cher. Celebrities included Sydney Biddle Barrows, Eva Gabor, Kaye Ballard, Geoffrey Holder, Maureen Stapleton, Jerry Stiller, designers George Staropoulis and Pauline Trigere concluded I'd gained weight. June Haver asked my age. Said my husband Joey. "It's higher than her zip code."

Shelley Long

Catherine Breslin, a worker in the '80 primaries, has written "First Ladies." It's about a conservative former Republican governor with a Hollywood background, and a First Lady who's "proper, connected, impeccable," but "fights with frantic, deadly schemes." Miss Breslin swears it's fiction.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

'GH' star will do summer musical tour

By Kimberly Redmond

I'm so upset! I heard a rumor that Jack Wagner (who plays Frisco Jones) may be leaving "General Hospital" when his contract expires. Please don't let the rumor be true. — A.S., St. Augustine, Fla.

Jack Wagner

We heard the same rumor. But the story we got from "GH" is that Wagner will take off the summer to tour in a production of "West Side Story." The soap insists that he'll be back in his old role when his musical tour is over.

What happened to Tucker Foster, the character that was portrayed by Eddie Earl Hatch on "As the World Turns"? — L.B., Richmond, Va.

As far as anyone remembers, Foster left town to start a new life after Heather Dalton (played by Tonya Pinkins) broke off their romance and embarked on a singing career.

I'm sure that I've seen Audrey Peters, who portrays Sarah Shayne on "Guiding Light," on another soap. Can you tell me what soap she appeared on? — V.G., Florence, Ala.

Peters portrayed Vanessa Dale on "Love of Life" from 1959 until 1980, when the soap was canceled by CBS.

I'd like to know if it's true that Marcy Walker (Eden Capwell of "Santa Barbara") is married in real life to Billy Warlock (Frankie on "Days of Our Lives"). — A.C., Scranton, Pa.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Julia Duffy plays a wealthy maid

By Evan Levine

With a dust rag perched inconspicuously at the end of her perfectly manicured fingernails, house-turned-maid Stephanie Vanderkellen, played by Julia Duffy on CBS' "Newhart" (airing Mondays), is something of a rarity on television. A me-me attitude masking a heart of gold and a fortune to match, spoiled-brat Stephanie is a new breed: the girl who has her cake, eats it, flaunts it, then has to go clean the bathroom.

Julia Duffy

"Part of Stephanie is something everyone identifies with," says Duffy, who has just finished her fifth year on the show. "I think people identify with her immaturity, the part of her who never grew up."

Stephanie's charm lies partly in her total self-absorption, her almost complete disregard for other people's feelings — and her lack of apology for it. "She wouldn't be funny if she were totally likable, she must have flaws," argues Duffy. "Although now she's more three-dimensional. In the beginning she was so innocent. I hope I've brought a kind of edge to her, a darker side."

Along with characters such as the oddball trio of Larry, Darryl and Darryl, Julia Duffy as Stephanie and (l. to r.) Tony Papenfuss, John Volstad and William Sanderson as Darryl, Darryl and Larry help make "Newhart" a real ensemble show. It airs Monday, June 1, on CBS.

Stephanie is one of the supporting characters that make "Newhart" a true ensemble show, a show where even a minor character's idiosyncrasies are developed to the fullest. "Even though Stephanie's problems are so strange — like the time she and Michael (Peter Scolar) were afraid there was another couple in town who were cuter than they were — we approach it like they're normal people. We looked at it like someone was after our jobs."

"I don't consciously try to act more broadly than normal. Michael and Stephanie are a real couple with real difficulties. I love playing her because it gives me a chance to play so many kinds of comedy."

One of Stephanie's trademarks has become the "Ooh!" that she squeals when she's pleased (read: been given a large present). "That just escaped the first time," admits Duffy. "It was supposed to be 'oh.' Then when it worked, I incorporated it into the character."

Duffy is somewhat surprised by the favorable reaction to Stephanie, a reaction so favorable that a spinoff may be in the works. "I'm a little surprised that people think she's so adorable," she confesses. "She's not a very nice person. I get all these love letters from men addressed to Stephanie. I can't believe it. I mean, who would want to live with Stephanie?"
